MU setting procedures in bomb calls

By CHARLES H. FERGUSON
Staff reporter

Local authorities have dropped charges against a 17-year-old Marshall freshman from South Charleston in connection with a bomb threat call Oct. 27 to Twin Towers Dormitories, according to Frank Julian, director of student financial aid, and dean of students.

Julian said a hearing was held for the juvenile Wednesday with Cabell County Juvenile Court Judge Russell Daugherty presiding, and "the court felt the juvenile was not involved in the matter."

He explained, however, the University still will conduct a hearing for the juvenile as soon as the Judicial Board and the Appeals Board have been appointed. Julian said hearings for the three students cited in the matter will be held from an administrative standpoint.

In court action against the other men, the cases were referred Tuesday to the Cabell County Common Pleas Court grand jury. William B. Beverlin, 18, of Salem, W. Va., freshman, waived a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Andrew Kitchen, and Larry Conn, 21, Kistler sophomore, was ordered held for court after a 45-minute hearing.

Dr. Constantine W. Curris, director of student personnel programs, said Wednesday that "possible disciplinary action against the three men allegedly involved now is at a standstill because of the Judicial Board and the Appeals Board still not having been named."

Dr. Curris said Acting President Dr. Donald N. Dedmon is to appoint the members after Student Body President Mike Gant submits nominees to him.

Dr. Dedmon said Wednesday he and Gant "were in the process of finalizing plans for the appointments when the Nov. 14 air tragedy occurred." He said his "office feels the appointments should be made at the earliest possible time."

Dr. Dedmon said, "I feel the boards will be appointed pretty soon."

The Judicial Board is made up of seven students and two faculty members. Appointees will serve a one-year period, but can be appointed again by the president if their names are submitted, according to Frank Julian, director of student financial aid, and dean of students.

The Appeal Board is composed of three students and two faculty members, Julian said.

Julian said, "It is these boards which will hear administrative disciplinary action against the three arrested men."

A workshop also will be held after appointments are made to acquaint the members with necessary procedures in a trial, Julian said.

Julian explained the Judicial Board can do one of six things in a case. The board can acquit the student; put him on warning; place him on disciplinary probation; suspend him for a definite or an indefinite period of time; expel him, or compel him to reimburse the University for damages.

All students brought before the board have certain rights, Julian said. A student has the right to confront his accusers, call witnesses in his behalf, remain silent with no inference of guilt, cross examine plaintiff witnesses, and have an advisor present from the University community.

Julian said the University "has the burden or proof in presenting clear and convincing evidence, and the student is innocent until proven guilty."

If a student is found guilty by the Judicial Board, he may appeal the case to the Marshall Appeal Board. Julian explained the student must present his appeal in writing to the board which can make one of three decisions.

It can sustain the finding of the Judicial Board, or it can reverse the decision, or it can order a new hearing before the Judicial Board.

In the event a student still is found guilty through actions of the Appeal Board, he can submit a written appeal to the University president, Julian said.

Cpl. M.P. Koerner, of the Cabell County state police detachment, testified at the magistrate's hearing he was aware of an electronic tracing device put into use by the

Memorial fund money increases

Marshall University Memorial Fund reached $21,148.44 as of 5 p.m. Dec. 1, according to John Callebs, director of development.

"A good bit of the money has been marked for specific purposes, but as now we haven't really made a break-down with the money," Callebs said. He further explained that areas of distribution of the funds will not be decided until the total amount of money received has been determined.

Callebs said there are about 60-70 accounts the money can be placed in. He added the money received does not include the contributions raised from the "Night of Stars" benefit.

In Wichita, Kansas, a bank official said Tuesday donations are pouring in from the benefit television program aired last Saturday night.

An official of the Fourth National Bank and Trust Co. in Kansas, said more than 500 checks were received by Monday afternoon.

According to the Office of Information and Publication, the largest contribution to date came yesterday from the Armo Foundation. The check for $5,000 was presented to Dr. Donald Dedmon, acting president, by Charles E. Napier, Richard J. Allen, and Douglas E. Green, representatives of the company.

S. J. MacMullan, Manager of the Ashland works, said the Armo Foundation Matching Gift Program will match any employee's gift of $25 or over.

Teachers College picked for project

Teachers College has been selected for participation in the Project: Steps Toward Excellence in Teacher Education.

The Project is conducted by the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education and is directed from Washington, District of Columbia, by Dr. Karl Massanari. Dr. Massanari in his invitation to Teachers College to participate in this effort described it as "a major, national effort to improve preparation programs for professional school personnel."

In February Teachers College received The Distinguished Achievement Award for Excellence in Teacher Education for 1970. Teachers College was selected for this Award from more than one hundred of the nation's leading teacher education institutions which had programs under consideration by the panel of judges.

In this new effort by Teachers College to develop toward excellence in teacher education the undergraduate and graduate programs will be involved. Dr. Dan Fulks and Dr. Phil E. Suiter have been selected for leadership at the undergraduate level and Dr. Paul D. Hines has been identified for guiding the graduate level effort.

Dean Robert B. Hayes of Teachers College stated that he accepted this latest recognition of Teachers College as a challenge to make further improvements in teacher education at Marshall University and as an opportunity to enhance the University's leadership position in this field.

Intramural incident investigated

By MIKE STARN
Staff reporter

The Dean of Students Office is conducting an investigation concerning the cutting of three Marshall students Nov. 13 following an intramural football game between Kappa Alpha fraternity and Black United Students.

Don Saller, Kinnelon, N.J., junior, was admitted and hospitalized for two days at the Chesapeake & Ohio Hospital as a result of a stab wound beneath the armpit.

John Onderko, Fairmont junior, suffered cuts on the back and head. Charlie Ward, Huntington sophomore, was treated for a head wound. Both were treated and released.

According to Lt. William Draper of the Huntington police department, no charges have been filed.

Draper said Huntington police and Dr. Constantine Curris, dean of student personnel programs, would act jointly to further investigate the incident.

Both Draper and Curris said that investigation had been slowed by the Marshall plane crash the day after the incident.

Curris said he was not a witness of the incident, but got his information from Buddy Rogers, intramural director.

"Buddy Rogers came to my office and said there were three students with stab wounds being treated at the C&O hospital."

Curris said that after hearing this he, Julian, and Nemens went to investigate.

According to Julian, a meeting of people connected with the incident was scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 15. The meeting was cancelled following the plane crash and as of yet has not been rescheduled. No definite plan of investigation has been set up yet, according to Curris.

"Once the facts are known, if disciplinary action is to be taken, it will be taken by the Marshall University Judicial Board," Curris said.

Good Proposal awaits investigation

A proposal calling for the disarming of campus police during daylight hours was approved Tuesday night by Student Senate.

The proposal, which now goes to the Student Conduct and Welfare Committee for investigation, was presented by Sen. Joe Lazear, Pittsburgh, Pa. junior.

Reasons cited by Lazear supporting the proposal were given as

(1) They were disarmed five years ago and is there really any need for firearms on campus?

(2) All they do is write traffic tickets,

(3) If they need firearm force

they can get help from city and state police,

(4) By their mere presence they would deter any trouble,

(5) One must question the work of the police when so many campus buildings are broken into and University property destroyed and that the dormitory is infrequently patrolled.

Speaking for President Gant, Huntington junior, Madeline Stover, Beckley junior, announced his appointments of Lisa Williams, Huntington freshman, and Donna Gassaway, Mounsville junior, to the Artist Series Board.

Miss Stover said plans are still being drawn up for a committee to work on a memorial to the people who died in the tragic plane crash.

She said Sen. Rod McCrory,

White Sulphur Springs sophomore, withdrew from school due to health reasons but was registered for next semester and was asking for the Rules Committee to consider a leave of absence.

Mary Martin, St. Albans junior and Publications and Public Relations Commissioner, said that the Student Directory and the Student Handbook had not been received yet.

Miss Martin also passed out letters from the Publications and Public Relations Committee which stated that they were awaiting Executive Committee reactions to their report on a publications board before asking student's opinion.

In the order of new business, Sen. John Womack, Nitro sophomore, presented a proposal stating that Student Senate ask the Housing Office to leave the dorms open until Dec. 20 to promote student attendance at the Marshall University Invitational Tournament.

Senator Womack's proposal was unanimously accepted and he was appointed to take the proposal and discuss the possibilities of leaving the cafeteria open to the Housing Office.

Senate also approved the appointment of Mary Fuller to the Financial Aid Board.

At the close of the meeting, Senator Lazear announced that Senate had received a check from a group of students from Miami University for $73.35 which would be donated to the Marshall Memorial Fund.

Inventor suspects altimeter

HUNTINGTON AP — A Colorado inventor has claimed the Nov. 14 Marshall University — chartered plane crash may have been caused by false altimeter readings from moisture — laden air, a Huntington newspaper said today.

According to the Advertiser story, Roderick A. Dennis, president of Positive Aircraft Control Corp, in Denver, told Huntington Mayer Robert Hinerman that his firm plans to market a nuclear landing system that would correct such a problem.

Dennis, calling the Marshall crash "a classic example" of the problem, contends airport control tower officials took barometric readings in a relatively dry air mass and then radioed to the pilot who was flying in an air mass heavy with water vapor.

An altimeter basically reads changes in barometric pressure and translates those readings into elevations above sea level. Altimeter settings are radioed to pilots as they approach the field to land.

A barometer difference of only three-tenths of an inch of mercury would mean an altitude difference of 300 feet, Dennis said.

In his letter to Mayor Hinerman, Dennis listed eleven plane crashes dating back two years which he said were "typical examples of tragedies which have resulted from the inability of the pilot to determine his altitude above the surface of the earth with accuracy and with existing equipment currently in use."

Among those listed was the 1969 crash of a Piedmont Airlines crash at Charleston which killed 35 persons.

Other crashes listed by Dennis occurred in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Oklahoma and New Hampshire. Although the eleven crashes listed by Dennis claimed more than 400 lives, he said some crashes weren't listed but all pointed to a "need for a positive controlled approach" system.

Dennis said he has submitted his system proposal to the Federal Aviation Administration, adding that he now is ready to schedule actual flight demonstrations for the FAA.

Total cost of an airport installation for the Positive Aircraft Control system would be less than a standard Instrument Landing System ILS, Dennis said, and aircraft installations would cost between $1,500 and $2,500.

A recent survey showed about half of the commercial airports in the country don't have the electronic glide slope instrument landing system.

However, Dennis said, even the ILS may be lacking because in bad weather conditions it guides planes to within a few hundred feet of the ground but not entirely to the point where the airplane wheels touch the runways.

He said those last few hundred feet where the pilot takes control for the final approach have been critical in many crashes where the planes crossed over water or descended through moisture-laden air.

DEBATERS TAKE FOURTH

Novice debate team placed fourth in overall tournament competition among 17 schools Nov. 20-21 at Morris Harvey College in Charleston.

The team, consisting of Jessie Cook and Paul Dick, Huntington freshmen, for the affirmative views, and Bruce Tucker, South Point, Ohio, freshman, and Mary Stout, Marietta, Ohio, freshman, for the negative side, won nine of their twelve debates.

Miss Cook placed third in tournament competition for best speaker.

The tournament was won by a team from Wake Forest University, Winston-Salem, N.C. Cadet representatives from West Point were second, and Marietta College, Marietta, Ohio, placed third.

The novice team will enter another tournament Saturday at Butler University in Indianapolis, Indiana.

CCC SERVICES SET

A Coffee House, Unitarian Fellowship, and University Service of Worship will be held this weekend at the Campus Christian Center.

The Catholic Community will have confession at 5 p.m. and Mass at 6 p.m. Saturday with Mass at 9:45 a.m. and 5 p.m. Sunday to be led by Father Robert T. Scott, Catholic campus pastor.

A Coffee House will be held at 9 p.m. Saturday with Stephen Fair, McMechen sophomore, coordinating the service.

Unitarian Fellowship will be held at 9:45 a.m. Sunday with Bernard F. Cleveland, associate professor of social studies, conducting the services.

The University Service of Worship will be held at 10:45 a.m. with Rev. Hardin W. King coordinating the program.

Dinner will be served at 5:30 p.m. for 75 cents a person followed by Creative Worship at 6:20 p.m., conducted by Rev. George L. Sublette, Baptist campus pastor.

REGISTRATION ENDS FRIDAY

Pre-registration will end Friday at 4 p.m., according to Registrar Robert H. Eddins.

To pre-register, students need their schedule forms, which have to be signed by their advisor, and ID cards. They must also be registered in school this semester.

Eddins said the turn out has been good and that over 3,000 students had pre-registered as of Tuesday.

Schedules and reject notices will be mailed Dec. 30-31 and students will have received either a reject notice or an approved schedule in their campus or city mailbox.

Students receiving a reject notice will also receive a list of closed classes. They must fill out a completely new schedule and resubmit it Jan. 4-6, according to Eddins.

"Students seem to think if just one of their classes is rejected then they must resubmit only that class, but this is not true," Eddins said. "It should be clear that students must resubmit a complete new schedule."

After resubmission of a new schedule, the student will be notified by Jan. 15 if the schedule was approved or rejected.

If the student's schedule is rejected for the second time, he will be mailed a request form for a time card for regular registration.

Police say tracer used

Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. in making the arrests.

Administrative action is to be taken on the alleged violation of the Marshall Student Code of Conduct, Julian pointed out. He said section 13 of the 16-section code deals with bomb threats.

It states students are subject to disciplinary action if they are involved in "intentionally false reporting of a fire, or that a bomb or other explosive has been placed in a University building, or elsewhere on University-owned or controlled property."

Although the men were arrested on state charges, the case could be turned over to federal authorities under a new law which stipulates a penalty of up to five years imprisonment and/or $5,000 fine. This is five times the maximum punishment set forth in a state charge.

It also was reported the matter has been turned over to the Department of Justice in Washington, D.C., by the Federal Bureau of Investigation to determine if federal prosecution will be instituted.

ROSTERS DUE

Intramural Director Buddy Rogers has announced that rosters for basketball and soccer must be submitted early next week. Soccer rosters are due Tuesday. No more than 20 players are to be listed and no less than 15 can constitute the makeup of a team. The maximum amount allowed for basketball is listed as 15 members. The minimum or the amount a team needs to be eligible to compete is 12. These rosters are to be turned in on Wednesday.

PRICHARD WINNER

Prichard Hall No. 2 defeated Twin Towers West No. 4 two games to one in Tuesday nights women's intramural volleyball. In the first game Prichard downed the Twin Towers team 15-10. In the second game Towers came back to take a 9-6 decision. Prichard scored a 14-9 victory in the third game to win the match.

The Highlanders have also recruited the nation's most prolific junior college rebounder in Sam Cash, 6-8 and 240 pounds. Cash averaged 21 points and 23 rebounds a game last season for San Bernardino Valley Junior College.

Fred Goss, 26 year old head basketball coach, also recruited 5-11 guard Dave Walters, who averaged 22.6 points a game for Rio Hondo Junior College.

Returnees for the 1970-71 season are 6-6 forward Howard Lee, who was named Southern California "College Division" Player of the Year in 1970 and averaged 20.9 points a game; 6-1 guard Mike Washington, who averaged 21.1 points a game last season and 6-4 forward Darrell Daniel, 13.4 points per contest.

Virus, adjustments slow frosh starters

By HAL McMAHON
Sports writer

Three starters for the Little Herd may or may not see action Thursday night in the contest with Xavier.

Jerry Stritholt, 6-5 guard from Cincinnati, Andy Frederiksen, 6-9 center from the Virgin Islands, and Lyle Monroe, a 6-7 forward from Ft. Recovery, Ohio, have been nursing a virus according to Head Freshmen Coach Danny D'Antoni.

D'Antoni said that Greg Imperi, Huntington, is having a difficult time adjusting to playing the position of quarterback because of his three years experience at playing center in high school.

D'Antoni feels the fast break is not as good as it could be. He also mentioned that they will need to improve team speed to enable them to get down court to set up the fast break. D'Antoni continued with saying that if they can't develop team speed that they will have to try to slow the game down.

"I hope we will stay well organized and give the effort to win," D'Antoni said. He continued with, "If they stay organized and put out that effort we will win the game."

In last year's clash with Xavier, Marshall lost the first meeting 89-95 but traveled to Xavier later that year to take revenge by downing them 103-100.

D'Antoni blames himself for the loss last year because of his lack of coaching experience. D'Antoni, now with more coaching experience will be prepared to meet Xavier.

Athletic unit works to fill sports posts

"We will work as rapidly as we feel best for the interest of our athletic program," said Dr. Hunter Hardman, professor of mathematics and chairman of the Athletic Committee.

The committee is taking applications for the positions of athletic director, head football coach and sports information director.

All committee meetings are closed and no information will be released other than the final recommendations, said Dr. Hardman.

Joe Wortham, student graduate assistant, has been appointed acting sports information director and Bob Bowen of WSAZ-TV will announce the MU basketball games over WGNT radio.

COLLECTION PLANNED

A special collection for the Marshall Memorial Fund will be taken at the Bowling Green State University home basketball game with the University of Dayton.

Benefit bowl rejected

The Marshall University executive committee has rejected a proposal for a benefit football game to be played by Fairmont State College and East Tennessee University, according to a press release issued after the meeting Tuesday.

The proposal was presented by Joe Wilson of Scott Paper Company who represented a group of concerned citizens interested in promoting the game in memory of the Nov. 14 plane crash which claimed the lives of Marshall football players, coaching staff and fans.

It was decided by the committee that the interest of the University would be better served if the concerned citizens group would turn their efforts to supporting the Marshall University Invitational Basketball Tournament, to be held Dec. 18 and 19. The MUIT this year will be dedicated to the memory of Dr. Ray Hagley and Dr. Pete Proctor, who played key roles in the initiation and development of the MUIT. Both perished in the Nov. 14 crash.

Board replacement delayed

Plans for finding replacements for Marshall plane crash victims Drs. H. D. Proctor, vice-president of the Alumni Association and Ray R. Hagley, president of the Alumni Association were temporarily postponed at the associations regular meeting last Nov. 24, according to Howard B. St. Clair, director of the Alumni Association.

St. Clair said the normal procedure for replacing association members is the appointment of a nominating committee to consider various candidates for the positions. These names are submitted to the association president who will make the final appointments.

The next election of Alumni Association officers will be in May. In other business St. Clair said plans were finalized for the Marshall University Invitational Dec. 18 and 19.

He said early indications point to a financially successful tournament. "This year the tournament will finish in the black instead of the red," St. Clair said.

New services offered to students

Late breakfast idea

Breakfast pastries and coffee are now served in the cafeterias from 9-9:30 a.m., according to Charles Moore, Twin Towers food production manager.

This addition to the regular hot breakfast menu from 6:45-9 a.m. was suggested by the food committee and is now on a trial basis, Moore said. He emphasized that just pastries would be served from 9-9:30 a.m., not a hot meal.

The food committee which meets regularly with cafeteria management was established in cooperation with the Inter-Dorm Council. The committee is composed of 14 dormitory residents, two representatives from each dorm.

"The food committee acts as a liaison between ARA Food Service and dorm students in order to provide service that caters to the specific needs of students," explained Robert Yeager, administrative assistant to the Housing Office.

Students having suggestions, compliments or complaints about food service should contact their food committee representatives.

Changes at WMUL

A free tutoring service is being offered to residents of Twin Towers East during the fall and spring semesters.

James Cunningham, East Bank graduate student, is in charge of the tutoring which is being offered in an attempt to help freshmen adjust to college work.

"Tutoring usually takes quite a bit of time," Cunningham said. "Most of the students wait until the night before a test to get help. This makes it hard for me and the students."

He said students desiring tutoring should come by his room, 816, at these times: 5 to 7 p.m. Monday, 5 to 7 p.m. Wednesday, 2:30 to 4 p.m. Friday and noon to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Tutoring is available in these courses: Chemistry 101-102, "Principles of Chemistry;" Chemistry 103-104, "General Chemistry;" Math 110, "Introduction to College Math;" Math 120, "Algebra;" Math 122, "Plane Trigonometry;" Math 130, "College Algebra;" Math 131, "Calculus with Analytic Geometry I;" Math 220, "Differential and Integral Calculus;" Physics 200, "Introductory Physics," and Physics 201-203, "General Physics."

Free tutoring

A new two hour rock show, a one hour earlier sign on and considerable reshuffling of programs highlight the new WMUL Radio schedule announced today by Tom Tanner, Huntington sophomore, program director.

"We've worked out a temporary schedule," said Tanner, "so as to get the rock shows on the air to fulfill our main obligation of serving the campus audience."

"The rock shows," according to Regis Tucci, Greensburg, Pennsylvania senior, and music director, "will be progressive rock, blues, and a little bit of folk. All types of rock music will be played with the exception of top 40 rock."

"It'll be," Tucci continued, "music you don't hear on local AM radio. Especially those students who enjoy good rock music will enjoy the show."

To allow the rock shows to go on with a minimum disruption of the program schedule, WMUL will sign on at 12:55 p.m., one hour earlier than normal. The rock shows, beginning this week, will be heard from 9-11 p.m. Monday through Friday.

BENDER RECITAL TONIGHT

Sherill Givens Bender, Huntington senior, will appear at 8:15 p.m. Thursday in the Evelyn Hollberg Smith Music Hall in a vocal recital as part of the requirement for the bachelor's degree in music education.

Mrs. Bender, a voice major who has participated in A Cappella Choir and Choral Union, will sing selections by Brahms, Schubert, Debussy, Faure and other famous composers.
