Huntington police will crosscheck to obtain a license plate and a registration size, make, model, color and speed to number on their bike and the bike’s department to register bikes for $1. In the event of a lost or stolen bike, applicants must provide the serial number on-scene, according to Huntington Police Chief Joe Ciccarelli.

“I think that the visibility could’ve been an issue,” Ciccarelli said. “But he stepped in front of the car. There probably wasn’t anything the officer could’ve done.”

Ciccarelli said alcohol was a factor with the pedestrian. The officer who struck the man is still on duty with the HPD while the incident is reviewed internally, Ciccarelli said.

Huntington City Hall offers a program residents can use to help recover lost or stolen bicycles.

Interested cyclists can stop by City Hall from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. year round, in room 20 in the finance department cruiser.

A meeting is planned to rewrite the bike lane program again.

The program back. A meeting is planned to rewrite some of the legislation passed in the 60s, making this program completely optional for bike commuters. Although this remains voluntary for some, commercial bikes will need licenses to operate within the city. In addition to stopping by City Hall, interested cyclists can find registration forms at events throughout the year, including various 5ks, Rec Center events and Fit Fest.

Director of Marketing and Social Media Beth Hendricks said they wanted to open further into the community. “Our one goal going into this new year was to open a few new stores in Huntington, that was it in an area that we don’t currently reach out to and serve and we want to expand further into the community and provide another opportunity for people to come to our Goodwills.”

Goodwill is a multi-service agency that provides an equal opportunity of seeking education. It also provides useful job skills to those who have disabilities or other disadvantages conditions. Hendricks said they have a mission that anyone who is seeking the community can see. “Ultimately, the message we have is more than the stores that you see,” Hendricks said. “Our stores are linked to our mission which is to strengthen the community by providing a career and development opportunities along with counseling services to those in need.”

Marshall University’s men’s basketball team snapped a nine game losing streak Saturday and won its first Conference USA contest of the season, 78-71, over University of Texas at El Paso in the Cam Henderson Center.

The Thundering Herd’s 42 first half points were the most in any opening period since Dec. 16, its most recent victory against King University. The three point Herd advantage at intermission marks the first time the Miners trailed at halftime since Dec. 19.

Early in the first half, junior guard Justin Edmonds fell on his right knee, which suffered a torn ACL and fracture keeping him sidelined for the entire 2013-2014 season. Edmonds stayed in the game, however, and followed his hard fall with four three-pointers in six attempts before halftime.

Edmonds finished with a career high 20 points but credited his teammates for getting him going.

“Our team likes seeing shots going in,” Edmonds said. “When we saw that each other’s shots were going in, it picked up our tempo.”

Senior center JP Kambola made his first start since Dec. 1 and produced an impressive stat line with 13 points, nine rebounds and two blocks. Kambola lead consecutive second half surges in back-to-back games. He scored six of Marshall’s first eight points out of the half Saturday, including two dunks.

“Our offense requires shooters, people who can make decisions and an athletic guy who can go to the rim,” Herd head coach Dan D’ Antoni said. “JP gives us that guy.”

The Miners took a 66-65 advantage with 5:53 left in the second half only to watch as sophomore forward Ryan Taylor scored 10 of the Herd’s last 11 points to seal the victory.

“Coach tells me to be a leader on the court even though I’m (only) a sophomore,” Taylor said.

UTEP fell to 12-7 and 4-3 in the conference with the loss while the Herd climbed to 5-15 and 1-6 in C-USA. Marshall will travel to Hattiesburg, Mississippi, to face Southern Miss Thursday and continue its road trip in Ruston, Louisiana, against Louisiana Tech Saturday.

Online reading: Convenient detriment to students

Students are being asked to do more and more reading online from PDFs scanned by their professors. This arrangement could be working against students because it is more difficult to read online.

Google is often a student’s only tool for accessing their class readings. While it is incredible that a google search may give students access to readings, the arrangement can also have many negative repercussions. For one, many students do not have the same access to google as students in college and universities that have additional reading materials available online.

Many students may not have reliable internet access at home and might have to use the library's internet access. Many students also don’t have a google account if they are not a student at the university, and even if they do have an account, they may not remember the password or don’t have internet access at home. This can lead to students being unable to access the readings they need in order to be successful in class and be unable to engage with their professors.

Furthermore, some students may not have the reading skills to be able to access the reading material online. This can lead to students being unable to access the material or be unable to engage with their professors. This can lead to students being unable to engage with their professors and be unable to access the material they need in order to be successful in class.

Students should always have the opportunity to print the material they need for their classes, even if they are using online resources. Students should be able to access the material they need in order to be successful in class.

However, students who do not have reliable internet access at home and those who do not have a google account may be unable to access the material they need. This can lead to students being unable to access the material they need in order to be successful in class.

It is important to consider the cost to students of having to purchase online access to readings. The easy answer is to require students to purchase online access or to require students to pay for online access. This can lead to students being unable to access the material they need in order to be successful in class.

Therefore, students who read the material online will suffer in class discussions. They will be less likely to speak up if they haven’t taken the time to read the material. This can lead to students being unable to engage with their professors and be unable to access the material they need in order to be successful in class.
