Dr. Nelson back from vacation

By GINNY PITT
Editor-in-chief

President Roland H. Nelson Jr. is back on the job. He returned Monday from a four-week vacation in cheerful spirits and five pounds heavier. Dr. Nelson said he had spent some time in Washington, D.C., and in his home state of Virginia.

Although the rest period seemed to agree with him tremendously, he said, "It's good to be back." Dr. Nelson praised Dr. Donald N. Dedmon, executive vice president, for his performance of the presidential duties while Dr. Nelson was away. "Dr. Dedmon has done an exceptional job. As a matter of fact, I sort of hate to come back and mess him up," Dr. Nelson said.

He said he hasn't yet had time to establish a list of priorities for matters to be handled through his office, but, "We seem to be well on the way to getting athletic facilities and will want to get that under construction." He also said, "With a new chancellor coming in and the Board of Regents taking hold, we have a major responsibility to set forth what we feel Marshall's unique contributions to higher education in the state can be."

Twin Towers tree vanishes, reappears

With Christmas just around the corner the saying that "it is better to give than to receive," has shown to be a misconception among the residents of Twin Towers East.

With the hustle and bustle of individual floors arranging Christmas decorations of trees, lights, and other odds and ends other floors have decided to borrow a few of their ideas from each other.

The fourth floor of Towers East set up a Christmas tree Tuesday night only to find the whole tree to have vanished by Wednesday noon. After much private investigating by the members of the floor they found their tree up on sixth floor. When sixth floor was asked why they had the tree the reply came that "we only borrowed it."

Setting the tree back up on their own floor, the residents decided to set up a guard detail which will last all night with guard duty changing every hour, this will last until Christmas break.

Rommie McCarus, Charleston sophomore, sleepily commented at 3 a.m. Thursday morning, "It took a lot of hard work to get this tree up, and if anyone tries to take it I guarantee that the whole floor will be out to defend it. Anyway I dig this scrawny little tree."

Mark Joseph, Wheeling freshman, commented earlier in the morning "that the decorations were provided by the fine citizens of Huntington, we didn't even have to ask. I guess you can take that anyway you want to."

With the Christmas spirit spreading throughout the dorm, Santa is for sure to by-pass the rogues of Towers East.

Amendments beaten in Student Senate

By LES SMITH
Staff reporter

Two proposed amendments to the MU Student Government Constitution were defeated and a third tabled at Thursday's Student Senate meeting.

Of 40 senators 22 were present when voting on the amendments began around 11 p.m. The meeting adjourned soon after, due to the lack of a quorum.

Voting on the proposals followed the reading of the Student Court decision abolishing the present student voting constituencies by Chief Justice Greg Wallace earlier in the meeting.

Amendments under consideration were those introduced by the Rules Committee which complied with the Court's order to base constituencies strictly on campus residence.

The defeated proposals concerned the mechanics of establishing the system of bi-annual election of senators, and the clause determining the number of representatives per constituency by population.

A third clause concerning election of class officers was tabled to allow for investigation of the status of unclassified students.

Sen. Suzanne Maddox, Nitro senior, said, "As chairman of Rules Committee, we're not as disappointed that the two amendments failed as we are disappointed that no more senators were present to vote than were there.

"The defeated amendments can go back to Senate, hopefully not in the distant future although it may take that long to get enough members out to vote," she continued.

The lack of detailed explanation as to how Senate would change to a system of electing one half of its membership at each of two annual elections led to the defeat of this amendment by a 19-3 vote.

"The Rules Committee considered three ways, but we made no final decision because these details don't belong in the Constitution," the chairman said. "This should come from legislation from the Rules Committee or be decided by the Election Committee."

A second amendment which would establish the number of senators by the population of a constituency was also defeated because of the uncertainty of how the two-election system would be introduced. As read, the proposed Senate membership would be cut in half in February and not be restored to its regular level until the second election in October. The vote against the measure was unanimous.

The tabled amendment was not voted on because the status of unclassified students could not be established. The proposal called for election of a president and vice president to represent the graduate class and unclassified students. Rules Committee was requested to check with the Office of the Registrar to determine the status of full-time unclassified students.

Amendments approved were those establishing the new constituencies as ordered by Student Court and a second calling for the number of senators to be elected be determined prior to the election.

Under the new voting categories, a student will be able to qualify for only one constituency--transient, University housing, or off-campus housing. The amendment contained a fourth possibility, "Other constituencies as deemed necessary by Senate."

In other Senate action, a motion by Senator Maddox asking that a sub-committee of the Rules Committee be established to investigate the possibility of a University Senate received unanimous approval. Miss Maddox said she hopes a retreat can be scheduled for second semester to discuss plans for a Constitutional Convention which could include the new Senate idea.

Senate President Pam Slaughter announced that the intoxicating beverages motion is still before Student Conduct and Welfare Committee. The motion asks that beer be allowed to be served at on-campus gatherings and also for a change in University policy concerning this.

Where they were ---

The following senators were absent at Thursday's meeting. Their reasons for not attending are:

Doug Burgess--"I was studying for a test."

Richard Ferguson--could not be reached.

John Foy--at work at Sears.
Becky Fletcher--at home sick.
Gerald Hager--at work at Sears.

Tom Hensley--accountant at ACF Industries and had to be present because an auditor was there.

Jack Holt--at work at Sears.
Tim Kinsey--at work at Anderson-Newcomb.

Judy Kincaid--"I was studying for a history test."

Jack Klim--"I got out of a night class early and the meeting slipped my mind. I usually get out at nine and go right over there (Senate meeting)."

Bill Shoub--a pre-med student, he works as an intern and was on night duty.

Danie J. Stewart--could not be reached.

Madeline Stover--was with Jeff Nemens, director of Student Activities, and three other students at three area colleges and universities doing research on governing systems and activity programs for the new MU Student Center.

Jim Willey--could not be reached.

Ted Tweel--"Thursday night, I went to Richmond, Va., for an interview at the medical college."

Tom Zerbe--"I was home studying."

Club promotes understanding

By SARAH MILLER
Feature writer

Thirteen countries are represented in the membership of the new International Club recently formed here. Students from such far away places as Burma, Thailand, Kenya, Indonesia, and Japan belong to the organization which was formed to promote better understanding between students of all nationalities, according to Dr. Thomas Manakkhil, assistant professor of physics and club sponsor.

Dr. Manakkhil himself is from Kerala State, India, and has been at Marshall for three years. Other nations represented in the club are British Honduras, the Philippines, Panama, Iran, Formosa, HongKong, India, and the United States.

Miss Roshan Ollia, Bombay, India, junior, is president. Miss Ollia's brother lives in Charleston and he sponsored her attendance at Marshall.

Arsenio Burgos, better known as "Siney" to his friends, comes from Orange Walk, British Honduras, and serves as vice president. "Siney" will graduate in May, as an accounting major, and has played soccer on many intramural teams at Marshall. He came to Marshall through the efforts of his sister, who attended St. Mary's School of Nursing here.

Miss Patsy Tsang, a freshman from Hong Kong, serves as program chairman. She is a business management major.

From Bangkok, Thailand, comes Miss Suphaporn Nophawan, secretary. She is a freshman with a science major, and she learned about Marshall from a friend at home who was graduated from Marshall two years ago. Miss Nophawan plans to work at the United Nations after graduation.

Teheran, Iran is the home of Miss Mariam Tabatabai, a sophomore studying medical technology, who serves as treasurer. Miss Tabatabai has an uncle living in Huntington, and her sister attended Marshall.

Colston Pitt, Huntington senior, who is a history and physical education major, is sergeant at arms.

Miss Shahrzad Fozour, a sophomore with a psychology major, came to Marshall as a result of her acquaintance with Mariam Tabatabai.

The club, which meets twice monthly in the Campus Christian Center, held an international luncheon Sunday, Dec. 14. Foods were served representing many of the countries of the students belonging.

Also working with the International Club is Dr. Robert Alexander, associate professor of business management, who is international student advisor for the University. He works with all Marshall students from abroad, advising them on admissions, scholarships, State Department regulations, passports, visas, immigration rules, programs from their own embassies, and complete counseling service.

Dr. Manakkhil said, "I would like to see what impact this group could have on the University and the community. People are not too different everywhere. They have much the same problems and some of the same prejudices all over the world. . . .The world is becoming so small--I can fly from here to my home in India in one day. . . .It is quite easy to make friends in this group of students. They are quite friendly and open. And, of course, membership is open to all Marshall students."

Letter to the editor

To the editor:

I would like to respond to Mr. Lawhorn's comments on the Community Players production of "Peter Pan." I must admit to a certain bias in this case since my wife is in the play, and I have been involved in the renovation of the theater.

I feel it necessary to point out that Mr. Lawhorn's criticisms have not been shared by the audiences (not an uncommon problem for the theater critics). "Peter Pan" has drawn the largest audiences in the history of Community Players. The flying scene which he states ". . .almost works--but not quite" has received spontaneous applause from all but one audience (including separate ovations three times in one performance).

Mr. Lawhorn's review is the first negative one to date. Unfortunately it appeared in time to possibly hurt attendance but not early enough for a reply to have effect since the show closes Dec. 13.

Perhaps his sophistication has destroyed his ability to enjoy a play that is based on fantasy and one's ability to believe in fairies. I wonder if he clapped his hands to save Tinker Bell's life?

ROBERT D. GRUBBS
Assistant Professor of Sociology

37 apply for MA degrees

Thirty-seven students have filed applications for graduation this semester in the Graduate School Office according to Dr. John Warren, dean of the Graduate School.

The application must be turned in by students the semester they plan to complete the Master's Degree requirements.

Applications indicate that of the 37 applicants, nine will receive an M.A. degree in counseling and guidance, three each in art, business administration, elementary education, and home economics.

Four applications were submitted for a degree in health and physical education and two each in education administration, psychology, and sociology.

A Master's degree will be granted in each of the following departments: communication arts, history, political science, special education, and social studies.

Written examinations will be given Jan. 7 and oral examinations will be arranged by the department chairmen.

Herd checks LaSalle win streak

By TIM BUCEY
Sports editor

The La Salle Explorers are not used to losing basketball games, especially the way they did Saturday.

In the Thundering Herd's 97-88 upset of the previously undefeated Explorers, besides snapping the Philadelphian's 18 game win streak, it also did these things:

-handed La Salle its worst defeat in 38 regular season games, by a margin of nine points;

-marked the first time a team had scored as many as 97 points against them in 50 games, or over two seasons;

-gave La Salle its first loss on a foreign court in two seasons;

-and was only the second loss for Head Coach Tom Gola whose coaching record is now 26-2 at La Salle.

The Explorers were 23-1 last year and started off this season with wins over Hofstra, Albright and Eastern Kentucky, before the Thundering Herd stepped in and outrebounded and outgunned the visitors, including Helm's All-American Kenny Durrett.

"They've all worked hard. It was a team effort and we'll get better," Head Coach Stewart Way promised. "It's a privilege to play a team like that and even a greater privilege to beat them."

"We're coming along real well with age. I thought they all played very well," Way said, particularly singling out the performances of center Dave Smith who played much of the game with three fouls, while holding the great Kenny Durrett to nine field goals in 21 attempts.

Smith also scored 10 points himself and took the game's rebounding honors with 17.

"It just all came out tonight after I got off to a slow start," Smith answered when asked if not starting the last two ball-games gave him any added incentive.

Bob DePathy, who did not start but substituted for Ricky Hall when he was charged with three quick personals, hit a torrid 11 for 15 shots from the field and accounted for 23 points.

"An ankle injury held him back but he's showing signs of doing what he's capable of doing," Way related, who now has the hard but pleasant task of picking out a starting lineup for Friday night's game with Oklahoma in the Marshall Invitational.

Russell Lee once again led all scorers with 32 points upping his average to 26.8 per game. The Boston Bomber has led the team in scoring in four of the five games, thus far, scored 25 against Duquesne, 26 against Pitt, 40 against Morris Harvey and 32 against La Salle.

"Under the heavy traffic, I thought he (Lee) was doing a very good job, but the defense will get tougher on him as the season progresses," Way surmised.

For the Herd a win over a team that had received votes in the pre season polls as one of the nation's top teams, the victory, to say the least, was satisfying.

"It was the sweetest victory in my life, I guarantee you that," Pat Brady, who scored seven points and grabbed seven rebounds said. "We're getting use to each other on that break. Everyone knows where everyone's at and we'll get better, too."

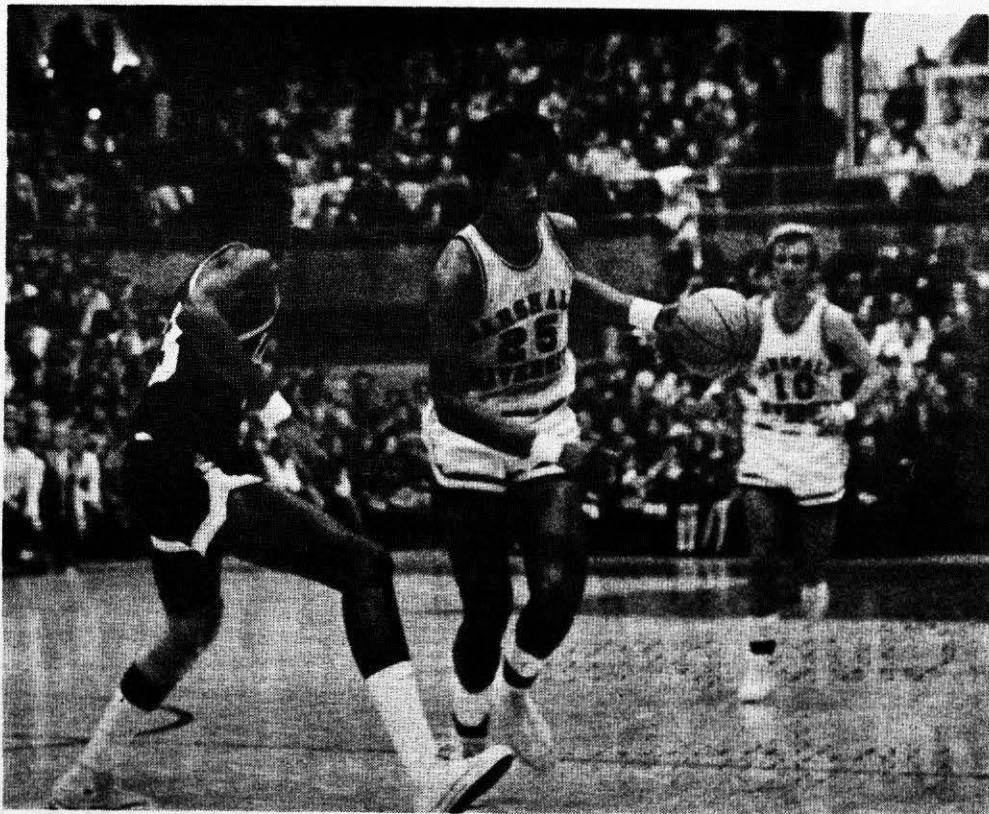

Joe Taylor, one of the three transfer students besides Brady and DePathy, played sparingly due to a cold shooting night but did grab nine rebounds, third highest on the team.

"I got a couple of rebounds I didn't expect to get but I was there at the right time," the Herd captain said.

Both Lee and Smith outrebounded Durrett who is the Explorers rebounding ace. Durrett had 24 points and 11 rebounds while Bill Pleas led his team in rebounds with 14.

Marshall will be out to even its record at 3-3 when they meet the Oklahoma Sooners of the Big Eight conference Friday at 7 p.m. in the Marshall Invitational.

Howard St. Clair said approximately 1,000 seats in the student section have been reserved for students at the reduced price of $2. The 9 p.m. game features New York University and Xavier followed Saturday night by the consolation and championship games.

SUPER SOPH Russ Lee brings the ball across time line. Lee scored 32 points in MU's 98-89 victory over LaSalle.

Carter and Hurst honored at dinner

Larry Carter was named the Thundering Herd's 'lineman of the year' and halfback John Hurst was named 'back of the year' at the football appreciation dinner Sunday in the Hotel Prichard ballroom.

Carter was also presented a special centennial award given by the NCAA and decided by a vote of the players.

The RAM award, given by the Huntington Jaycees and based upon athletics, academics and citizenship, was presented to center Calvin Ball.

The Student Union award based on attitude, dependability and reliability was given to tackle Mike Bankston.

All players were presented centennial certificates and medallions given by the NCAA and the Marshall Alumni Association handed out plaques to graduating seniors.

Recruit signed

Pat Callahan, a 6-2, 220-pound tight end from Parkersburg Catholic High School, is the third recruit signed by the football staff.

"He's a good blocker and pass catcher, both of which are needed for good tight ends and he comes off the line very quickly," assistant coach Frank Loria, who signed Callahan, said. Loria also described him as a good student.

The second recruit signed was Mark Wilks, an offensive back from Chesapeake High School, and brother of student coach Phil Wilks.

The first signee was Terry Blake of Barboursville.

Tickets available

Tickets for students have been reserved for the Marshall University Invitational tournament at the reduced price of $2, according to Howard St. Clair.

Frosh prevail over Pikeville

Marshall University's freshman, led by its two high school All American guards, trounced the Pikeville College freshman Saturday night by a score of 125 to 73.

Marshall, paced by Tyrone Collins with 28 points and Mike D'Antoni's 26, evened their record at 1-1.

The Little Herd was never behind as it forged its way to a 59 to 36 half time lead. Excellent rebounding by Frank Taylor and John Sark sparked a Marshall fast break which Pikeville couldn't defense.

Playing subs for much of the second half, the Herd maintained a large margin and were never threatened.

In addition to D'Antoni and Collins, two other MU starters and two reserves scored in double figures. Starters Mike Tabor and Frank Taylor tallied 18 and 10 points respectively, with Ron Myers and Paul Ross chipping in 11 and 10 apiece.

Mike Johnson led the Bears' freshman with 20 points. MU hit 53 of 105 shots for excellent 50.5% while Pikeville managed only 25 of 74 for 34%.

The Herd out rebounded the Bears 77 to 58 with Taylor nailing 14 and Sark 11.

Toledo out-wrestles MU matmen

Defending MAC wrestling champion Toledo defeated MU, 35-3, Saturday in the first match for both teams this season.

118-pound class--Dave Ember (T) dec. Bob Seaquist, 7-0; 126--Barry Casper (T) pinned Ken Barber, 0:03, third; 134--Ron Junko (T) pinned Dave Strader, 2:37, second; 142--Randy Gulvus (T) dec. Pat Riggs, 10-5; 150--Phil Dominique (T) dec. Greg Archer, 2-1;

158--Bill Cathcart (T) dec. Roger Diederich, 4-0; 167--Kirk Pirchner (T) pinned Dave Gray, 1:09, third; Doug Knaus (T) dec. Ray Schanamann, 7-0; 190--Ezra Simpkins (M) dec. Konstantine Petros, 3-2; Heavyweight -- Greg Wojciechowski (T) pinned Mike Bankston, 2:45, second.

New Teachers College offices spacious

Dean Robert B. Hayes enjoys his new office in the Laboratory School Building.

Assistant Dean William S. Deel's office adjoins Dean Hayes' office

By SARAH MILLER
Feature writer

New larger offices were opened Sept. 3, 1969 for Teachers College in the former Laboratory School, with Dean Robert B. Hayes in Room 211. Adjoining Dean Hayes' office is that of assistant Dean of Teachers College, William S. Deel.

Also located in the building are: the Department of Instruction, including the Department of Special Education, the Curriculum Materials Center, the Methods Laboratory for student teachers, and the Student Teaching Center; the Department of Educational Administration; the Department of Vocational Technical Education; the Department of Library Science; and the Statistical Laboratory.

Now being phased out of existence is the Albert Gallatin Jenkins Laboratory School, which formerly housed grades from kindergarten through the 12th grade. Built in 1938, the Laboratory School was named after Confederate General Albert Gallatin Jenkins, whose home was in this area.

The school now contains only the 12th grade and four-year-old and five-year-old kindergartens. Grades 2 through 8 were moved to Oley School this fall, and grades 9 through 11 are no longer taught. Teachers College plans to retain the two kindergarten classes in the building, in order to provide practice teaching for kindergarten majors, according to Dean Hayes.
