Biographical Notes:

The Current History Club was a women's civic group established in 1906 and elected to membership in the General Federation of Women's Clubs in 1908. The society's proclaimed interests are in literature, music, and art, as well as community and city service.

Scope and Content:

This collection consists of loose scrapbook pages with clippings, handmade invitations, and a 1923-1924 yearly club report. The clippings focus on the club's efforts to improve literacy and health conditions of disadvantaged children of Huntington, West Virginia. Areas of note include the Club's work to fight tuberculosis through yearly drives and educational scholarships prioritizing women.

Processing Notes:
