New left, black politics represented in Impact

By HARRIETTE MATTHEWS
Staff reporter

Jeremy Lerner and Dr. Nathan Hare will be speakers during Impact Week.

Lerner is an author, and was a speech writer for Senator Eugene McCarthy in his campaign for the Democratic Party Nomination for President in 1968.

A colleague of Representative Allard Lowenstein, Lerner is a political activist in the New Politics movement. He was present in Chicago during the Democratic National Convention.

He is the author of "Nobody Knows"—an inside story of the McCarthy campaign — which will be serialized in Harpers magazine through May. He has also written "They Are Taking My Letters", concerning the new left uprising at Columbia.

Lerner has been awarded the Paris Review short story prize, and is a regular contributor to Life, Paris Review, Harpers, New Republic, and Atlantic.

He is the editor of Dissent, and the author co-editor of The Answer; The Addict in the Street and Poverty: Views from the Left.

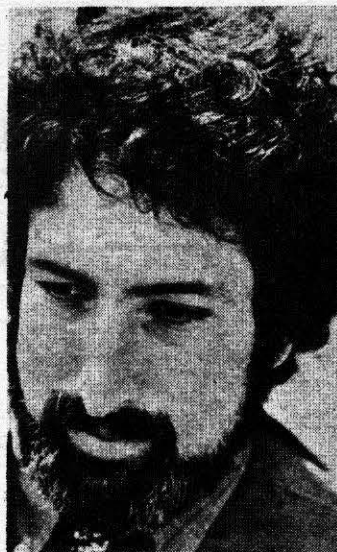

Dr. Nathan Hare is a regular contributor to Saturday Review, Newsweek, Negro Digest, U.S. News and World Report, Western Review and Saturday Evening Post.

Dr. Hare was chairman of the Department of Black Studies at San Francisco State College; faculty director at the Center for Education Innovation at Howard University and the Consultant of the World Council of Churches, London, England in 1969.

He is the author of "Introduction -- The Souls of Black Folk" and "A Darker Shade of Black: Note of A Black Professor."

Dr. Hare received his Ph.D. in Sociology at the University of Chicago.

Budget, budget who's got the budget? not us!

How much money will Marshall receive for its 1970-71 budget?

No one seems to know.

The Parthenon editors made numerous calls Tuesday, both on campus and to state officials in Charleston, in an effort to find out Marshall's share of the state budget.

A spokesman for the Board of Regents, governing body for Marshall, said the Board had no breakdown on Marshall's share. The state public information office and the state finance office said they didn't have any information.

On campus, Joseph Peters, finance director for MU, said the only information he has is that the money is to be given to the Board of Regents in one lump sum and Marshall's share will come out of that.

Peters said the budget bill hasn't been printed yet and the governor still (as of Tuesday) has to either approve it or veto it. A breakdown of the budget won't be available until the bill is signed and the money is settled to be divided among the state's institutions of higher education.

Under the Board of Regents set-up which went into effect last July, Marshall, West Virginia University and the other state supported colleges receive funds through the Board of Regents.

One report is that $55 million has been allocated to the Regents to be divided up. The Board of Regents originally requested $62 million. Marshall requested approximately $10,300,000 and the Board of Regents recommended to the governor that MU receive approximately $9,650,000.

President Roland H. Nelson Jr. said this cut alone would affect current expenses mainly, such as faculty travel, utilities, supplies, etc. and was to have recommended that the difference be restored.

"We have a sound budget," said Nelson. "My only concern is that it not be significantly cut in the governor's office or in the legislature."

Representatives absent

Dr. A. Mervin Tyson, vice president of academic affairs, feels that the Student Government is lax in its campaign for student representation on administrative committees. The reason are that students are either not appointed, or many of them don't attend when they are appointed according to Tyson.

It is the Student Government's function to appoint representatives to these committees.

Eric P. Thorn, associate professor of English, and secretary of the Physical Facilities and Planning Committee said his committee hasn't had steady student representation since late last September. "One representative attended only one meeting and the other one came to about four or five," stated Thorn.

The problem, until recently, has been that the students, being voting members, were included in the quorum count. If there are not enough members present for a quorum, there can not be a meeting.

However, the committee has gotten around this by a recent ruling that if a student representative is not in attendance for a specified number of meetings he is not counted in the quorum.

"We fully realize that meetings are time consuming, but if student representation is worth having, then students should be willing to be there," said Thorn. "We as faculty, are aware of physical things wrong on the campus. Students are aware of other things. But without student representation, how will we know what bothers the students?"

When asked why his attendance had been poor, Larry Crigger, Huntington, junior, said he had a class that met at the same time as the committee. Charles Preston, Huntington, junior, said, "The committee hasn't been getting in touch with me lately and I have no other way of knowing when the meetings will be held."

Deans will discuss withdrawal system

By JAMES PERRY
Staff Reporter

A subcommittee of the Academic Deans will meet Thursday to consider revisions of the withdrawal system at Marshall University.

Among topics that may be discussed will be eliminating the FIW grades and possibly doing away with WP and WF periods, permitting students to withdraw from courses without grade consequences.

Dr. Harvey Saunders, assistant dean of the College of Arts and Science and subcommittee chairman, feels the withdrawal system presently used is not working.

Concerning FIW grades, he said, "The FIW is a punitive grade, it is punishment for a student who doesn't need additional punishment."

Although he presently sees no way of eliminating the WP-WF period, Dr. Saunders said revision of this policy may be discussed.

Other members of the subcommittee include Dr. William Deel, assistant dean of the Teachers College; Richard Vass, assistant business manager; Dr. Samuel Stinson, chairman of the engineering department; and Dr. Phyllis Cyrus, associate professor of business administration.

Weather--sunny

Tri-State Weather Bureau forecast for today is mostly sunny and warmer with morning fog likely. Expected high will be in the mid 50's with a 10 per cent probability of precipitation. Outlook for Thursday is mild with a chance of showers.

Fraternity visitation passed

A proposal allowing a maximum of 20 hours visitation of fraternity house rooms was passed Monday by the Interfraternity Council.

Visitation hours will be selected by the individual fraternities, but must be within the following guidelines:

Monday-Thursday -- 1 p.m. - 5 p.m.
Friday-Saturday -- 1 p.m. - 7 p.m. and/or 8:30 p.m. - 7 p.m.
and Sunday -- 1 p.m. - 7 p.m.

The open or closed door policy will be determined by the individual houses and registration of the visitor is necessary.

All visitors must register in and out at designated spot in each house and must be escorted to and from the room by the host.

This proposal must still go through other channels before being put into effect.

Survival new protest

Vietnam, drugs, the draft, morality and hair—all are major issues facing the younger generation in America. But now a new problem has stepped into the spotlight and taken over in importance — that of human survival.

Man's environmental state has been quite a mess for a long time and now someone is finally trying to do something about it. On April 22 a nationwide "teach-in" has been scheduled involving some 1,800 colleges, universities and high schools. Marshall's is in the planning stages now following an organizational meeting last Friday and future meetings being planned.

The kick-off meeting at MU proved a number of students, faculty and administrative members were interested at least — but where was everybody else? Nobody can realize the importance of the issue unless they understand the problem completely, and that's what the whole teach-in is about.

Sure, all kinds of facts can be thrown out at you as students concerning our environmental catastrophe. Fact: the automobiles in this country pump ninety million tons of pollutants into the atmosphere each year. Fact: if the present use of fuel is maintained, the earth's surface temperature will reach the boiling point in a century. Fact: the average non-smoker in New York City inhales the same amount of pollutants a day as he would have smoking 38 cigarettes. Fact: in 10 years, urban dwellers will have to wear gas masks to survive.

But the facts only stun you at first and then are forgotten along with the whole pollution problem itself.

What we need is an education

'Letter' policy

Is there something bugging you? Well, write a letter to the editor.

The letter must be signed. It must be in good taste — in the judgment of The Parthenon. It cannot be libelous (that is defame someone's good name and reputation).

The letter should be typed (double-spaced) and the writer must then present it in person to an editor of The Parthenon who will ask to see your I.D. card. Parthenon editorial offices are on the third floor of Smith Hall, Room 311.

in detail about the environment crusade. If we don't start doing something about it now, we may not even be around to enjoy the benefits of our college education. What good are all our other protests to other problems when we might not even survive?

As T. D. Duncan Williams, professor of English and researcher on our environmental conditions, has put it, "There is no longer any place on earth where one can escape from the polluted environment." Just think about it — no place to escape it!

This is a vital new cause for our generation to face for our own perpetuation, so it does involve us. It is a brand new war for us to fight and we must prove that we want to win it. Earth Day: Environment Teach-In needs our support. The next meeting is scheduled for 4 p.m. Friday at the Campus Christian Center.

OU's Snyder not making any excuses 'Best effort needed'

By TIM BUCEY
Sports editor

Ohio University Coach Jim Snyder would not make any excuses for the Bobcats' loss to

Wrestlers MSU foe

Marshall wrestlers will be on the road today for a 7 p.m. match with the Morehead State University squad.

Coach Bill Cyrus' Marshall matmen, with a record of two wins and six losses will be trying to snap a two-match losing streak, while Morehead with five wins and three losses is coming from a 23-21 win against the University of Dayton last Saturday. Both squads were defeated last weekend by Ohio Northern University.

Morehead coach Dan Walker will be using 167-pound freshman Bob Warren, who has suffered only one loss this year and freshman John Donnelly, who was the 142-pound champ in Tennessee last year.

Other Morehead wrestlers are: 118, Pete Chakiris; 126, Jerry Gorlick; 134, Mitde Deapan; 150, Nobel Beck; 158, Tom Beschler; 177, Jim Bayles; 190, Steve Morgan, and heavyweight, Dave Boscelman.

The Marshall team, lead by 190-pound Ezra Simpkins, Huntington senior, 5-2-1, includes: 118, Bob Seaquist, 1-6-1; 126, Dale Eggleton, 0-5; 134, Ken Barber, 0-5; 142, Pat Riggs, 2-6; 150, Roger Diederich, 4-4; 167, Danny Thompson, 2-3; 177, Ray Schanamann, 1-6, and either Mike Bankston, 2-4, George Telesz, 0-2, or Dan Gordon, heavyweight.

the Thundering Herd last Wednesday, but Stewart Way knows it will take another maximum effort tonight in Athens to repeat the upset.

The Herd surprised the 20th ranked Bobcats with a 93-88 victory and will be out to do the same at 7:30 p.m. tonight in Ohio's new Convocation Center, which has a 13,080 capacity.

Snyder refused to blame any mental letdown on his team's loss.

"I don't think we were down mentally at all," the Bobcat veteran of 20 years in the coaching ranks said. "Marshall just played a fine game. We had some breakdowns which I hope we won't have again, but we have to give Marshall credit. They did a good job."

The Herd outshot and outrebounded the Ohioans, led by the 31 points of Russ Lee and the 15 rebounds of Dave Smith.

"I thought their complete effort for 40 minutes was tremendous," Snyder recalled. "Our scouting reports showed they were playing in spurts, but they gave an all out effort."

"To win this week, we'll have to do a better job rebounding and defending them. We felt we broke down in those areas very definitely last week."

The Herd will be out to break an eight game losing streak away from home, having not won a road game this year.

"We'll just have to go in there with the same determination and desire we had here against them and it will take all that," Way said.

"They (Ohio) were playing as well as they could down here but generally a team is better on its home court. We'll have to be stronger in rebounding and cut down on turnovers as much as possible which we have been capable of doing the last few games," Way surmised.

"We have four games to go and I just ask for their maximum effort. You may not outscore people by doing that, but certainly you won't be classified as a loser."

The Bobcats have clinched at least a tie for the Mid-American Conference Championship after Saturday's thrilling 58-57 win over Miami of Ohio. Ohio is 16-4 overall and 8-1 in the conference.

Guard John Canine continues to lead the OU scoring attack with a 19.4 per game average followed by Greg McDivitt 15.2, Craig Love 13.2, Ken Kowall 10.4 and Dave Groff 9.7. Love is averaging 12.8 rebounds.

Lee for MU is averaging 23.5 per game with 446 points on the season, which is 133 points behind the school record for most points scored as a sophomore held by Walt Walowac in 26 games. He must average 34.2 points in the last four games to equal the record.

Others scoring in double figures are Joe Taylor 14.3, and Blaine Henry 12.9. Dave Smith is averaging 10 rebounds per game.

As a team they are averaging 81.2 per game and opponents are averaging 86.4.

CHILDERS RELEASED

Roger Childers sophomore linebacker last season has been released from the Charleston General Hospital following surgery. He was operated on for damage to a nerve behind the right ear.

Frosh seek repeat win

Coach Dan D'Antoni's freshman basketball squad will seek a repeat victory over the Ohio University Frosh at Athens tonight, after losing to Morehead State, 93-86, Monday.

Game time at the Convocation Center in Athens is 5:30 p.m. followed by the varsity game at 7:30 p.m.

Ohio, coached by Phil Roach, is 5-4 on the season after losing to the Little Herd 94-81 last week and to Miami of Ohio, 101-87, Saturday.

Hackin' Around

By JOHN HACKWORTH
Basketball editor

To use an old cliché it's been a long, hard season for the Marshall basketball Thundering Herd, especially one guard named Pat Brady.

While MU has been suffering through a 7-12 season Brady has been doing some personal suffering of his own. But all the suffering seemed far away last Wednesday night as Brady sparked the Herd to a 93-88 upset over nationally-ranked Ohio University and the boos turned to applause.

At the first of the campaign, when Marshall was searching for a starting guard, Brady was slow in starting (mostly due to the fact that he played very little last year—his first at MU) and the fans weren't too understanding.

But it was a different story against Ohio and Bowling Green as Brady handed out assists and feeds, which led to numerous Herd buckets, and literally led MU over the favored Bobcats.

"At the first of the year the fans did bother me a little," Brady said. "People even came up to me on campus and said stuff, but I tried to shrug it off. I just told myself I had to prove to them I could do it."

Brady isn't a super-shot but he more than makes up for any lack of ability in that department by his ball handling and playmaking. "My defense and ballhandling are my strong points," Brady added.

"My big drawback is that I lack confidence."

"I was really scared against OU but I tried to shake it off and prove I could play with them."

Against Bowling Green, Saturday night, (which MU lost 83-82) Brady again was a quiet man behind the scenes. While Russ Lee and Joe Taylor did a fantastic job of scoring and bringing MU back against the Falcons, Brady was there to give them the ball and play his ever-improving defense.

As far as MU's lack of success is concerned Brady has his own ideas about that.

"We lose our heads. This is our main weakness, plus the fact that we play in spurts," Brady explained. "Against OU we played smooth where as before we always had to play catch-up ball."

All in all it amounts to the fact that Pat Brady has come of age. Perhaps the whole team is a little more mature now (although it's too late this year.)

But isn't this that time of year when everyone starts saying, "look who we'll have back next year?"

Well one person they won't have back is Pat Brady.

Whether you cheer that idea or frown upon it Pat has been of service to MU and is the kind of player who could be a winner if everyone else had his desire and hustle.

Nelson ordered to appear

Kondos hearing set

President Roland H. Nelson Jr. and the Board of Regents have been directed to appear before the State Supreme Court April 28 to show cause why Peter Kondos, ousted assistant football coach, shouldn't be reinstated.

Kondos won a hearing Monday before the high court on a petition to order his reinstatement until he had been accorded "due process of law."

Kondos said in his petition against the Board of Regents and President Nelson their actions in terminating his contract were "illegal, void and contrary to express provisions of law." He also told the court he waived the right to a hearing before a faculty committee because the members "were to be subordinate to, and their actions directed by, Nelson."

Kondos was hired under a one-year contract that was to expire this June 30. His petition said Nelson notified him last Aug. 1 of intention to terminate the contract and the Board of Regents later informed him it had been terminated as of Sept. 30.

Kondos tendered his resignation to take effect at the end of the one-year contract period and he asked the Board of Regents for a hearing on its action in terminating the contract. Earlier this month, the board refused to hear the appeal.

Kondos' attorney, Thomas E. Medeiros, contends if the dismissal of Kondos is upheld, it would set a precedent for breaking contracts of any faculty member.

Kondos was one of the three Marshall University coaches involved in an athletic controversy but was the only one dismissed. Head Football Coach Perry Moss and Head Basketball Coach Ellis Johnson were each assigned non-coaching duties.

Sig Ep toumey to be Saturday

The annual Sigma Phi Epsilon invitational basketball tournament will be 9 a.m. Saturday at the Oley Junior High School gym. The four Sig Ep teams participating are from WVU, Marshall, W. Va. Tech, and Morris Harvey. Following the tournament an informal dance will be at Camp Mad Anthony Wayne from 8 p.m. to midnight.

BRADSHAW RETURNS

Bernard Bradshaw, Versailles, Ky., junior, has returned to the basketball team after missing two games. Bradshaw had given up basketball to concentrate on his studies but returned to practice Monday.

FUZZIES WIN

The Women's Intramural Volleyball Tournament climaxed with Alpha Xi Delta, social sorority, defeating Delta Zeta, social sorority, in a play off, by 14-8, 15-11, and 15-12. A third team involved in the playoff was Sigma Kappa, social sorority.

LOST AND FOUND!

A key case, a gold friendship ring and eye glasses are three items which have been found at recent basketball games.

Owners of these items may claim them at the Sports Information Directors Office in Gullickson Hall.

COEDS BOWL

Ten women from Marshall are presently bowling in the National Intercollegiate Postal American Ten Pin Tournament.

were whistled against John Sark and Coach D'Antono.

The Herd was led by Ty Collins with 34 points and Mike D'Antoni with 26 and Mike Tabor with 12. The rebound leader was Tabor and Taylor with 12 each.

For Morehead Vic Wharton scored 25 and Alonzo Cole grabbed 20 rebounds.

The Little Herd has previously defeated Morehead at the Fieldhouse.

Action heavy in cageplay

Eight games were played in intramural basketball action Monday night in Gullickson Hall.

In the National League, four games were played in the Eastern Division. Sigma Phi Epsilon Ones defeated the Kappa Alpha Fours, 59-22. Pi Kappa Alpha twos won by forfeit over Phi Kappa Tau Threes and the Pathfinders beat the Alpha Sigma Phi Ones, 50-41. Highlight game of the evening was the Silverfish winning over Kappa Alpha Psi Ones 45-34.

American League action in the Western Division saw Alpha Sigma Phi Twos win over Hodges Hall Twos 47-37, the Miners stomp Tau Kappa Epsilon Threes 77-23, and Flourpower forfeit to Lambda Chi Alpha Fours.

The lone game in the Eastern Division was East Towers-fourth floor winning over Sigma Alpha Epsilon Twos, 41-32.

ROBERT DECORMIER SINGERS
Professional folk group will perform at convocation Thursday

Folk group to perform

The Robert De Cormier Singers, a professional folk group, will perform at the convocation in Old Main Auditorium, at 11 a.m. Thursday.

The company has received excellent reviews for their colorful performances and superb vocal techniques. Their arrangements vary from North American folk songs such as "Blowing in the Wind" to the popular calypso number, "Going Down Jordan."

De Cormier, the founder, director, and arranger of the group, gained nationwide fame as conductor-arranger for Harry Belafonte. He arranged the choral music for Broadway musicals, "The Happiest Girl in the World," "Milk and Honey," "110 in the Shade," as well as the background music to

Charlton Heston's "Readings from the Five Books of Moses."

As recording artists for Command Records, The De Cormier Singers have gained the highest critical acclaim throughout the country. They can be heard on five albums: "The Robert De Cormier Folk Singers," "Dance Gal, Gimme the Banjo," "Heritage," "The Folk Album" and "Walking in the Sunshine."

Dean says students peaceful

"Students in the mid-20th century are more peaceful in their dissent than in the 19th century," said Dr. John H. Saunders, assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Dean Saunders spoke Tuesday night at the monthly meeting of the Cabell-Wayne Historical Society. His topic was "Student Activism in Perspective."

His general theme was that things are no worse today than in the 19th century. He said "from time to time methods in the 19th century were appalling but the results were sometimes good."

Dean Saunders cited the founding of Oberlin College in Ohio as one example.

He said during the 1830's students were interested in slavery. They held a series of discussions and meetings. Following this the Oberlin administration decided that no more discussions were to be held on penalty of dismissal. The students asked to be honorably dismissed.

The students told the president of the college that they would return if Negroes were allowed to attend Oberlin. Their proposal was accepted and Oberlin became a great center of abolitionism.

"These 19th century students were a link in the tradition of student dissent," said the dean.

"One frightening thing in the 1960's is that people are used to the 40's and 50's when things were quiet, but that period is not typical. In the 60's students are returning to the ancient tradition," he added.

CHESS CLUB TO MEET

There will be a meeting of the MU chess club Wednesday from 7-10 p.m. today in Room 423 Smith Hall.

Ellis will speak

Robert O. Ellis, prosecuting attorney of Cabell County, will speak at a meeting of the Phi chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, education honorary, today at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting will be held in the North Parlor of Old Main.

Admissions run high

More than 1,500 applications for new admissions have been received to date, for both summer terms and the fall term, according to Dr. Brian R. O'Connor, director of admissions.

"With 500 applications for the beginning of this semester, we have approximately 2000 applications, and we are just at the halfway point," Dr. O'Connor said.

O'Connor commented that the number of applications is possibly running higher than last year.

The number of full-time freshmen, entering MU, at the beginning of this semester, is 119, with 153 transfer students.
