

Marshall University

Marshall Digital Scholar

The Parthenon

University Archives

Fall 3-17-1970

The Parthenon, March 17, 1970

Marshall University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://mds.marshall.edu/parthenon>

Recommended Citation

Marshall University, "The Parthenon, March 17, 1970" (1970). The Parthenon. 949.
<https://mds.marshall.edu/parthenon/949>

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the University Archives at Marshall Digital Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Parthenon by an authorized administrator of Marshall Digital Scholar. For more information, please contact zhangj@marshall.edu, beachgr@marshall.edu.

The Parthenon

VOL. 70

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY STUDENT NEWSPAPER

No. 89

Tuesday
March 17, 1970
Huntington, W.Va.

Gant speaks on cabinet, platform

Selection of a better cabinet, student involvement, investigation concerning a University Senate and a teacher evaluation program, will be action initiated by Michael Gant, Huntington sophomore and new student body president.

"One of the first things we'll be working on is a more efficient cabinet," Gant said. "We'll do this through civil service applications and mostly personal contact and interview."

"After Easter break we urge interested people to submit civil service applications at the student government office."

Gant also mentioned establishment of a University Senate. This body would consist of students, faculty and administration.

"This is a long range goal and will require extensive study because it is such a major change. This would eliminate the present system."

"The Student Conduct and Welfare committee make most decisions concerning students right now. Under this system students would have a greater voice."

Gant is now chairman of the Teacher Evaluation committee. This committee is set up to investigate systems of teacher evaluation at other schools and establish a program at MU.

"This investigation is just getting off the ground and we hope to make great progress... if a system is set up at Marshall, it would seek mostly the fairness and effectiveness of each teacher."

"We would like to have the results published and distributed around registration time."

"We don't belong to any national student associations and it is hard for us to get information on other school's programs... this program is not in full swing yet."

"We need more student involvement. We can't push any program through without the students help. More students are needed on student-faculty committees."

"However, there is no way we can force the administration for these positions. Many campuses use force, we'll use legitimate channels if we get these positions."

Gant will be inaugurated with other officers March 24. "As of now I will drop my positions on all committees that I presently belong to."

He is now a member of the senate which will hold the last meeting of its term Thursday.

An editorial

Election results--where are they?

Exact voting figures of Wednesday's student election still remain secret and the only advice offered The Parthenon by Election Commissioner Margaret Wright was to "ask someone higher up in Student Government to give you the results."

Such buck passing and failure to release information has been faced before in gathering news material although seldom from Student Government.

Complete election news should be released by the Election Commission which is responsible for such matters instead of being shoved off onto someone "higher up" in Student Government and not concerned with the figures.

The only course to follow now is to request the figures from some higher source in the Executive branch and then go before the Judicial branch if all else fails.

Suppression of such information by student officials is uncalled for and not in the students' interest. We urge that certain Student Government officials reevaluate their attitudes toward responsibilities to students and release the election figures which are public information.

LES SMITH
Managing editor

Officers, senators to be initiated

Inauguration March 24

Inauguration for newly elected student body president and vice president, class officers, and senators will March 24.

Michael Gant, Huntington sophomore, and Madeline Stover, Beckley junior, are student body president and vice president respectively.

Gant is former freshman class president and is chairman of Finance Committee, Teacher Evaluation Committee, and Teacher Education Committee. He is a member of University Council and Phi Eta Theta, freshman honorary.

Miss Stover is vice president of the junior class and coordinator of Winter Weekend. She is a member of Interdormitory Council and Phi Mu social sorority.

"I want to thank everyone that voted for us," said Miss Stover. "We are very thankful and appreciative."

Miss Stover said the first order of business they will attend to is that of selecting a cabinet, the executive branch of the government. Applications from interested students will be accepted later.

Also the establishment of a University Senate will be one of their main areas of concern, Miss Stover said. This is a system including students, faculty and administration and gives the students more voice in the running of areas relevant to them.

Teacher, course, and curriculum evaluation, class requirements, pass-fail system, student information service, health service and the racial problem are areas which they want to study, said Miss Stover.

Sandra Hammat, Williamstown, is president of senior class. She has participated in Interdormitory Council, Leadership Seminar, Homecoming Committee, and is a member of Alpha Xi Delta social sorority.

Peggy Ann Morton, Rainelle, is senior class vice president. She is coordinator of State Awareness and Hospitality, participates in Students for Better Education, Academic Standards Committee, and is a member of Delta Zeta social sorority.

Jackie Holt, of Hinton, is junior class president. He is former president of junior class, coordinator of Winter Weekend, and is on the Rules Committee.

Richard Backus, of Huntington, is vice president of junior class. He has been in Student Senate, and has participated on Senate Finance Committee.

Jack Harvey, of Hinton, is sophomore class president. He is a member of Kappa Alpha social fraternity.

Fran Grantham, of Charlestown, is vice president of sophomore class. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega social sorority.

Dave Black, Huntington, is freshman class president. He is former freshman class president and member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Kent Runyon, Huntington, is vice president of freshman class. He is a member of freshman basketball team and Sigma Alpha.

President of Vassar convocation speaker

Dr. Alan Simpson, president of Vassar College, will speak at the Honors Seminar Convocation at 11 a.m. Thursday in Old Main Auditorium.

He will talk on the subject of "Marks of an Educated Man." Attendance is by invitation only.

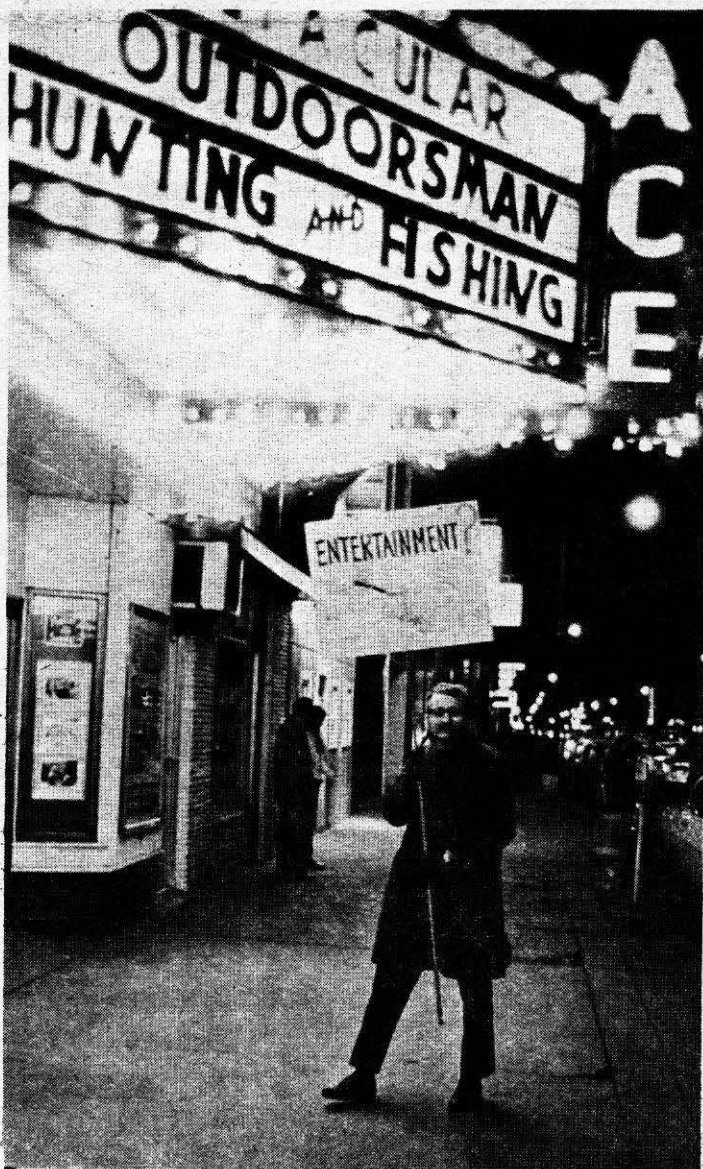

Dr. Simpson, born in England, attended Oxford University, where he received the B.A., M.A., and D. Phil. degrees in History. From 1935-37 he attended Harvard University as a Commonwealth Fellow.

He was Senior Lecturer in Modern British History and American History at the University of St. Andrews and a lecturer in Constitutional Law at the Law School, University College, Dundee.

He was Professor of History at the University of Chicago and became Dean of the college in 1959, a position he held for five years. In 1964 he was named the president of Vassar College, a position which he now holds along with a Professorship in History.

He has received honorary degrees from the National College of Education, Evanston, Illinois, Knox College and the University of Rochester. He was awarded the Quantrell Award for excellence in Undergraduate Teaching at University of Chicago in 1952. One of his books, Puritanism in Old and New England, received a prize in 1956.

Parthenon photo by Jack Seamonds

Protests film

ROBERT SAVAGE, instructor of English, demonstrates against the movie, "The Outdoorsman," billed as a hunting and fishing spectacular. Savage said he resents the "inhumane treatment of animals" in the movie.

An editorial:

Student concern seems lacking

Why is it that when students have the opportunity to become involved and/or informed, they do not take advantage of it?

The Parthenon had ample coverage of two recent events on campus, ENACT (Environmental Action) teach-in and the visit to campus of Dr. E.D. Mattmiller, director of student health services at Ohio University.

Aside from the fact that the student union may not have been the most ideal place to hold the ENACT teach-in because of the noise, few people attended the event. Perhaps the union was chosen as a meeting site in order to attract a larger prospective crowd, or perhaps it was the only available space. But whatever the reason and however inappropriate the meeting place may have been, one would have expected a much larger portion of the University student population in attendance for an event which has relevance to every living person, i.e., life itself and some basic forces of survival, specifically population and pollution control.

Another example of apparent lack of concern is the presence of four Marshall students (and myself as a reporter) at a meeting last Thursday to discuss MU's health service with Dr. Mattmiller. These four students were concerned to the extent that they spent two hours expressing their opinions on our health service and listening to Dr. Mattmiller.

It may be a natural human tendency to give lip-service to matters of concern rather than take any constructive action, but to do so, in my opinion, eliminates that person or persons from the right to complain. And how many students have you heard complain of MU's health service? The only way these complaints have any constructive value is to make them known to persons who are in the position to help make improvements or bring about change. Just one last word. If you're one of those students who has voiced a complaint on MU's health service in the past and have occasion to complain in the future, first ask yourself two questions: (1) Did I make known this complaint or recommendation to the ad hoc committee on student health services or did I take advantage of Dr. Mattmiller's discussion with the students? and (2) Is there the possibility that I am either misinformed or uninformed as to what services are offered at the student health center?

The health center may certainly need its improvements, but before jumping to conclusions or making rash statements, first inform yourself and then let your opinion be heard. Health Center brochures were distributed on campus last semester. Did you bother to read one?

MARY O'DELL
Campus editor

Speech tournament tryouts set for first week in April

Try-outs for Marshall representatives for the West Virginia State Intercollegiate Speech Tournament at Jackson's Mill April 23-25, will be held the first week in April. Exact times for the try-outs will be announced later, according to Dr. Ben W. Hope, professor of speech.

All full-time undergraduates are eligible. Interested students should fill out an entry blank in the Speech Department by March 18. The entrants will also have an opportunity to represent MU at the Allegheny Individual Events Tournament to be held at Frostburg State College in Maryland April 17-18. Four persons will be selected to attend, but the events will be a little different from the W. Va. tournament.

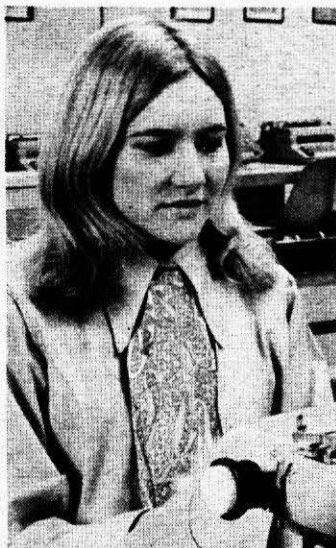

Contestants in oratory must prepare an eight minute speech on a significant problem or issue. In extemporaneous speaking, contestants will have the subject of environmental pollution and at the time of the try-outs, will draw specific topics on this subject, select one, and have one hour to prepare a six minute speech.

In the try-outs for interpretive reading, students will read a sonnet, a paragraph of descriptive prose or both, while entrants in radio announcing will read two minutes of prepared-in-advance news copy and other material to be supplied at time of contest.

GIVEN CHARTER

Pi Mu Epsilon, national honorary mathematics fraternity, has granted the Department of Mathematics of Marshall University a charter, according to Dr. Thomas Bauserman, chairman of the department.

Parthenon photo

BEVERLY BURGESS, St. Albans freshman, is The Parthenon "reporter of the week" for March 9-13. The Parthenon editors select a person for the honor based on their reporting efforts. Competition is among students in Journalism 202 reporting classes.

MU security being studied

Formation of a special three-man committee to investigate security on Marshall University's campus was announced by Student Body President Pam Slaughter, Dunbar senior, at a special Senate meeting Wednesday night.

The committee, headed by Dr. Donald K. Carson, will seek to discover if MU has a security problem and, if so, to correct it. Serving on the committee are Jane Ellen Miller, Huntington senior, John Womack, Nitro freshman, and Margaret Wright, Webster Springs junior.

Also election results were announced and ratified before a huge spectator crowd and several student appointments were made.

Appointed to a subcommittee to the Student Activity Fees Committee were Emil Rabusky, Wheeling sophomore, and Maureen Powers, Huntington senior.

In other action Senator Greg Archer, Hammond freshman, recommended the Senate approve a proposal to increase fees next year by $10 to have more money for athletic grants-in-aid. This was debated and the final decision was to send it to Finance Committee for investigation, after which it will go to Student Activities Committee.

Branch roll up

Logan campus of Marshall recorded an all time high enrollment of 445 students, compared with 407 students in 1969 and 188 when classes first started in 1963.

There was a significant increase in enrollment for second semester with eight more students enrolling for classes than first semester, according to John Arnold, director of the Logan Campus.

Mattmiller views health services

"There is a need for increased dialogue and identification of the limitations of MU's health service," said Dr. E. D. Mattmiller, director of student health service at Ohio University.

Dr. Mattmiller stressed this point Thursday at an informal group discussion with students in North Parlor of Old Main.

The purpose of the discussion was to get opinions and evaluations from students on MU's health service.

Dr. Mattmiller was invited to visit campus by the Ad Hoc Committee on Student Health Services which is evaluating these services. The committee is headed by Dr. Constantine W. Curris, director of student personnel programs.

In 1966 Dr. Mattmiller visited the campus and made recommendations at that time for MU's health service.

During the discussion Thursday, Dr. Mattmiller said a student health service must develop its own philosophy and ask: (1) What health services do the students want? (2) How will they be supported financially? and (3) How will they be implemented with available resources?

"Communications are bad," said Dr. Mattmiller, referring to MU's health service. He said there should be more administration and involvement on the part of the health service staff, and more student support and participation. "The health service must identify its own limitations as to what it can and can't do," he said. He added that the Ad Hoc Committee on Student Health Services should be a permanent committee.

One student complained of the time involved in waiting to see the doctor.

Dr. Mattmiller replied by saying that the demand for health services is an ever increasing one and it is difficult to keep up with this demand for several reasons. An increase in the population and the competitive salaries now offered physicians who have a variety of job opportunities creates a need for more staff. For these reasons, he said the problem of waiting is not peculiar to other educational institutions.

Dr. Mattmiller expressed the opinion that the size of MU's student enrollment would justify the presence of one full-time and one half-time physician on campus. He stated that utilization of the service would go up and more confidence would be built. He recommended that there should be one physician for every 2,000 eligible students.

During a discussion of the problems at C&O Hospital, Dr. Mattmiller said that someone should be in the position to make referrals to the C&O Hospital on a 24-hour basis. The possibility of having an emergency transportation service was also discussed. Dr. Mattmiller said Ohio University has had one in operation now for about four years. He suggested that the contract with the C&O Hospital be reviewed.

He also commented that Ohio University has a mandatory health insurance plan for students. Only those who can show comparable coverage are exempt.

Dr. Mattmiller also said that Marshall has a better student health service now than three and one-half years ago when he first visited the campus.

Selective Service Hearing rescheduled for Thursday

The Student Selective Service Act Hearing formerly scheduled for Wednesday has been rescheduled for 3 p.m. Thursday in Science Building auditorium.

Specific topics to be discussed in addition to general subjects previously outlined will be voted on.

Those accepted at the hearing will be forwarded to Rep. John Slack, D-W. Va. He will then present them to the House of Representatives Armed Forces Subcommittee for further discussion.

Patrick Cowles, Huntington graduate and hearing committee chairman, said topics of particular interest will include:

A. Abolition of military youth opportunity schools.

B. Establishment of a National Service Corps. Such an organization would allow young men to substitute nonmilitary services at home or abroad (such as the Peace Corps or Vista) for military service.

C. Granting of amnesty for violators of the current Selective Service Act.

D. Prohibition of assignment of military inductees to active duty in Vietnam or other war areas unless the inductees consent.

The Parthenon

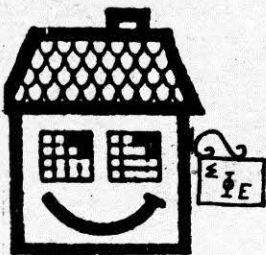

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY STUDENT NEWSPAPER

Established 1896
Member of West Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association
Full-time Wire to The Associated Press
Entered as second class matter, May 29, 1945, at the Post Office at Huntington, West Virginia 25701, under Act of Congress, March 3, 1879.
Published Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday during school year and weekly during summer by Department of Journalism, Marshall University, 16th Street and 3rd Avenue, Huntington, West Virginia 25701. Off-campus subscription rate, $4 per semester, plus 50 cents for each summer term.
All full time students paying student activity services fee are entitled to copies of The Parthenon

STAFF

Editor-in-chief.....	Tommie Denny
Managing editor.....	Les Smith
Sports editor.....	Tim Bucey
News editor.....	Marti Vogel, Wayne Faulkner
Campus editors.....	Cathy Gibbs, Steve Frame, Mary O'Dell
Feature editor.....	Jill Williamson
Picture editor.....	Jack Seamonds
Chief Photographer.....	Charlie Tittlow
Advertising manager.....	Helen Morris
Assistant advertising manager.....	Anita Gardner
Circulation manager.....	Robert Borchert
Graduate assistant-business/advertising.....	Gary Sweeney
Editorial counselor.....	Barbara Hensley
Faculty adviser.....	Ralph Turner

FRENCH TAVERN RESTAURANT

For a study break, try the French Tavern. We provide food for thought.

Open 4 to 10 p.m. Sunday 12 noon to 10 p.m. Closed Monday.

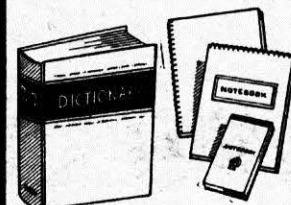

On Route 60, West

Adv.

Adv.

LATTA'S has it!

Campus Briefs

FIW policy may be changed

The possibility of changing the FIW (failure due to irregular withdrawal from classes) is now being studied by a sub-committee of the Dean's Advisory Council for the College of Arts and Sciences. Dr. J. Harvey Saunders, Assistant Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, is chairman of the sub-committee. The sub-committee has arrived at no definite changes but is working on alternatives if the FIW is dropped.

Sorority registration extended

Sorority registration has been extended to 4 p.m. today, in the Student Union. A 2.2 average is needed to register. Coke parties will continue today, Wednesday and Thursday. A coed may attend one coke party per sorority. Perference slips will be signed from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. Friday in Room 121 Old Main in the office of Mrs. Lillian Buskirk, associate dean of students. Bids go out at 4 p.m. Friday.

Frosh honor students honored

Freshman honor students in Teacher's College will be honored at a meeting 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Smith Hall Room 154. Dr. Mervin Tyson, vice president of academic affairs, will be the principal speaker for the meeting conducted by Phi chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, education honorary. A reception in North Parlor of Old Main will follow the meeting.

Enter speech tourney now!

Wednesday is the last day students interested in trying out for the West Virginia State Intercollegiate Speech Tournament can complete entry blanks, available in the Department of Speech office, according to Dr. Eugene Hoak, professor of speech. Try-outs for the tournament, to be April 23-25 at Jackson's Mill, will be the first week in April.

Big Green Club begins campaign

The Big Green Club is launching its enthusiasm campaign at the Interdormitory Council meeting today with John Stone, vice president of the First National Bank of Huntington, speaking. Coordinator of the program, Stone, a graduate of Marshall, is backing enthusiasm at MU by embarking on this campaign with the club to create and develop more support for MU athletics especially for the fall football season, according to Warren Myers, director of housing.

Bill of Rights Committee needs 4

Student Body President Pamela Slaughter, Dunbar senior, has requested four final appointments to the Bill of Rights Committee. These students include Leon Oxley, Huntington junior, John Wallace, Huntington senior, Lee McClinton, Huntington freshman and Lynn Duncan, South Charleston freshman.

Campus Christian Center to sponsor spring seminar

The Campus Christian Center is sponsoring a Spring Theological Seminar based on the book "Phenomenon of Man" by Teilhard de Chardin.

The book being used offers a comprehensive view of life according to the Rev. Hardin "Corky" King, Presbyterian campus minister.

Chardin, according to Rev. King, was an "outstanding scientist and priest." His special field was paleontology. In this book he is "trying to make sense out of the whole cosmic process."

The program is open to the public, and citizens from Huntington are encouraged to attend.

attend.

There will be five sessions in all:

All of the following talks will be on Sundays at 8:15 p.m.: April 12, "Book Two," George Sublette on "Life," Baptist campus minister; April 26, "Book Three," Dr. Louis Jennings, chairman of the Bible and religion department, on "Thought"; May 10, Rev. King, "Book Four," on "Survival"; May 17, "Epilogue," Dr. Howard Slaatte, chairman of the philosophy department; and May 24, a seminar on the "Future of man" by Robert Staley, graduate student of philosophy.

CHRIS CONNELL, AWARD STUDENT JOURNALIST, SPEAKING AT CONVOCATION THURSDAY

Dissent is lecture topic

Concerning the attitudes of young people, Chris Connell, award-winning student journalist, said he felt the dissent and activism have been misdirected. "I think the youth culture gets lost in a lot of abortive action."

He stated that student unrest is not confined to the United States but is worldwide. "There seems to be something to indicate many people feel there is something missing in our society. Many people feel time is really pressing now. Things are reaching ahead. People are looking for things to become involved in. They're not as willing now as 15 years ago to follow the mainstream."

He thinks the young people will come up with something substantial. "I don't know what, but I have confidence that young enthusiasm can be vented in constructive directions."

Referring to the student riots at Columbia, Connell said,

"When you think about it, it's really outrageous to direct a movement against a university because a university is the freest place in the world. My friends and I agree that we're leading a pretty soft life."

He feels that when the Columbian students protested the construction of a new gymnasium they were expressing dismay not with the university but with the priorities of society.

Connell said there is a lot of exciting writing going on today and he cited several examples, one of which was Cat's Cradle by Kurt Vonnegut.

Cat's Cradle is about a substance called Ice-9 invented for the Army. Ice-9 is used to solidify quagmires so the Army won't have to fight any more muddy wars. Unfortunately, the substance gets out of hand and ends up freezing the entire world.

Connell feels this novel is reflective of many young people's feelings toward science and its role today. "This says a lot about how a lot of people feel - that instead of improving the world, science is desecrating it."

"We do have Ice-9; we call it 'The Bomb'. I'm not quite sure how many ways that has patterned my life." He said instead of improving life we just defend it.

Concerning women's liberation, Connell said this seems to be a fairly prime issue. Job opportunities not being equal are indicative of misdirected priorities and he feels that this will change. "I think we'll go beyond sex and there'll be a new humanism." He said there will be more stress on the worth of the individual than on sex roles. He said, "When you make other people free, you free yourself."

Educational developments discussed in conferences

Pack a lunch and join in the discussion! This could be the slogan of the "Brown Bag" Conference that meets at noon. The conference is for persons teaching professional education courses.

"The conference gives persons in professional education an opportunity to discuss recent developments in the area of professional education and to develop new ideas for professional education in Teachers College," said Dr. Robert B. Hayes, dean of Teachers College.

The first meeting was March 4 with an attendance of 50 persons. The conference split to two groups that met March 10 and 11.

The March 10 discussion was the development of understanding of individuals, aiming specifically at Education 218 and 319 courses, their purposes, and how the teaching in this area might be improved.

Discussed March 11 were the new trends in the development of methods courses and experiments being conducted in the teaching of methods in Teachers College.

The next meetings will be Wednesday and Thursday.

CLASSIFIED

SUMMER POSITIONS AT BOYS' CAMP

Counselors-June 26 to August 24. Fine staff fellowship. Men from all parts of the country and Europe. Openings include swimming (W.S.I.), sailing, music (piano), archery, baseball and basketball coaches, tennis (14 courts,) general with younger campers. Located in Southern Maine. Fine salaries, travel allowance. Write fully to Morton J. Goldman, 63 Arleigh Road, Great Neck, L.I., New York 11021. c/o Camp Takajo.

LOST in vicinity of Old Main, 2 ladies rings. If found return to Mrs. Overholt in room 211 Old Main or phone 525-2306. REWARD!

KEN GAINER
Marshall '64

Do You Want . . . Guaranteed Borrowing Power?

Right now you are probably not too concerned about "borrowing" or "collateral," yet in a few years you may need money for a down payment on a home, or for a business opportunity. Life insurance, with its steadily increasing cash value, is preferred collateral at any lending institution. I hope I'll have a chance to discuss this unique aspect of life insurance at your convenience.

Connecticut Mutual Life

1014 6th Ave.

Phone 522-7321

Green Beer Green Beer Green Beer Green

WE'VE GOT GREEN BEER

FOR ST. PATRICK'S DAY

GREEN BEER GREEN BEER GREEN BEER GREEN BEER

TODAY ONLY!!

BIG GREEN LOUNGE

1947 3rd Ave.

Adv.

Hoof Beats

By TIM BUCEY

Athletics at a university are for the participation of student athletes and for the enjoyment of the student body.

But because intercollegiate athletics is big business, the students are being ignored when it comes to the decision making aspect involved in sports.

At this University, 1969-70 has been a year of decisions. First, they had to decide what to do concerning the recruiting irregularities problem, then at the end of the football season they had to select a new football coach, then a new basketball coach and they are still studying what course this school should take in developing its athletic program.

Committees have been set up to study and make recommendations on all these situations, but the fact is these committees do not have student representatives.

The hiring of coaches is solely up to the President of the University and like any reasonable president would, Roland H. Nelson uses a committee to help him select a coach.

The procedure in hiring a coach is (1) the application is reviewed by the athletic director, (2) if the applicant is a good possibility he is interviewed by the screening committee, who narrows the number down to one applicant, (3) that choice is given approval by the athletic board and (4) recommended to the President, who gives final approval.

Screening committee important

The screening committee is probably the most important part of the selection in that they, along with the athletic director, narrow the choice down to one man. This screening committee does not have any student representatives on it. It consists of four faculty members, two members of the administration and the athletic director.

The athletic board is the only one with student representatives and it does nothing more than approve the screening committee's final choice.

As one former student representative of the athletic board said, "it is nothing more than a rubber stamp committee."

The board with its two student representatives, has little power in that it's jobs are: approving schedules, ruling on athletes eligibility, approving the athletic budget, reviewing policies, promoting intercollegiate athletics and assisting the President upon his request.

Since athletics is for the students, either the screening committee should be disbanded and the athletic board should do the screening, or the screening committee should have at least two student representatives.

Athletic board is seldom used

In explaining the purpose of the athletic board, Board Chairman Dr. Hunter Hardman said, "We are there in case they need us. They use the screening committee, instead of the athletic board, because it is hard to get all 11 members of the athletic board together at one time. Our job is really to maintain an athletic program at Marshall."

The athletic board as a whole has had no power in helping select either the new football coach or the basketball coach. It just automatically gives its final approval to the screening committee's recommendation.

"There have even been times in the past when the President just appointed a coach himself, without going through any committee," Dr. Hardman said. "Coach (Ellis) Johnson was appointed by a group which former President (Stewart) Smith made up consisting of the athletic director, an athletic board member and himself."

Dr. Hardman admitted that the athletic board always accepts the athletic directors or the screening committees recommendation.

"We would be foolish to over-ride an athletic director's or a committee's recommendation, because the athletic director is the one who has to work with the coach. It wouldn't be wise to have someone in there if the athletic director didn't approve of," Dr. Hardman explained.

The two students on the 'non-power oriented' athletic board this year are George Joseph and Richard Dardinger.

Students hold a lot of weight

"The students hold an equal voting right on the board. In fact, they hold a lot of weight," Dr. Hardman said. "We consider what they have to say and realize this is a student program, but it can't be turned over to the student body."

The former student representative of the athletic board said, one of the most important items he was faced with while a member of the board was what color blazers the athletic department would order for the athletes.

No wonder the student's vote carries so much weight - they have to wear the jackets.

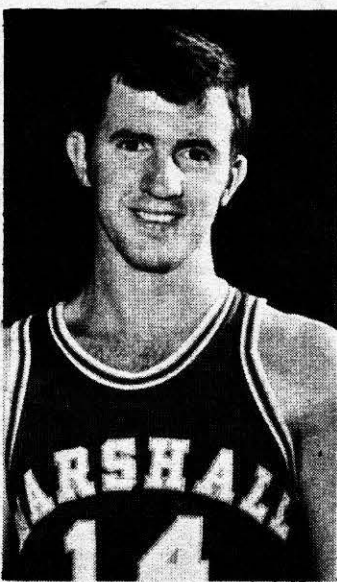

Registration for intramural softball tournament begins

John Turko, intramural director, said registration for the 1970 intramural softball tournament will begin today and continue through April 1.

Only one team per organization will be allowed to enter. Each team can have 15 men on the roster, including the coach and manager, but only nine players can start a game. The first games are scheduled for April 6.

Four innings will constitute a game except in the case of ties. Intramural and National Softball rules will govern play.

Team championship and individual member awards will be presented.

PHIL KAZEE
Injured cager

New recruits announced

Two junior college transfers have signed grants-in-aid to play football at Marshall, Head Coach Rick Tolley announced Monday.

They are Bob Patterson and Dave Henderson, both tight ends from Ferrum Junior College in Ferrum, Va.

Patterson, a 6-2, 215-pounder is a native of Lewisburg, N.C., where he was named to the All-Conference team in high school and was also a member of the baseball team. He has attended Ferrum the past two years where his team posted an 11-0 record in 1968, and a 6-2 record in 1969.

Henderson, a 6-5, 230-pounder is from Crittenden, Va., where he attended John Yates High School.

Coach Tolley said, "Patterson and Henderson figure to give us a lot of help in our offensive line. They're big and strong, and we feel that both will be fine football players."

Also over the weekend four new recruits, two basketball and two football, were announced by the Athletic Department.

Acting Coach Stewart Way announced Saturday the signing of two Ohio basketball players to letters-of-intent.

Lyle Monroe, a 6-7 forward from Fort Recovery averaged 20 points and 15 rebounds per game this past season. During his career at Fort Recovery, his team posted a 44-8 record. He plans to major in physical education.

Jerome Strittholt, a 6-5 guard who played for Cincinnati St. Xavier averaged 16 points and 10 rebounds per game. Strittholt, a B-student at St. Xavier plans to major in pre-dentistry.

Head Coach Rick Tolley announced that Chuck Wright, a 6-1, 225-pound tackle from Charleston Stonewall Jackson High School has signed a football grant-in-aid, and Jeff Rice, a 185-pound halfback has signed a letter-of-intent.

Wright, captain of the Stonewall Generals, is also the state high school heavyweight wrestling champion.

TROY
McCOY

God loves you still and will forgive
your sins;
but envy
and hate are very close friends.

Adv.

Kazee looks over career

Phil Kazee started out his basketball career by not making the freshman team in high school and ended it much the same way here at Marshall.

The senior guard from Catlettsburg, Ky., sustained a separated shoulder and a badly sprained ankle this season and ended up not dressing the latter half of the year and playing in only one game.

"I feel I got a raw deal," says Kazee. "The injuries weren't that bad. I could have played a lot if I had gotten the chance."

"I remember when the (the 1966-67 Frosh squad) were freshmen we scored 100 points or more in something like seven of our last eight games. When we were recruited we were supposed to be the 'Bombers' and we've been bombing ever since."

In his senior high school season he scored 20 points per game and made all-North Eastern Kentucky Conference, All-District and honorable mention all-State.

These credentials attracted the attention of Coach Larry McKenzie, who had just been given the assistant coaching job here at MU, who contacted Phil and asked him to come here.

Kazee, who had offers from Morehead, Ohio University, Murray State and Concord, came to Marshall on a partial scholarship and by the end of the Varsity-Freshman game in his first year he had earned a full grant-in-aid.

"As a sophomore you got to be a guinea pig for the seniors and juniors," Kazee commented. "We played defense all the time."

"I don't really blame Coach Johnson (former Coach Ellis Johnson) for not playing me more as a sophomore. We had a lot of talent."

Kazee's answers to this reporters questions are as follows:

Q: What are some of your most memorable events here at MU?

A: When I seperated my shoulder in practice! Also when I was a sophomore and we played Houston at Madison Square Garden I guarded Elvin Hayes for 48 seconds.

Q: What do you feel was the problem with this year's team?

A: Attitudes. Everyone started out like they really cared and then by the time we got down to scrimmaging everyone just kinda' quit trying it seemed.

Q: Why do you feel you didn't get to play more?

A: Coach Way said it was injuries and that may have had something to do with it. However, I was also told I didn't hustle enough and someone told me that the coaches felt I had a bad attitude.

When we played Pitt (the only game in which Kazee saw any action this year) we had plays. When I got in the game and ran the plays, they never got any further than the first pass, and the coaches blamed it on the guards. After we went to just playing ball I never got to play.

Q: How do you feel about hiring a new coach and do you think we should rush it?

A: Well I don't think a couple of weeks will make that much difference. It won't help the recruiting but we should get the best we can. Coach Way is a fine man as a person but I don't think he's the best coach we could get.

Q: What do you plan to do when you graduate?

A: Well I'm not too sure yet. I have to finish six hours either this summer or in the fall.

Cage coach to be named Thursday?

A new head basketball coach may be named by Thursday, according to Athletic Director Charles Kautz.

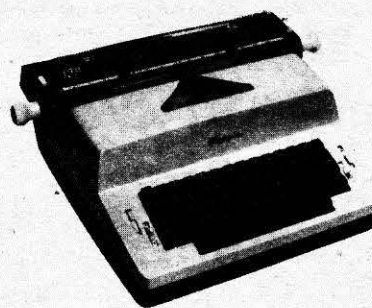

"I'd like to have a coach by the time that state tournament starts," said Kautz, referring to the W. Va. State High School Tournament opening Thursday in Charleston.

He said things had not changed since last week. This means that there are four possible candidates for the job, this number being narrowed from the original 25 applicants.

The coaching staff and Athletic Committee are working toward a decision on Marshall's athletic future, following last month's expulsion from the Mid-American Conference. Kautz said that a decision of such great importance to the University could not be made in a couple of days. Consequently, it may be a couple of weeks before a decision is reached.

BUSINESS MACHINES

RENTALS SALES SERVICE

Stationer
INCORPORATED
Your Office Supplier

1945 Fifth Ave.

Huntington, W. Va. 25703

Phone 525-7676