Three students arrested in drug raid

By ERNEST REED and
DAVID CRANCE
Staff reporters

Ten persons, including three Marshall students, were arraigned early Thursday morning by Justice of the Peace Thad Blatt on charges of sale and possession of dangerous and narcotic drugs, according to city police officials.

Marshall students arrested were Saba W. Ellis, 1500 block of Fourth Ave.; Harry A. Ranson, 400 block of 21st. St.; and Lines

R. Ferguson, 1500 block of Fourth Ave., police said.

The raid was the result of several months investigation by the Huntington Police Dept. under the direction of Capt. Azel Bryant, head of the Investigation Dept.

Sixteen officers took part in the raids which began at 12:33 a.m. Thursday and ended with a final raid at 4:43 a.m., Capt. Bryant said.

Involved in the raid were quantities of LSD, marijuana, a synthetic morphine derivative, and hashish, which come under the headings of narcotics and dangerous drugs, according to Bryant. Capt. Bryant said, six arrests were made in the 1500 block of Fourth Ave., one arrest was made in the 1800 block of Third Ave., one at the 400 block of 21st. St., one at 1743 Artisan Ave., and one person turned herself in at the police station.

During one of the arrests an unknown person threw a brick through the window of a police cruiser and one patrolman was hit in the arm with a rock, Bryant added.

Several of the police reported that people at the arrest sites were taking pictures of the officers as they made their arrests. Police Capt. Bryant speculated that the purpose of this was to alert drug users and buyers of the appearances of some of the officers investigating so they could be recognized later.

Bond was set both for Saba Ellis Jr., and Harry Ranson at $20,000 for possession and the sale of narcotics. Lines

Ferguson's bond was set at $5000 for possession of narcotic drugs, according to Bryant.

Capt. Bryant said the use of drugs is on the upswing in the Huntington area and especially around the Marshall University campus. He said his investigation was continuing.

Dr. Constantine Curris, dean of student personnel programs, said, "No charges will be filed against the students because the offense was not committed on Marshall University property."

Gant says 'NOW' is ineffective

By GWEN DEAN
Staff reporter

A rebuttal was released this week for Student Government, by Michael Gant, student body president, on the new student party N.O.W.

"Student Government would like to comment on the proposed platform of the newly formed N.O.W. party. We are, to be brief, affronted. We feel the stigma of ineffectiveness placed (by implication) upon Student Government to be unfair, unjustifiable and indicative of a general lack of knowledge.

"To be specific, the proposals included in the N.O.W. platform are proposals which have concerned Student Government for some time. In fact, many of those things which they desire to be done have already been done.

"For example:

"(1) The call for an investigation into student activity fees is uncalled for, in that an investigation has been on going since August 1969; increases in the fees for athletics, intramurals, and the health service have resulted from the study, which is still going on.

"(2) The call for an investigation into the parking situation is unnecessary, in that the Student Senate has completed the study and have ordered a brochure of all available off campus parking spaced to be published.

"(3) The call for an Ombudsman legal service for students is not pertinent, because the Student Senate already has a committee formed to research the whole area of student legal aid, including the Ombudsman concept.

"(4) The proposal concerning the limited use of fire arms for campus police is similar to the proposal which is currently under consideration by the Student Conduct and Welfare Committee.

"(5) N.O.W. wishes to see an investigation into the concept of a University Senate. Student Senate has been researching this concept since May of 1970. Also, a joint student-faculty investigatory commission is now in the works for final drafting.

"(6) Proposals concerning the quality of apartments, as well as the civil liberties of dormitory students have been a great concern of Student Government, as demonstrated by our inquiries into these fields, as well as an offering of assistance to Inter-Dorm Council in any problem which they may encounter.

"(7) Student Government repudiates the use of any violence in any form, as does any responsible group.

"With these points, Student Government hopes to erase the mark of ineffectiveness placed upon us by N.O.W. Student Government has achieved viable, positive action; Student Government is working-for students."

This statement was released after N.O.W.'s chairman, Joe Drummond, Huntington senior, outlined the party's platform in the Tuesday issue of The Parthenon.

Three taken off ballot list

Three students listed in Tuesday's Parthenon as candidates in the Oct. 14 student elections will not be on the ballot, according to John Marshall, Middletown, Ohio junior and election commissioner.

Marshall said that David Black, Huntington sophomore and candidate for class president; Mary Ellen Cook, Man sophomore and candidate for class vice president; and Mike Morris, Barboursville freshman and candidate for transient senator, were not placed on the ballot because they filed after the Friday deadline.

Marshall said that they were initially allowed to file; however, the election commission ruled their applications invalid because it would be unfair to others who wanted to file after the deadline.

Marshall also announced that poll workers are needed for the Oct. 14 student elections.

Those interested should sign up in the Student Government Office leaving their names, telephone numbers, and class schedules.

RECREATIONAL SWIMMING

Recreational swimming in Gullickson Hall will open to students, faculty, staff and their families at these times: 12-1 p.m. Monday through Friday, 7-9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 1-4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Theft and vandalism most common campus problems

By ROGER DYER
Staff reporter

Theft, vandalism, and parking are the major problems of campus security police, according to Capt. Paul K. Bloss, chief of security.

Theft of stereo tape players from automobiles on and around campus is the largest criminal problem. Their size and ease of removal makes them a prime target for a thief and they are hard to trace by the authorities.

Vandalism, the destruction or defacement of campus property, is in a large part done by persons other than students. "While some is the result of students, most damage is done by persons not affiliated with the University," said Captain Bloss.

"The fact that the campus is patrolled 24 hours a day, seven days a week by our men and cooperation with the city police keep these problems to a minimum," continued Captain Bloss.

"Parking is more of a nuisance than a major problem, we lack the parking space that is needed, but are constantly striving to improve this situation. We now are enlarging and paving the present lots as well as making the spaces easier to get in and out of."

Parking fees charged to park on University lots are used to improve parking conditions. The fee charged per semester is $15 for outside parking and $25 for inside parking.

Janis is gone. Jimi is gone. The two livest wires of the electric rock world have pulled out their plugs and left us. The modern music scene won't be the same without them.

Jimi and Janis had a lot in common. Both were 27, and both made their first really big impact at California's Monterey Pop Festival in 1967.

They both put their heart, soul and very being into their music. And each of them gave not a performance, but an experience.

Jimi Hendrix was discovered by Charles Chandler of the Animals in 1966 at a Greenwich Village Club called Cafe What?. He had left his hometown Seattle, Wash. at 18, served as a paratrooper and then toured the rhythm and blues circuit - Nashville, Harlem - before coming to New York.

Chandler took him to England where they found Noel Redding (bass) and Mitch Mitchell (drums) to make up the Jimi Hendrix Experience. They were an immediate success in England and when they did the Monterey Pop Festival Jimi showed America just who was master of his music.

When a bomb scare at one of his concerts turned out to be a hoax, Jimi told his audience, "Nobody but Jimi burns a house down." And that's exactly what he did, every time he played.

Janis Joplin also left home - Port Arthur, Texas - at 18, and headed for Los Angeles. She worked as a keypunch operator, sang occasionally and took some college courses before joining San Francisco's Big Brother and the Holding Co., one of the city's oldest groups, in 1966.

If you never saw her perform, live or on TV you've really missed something. She melted into her music - she was her song. John Poppy of Look said, "She delivers all of herself, gut, marrow, joy and sorrow to you when she sings."

"My message is 'Get off your butt and feel things,'" Janis said. "I'm untutored native folk talent."

"I'm on an audience trip. . . I talk to the audience, look into their eyes. . . I need them and they need me. I get stoned from happiness. I want to do it until it isn't there anymore." And now, unfortunately, she isn't there anymore. ***

A wee bit of Ireland came to Marshall yesterday and brightened up an otherwise dreary day. They charmed the audience with their songs, moved them with their poetry and tickled them with their jokes.

All I can say is I'm sure glad the Irish Rovers came over.

Council will study needs

By CRAIG T. GREENLEE
Staff reporter

Marshall's role in meeting the needs of the region and state is getting the attention of the University Council, executive committee of the faculty.

The role Marshall will take and the direction of the University were the activities looked into by the Council at its last meeting. The meeting was closed to the press.

In talking of the direction Marshall should take, Dr. Sam Clagg, council chairman said, "we should assess our input and compare it to our objectives, which are defined in the Green Book."

The Marshall University Green Book is a manual for administration and faculty members. It defines objectives for all standing committees of the University.

A proposed joint meeting of all standing committees will be attempted on a trial basis. The purpose of the joint meeting is "to create better channels of communication between all committees," he said.

The joint meetings are to be held on a monthly basis.

School of Business plans new building

By MICHAEL ADKINS
Staff reporter

A plan has been proposed by Dr. Robert W. Morell, dean of School of Business, for a new building for School of Business.

The plan was submitted in September because of a directive from the Board of Regents asking Marshall to submit the outlay for building and improvement capital needs for the next two years.

Morell's rough draft depicted the location of the School of Business at present and where they would like it located.

The plan calls for one building with both office space and class rooms. The building would be located on Fifth Avenue and would extend from its present location to the corner of Elm Street. School of Business officials estimated the cost of the new building at $2 million.

"The School of Business needs a building," said Dr. Thomas S. Bishop, chairman of management.

"The conditions are poor and the office building is crowded," he said. "There are no work areas for the secretaries and they must sit in the same offices with the department chairmen."

Northcott Hall is shared by the School of Business and the Department of Economics. Home Economics classrooms are also in Northcott. "There just isn't enough class room space," said Bishop.

Dr. Bishop doesn't expect to get the new building this year. "The Board of Regents," he said, "must evaluate each proposal by all the institutions in West Virginia and reach a decision as to which ones they want to pursue."

The School of Business has approximately 600 full and part-time majors, plus 150 Master of Business Administration (MBA) students. Using these figures, Bishop said the School of Business is approaching 20% of the total enrollment at Marshall.

The offices for the School of Business are located in an old sorority house.

Teaching plan is altered

A chance for meeting the requirements in student teaching experience, as of the 1970-71 academic year, has been announced by Dr. Bernard Queen, department chairman of curriculum and instruction.

Formerly, the student teaching requirement could be satisfied through a summer program for all persons with one year of successful teaching. This plan has been eliminated. Of the two programs now offered, one is the current regular on-campus program carried out during a regular semester of a given year.

The alternative route is an eight-week block program during the summer.

Those wishing to enter the summer program must apply before April 15, 1971, with Jack E. Nichols, co-ordinator of student teaching, in Laboratory School Annex Room 200.

'Rovers' receive standing ovations

The Irish Rovers received two standing ovations at yesterday's convocation in Old Main Auditorium.

"Marshall audiences are great," said Willie Millar, lead singer and banjoist of the group. "They reminded me of the audiences back home in Ireland the way they clapped and sang along."

The five Irishmen brought spontaneous applause and time-clapping responses from the enthusiastic audience. As Willie Millar said, "You notice we don't have a fast-moving Las Vegas act."

Old Main Auditorium was filled and chairs were placed in the aisles, but according to Jim Martin, director of information and publications, no one was turned away.

The scope of the Rovers performance was international, with selections from Germany, America, and Ireland. Two songs, "Mountain Tang," an Irish drinking song, and "Two Little Boys," a song of brotherhood, received the most applause from the audience.

Backstage the group said they would like to someday return to Marshall and one member said, "I wish we could put you on a bus and take you on this tour with us."

The Rovers were formed seven years ago "in an informal way," according to the spokesman for the group, "We started the group in a bar while we were sitting around drinking."

Brothers, Willie and George Millar, along with their cousin Joe Millar, and friends Jim Ferguson and Wilcil McDowell, make up the group.

"We started the group because we wanted to make money and for the simple reason of enjoyment," said Will Millar, "and the trip to our University was delightful."

The Rovers recently completed two Barbara McNair programs and are now on the way to Boston to give a performance.

Pigskin predictions

enter third week

by Jeff Nathan

It's time to enter week number three of pigskin prognosticating, and once again this week we welcome back the Thundering Thumb Thumpers.

After last week's 80 percent showing, I feel confident and ready to go in predicting the outcome of several MAC games as well as Marshall. So let's spin the wheel of fortune for the third time.

MIAMI 20-MARSHALL 17 - I hope I'm wrong, but Miami's defense appears to be too much for the Herd. Miami's the pick, but with all the spirit generated by the "Buffalo Babes" watch for a possible upset.

WESTERN MICHIGAN 30-KENT 20 - The Broncos roll on.

TOLEDO 40-BOWLING GREEN 21 - The Rockets will remain undefeated.

DAYTON 28-OHIO 14 - Dayton's running game is too much for the Bobcats.

TULSA 25 LOUISVILLE 21 - Could be another upset.

THUNDERING THUMB THUMPERS

Another festive weekend of flying footballs is upon us, and your favorite forecasters, with their fantastic .833 percentage, are at it again.

Marshall is no match for the nation's number one defense. The Thundering Thumb Thumpers, therefore, regrettably predict that Miami will get under the Herd's skin, 26-14.

Up in Morgantown, Duke will wish they could use their dukes on the Mountaineers as West Virginia U. trounces the Blue Devils, 35-14.

Dayton will meet a fired-up band of Bobcats at Ohio's homecoming this weekend. "Paw Power," though, will be bested by a well coached football team. The Thumpers see a Flyer win, 24-21.

Western's Broncos will bust Kent with a flashy veer offense, 28-10. The Mid-American championship will all but be decided this weekend when the sparks fly in Northwestern Ohio as Toledo meets Bowling Green. The Triple T's see the Rockets shooting the Falcons out of the air, 30-7.

Nine hold unbeaten record

Three teams in each of the three intramural flag football leagues remain undefeated as of Wednesday.

Sigma Phi Epsilon #1, Kappa Alpha #1, and Miners are unbeaten in the Central division. Sigma Alpha Epsilon #1, Lambda Chi Alpha #1, and Sigma Phi Epsilon #2 remain spotless in Eastern division action. In the Western division, Tau Kappa Epsilon #1, Pi Kappa Alpha #1, and Champs are undefeated.

According to Buddy Rogers intramural director, league standings will be ready by the beginning of next week.

In games Wednesday, Pike #1 topped over South Hall #1 by a 20-6 score and KA #1 crushed Mother Truckers #1 27-7. BUS and Crusaders won by forfeit.

Monday, at 3:30 p.m. Dixie Cups meet Sig Ep #2 on the central intramural field and ZBT #1 play Affa Kappa Delta on the Gullickson Hall field. At 4:30 p.m. Lambda Chi #1 and East Towers #1 square off on central field and Sig Ep #1 face South Hall #2 on GH field. At 5:30 p.m. Pike #2 and Mother Truckers #1 meet on central field and Crusaders play Miners on GH field.

INTRAMURAL BADMINTON

In women's intramural badminton singles Tuesday the results were: Jane Hager, Delta Zeta, defeated Rhonda Dolin, Sigma Kappa, but was defeated by Kathy Akers, Sigma Kappa. Jody Lambert, Delta Zeta, defeated Nancy Arnett and Anne Welling, both Sigma Sigma Sigma's, but lost to Kathy Akers. Judi Ballinger, Alpha Chi Omega, lost to Anne Welling. Nora Horton, Delta Zeta. Janet Warren, Alpha Chi Omega, was defeated by Emma Toothman, Sigma Kappa, who also defeated Rhonda Dolin.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

The Marshall University freshman football team will travel Saturday to Keyser, West Virginia to meet the Potomac State Junior College team. Gail Parker, head freshman football coach, said the team has been working on their running game in preparation for Saturday. He added that the quarterback position has not been filled, but is between Mark Miller, Prestonsburg, Ken., and David Walsh, Suffolk, Va.

According to Parker, Rick Mackathro, Batavia, Ohio, will not start but will probably play most of the game. Parker said Mackathro is an outstanding player on either offense or defense.

Injuries to the team have been limited to a knee injury suffered by Dave Romano, Charleburg, W. Va.

WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL

The Women's Intercollegiate Volleyball Team started practice last Monday. Anyone interested in trying out for the team should report to the Women's Gym room 103 by 4:00 p.m., dressed for activity.

The schedule this year includes dates with West Liberty, Concord, Morris Harvey, and Eastern Kentucky. The team will also travel to East Tennessee State University and West Liberty for weekend tournaments.

Versatile Hood likes MU

By CHUCK LANDON
Staff reporter

"I think we can take Miami if the team spirit stays as high as it is," said Joe Hood, sophomore football player from Tuscaloosa, Ala.

"We don't plan on doing anything different. We're just going to try to mix our running and passing plays," continued Hood.

The plays may be mixed-up as far as Miami is concerned, but more than likely Joe Hood will still come out with the ball.

Hood, in his second year of college football, has already established himself as a veritable jack-of-all-trades.

This season he has seen action at tailback, flanker, and split end. He also is a member of the kick-off team, returns kicks and punts.

In 1969 Hood came as near to being a one-man team as you can get. He led the frosh in rushing, receiving, scoring, kick-off returns, punt returns, and still found time to throw one touchdown pass.

In three games this season

Hood leads MU in rushing with 153 yards. This includes a 25 yard run that has been the longest from scrimmage.

He is averaging 27.8 yards a catch on four receptions for 111 yards, and has caught the longest MU pass, 42 yards. Hood has the longest kick-off return and punt return, too.

Unlike most football players, Hood wasn't interested in football when he started into high school. In fact, he only played two years of high school football. "I just didn't have any desire to play," said Hood.

As a junior at Druid High School, Hood played quarterback. But, in the second quarter of his first game as a senior, he became a running back. His replacement was Reggie Oliver, Hood's roommate and the MU frosh's field general.

Hood, Freddie Wilson, and Bob VanHorn piled up a perfect 10-0 record as seniors. Hood ended the season with 136 points, 25 receptions, and an average of seven yards a carry. In all, he totaled 1,908 yards of offense.

Hood, 6-1 and 200 pounds runs 40 yards in 4.3 seconds. These statistics along with his high school credentials won him scholarship offers from the University of Illinois, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kentucky, and Alabama State, to name a few.

However, it wasn't up to just Hood to decide where he was going to college. Freddie Wilson and Bob VanHorn also had a vote in the decision.

When the three footballers began getting scholarship offers, they made an agreement that all three of them were going to the same school to play football.

"Marshall was the last place we visited and they showed us a pretty good time," said Hood. "So, Freddie, Van, and I sat down and talked about it and we decided to come here."

Pro football doesn't particularly appeal to Joe Hood. "I've thought about a pro career, but I'd only want to play for one or two years," said Hood. "I'd only play to see what it was like."

'Miami good as Toledo'

Marshall returns home to Fairfield Stadium tomorrow to face what is perhaps the best team they'll play all year, in Miami's undefeated Redskins.

Coach Rick Tolley has said the Redskins are "as good as Toledo" and statistics will back his statement.

Miami is leading the nation in total defense with an average yield of 105.3 yards and in addition, they are fifth in passing defense, third in rushing defense and sixth in scoring defense.

Defense, however, is not the only place the Redskins are strong. They lead the MAC offense, with a 490 yd. per game average, and quarterback Jim Bengala is the MAC's total offense leader, averaging 221.3 yds. per game.

"They're defense is better than Toledo's," said Tolley "and their offense is probably as good."

"They're offense isn't as explosive as Toledo, but they pound away at you, and try to wear you down."

Miami assistant Coach Bob Reulin was "favorably impressed by the Herd in last week's win over Xavier. "I'm not feeding you a bunch of hogwash when I tell you we expect a tough game," he said. "The days when Marshall football is not represented are over. We can't come down there and not play our best football game and expect to win. We feel it will be a very interesting and hard fought football game."

Reulin, a defensive coach, says his team is proud of their number one defensive rating. "The thing now is to keep it," he said. "We feel we have a real sound team, with no outstanding individuals. Just a bunch of boys who together are doing the job for us, but we can't lay down Saturday."

This will be Miami's first chance to see Ted Stenderidge in action, as the Herd quarterback was injured last year and didn't play against the Redskins.
