IMPACT shaping up

By NANCY HINCHMAN
News Editor

Civil rights leader James Farmer and social critic Vance Packard have been added to the growing list of speakers who will be on campus for IMPACT 1969 in April.

Other speakers scheduled to appear on the week-long program that brings controversial speakers to the campus are Bishop James A. Pike, Dr. Herbert Aptheker, Willy Ley and newsman Sander Vanocur.

Mr. Farmer, who will speak April 19, was instrumental in the organization of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) in 1942. As national director of CORE, Mr. Farmer attracted nationwide attention during the hunt for Andrew Goodman, James Chaney and Michael Schwerner in Mississippi.

Grandson of a slave, Mr. Farmer received a bachelor of science degree in chemistry when he was only 18 years old. He then studied for the ministry at Howard University's School of Religion, earning a bachelor of divinity degree when he was 21.

There is a possibility that Mr. Farmer will accept a post in the Nixon administration, but at the present he is a professor of social welfare at Lincoln University and adjunct professor at New York University where he teaches courses in the civil rights revolution and the new left in relation to the black revolution.

Mr. Packard, who will make his IMPACT talk April 14 on the "Changing American Character: Today's Confusion Tomorrow's Prospects," is internationally recognized as one of the most important social documenters of our time.

A former newspaperman and magazine writer, Mr. Packard now devotes his time to social comment—investigation of the trends in modern society and their effect on individual liberty.

He is the author of several best-sellers including "The Status Seekers," "The Naked Society," and "The Pyramid Climbers." His new book, "The Sexual Wilderness: The Contemporary Upheaval in Male-Female Relationships" is based on four years of study and personal interviews here and abroad.

Also appearing on the IMPACT program will be NBC newsman Sander Vanocur. He is appearing under the sponsorship of the Convocation Program on April 17.

Decisions '69 begins

"Great Decisions 1969", a series of programs concerning American foreign policy, begins tonight at 9:15 in the Campus Christian Center. Nicholas Contopoulos, assistant professor of economics, will speak on "Czechoslovakia, Russia and Eastern Europe" ... what outlook for East-West coexistence?

Tonight's program is the first in a series of six scheduled in February and March.

Other programs and guest speakers include: "Africa, Asia, and the Development Decade" ... must the poverty gap widen?, Kenneth H. Greer, instructor of economics, Feb. 12; "Southeast Asia" ... more Vietnams in the making?, Francis K. Aldred, associate professor of history, Feb. 26; "Cuba — the Castro Decade" ... what challenge to the Americas?, J. Harvey Saunders, assistant professor of history, March 5; "The Middle East Tinderbox" ... is another round inevitable?, Stuart E. Colie, professor of political science, March 12, and "Dissent, Democracy and Foreign Policy" ... what role for minority opinions?, Simon D. Perry, professor of political science, March 19.

Ten films in cinema series

Ten films have been scheduled for second semester Marshall Arts and Cinema Society (MACS) to be shown at 8 p.m. on Sunday nights in Science Hall auditorium throughout the semester.

The membership fee for the semester is $5 which can be sent to Marshall Arts and Cinema, Box 94, Marshall University, or given to Miss Judy Smith, instructor of speech, or Mike Cornfeld, instructor of art. Memberships will be available at the door and at reduced rates after each film. There are no single admission tickets.

Each member is invited to bring one guest, free of charge, Sunday for the showing of the first film, "The Virgin Spring." The film depicts a father's ruthless vengeance for the rape and murder of his daughter.

Other films include:

"The Blue Angel" on Feb. 16. It fuses the charming naturalism of Marlene Dietrich and the gutty expressionism of Emil Jannings into a harsh slice of realism.

"The Seventh Seal" on March 2. Bergman's stunning allegory of man's search for meaning in life.

"Rashomon" on March 9. Set in the middle ages, it probes the nature of truth and subjective reality.

"Le Bonheur" on March 23.

"Two Daughters" on March 30. Indian director Ray reveals the warmth of love and the blindness of lovers.

"Shoot the Piano Player" on April 13. Half thriller, half parody, it presents an existential essay on life.

"The Informer" on April 20.

"L'Avventura" on May 4. A story of Italy's idle rich.

"A Lesson in Love" on May 18. Bergman at his funniest tells the story of a gynecologist's affairs of the heart.

Quintet set to play here

The Adelaide Woodwind Quintet from Australia will perform in the Convocation Series at 11 a.m. Thursday in Old Main Auditorium.

The leading chamber music ensemble was formed at the University of Adelaide and will perform at Marshall as part of its first tour in the United States.

The musicians in the ensemble have been brought together from throughout the world. They include: David Cubbin, flute, Australia; Jiri Tanc ibudek, oboe, Czechoslovakia; Gabor Reeves, clarinet, Hungary; Stanley Crey, French horn, Australia and Thomas Wrightman, bassoon, England.

One of the prime concerns of the Adelaide group is the fostering of new music by Australian composers, and their programs on this first tour will offer several works which have been commissioned by the ensemble in this respect. Their varied programs will depart from the standard woodwind quintet repertoire, for these artists have planned interesting suggestions at "Folk Music of All Nations," Masterworks for Wind Ensemble" and "Contemporary Music for Winds."

Applications deadline

Today is the last day for interested seniors and graduate students to pick up application forms for the Federal Service Entrance Examination. Applications are available at the Placement Office for the Feb. 15 examination.

According to Mrs. Helen Davidson, secretary of the Placement Office, response to the examination has been good.

Open to seniors, graduates and students anticipating a college degree within the next year, the examination is appropriate for students in all curricula except engineering, the physical sciences, accounting and a limit-

MAC alumni chapters numerous and active

How does our Alumni Association compare with other Mid-American Associations?

Established 10 years ago, Marshall's Alumni Association "has grown gradually — but we still have a long way to go," according to Harry M. Sands, director of alumni affairs.

"Marshall alumni chapters total fifteen. However, only three are really active," said Mr. Sands. These are in Logan, Charleston and Columbus, Ohio.

Thirty chapters in 25 states and two foreign countries belong to Western Michigan University Alumni Association. Ohio University sponsors 53 chapters in 20 states and one foreign country, and Miami University has 45 chapters in 21 states and one foreign country. The University of Toledo has only 12 chapters but includes 5 states.

"Homecoming Weekend is a primary activity of the Alumni Office," said Mr. Sands. The weekend begins with a "Welcome Home Cocktail Party" Friday night. A "Continental Breakfast," guided tours of the campus, a candlelight alumni buffet and a dance are Saturday's activities.

Like Marshall, the other MAC schools participate in Homecoming activities with a dance and dinner. Miami University Alumni Association, however, provides special half-time features such as the U. S. Army's parachute team, "The Golden Knights" and a demonstration by the "Rocket Man" from Bell Aerosystems. The University of Toledo sponsors a parade and features a big top tent and free hot dogs.

Other activities sponsored by the (our) Alumni Association are the MU Invitational Basketball Tournament, a display booth at the West Virginia State Fair, Philadelphia 76ers exhibition games in Huntington, Parents Weekend, and a banquet for graduating seniors. They also originated and outfitted Patrick and Patricia Marshall.

Each MAC Alumni Association sponsors scholarship programs and fund raising campaigns. An Alumni Annual Giving program and scholarship and loan aid from alumni class scholarships are part of Marshall's fund raising activities. Outstanding in fund raising activities is Miami University which offers $100,000 in scholarships and grants-in-aid. In addition, Miami alumni has built a chapel, six seminar rooms, an alumni center, and a library; helps the speaker's bureau, and provides program guides for the university TV and radio station.

"One way or another, $10,000 per year comes into the Marshall Alumni office," said Mr. Sands. These donations are from the Annual Giving Fund and interested alumni. Since the alumni office is allowed no budget from the university, salaries with exception of the Alumni Director, operation costs and activities are financed by these donations.

Bowling Green provides a separate "alumni house" for alumni officers and Miami alumni have built a new center for this purpose. Marshall has a small office in Old Main.

According to Mr. Sands, he and President Roland H. Nelson Jr. are discussing the possibility of including the Alumni Office in the regular budget.

PAY INCREASE

Salaries for student assistants were raised Feb. 1 from $1.15 to $1.30 per hour.

ACTIVITIES SLATED

The Sands of Time will play for the mix tonight at the Shawkey Student Union from 8-10 p.m. "Hemingway's Adventures of a Young Man" is to be the movie at the Union Friday at 7:30 p.m. Admission for both activities will be free with presentation of the student's identification card.

Herd faces league leading Miami tonight

By KIM JAMES
Sports Writer

Marshall will be going after its second conference win of the season tonight when it travels to Oxford, Ohio to tangle with the Redskins of Miami.

Miami will go into tonight's game leading the MAC with a 6-1 record with one of those six wins coming on January 4th against Marshall, 78-70. Their only conference loss was a close one against Western Michigan.

Tates Locke, coach of the Redskins, calls tonight's game, "a tough challenge for his ball club. I am not worried about the conference championship at the present time but I am worried about Marshall. I have always had a great amount of respect for Coach Ellis Johnson and I know that he will have his cagers up for this one," he added.

When asked about the conference in comparison with his own team Locke said that he was very surprised that his team was leading the league. "I don't feel that the reason that we are leading the Mid-American Conference is because we are any better than we expected but it is due to the decline of Toledo, Marshall, and several other conference teams. Marshall has had its problems thus far this season but our scouting reports have shown they are a much improved ball club since we played them last," he said.

Locke had nothing but high praise for the Marshall team. "I have always had a great deal of respect for (Dan) D'Antoni, (Jim) Davidson, and the rest of the team but I have been most impressed this season by the three sophomores and the one junior that Coach Johnson has been starting. (Bernard) Bradshaw is a very strong young man and he will be a tremendous help to Marshall for the next two years. (Blaine) Henry is going to be, if he isn't already one of the top guards in the conference. (Joe) Taylor is one of the finest shots in this area and we will have to watch him closely. We are hoping that (Dave) Smith will get to play against us. (Smith will be out of the Marshall lineup until at least Saturday because of an ankle injury). Smith is a fine ball player and we wish that he had chosen us over Marshall," Locke concluded.

Ellis Johnson has at least one player change for tonight's game, 6'8" junior Bob Didur will be making his first start for Marshall. "Didur will be starting because Gary Pomerence and Dave Smith both have ankle injuries and will not be able to play tonight. We are not sure when Dave (Smith) will be ready, but the trainer has told us that Gary (Pomerence) will be ready for Saturday's game against Kent State," Johnson said.

Didur who has played in six games for Marshall this season has a point average of 1.1 and has pulled down one rebound per game. He will join Joe Taylor, Bernard Bradshaw, and Dan D'Antoni in the Marshall lineup. The fifth starter is still in doubt with Blaine Henry, Jim Davidson, and Ricky Hall being the candidates for the job.

Marshall's freshmen will travel to Charleston tomorrow night to play the Morris Harvey junior varsity.

Sports comment

By TIM BUCEY
Sports Co-Editor

A little over 18 months ago Eddie Barrett "turned traitor" when he switched his allegiance from West Virginia University to Marshall in an attempt to revive the Thundering Herd's athletic image.

For 14 frustrating years Marshall has been a member of the Mid-American Conference, being able to excel only in basketball and golf periodically in those years. Thus, Mr. Barrett was given the task of putting Marshall 'On the Move'.

The Thundering Herd has never won a football title, just organized a swimming team, is in the process of reorganizing a track team that has never been able to compete against its much stronger MAC opponents and the tennis team has not won a conference match in two years.

It is no secret that Marshall lacks the facilities other members of the conference possess, but when Eddie Barrett left his position as sports information director at WVU to accept the Marshall athletic directorship, he realized there was a chance to succeed in making the school equal to its other opponents.

When Barrett first came to Huntington, he said, "I came here because the climate is so right for building an athletic program. I have never seen such enthusiasm by supporters of a school anywhere.

"Marshall is aware of what it needs and what it wants in athletics. If we succeed, I'll get part of the credit, and that's good enough for me."

The year 1968 was one of growth and change in the area of merchandising and promotion at Marshall. The year saw the formation of a ten-station radio network to air Thundering Herd football and basketball, plus weekly television shows featuring football coach Perry Moss, basketball coach Ellis Johnson and Director of Athletics, Eddie Barrett.

It was also a record money year for the Herd. The Big Green Scholarship Fund raised nearly $150,000 during 1968, approximately $117,000 more than was raised last year. This support has made it possible to set the machinery in motion to get "Marshall on the Move", and to quote Athletic Director Barrett "to give our athletic coaches room in which to operate."

"Twenty-five years ago Michigan State was known as an agricultural school," Barrett pointed out, "Florida State was a girls school, Houston didn't even have an athletic program. Ohio University and V.P.I. were small schools, locally known but nothing to compare with what they are today. The growth of these schools, to name just a few, came as a direct result of the building of strong athletic programs."

"We feel that 1968 marks the beginning of a solid program for our university, a program that will see us getting competitive in all areas of athletics within the Mid-American Conference and nationally as well," Barrett surmised.

ATTENTION MARSHALL SOPHOMORES DID YOU MAKE A MISTAKE...

There is still time to earn an Officers Commission while in college.

A New Reserve Officer Training Corps program permits selected college sophomores and juniors, with two years remaining in college, to be commissioned as Army Second Lieutenants in two years. You can do this by:

1. Completing a special 6-week summer camp between your sophomore and junior year.
2. Completing the two-year Advanced ROTC Course at Marshall University.

What are the benefits of Army ROTC Training?

$50 per month pay while attending the Advanced Course, plus pay and paid travel for summer camp training.

Eligibility for free flight training leading to a private pilot's license.

Increased opportunity for graduate study with no increase in service obligation.

Serve your required two year obligation as an officer with starting pay of $501 per month and not as a private with pay of $162.30.

Receive leadership and management training much valued in civilian industry.

These benefits will put you a step ahead of other college graduates and will pay off for the rest of your life. You owe it to yourself to investigate these new opportunities.

For complete information, see the Professor of Military Science in Room 217, Gullickson Hall, prior to February 8, 1969.

Marshall intramural program is viewed

Marshall University's intramural sports program has been termed one of the best in the nation, and could become better if appropriate funds are available.

Intramural Director Ronald L. Crosbie considers MU as having one of the top five intramural programs in the nation. He attributes this to the number of activities offered for participation. There are currently 15.

"The intramural sports program at Marshall is designed to fulfill the needs for supervised competitive sports of all male students," Mr. Crosbie said. "The student may participate in these activities provided by the intramural program as dictated by his interests, ability, and time."

What do the students think?

"I think the intramural program is a vital part of college life at any University," said James C. Dunbar, Beckley junior.

Jim Davis, Craigsville sophomore, added his views.

"I really enjoy playing intramurals. The competition is tough and it is a chance to get away from classwork for a while. It is also a chance for the students to keep themselves in a better physical condition."

MU's intramural program is handicapped by poor playing facilities and a lack of funds.

"The intramural program is going to have to be financed separately in order to function on a sound basis. Presently we are receiving aid from the Physical Education Department and $1 entry fees from our three major activities, football, basketball and softball," Mr. Crosbie said.

During the year, injuries have been frequent. Mr. Crosbie attributed these to the poor playing conditions and participants not being physically sound. However, a physical examination by the University doctor and a signed health card are required before competing in an activity.

According to Athletic Director Eddie Barrett, intramurals could develop programs with which Marshall could compete against other major colleges. He cited soccer as the prime example.

Mr. Barrett said that a student club could be organized in the sport and that if enough interest was generated, a possibility of competing with other colleges. He said that once the team had proven itself, certain funds and assistance could be offered by the Athletic Department.

Two years ago South Hall organized such a club in soccer and competed with a few other schools on the voluntary level. Funds were offered but never taken advantage of by the team.

WRESTLING — TRACK

The Marshall track and wrestling squads will be in action this week. Track coach Jack Shaw will take his team to Columbus on Friday, Feb. 7 for the Ohio State Open, while Bill Cyrus' wrestlers will travel to Eastern Kentucky for a match on Wednesday night, Feb. 5.

D'Antoni has 18.0 average

Senior guard Dan D'Antoni sports the Herd's highest scoring average going into tonight's game with Miami. D'Antoni has started all 17 games for the Herd averaging 18.0 per game.

However, D'Antoni's field goal percentage ranks fourth among those who have played in 13 or more games. His 39.0 per cent falls behind pace setter Joe Taylor's 44.4, Bernard Bradshaw's 42.9 and Rickel Hall's 39.2.

D'Antoni's 83.0 free throw rating is well above everyone except Taylor who is close behind with 82.8. D'Antoni has made 78 of 94 free throw attempts and Taylor has sunk 24 of 29 charity shots.

Sophomore Dave Smith leads the Herd rebounding with a 12.5 average, Bradshaw is second with an 8.1 average followed by Jim Davidson with 7.6.

Highly touted Russell Lee leads the undefeated freshman team in scoring and rebounding. Lee has scored 200 points in seven games for a 28.0 average and has grabbed 104 rebounds for a 14.8 average.

Lee's 43.8 field goal percentage ranks only above his brother Eugene's 38.6 among the frosh starters. Center Bill Bertalan boasts a 62.1 field goal percentage, best among the freshmen.

Four footballers transfer to MU

Marshall's football team has added four junior college players to its roster. The transfer players began classes this semester and therefore will be eligible to play next fall.

The list includes: Kevin Gilmore, 6'2", 186 lb. running back from Cook Jr. College in Nebraska.

Dave Griffin, 5'11", 205 lb. defensive end and captain of Ferrum (Va.) Jr. College's national champs.

Larry Brown, 5'10", 217 lb. offensive lineman from Pratt Jr. College in Kansas.

Jerry Stainback, 6'0", 195 lb. linebacker from Ferrum (Va.) Jr. College.

Our pill.

Does it really work?

If you've ever resorted to NoDoz® at 4 a.m. the night before an exam, you've probably been disappointed.

NoDoz, after all, is no substitute for sleep. Neither is anything else we can think of.

What NoDoz is is a very strong stimulant. In fact, NoDoz has the strongest stimulant you can buy without a prescription.

Caffeine.

What's so strong about that?

If we may cite The Pharmacological Basis of Therapeutics: Caffeine is a powerful central nervous stimulant. Caffeine excites all portions of the central nervous system. Caffeine stimulates all portions of the cortex, but its main action is on the psychic and sensory functions. It produces a more rapid and clearer flow of thought and allays drowsiness and fatigue. After taking caffeine, one is capable of more sustained intellectual effort and a more perfect association of ideas. There is also a keener appreciation of sensory stimuli.

Very interesting. But why take

NoDoz when you can get caffeine in a cup of coffee?

Very simple. You take NoDoz all at once instead of sipping coffee for 10 minutes. And if you take two NoDoz tablets, the recommended dosage, you get twice the caffeine in a cup of coffee.

Two tablets— isn't that likely to be habit forming? Definitely not. NoDoz is completely non-habit forming.

Which means it's safe to take whether you're cramming at night. Or about to walk into an 8 o'clock class. Or driving somewhere (even though you're rested) and the monotony of the road makes you drowsy.

One last thing you should know about NoDoz. It now comes in two forms. Those familiar white pills you take with water. And a chewable tablet called NoDoz Action Aids®. It tastes like a chocolate mint, but it does everything regular NoDoz does.

And if you've managed to stay awake this long, you know that's quite a lot.
