Wooton is elected president

By SUZANNE WOOD
Editor-in-Chief

Jim Wooton, Beckley senior, was elected student body president Wednesday with Pam Slaughter, Dunbar junior, vice president.

The vote was 760 to 349 as the Wooton-Slaughter team tallied nearly twice the number of votes of their opponents, Tom Hensley and Becky Fletcher, both Huntington juniors.

Hensley and Miss Fletcher may become senators now under the loyal opposition clause.

Of the 2,400 students registered to vote, approximately 1,200 cast ballots in the election which was the first one under the new reapportionment plan. All nine amendments to the constitution passed by large majorities.

The following class presidents and vice presidents were elected: senior class, Tim Kinsey, Wheeling junior, president, and Jeff Stiles, Charleston junior, vice president; junior class, Jack Holt,

Keller, Huntington freshman.

Senators elected from the following constituencies are listed in order of highest votes received: women's dorm: Carolyn

Elections group has difficulties

The Student Government Election Committee has faced new problems and has had many decisions to make with the new election procedure, according to Penny Drennen, Summersville junior and Election Committee member.

"Filling out voter's registration cards and getting them distributed was a big job. Registration cards were filled out by hand," said Miss Drennen. "To cut down on mailing costs of registration cards, the committee distributed sorority cards to Panhellenic Council, fraternity cards to IFC and campus residents received theirs at the dorms."

The Election Committee was responsible for setting up precincts and supplying them with workers. This year there are three precincts instead of one as before. New precincts were located in South Hall lounge and Smith Hall lounge, as well as the Student Union basement.

"Getting enough people to sign up to work at the polls was a problem," said Miss Drennen. "There were 24 poll workers needed each hour, although individuals could work more than one hour."

"Another problem was to find a way to get voters registered," she said. Students were asked to register to vote during semester registration with their advisers. But many students did not register at this time and some advisers neglected to turn in registration for those who did register.

Other problems the Election Committee had were to decide what to do if a voter was eligible for more than one constituency and to decide the number of people each senator would represent.

MU budget is $7.5 million

By MARTI HILL
News Editor

The state Legislature provided Marshall University a $7,589,929 budget for 1969-70 in a record-making budget bill passed Tuesday night.

The $7.5 million, which includes appropriations for the Huntington main campus and the Logan and Williamson branches, is an increase of more than $750,000 over the present budget but is nearly $2 million less than the total requested by the University for 1969-70.

President Roland H. Nelson Jr. asked the Legislature for a budget of $9,318,292, a 36.4 per cent increase over the 1968-69 budget of $6,832,916. He was in Charleston Wednesday and could not be contacted to comment on what he thought of the budget as approved for 1969-70.

West Virginia University was granted $23,464,325 for the upcoming fiscal year covering only the Morgantown campuses. This is compared to a requested $27.2 million and the present WVU budget of $21.1 million.

The breakdown of Marshall budget according to Joseph Soto, vice president of business and finance, is:

- Personal services, $6,425,239.
- Current expenses, $465,200.
- Repairs and alterations, $249,550.
- Equipment, $250,500.
- Flood wall assessment, $32,000.
- Educational television, $73,000.
- Experimental projects in teachers' education, $40,000.
- Branch colleges, $83,240.

Construction is covered in another area of the state budget and figures are not available at this time.

Several categories in which appropriations were requested were not provided for in the budget bill.

The over-all state budget provided a $5-million increase in operating budgets for state-operated universities and colleges.

CCC trip to Europe is planned

As part of the faith and culture seminar, the Campus Christian Center is sponsoring a trip June 20-July 24 through Britain and northern Europe.

At least 10 countries will be visited including England, Scotland, France, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Holland, Germany, Switzerland and Czechoslovakia.

"We'll have no regimented stiff time schedule," commented Rev. George Sublette, Campus Christian Center Baptist minister and tour director. Some meetings, one or two hour seminars, will be set up at each spot not with special people, but with the people on campus at the universities visited.

Included in the trip will be five days each in Stockholm, Zurich, and Pravda, a stay at the Ecumenical Academy in Switzerland; four or five days in Central Europe, pending approval by the State Department; four or five days in Upsala, Sweden at the Theological Institute; four or five days in London with students, and tours in Paris, Munich, Oslo, Berlin, and the Hague.

Price of the trip will be $665. This includes transportation, accommodations and most meals. The group will be flying from New York to London. Other major transportation will be by rail and bus.

"We plan to discriminate in who we take in that we want people with a genuine interest in desiring to understand and who are able to live together with other students. We really want only eight, but 15 will be the maximum number," Rev. Sublette said.

Applications will be received after March 10 by Rev. Sublette.

Wednesday's scheduled trial of former MU student Sharon Rose Walls on charges involving telephoned bomb threats to the University has been continued until May by Cabell County Common Pleas Court Judge Ernest E. Winters.

MU fund meeting is tonight

The last Commitment to Marshall meeting of the Alumni Division will be held at 7:30 p.m. today in the Campus Christian Center.

Last Thursday, Coleman E. Trainor Jr., general campaign chairman of the Alumni Division and president of the First Huntington National Bank, announced that $13,877 was reported toward the $31,000 Cabell County goal and $19,359 toward the $75,000 Alumni Division goal.

At the last report meeting 32 people contributed $1,230. This means an average of $38 per person. According to the 1968 American Alumni Report, the average monetary gift an alumnus contributes per year is about $35.

"We're very pleased with the alumni contributions," said Harry M. Sands, director of alumni affairs. The main problem is contacting them."

According to Mr. Sands, there will not be any more formal report meetings. "However," he said, "we are still urging people to work with their pledge cards and turn in the results to us."

"We are starting in Wayne County soon and results are beginning to come in from outlying counties."

"We plan to go to Logan March 28 to hand out pledge cards and let them start working," Mr. Sands said.

An editorial

From all indications, this year's election and campaigning were remarkably clean. But then someone just couldn't stand the idea of being ethical about the whole matter — of keeping politics clean.

After the Parthenon appeared Tuesday, a young "gentleman" on campus who was campaigning for one of the presidential candidates, took the liberty to staple campaign cards on the top of the Parthenons in the Main Cafeteria (over the other candidate's picture, no less!)

And as if that weren't enough, he then proceeded to distribute some copies of his work of art to the dorms.

The Parthenon tried to provide the student body with an unbiased presentation of each of the major candidates. We find very distasteful someone's attempt to reverse our efforts.

It is most unfortunate for Mr. Hensley and Miss Fletcher to have had Dave Cavender, Nitro sophomore, for a supporter, for we are quite sure that they were unaware of his actions.

If your motive was gaining votes, Mr. Cavender, you were miserably unimpressive in your tactics.

Deadline near on housing

By WAYNE FAULKNER
Staff Reporter

Students now living in dormitories will have the opportunity to pick their dorm and their roommate preference for next year, according to Warren S. Myers, director of housing.

Dormitory and roommate preference forms have been distributed in the dorms and must be submitted to residence directors no later than Friday.

An application for housing must accompany this form. The applications have not yet been issued to students.

This procedure must be followed to insure students living in the dorms their preference, according to Myers.

Beginning Saturday, the applications will be considered according to the student's preference. Students will then have an understanding that they must pay $222.48, half the dorm fee for next semester, by May 1 or their room reservation with dorm and roommate preference will be cancelled, according to the housing director.

Students who have applied for housing but have not paid the fee by May 1, will be assigned a definite room and roommate in June. The student will also receive a bill at that time and must pay within 10 days or lose his reservation.

Students who do not pay in June will be put into the inactive file.

"It would not be advisable for a student to wait till August or September to secure a room," said Mr. Myers, "because there may be no rooms available by that time."

"This new procedure is being followed to give people in the dorms preference over incoming freshmen, and also to be able to assure freshmen of a room earlier."

Mr. Myers explained that this was not being done for financial reasons but to make room assignments more convenient for freshmen as well as people already in the dorms.

Mr. Myers was asked also to clarify the new rule requiring all non-commuting students who have not achieved junior status by September, 1969, to live in dormitories or Greek houses.

He said all freshmen will be required to abide by this rule, but "it is possible that all sophomores will not have to live in the dorms. This depends on the availability of dorm rooms. However, sophomores will be required to go by this rule until all the dormitory rooms are taken."

When asked if there were any exceptions to freshmen and sophomores abiding by this rule, Mr. Myers said, "This rule doesn't affect married students, students over 21 or veterans."

Are you confused?

By BOB REPTAK
Staff Reporter

Dr. Richard W. Waite, director of the Counseling and Testing Center, said vocational tests can help confused students in their interests in vocational planning.

The test is taken by darkening blocks on a computer data answering sheet. The questions on the test are designated to ask the student his likes and dislikes in sports, vocations, and different people.

Upon this reporter taking the test, the results basically followed the line of my interests in a particular vocation. However, not being a patriot of art, the test answers had showed that art was a field of interest that I do possess.

One of the tests is taken in the student's home. You are allowed one hour to finish. Upon completion of the test, you are to submit the answer sheet to Dr. Waite with one dollar and the answer sheet will be mailed out and graded by computer. The results are usually back in one week.

Upon receiving the results, Dr. Waite discusses the test with you and points out your interests in different vocations.

Do You Want . . . Money For Future Opportunities?

Will you be financially able to take advantage of that big opportunity when it comes? Men with capital are always in a unique position to make the most of a business break and life insurance can provide that capital. I hope I'll have a chance to discuss this valuable property with you soon.

Club members learn judo and karate

Marshall students now feel safe wearing a certain aftershave since they've joined the newly-formed Karate and Judo Club.

According to James Sylvis, instructor of physical education, the non-credit class is free to all MU students who have spare time between 5 and 7 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

When asked how the club got started, Mr. Sylvis, acting sponsor-supervisor, said, "I think that if a student is interested in an activity of any kind, we should try to provide a class for him."

About 120 students have already shown interest in the two arts promoting physical fitness, co-ordination and self-defense.

Three-fourths of the members are women.

Instruction is given by David Murphy, Williamson junior and Bill Wilson, Chesapeake, Ohio, junior.

Murphy, a qualified karate instructor, has earned his first degree black belt (shodan.) He studied under Sergeant Major William Barnard, formerly an instructor in the Military Science Department, who studied from Ghai, a sixth degree black belt of Kangdowan style, Taekwando (Korean) karate.

Wilson has earned a second degree brown belt (nikyu) in karate and a third degree brown belt (sankyu) in judo. He is a judo instructor at the Huntington YMCA and is West Virginia district coordinator for Armed Forces Judo. He learned judo from a member of the Olympic Judo Squad and says the Marshall club is being modeled after a major judo club in Japan.

The Japanese word Karate means "empty handed". Centuries ago a Japanese Emperor banned all weapons for two years. In order to fight an effective use of the hands was developed.

Judo is a derivative of Jujitsu, a Japanese defensive art using an opponent's weight and strength against him.

Murphy said it "takes two to three years of constant practice to earn a black belt, and only one in a thousand do."

When asked if the course would be given as academic credit Wilson replied, "It's possible to get an instructor, but Marshall would have to back him."

This class is being taught with two general objectives. "The objective for the boys is to develop a general knowledge and background of karate and eventually start a collegiate team," says Murphy. "For the girls it is purely a class for self-defense."
