Green and White Day Open House to take place Feb. 18

Marshall will host its first Green and White Day open house event of the spring Monday, Feb. 18.

“Our Green and White Day events are a great opportunity for high school students to discover all that Marshall University has to offer,” Marshall Provost Dr. Jaime Taylor said. “We feel that if we can get the students on campus, they’ll want to join the Marshall family.”

At the Green and White Day students and their families can speak with Marshall’s award-winning faculty, one on one, and learn more about exciting academic majors and careers they may not have previously considered.

Green and White Days have taken on a special importance at Marshall as each academic unit is charged with helping the university attract even more students. The emphasis on each open house event is to expose prospective students to as many academic majors and programs as possible. Some students may know what their future holds and others, not so much. This format, during the academic showcase, allows the students to visit with many different possible areas of study.

After the academic showcase at the Marshall Recreation Center, students are given the opportunity to take tours of the Huntington campus, have lunch in one of the dining halls and visit residence halls.

While on campus, students also will hear from Marshall President Dr. Jerome A. Gilbert, as well as Student Government Association President Hunter Barclay and Vice President Hannah Petracca.

High school seniors can apply for admission to Marshall at the event and have the application fee waived. And if they are already admitted, they can submit their enrollment deposit to receive an exclusive #OneOfTheHerd sweatshirt.

Students can register for the Feb. 18 Green and White Day or the upcoming April 9 Green and White Day by visiting www.marshall.edu/tour.

For more information, e-mail recruitment@marshall.edu or call 304-696-3508.
Marshall University researchers highlight evolving concepts in uraemic cardiomyopathy

Posted on February 12, 2019

Researchers from the Joan C. Edwards School of Medicine have published a paper highlighting evolving concepts in the onset of uraemic cardiomyopathy, or cardiac abnormalities associated with chronic kidney disease. Patients with chronic kidney disease or end-stage renal disease have an increased risk of cardiovascular disease and mortality.

In an article published on Jan. 21, 2019, in Nature Review Nephrology, the Joan C. Edwards School of Medicine’s Xiaoliang Wang, Ph.D., a postdoctoral research fellow, and Joseph I. Shapiro, M.D., dean of the school of medicine, outline evolving concepts regarding the roles of fibroblast growth factor 23, inflammation and systemic oxidant stress. The review considers the interaction of these factors with more established mechanisms, such as pressure and volume overload resulting from hypertension and anaemia, activation of the renin–angiotensin and sympathetic nervous systems, activation of the transforming growth factor-β (TGFβ) pathway, abnormal mineral metabolism and increased levels of endogenous cardiotonic steroids.

“A multitude of factors may contribute to the development of uraemic cardiomyopathy, and current treatments only moderately improve outcomes,” Shapiro said. “Treatments that are effective in other cardiomyopathic conditions such as antihypertensive drugs improve clinical outcomes in uraemic cardiomyopathy only modestly at best.”

The review, which highlights the findings of a number of related studies, identifies oxidative stress as playing a role in all of the putative molecular pathways involved in the pathogenesis of uraemic cardiomyopathy. Much of Shapiro’s original research with his partner, Zijian Xie, Ph.D., director of the Marshall Institute for Interdisciplinary Research, has been dedicated to the Na/K-ATPase signalling amplification loop as it relates to oxidative stress. Wang did his Ph.D. training with Xie and produced important work on the molecular basis of this amplification loop during his training.
Photos: Xiaoliang Wang, Ph.D. (right), a postdoctoral research fellow, and Joseph I. Shapiro, M.D., dean of the school of medicine have published a review of evolving concepts in the onset of uraemic cardiomyopathy.
CITY KIDS: URBAN IN WEST VIRGINIA

Panel Discussion

Join us for a panel discussion of the good and bad sides of how Black students feel being “city kids” in West Virginia.

Wednesday, February 13
4:30 p.m.
Memorial Student Center
Shawkey Dining Room
Refreshments will be served

Sponsored by Intercultural Affairs
www.marshall.edu

In the Wake
BY LISA KRON

February 13-16 • 7:30 PM
and
February 20-23 • 7:30 PM

Francis-Booth Experimental Theatre
in The Joan C. Edwards Playhouse Performing Arts Center

$20 at the door | $15 MU Faculty and Seniors
Marshall University students admitted FREE with a valid ID
Marshall Theatre Box Office 304.696.2787

www.marshall.edu
Marshall Artists Series showing love to veterans and federal employees with free tickets to ‘Breakfast at Tiffany’s’ LIVE In Concert

In the spirit of Valentine’s Day, and in gratitude to the public service of many, the Marshall Artists Series is offering complimentary tickets for veterans and federal employees to see Breakfast at Tiffany’s in Concert on Saturday, Feb. 16, at 7:30 p.m. at the Keith-Albee Performing Arts Center. Accompanied by a full symphony orchestra led by Maestro Kimo Furumoto of the Huntington Symphony Orchestra, this screening of a historic romantic comedy is the perfect way to celebrate the season of love with your significant other, or to provide an unforgettable experience for the whole family to love!

Audrey Hepburn dazzles in her legendary role as the deliciously eccentric Holly Golightly, a New York City socialite determined to marry a millionaire. Relive Henry Mancini’s legendary score, including the beautiful Oscar® and Grammy® winning song Moon River, performed live to Audrey Hepburn’s original vocals.

Veterans and federal employees must visit the Marshall Artists Series box office located in the Joan C. Edwards Playhouse and present a valid form of federal identification to receive the complimentary tickets. Box office hours are Monday through Friday, noon to 4 p.m.

General public tickets for Breakfast at Tiffany’s in Concert are $87.45,$76.49 and $60.03. To see this performance of Breakfast at Tiffany’s In Concert at the Keith-Albee, contact the Marshall Artists Series Box Office at 304-696-6656 or order tickets online at Ticketmaster.com. You may also visit our box office located in the Joan C. Edwards Playhouse on the Marshall University campus.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
WOMEN OF COLOR DAY

3 NOMINATING CATEGORIES
STUDENT • FACULTY/STAFF/ADMINISTRATION • COMMUNITY

To nominate someone and view all qualifications, visit:
www.marshall.edu/caas/women-of-color-award-nomination

DEADLINE - FEBRUARY 16, 2019

Marshall University's Women of Color Day celebration recognizes individuals who have commendably endeavored to promote respect for women of color, those who have contributed greatly toward promoting multicultural understanding and gender equality at Marshall University or in the Huntington community.

For more information, contact Shaunte Polk at polks@marshall.edu or Lisa Allen at allenl@marshall.edu
Marshall University

Bridal & Special Event Expo

Sunday, February 17, 2019 | Noon to 3 pm
Memorial Student Center (Huntington campus)

$5 for Guests
Free to MU students with ID

VENDORS PRE-REGISTER TODAY!
Have questions?
Contact Casey Hall, (304) 696-2538 | hall380@marshall.edu

---

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY CALENDAR OF EVENTS AND ACTIVITIES

BLACK HISTORY MONTH

Black History Month sponsors: The Dr. Carter G. Woodson Lyceum, Intercultural Affairs, Academic Affairs, Division of Student Affairs, College of Arts and Media, College of Education and Professional Development, School of Journalism and Mass Communications, School of Medicine, Center for African American Students, Black United Students, Simon Perry Center for Constitutional Democracy, John Deaver Drinko Academy, as well as Dow Jones News Fund, Friends of Marshall Libraries and State of West Virginia Office of the Governor (Herbert Henderson Office of Minority Affairs).
Thursday, Jan. 31

Black History Month Kick-Off Event | 4 p.m. | Memorial Student Center BE-5

Inspired by Carter G. Woodson’s teachings for African Americans to learn about their past, Carmen Mitzi Sinnott, the keynote presenter in our 2019 Black History celebration, will provide a dynamic performance using scenes from her internationally acclaimed PBS broadcast solo play “SNAPSHOT.” Ms. Sinnott says it illustrates “how knowing one’s true history is how we determine a future of real possibility.” The Honorable Steve Williams, mayor of Huntington; Jill Upson, executive director of the Herbert Henderson Office of Minority Affairs, who will represent West Virginia Gov. Jim Justice; and other dignitaries will proclaim February as Black History Month and recognize Woodson’s contributions to Huntington, West Virginia and the world.

Contact: morrisb@marshall.edu.

Sunday, Feb. 3

Carter G. Woodson Annual Soul Food Feast | 2 p.m. | Memorial Student Center, John Marshall Dining Room

Chitterlings, ribs, collard greens, and many other traditional African American dishes. $7 students-$15 Adults. For advance tickets, call 304-696-4677.

Contact cooley@marshall.edu to learn more.

Monday, Feb. 4

Ain’t I A Woman | 7 p.m. | Joan C. Edwards Playhouse

This core ensemble performance celebrates the lives and times of four significant African American women: abolitionist Sojourner Truth, novelist Zora Neale Hurston, folk artist Clementine Hunter and civil rights worker Fannie Lou Hamer.

Wednesday, Feb. 6

“Poverty Simulation” | 10 a.m. – 2 p.m. | Memorial Student Center, Don Morris Room

This program breaks down stereotypes by allowing participants to role-play lives of low income families. For tickets, visit https://www.eventbrite.com/e/poverty-stimulation-tickets-52359309103
Thursday, Feb. 7

Carter G. Woodson Lecture | 4 p.m. | Memorial Student Center, Shawkey Dining Room

This lecture will feature Norfolk State University’s Cassandra L. Newby-Alexander, Ph.D., dean, College of Liberal Arts, professor of history, director of the Joseph Jenkins Roberts Center for African Diaspora Studies. Dr. Newby-Alexander will explain the historical impact of 1619 and commemorate the arrival 400 years ago of the first documented Africans and the largest group of marriageable English women in Jamestown, Virginia. A public reception will follow, sponsored by the Drinko Academy.

Monday, Feb. 11

“Don’t Call Me African.” | 6 p.m. | Memorial Student Center, BE-5

This panel discussion explores students’ views about what it means to be African, African American and black. Contact: polk4@marshall.edu

Wednesday, Feb. 13

“City Kids: Urban in West Virginia.” | 4:30 p.m. | Memorial Student Center, Shawkey Dining Room

This panel discussion involves personal experiences, challenges and emotions of some young people who have moved to West Virginia. Sponsored by the Center for African American Students & Black United Students. Contact: polk4@marshall.edu

Monday, Feb. 18

Annual Society of Black Scholars Service Learning Public Presentations | 7 p.m. | Memorial Student Center, BE-5

Topic I: “History of Segregation in US Public Schools,” emphasis on West Virginia schools;
Topic II: “History of Segregation In US Colleges and Universities,” emphasis on US and West Virginia’s historically black colleges and universities.
Contact cooley@marshall.edu.

Tuesday, Feb. 19

Amicus Curiae Lecture Series | 7 p.m. | Brad D. Smith Foundation Hall

Speaker: The Honorable Robert L. Wilkins, US Court of Appeals judge for the District of Columbia Circuit. Judge Wilkins served as chairman of the site and building committee of the Presidential Commission that Congress established to plan the National Museum of African American History and Culture in Washington, D.C. Judge Wilkins will discuss the century-long struggle to establish the museum. The series is sponsored by the Simon Perry Center for Constitutional Democracy, and this presentation is co-sponsored by The Woodson Lyceum.

Friday, Feb. 22

Annual Diversity Breakfast | 7:30 a.m. | Memorial Student Center, Don Morris Room

This breakfast celebrates of unity and the importance of a pluralistic society and a world of peace with others. The 2019 theme is “Building Bridges.” For reservations only, contact: cooley@marshall.edu

Saturday, Feb. 23

Annual Ebony Ball | 7:30 p.m. | Memorial Student Center, BE-5

Celebrate Black History Month in style. with a night of great music, food and wonderful people. “Best Dressed” Ebony Ball attendants will be crowned. Please wear formal or “cocktail” attire; the dress code will be strictly enforced. Purchase tickets at the door or by contacting polk4@marshall.edu.

Saturday, Feb. 23

“African American Genealogy Day” | 10 a.m. – 4 p.m. | Cabell County Public Library (455 Ninth Street, Huntington)

MU Libraries and Cabell County Public Library are hosting this event with speakers, hands-on activities and research time. Contact: Public Library, 304-528-5700 to register (max 25 people).

Monday, Feb. 25

A.E. Stringer Visiting Writers Series | 7 p.m. | Memorial Student Center, Don Morris Room

Speaker: Essayist and poet Hanif Abdurraqib. See story: Poets & Writers https://www.pw.org/content/januaryfebruary_2019

Thursday, Feb. 28

Carter G. Woodson: The Early Years | TBD | WVU Tech (Beckley campus)

Presentation by Burnis Morris, Carter G. Woodson Professor at Marshall University. Contact: sdrobertson@mail.wvu.edu
Monday, March 4

Sara Denman Faces of Appalachia Presentation | 7 p.m. | Francis Booth Experimental Theatre

Speaker: Dr. David Trowbridge, associate professor of history. Co-sponsored by Appalachian Studies and the Drinko Academy.

---

BAKE SALE FOR A CAUSE

Cupcakes & Hot Chocolate!

Monday, February 18 • 9am - 1pm

Memorial Student Center

Treat yourself to something sweet while helping the Huntington City Mission. The goal is to raise $800 – enough for one day’s worth of food in the Mission’s meal program.

Suggested price $1 per treat, but donations are welcome.

---

***
The Marshall University Society of Black Scholars
Presents
Annual Service Learning Project
Study/Research Presentations

Monday, February 18 • 7 p.m.
Memorial Student Center BE-5

TOPIC I: “History of Segregation in U.S. Public Schools,” emphasis on West Virginia schools

TOPIC II: “History of Segregation In U.S. Colleges and Universities,” emphasis on U.S. and West Virginia’s historically black colleges and universities.

In Celebration of African American History Month. (45 minute presentations, followed by a short Q and A)

Sponsored by the Office of Intercultural Affairs
Contact cooley@marshall.edu to learn more.

---

AMICUS CURIAE
LECTURE SERIES

JUDGE ROBERT L. WILKINS
United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 2019
BRAD D. SMITH FOUNDATION HALL | 7:00 PM
The School of Art and Design will present a Huntington Area Art Society discussion featuring photographer Ariel Wilson at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 20, at The Cellar Door, 905 3rd Ave.

Wilson, a visiting assistant professor of photography, will reflect on her ongoing body of work, in which she explores the use of value to define boundaries, plays with the limits of human perception, and experiments with photographic technologies.

The event is free with a current Marshall ID. A $10 donation is requested from others. Proceeds support programming in the School of Art and Design. Checks should be made out to Marshall University.

All are welcome, but seating is limited. Participants are invited to arrive early to enjoy conversation and refreshments.

The event is sponsored by the School of Art and Design.
The Center for Consumer Law and Education presents

I Declare, BANKRUPTCY!: Yet, It Won’t Solve the Consumer’s Financial Problems with

Casey W. Baker
Assistant Professor of Legal Environment in the Department of Accountancy and Legal Environment, of the Brad D. Smith Schools of Business

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 20 | 3:00 - 5:00 PM
DRINKO LIBRARY, ROOM 402

This lecture will focus on a few different concepts under bankruptcy law that consumers and college students may not understand that will negatively impact their ability to obtain relief from the bankruptcy process. Examples of such impact will include Chapter 7 means testing, secured debt, priority, non-deductible debts, and asset exemptions. The talk will also consider some consumer protection statutes that sometimes offer relief as an alternative to bankruptcy, such as the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act and the West Virginia Consumer Credit and Protection Act.

Contact arthur133@marshall.edu or bakerc@marshall.edu to learn more
Sponsored by the Center for Consumer Law and Education, the Brad D. Smith Schools of Business, Accountancy & Legal Environment

***

Marshall University JAZZ STUDIES PROGRAM PRESENTS

WINTER JAZZ 50TH ANNIVERSARY FESTIVAL
FEBRUARY 22-23, 2019
Smith Recital Hall

MU JAZZ ENSEMBLE!
FEATURING ROB PARTON
FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 2019
5:00 PM

THE COLUMBUS JAZZ ORCHESTRA
ROB PARTON, DIRECTOR
SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 2019
7:00 PM

Other performances by The Jewel City Jazz Orchestra, MU Jazz Combo I, The Thundering Herd All-Star Big Band and local high school and middle school jazz groups.

For more information, visit marshall.edu/music/jazz

Free and open to the public.

Questions? Contact Jesse Nolan, nolanj@marshall.edu
Sponsored by the School of Music and the College of Arts and Media

***
Free African American Genealogy Workshop

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 23
10:00 AM – 4:00 PM
Cabell County Public Library
455 9th St, Downtown Huntington

Genealogy is very popular but the intricacies of African American genealogy require different resources. Join us for a free workshop with guest speakers and experts to help you with research into your family tree.

Refreshments will be served.

---

A.E. Stringer Visiting Writers Series
at Marshall University

PRESENTS IN CELEBRATION OF BLACK HISTORY MONTH

Poet, Essayist, & Cultural Critic
HANIF ABDURRAQIB

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 25
7:00 PM
READING, Q&A WITH AUTHOR,
& BOOK SIGNING

MEMORIAL STUDENT CENTER DON MORRIS ROOM | EVENT IS FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

Sponsored by Student Affairs, the Office of Intercultural Affairs, Housing and Residence Life, the College of Liberal Arts, and the Department of English

For more information, contact Cody Lumpkin, lumpkincj@marshall.edu
The Marshall University Lewis College of Business & Brad D. Smith Schools of Business presents

Spring 2019 Dean’s Distinguished Speaker Series

with alumnus TOM WRIGHT

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 2019

Presentation: 6:30 pm
Brad D. Smith Foundation Hall Conference Center

The Dean’s Distinguished Speaker Series is the highest profile speaker series at Marshall University Lewis College of Business. Bringing in a diverse mix of c-suite business leaders, the series provides the Marshall University community with insightful perspectives on effective leadership and opportunities for thought-provoking discussions.

Questions? Contact midkiff@marshall.edu to learn more
Sponsored by the LCOB and Brad D. Smith Schools of Business

---

Countdown to Commencement

Tuesday, March 5th and Wednesday, March 6th

10:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m.
Don Morris Room, Memorial Student Center

This event is open to all tentative May graduates. Complete pre-commencement responsibilities, gather information and celebrate a significant milestone in your life.

ALL IN ONE STOP!
From RCBI: Internet of Things workshop to kick off series for manufacturers

Posted on February 12, 2019

The next industrial revolution is underway, and emerging technologies are the driving forces. Don’t get left behind. Learn how you can achieve a strategic advantage by embracing innovative new approaches to transform your business.

Join us March 21 from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. at the Robert C. Byrd Institute in Huntington (1050 Fourth Avenue) for the first in our 2019 series of Industry 4.0 workshops – The Internet of Things (IoT): Implications and Opportunities for Business & Industry.
Learn what IoT is … and isn’t, how to apply the technology to your manufacturing operation, and how to achieve a strategic advantage by connecting physical and digital technologies to improve efficiency, promote innovation and reduce costs. Industry experts will lead the free workshop, explaining the real-world applications of IoT in manufacturing and other industries and how to protect your processes and intellectual properties in a cyber-focused environment.

Our Industry 4.0 series will present additional workshops that include Cognitive Computing on April 25 and Robotics for Manufacturing on May 23. Seating is limited, so register for any or all of the workshops at www.rcbi.org/go/industry4.0.

For more information, contact Jamie Cope, RCBI’s Deputy Director and Director of Innovation & Entrepreneurship, at jcope@rcbi.org or 304.781.1680.

Mears family establishes medical student scholarship

Posted on February 12, 2019

Charleston physician James M. “Jim” Mears, M.D., and his wife, Sherri, have established an endowed scholarship to help future medical students at the Joan C. Edwards School of Medicine.

A Cabell County, West Virginia, native, Mears graduated with his medical degree from Marshall University in 1988. He completed his residency in family medicine at Charleston Area Medical Center (CAMC) in Charleston, West Virginia, followed by a palliative care fellowship at The Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio. Dr. Mears has practiced in Charleston for more than 28 years. He is a faculty member with West Virginia University and practices at CAMC, specializing in family medicine and palliative medicine.

“This area is home, and Marshall University has been good to me and my family,” Mears said. “The school of medicine gave me the opportunity to start a long and successful career as a physician. God has blessed me financially, and I would like to help support future physicians, giving them the opportunity that I had without incurring large amounts of debt. This scholarship also honors my family who helped support me financially and emotionally throughout my journey.”
The Mears Family Scholarship is designated for first-year medical students, with first preference given to a student from Putnam County, West Virginia. Second preference will be given to a student from Cabell or Wayne counties in West Virginia. The award is renewable for three additional years pending normal academic progress.

For more information or to make a gift to the Marshall University Joan C. Edwards School of Medicine, please contact Linda Holmes, director of development and alumni affairs, by phone at 304-691-1711 or by e-mail at holmes@marshall.edu or visit jcesom.marshall.edu/alumni.

---

Gregory D. Borowski, D.P.M., joins Marshall Orthopaedics

Posted on February 12, 2019

The Joan C. Edwards School of Medicine, Marshall Health and Cabell Huntington Hospital medical and dental staff welcome Gregory D. Borowski, D.P.M., to their orthopaedic team of providers.

Borowski has been named an assistant professor in the department of orthopaedic surgery at the Joan C. Edwards School of Medicine. He has more than 25 years of podiatry experience in the Barboursville, West Virginia, community and has worked with the National Board of Podiatric Medical Examiners.

He earned his podiatric medical degree from the Ohio College of Podiatric Medicine in Cleveland, Ohio, where he also completed his residency training in primary podiatric medicine. Borowski is a general podiatrist and treats patients of all ages, ranging from small children through senior-age adults, emphasizing alternatives to surgery first. He specializes in non-operative podiatry including the treatment of ingrown toenails, wart removal, diabetic foot care, toenail care, corns and calluses, and heel pain management. Borowski has been active in the Barboursville community for years and previously served two consecutive terms as vice president of the Cabell County Board of Education.

Borowski is accepting new patients and referrals at Marshall Orthopaedics, an outpatient department of Cabell Huntington Hospital, located in the Marshall University Medical Center at 1600 Medical Center Drive in Huntington. To schedule an appointment, call 304-691-1262. He is also seeing patients at Marshall Health – Teays Valley located at 300 Corporate Center Drive in Scott Depot. To schedule an appointment, call 304-691-6710.
Faculty Achievement: Dr. Jennifer Mak

Posted on February 12, 2019

Dr. Jennifer Mak, professor and director of sport management in the School of Kinesiology, College of Health Professions, was elected chair of the editorial board of the Journal of Physical Education, Recreation and Dance (JOPERD). JOPERD is a peer-reviewed journal that has been an authoritative professional journal in the field since its inception in 1896.

“It is a tremendous honor and privilege to serve as the chairperson of the Editorial Board of the Journal of Physical Education, Recreation and Dance,” Mak said.

School of Music to host Chamber Choir Invitational

Posted on February 12, 2019

The School of Music will host a Chamber Choir Invitational on Saturday, April 13, in Smith Recital Hall on the Huntington campus. High school choral ensembles are encouraged to attend and will have an opportunity to perform for a panel of adjudicators who will provide comments on each selection performed.

Guest clinician Dr. Matthew Oltman will spend time working with each ensemble to encourage the implementation of adjudicator comments. Marshall faculty members will serve as adjudicators as well, including Dr. David Castleberry and Dr. Briana Nannen.

Oltman is music director emeritus of the Grammy award-winning male vocal ensemble Chanticleer and artistic director emeritus of the New York-based Empire City Men’s Chorus. He conducts the Conservatory Choir, teaches courses in choral conducting and literature, and helps lead the Shenandoah Conservatory’s dynamic choral department. He is also the associate director of CORO and leads the CORO/Simpson College summer master’s program in choral conducting.

As a singing member of Chanticleer, he sang for 12 albums and toured the globe. As director, he worked to expand the ensemble’s repertoire to attract a younger, tech-savvy audience over the course of 300 concerts worldwide. He also helped launch the Chanticleer Live in Concert recording label and edited the Chanticleer Choral Series, published by Hinshaw Music. He has facilitated commissions from composers as well.
Registration for this year’s Chamber Choir Invitational will be conducted online. To register an ensemble, visit tinyurl.com/MUCCInvitational. Please fill out the form completely, giving special attention to the category labeled “Performance Preferences.”

For more information, contact Nannen by e-mail at nannen@marshall.edu.

---

For more information, contact John Sammons, Director of the Digital Forensics and Information Assurance Program, john.sammons@marshall.edu or 304-696-7241.

---

Learn more at marshall.edu/mureads or contact mureads@marshall.edu.
The next regular issue of We Are...Marshall will be distributed Feb. 20, 2019. Please send items for consideration to WAMnewsletter@marshall.edu by 5 p.m. Monday, Feb. 18, 2019.

To read the content of this newsletter online, please click on the following link: www.marshall.edu/wamnewsletter/February-13-2019.