TV-air date set for March

By CHRIS FRASER & PAUL MILLER
Feature Writers

"We've awarded a $1 million contract and it looks like early March is the on-the-air-target date," said Dr. Stephen D. Buell, director of educational radio and television.

The low bid of $996,600 submitted by the Radio Corporation of America, will provide WMUL-TV with broadcast equipment, in addition to the transmitter and antenna, for the studios on MU's campus and at Nitro, W. Va.

According to Dr. Buell, the RCA bid is a "color package," which means that all programming, except live broadcasts, will be in color. "We have four black and white cameras for any live work," said Dr. Buell.

Two bids submitted

Each company submitted two bids, one for a color package, the other for a black and white package.

"When the first bids came in (Ampex Corporation $1,457,892) we were astounded," said Dr. Buell. "It looked like we might have some problems meeting the black and white bids," he said. Dr. Buell was operating under a $1 million budget.

"The bid acceptance has been approved by the West Virginia Educational Broadcasting Authority, with the reservation that two letters be added to the acceptance package," said Dr. Buell.

According to Dr. Buell RCA must agree in writing to extend the final payment deadline to Dec. 31, 1969.

Secondly, President Roland Nelson must state in letter form that Marshall will have the Telecommunications building finished and inspected by the Office of Health, Education and Welfare by the final pay date.

Not included in the bid, but funded separately, are a transmitter building ($40,000), lighting for studios ($22,000), and three translators ($45,000).

Studios located

The university studios will be located in a new Telecommunications Center adjacent to Smith Hall, expected to be completed by December, 1969.

"We have a total local project and non-project fund of $350,000," said Dr. Buell. Non-project funds covers major expenses not covered in the RCA bid.

The Federal Communications Commission granted WMUL-TV the ultra-high frequency channel 33.

Dr. Buell expects the station on-the-air by early March, 1969, transmitting from the 1,067-foot tower to be located at Barker's Ridge.

According to Dr. Buell, the Broadcasting Authority has approved the hiring of Lawrence Broquet as utilization director of WMUL-TV. Mr. Broquet is arriving from Pogo Pogo, in the Samoan Islands, where he taught classes in television and was also the supervisor for the utilization of programming for all the consolidated schools in Samoa. "We were very lucky to get him," said Dr. Buell.

1-18 faculty-student ratio is aim

President Nelson now working on '69-70 budgetary requests

A faculty-to-student ratio of 1-18, instead of the current 1-22 ratio, will be one of President Roland H. Nelson's requests to the 1969 West Virginia Legislature.

Most of the faculty budget requests for the 1969-70 fiscal year will come in the upper two faculty ranks, Dr. Nelson said at a recent interview.

Schedules due soon

"We hope to have all schedules mailed to the students by Friday," said Registrar Luther E. Bledsoe, when asked about the coming semester.

"The fall schedule of courses with the revision sheets will not be available before Sept. 1," he added, "but this will still give students who did not pre-register time to plan their courses."

The reason for the delay was explained by Mr. Bledsoe in this way: "Students who went through advance registration had until Aug. 9 to pay their fees. Some students decide not to return, so when their fees don't come in, we pull their class cards. In many cases, previously closed classes can be re-opened and student cards are reprocessed."

"The schedules can't be mailed out until all fees are processed and revisions made. It is really to the student's advantage to do it this way," he stated.

Fire marshal, 10 frats meet

Ten Marshall University fraternities met with State Fire Marshal Lewis Myles Aug. 14 to discuss why they have neglected to correct 12 delinquencies found during the fire marshal's last two visits to their houses.

Alpha Sigma Phi, Kappa Alpha, Lambda Chi Alpha, Pi Kappa Tau, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Zeta Beta Tau, Pershing Rifles and Phi Kappa Alpha, the fraternities subpoenaed, have set up a cooperative working basis with the fire marshal's office, according to Olen E. Jones, dean of student affairs.

However, the fraternities did indicate, Dean Jones said, to the fire marshal they were making progress in correcting the delinquencies.

Marshal Myles said another inspection by his office would be conducted in the "near future" but declined to set a date, according to the Office of Student Affairs.

The fraternities were notified to keep the State Fire Marshal informed of the progress made on their houses with duplicate copies of the reports going to the Housing Director.

It also indicated that he expected to request more money to buy books for the library and that possibly a request would be made to institute a "school of business."

'Recognition' Is Problem

"The most critical thing Marshall University faces is to gain recognition," President Nelson said, stressing monetary allocations made to MU by the state legislature.

The big problem, he said, was trying to "distribute not enough money."

The administration presently is working on the budget request it will make to the State Board of Education for fiscal 1969-70. The budget then would go to the State Board of Public Works and then to the legislature, which convenes in January.

President Nelson also said that plans are being made for a presidential convocation to be held sometime in September in Gullickson Hall.

Conferring with aides

During the past two weeks he has been conferring with his principal administrative aides and with departmental chairmen as preparatory steps in developing long-range (5 to 10 years) goals for the University.

Concerning faculty recruitment for the current academic year, Dr. A. Mervin Tyson, vice president of academic affairs, said all but eight positions have been filled.

Approximately 65 openings had existed earlier in the year. Twenty-two of these were for new positions.

"The deans and department chairmen responsible for recruitment have done well," said Dr. Tyson.

The breakdown on positions filled will be released in September.

Grads to total 176 in August

Approximately 176 students will be eligible to graduate at the end of August or the beginning of September.

Teachers College has a tentative list of 110 students eligible for graduation in August.

The College of Arts and Sciences has 60 students eligible for graduation.

The College of Applied Science lists six students who will be eligible for graduation at the completion of their term on Sept. 9.

Don't get 'rattled'

DR. N. BAYARD Green captures the recently acquired rattler which escaped from its case during an exhibition fight with a king snake.

Professor plans snake battle, surprised--foes refuse to fight

A western diamondback rattler snake and its "arch-foe," the king snake, have been added to the Biological Sciences Department's snake collection.

Both species are commonly found in the Southwestern part of the United States. According to Dr. N. Bayard Green, professor of zoology, the rattler has a bad temper and is an extremely dangerous animal and has not been placed on display.

He said the snake has fangs almost three-fourths of an inch long and they still contain the poisonous venom.

The king snake has black and gold markings and is of the constrictor type — not poisonous. It can kill poisonous snakes because it is immune to them. This snake is on display in the glass show case in the Science Hall.

The original plan for the photograph was to have shown the king snake and the rattler in combat. The king snake should instinctively have attacked the rattler.

When both snakes were put together nothing happened. Dr. Green tried to provoke the rattler while several students watched.

Dr. Green tried once more, but the rattler escaped from the case and was loose among the group of bystanders.

He quickly got the snake under control and no harm was done. When asked about why there was no fight, Dr. Green said that it was certainly unusual, but the reason might be that this king snake is not native to the same region as the rattlesnake; consequently no aggression was present.

Books to be sold beginning Sept. 11

"Beginning Sept. 11, textbooks will be sold in the Women's Gym," Percy Galloway, bookstore manager, announced. "Books will be sold on the self-service system, as in previous years. This allows quicker handling and fewer lines for the students. This service will continue through Sept. 20 from 8 a.m.-8 p.m. daily."

Mr. Galloway recommends that "students when purchasing books should take as few belongings as possible with them into the Women's Gym."

Mr. Galloway recommends that "upperclassmen wait until a later date to purchase their textbooks as books for all classes have not arrived."

$1 TAX VOLUNTARILY

Negroes dislike some name tags

By JAMES E. McDOWELL
Staff Reporter

Black-skinned students have varying opinions concerning the title they prefer.

Seventy per cent of the students interviewed preferred "Afro-American" and 11 per cent chose "Negro" as their racial title. All black students showed a marked disgust for the label of "colored."

Nadine Warren, Williamson sophomore, preferred "black". She said, "The word 'colored' offends me, and although our ancestors are from Africa, we are not, so the 'Afro-American' relation seems somewhat remote. The word 'black' American suits me best."

Johnny Johnson, Beckley senior, prefers black or Afro-American. "I prefer Black or Afro-American because I can readily relate to these two. But words like Negro, colored, or what have you, are more or less a label handed down by white men. Afro-American or black is a product of our own thinking."

Drema Abram, Beckley sophomore, prefers the name Negro. She said, "I do not care for the name colored because it takes the dignity away from being a Negro. Black, Afro-American and Negro all tie in, but I just like the sound of 'Negro' best."

Don Ross, Huntington sophomore, prefers "Afro-American" or "Black" because we do have some African heritage and Black because for so long we were ashamed of being called black and now we have grown to like it."

Gaynelle Rice, Huntington junior, prefers "Black" or "Afro-American" because she said, "I can identify more with these terms."

Blaine Henry, Cynthiana, Ky. sophomore, prefers "Afro-American". He said, "All the black leaders prefer to be called 'Afro-Americans', and personally I think it is a good way to be called."

Kathy Hayes, Huntington senior prefers "Black" because "Negro" and "colored" are very misleading and 'Afro-American' is a little long for everyday use. 'Black' is direct and simple."

George Stone, Covington, Ky. senior, prefers to be called "Black." He said, 'Black' is my color and that is what I prefer to be called. If they are going to refer to my race by color, I would prefer that they tell it like it is and say 'Black', not 'Negro' which is just a nice way in Spanish to say black."

Sands returns from Europe

By BETTY DUFFY
Teachers College Journalist

Harry Sands, director of Development and Alumni Affairs, recently returned from the Alumni European tour which he co-ordinated.

"The unique feature of the tour," remarked Mr. Sands, "was that I worked jointly with David Tork, assistant director of Development at West Virginia University." The two universities co-sponsored the trip.

The tour included seven countries and lasted 22 days. The group was composed of 13 Marshall alumni and three West Virginia Alumni.

In summing up his feelings, Mr. Sands said "Their philosophy on life is par or maybe even better than ours. It was an enjoyable and educational experience. Something everyone should do is travel abroad."

Growth topic of committees on computer

Three subcommittees to study the expansion of the Computer Center are to be appointed to implement the findings of the existing Computer Advisory Committee, according to Vice-president of Academic Affairs, Dr. A. Mervin Tyson.

The Computer Advisory Committee has been studying the Computer Center in an effort to improve efficiency and extend coverage.

One subcommittee will study the possibility of increased use of the facilities in an academic program. It will consider additional courses in computer science as well as use of the computer in established courses such as chemistry, business, and mathematics.

A subcommittee on long-range planning will be appointed to determine future plans for the growth and expansion of computer facilities.

The third subcommittee will investigate possible sources of outside financial aid for the support of the center. Previously, the Computer Advisory Committee had been interviewing a number of firms interested in the University's computer program.

A previously appointed Budget Committee has been reactivated to consider phasing computer expansion over the next several years.

'Happiness is'--MU exhibit theme at West Virginia Fair Aug. 19-24

"Happiness . . ." This is the theme of the Marshall University exhibit at the West Virginia State Fair, according to Don Foose, assistant director of Alumni Affairs. The fair held at Lewisburg will run Aug. 19-24.

The theme will be carried out with pictures in four major areas: academics, sports, buildings and branch colleges.

Under academics we find a new president, vice president, and dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. Under sports is a new football coach, basketball squad, sports information director, and sports faculty members.

Under buildings will be pictures of the new student center, the James E. Morrow Library addition, the new Twin Towers and married housing complex. Branch colleges contain pictures of the Logan branch and the Williamson branch with their new buildings.

In front of the exhibit will be a scale model of the campus and buildings and also a rack with literature concerning every phase of the University from history to the newest catalogs.

"Last year," said Foose, "was the first time Marshall was represented and people were amazed at its growth. It was very successful with an estimated 225,000 people viewing the exhibit."

This year Foose was pleased with the response of 36 alumni from around the area who volunteered to work at the exhibit.

"We plan to make this a yearly trip," said Foose. He urged anyone planning to attend the fair to stop and see Marshall's "new" look.

Military adds two to staff

The Military Science Department has been assigned two additional staff members, Capt. Calvin S. Wood, Jr. and Sgt. Maj. William R. Vernon.

Captain Wood, arriving early September, is from Boston, Mass. He has served three years duty in Germany, one year in Vietnam, and two years at Fort Knox, Ky.

He graduated from Northeastern University, Boston in 1962 with a B.S. degree.

Captain Wood and his wife, Judith, have a one-year-old son Daniel.

Sgt. Maj. William R. Vernon will arrive for duty Sept. 1.

He is from Belton, Tex., and has been in the service for about 21 years.

He has served in Berlin, Germany, Korea, Fort Hood, Tex.

Sgt. Maj. Vernon and his wife, Jimmie, have six children, five girls and a boy, ranging from six to 17 years of age.

FREE MEETS MONDAY

A general meeting of FREE (Freedom and Racial Equality for Everyone) will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in Campus Christian Center.

Freshman Weekend plans are completed

Plans for freshman weekend have been completed, according to Jane Clay, Charleston senior and president of the student body.

Karen Lofland, Weirton junior and coordinator of Freshman weekend, said in a student government meeting last Thursday that freshman weekend will be held Sept. 13, 14 and 15. There will be a concert Sept. 13, a breakfast before the first football game on Sept. 14 and a dance that evening featuring the Majestics.

According to Miss Clay, Paula Cyrus, St. Albans junior and co-ordinator of freshmen elections, is finalizing plans for freshmen elections which will be held in October.

Leadership seminar, which is under the direction of Donna Canterbury, Madison junior, will also be held in October said Miss Clay.

Bob Gregg, Huntington senior, is head of Departmental Liaison which will place one student in each academic department to act as a coordinator between students and the faculty in each department.

Marcia Ellis, Madison junior, is coordinator of Parents Weekend. Plans have not been released as yet.

Linda Dorsey, Brownsville, Tex. senior, is in charge of homecoming elections.

Before classes begin in September, three students representing the student government, will speak to the Teachers College faculty, said Miss Clay. The topics to be discussed will be: "What Students Expect From Their Years at Marshall" and "Goals of the Student Government."

Final plans for activities will be completed in September, according to Miss Clay.

Pershing Ruffles will join national organization soon

The Pershing Ruffles, a drill team for girls, is joining the Capers (Coed Affiliate of the Pershing Rifles) this year, according to Ruth Ann Cornell, captain of the team. Capers is a national organization for coeds of Pershing Rifles.

The Capers unit from Ohio University will come to Marshall this fall to initiate them into the organization. By becoming a member of Capers, the Pershing Ruffles will be recognized by all Pershing Rifles units throughout the United States.

Members of the Pershing Ruffles wear blue uniforms, which are provided for the girls. However, by joining Capers, national decorations and ribbons will be added to their uniforms. Also, the girls will be wearing the national braid.

To become a member of the drill team, girls must have a 2.0 overall average and be a second semester freshman or upper classmen.

Student Court role is eyed by prosecutor

By SHARON DILLON
Teachers College Journalist

To many students, the Student Court was an unimportant arm of Student Government until last Spring's election. The court then became the scene of hearings concerning the disqualification of Frankie Cummings, Huntington senior, and alleged voting irregularities.

Jim Slicer, Huntington senior, is court prosecutor. He is the first prosecutor since the 1966-67 administration of Larry Bruce. Under Bruce, Bill Evans served as prosecutor.

According to Slicer, Evans recommended that the post be abolished because there was no real need for it. Last year's election hearings provided a need for a prosecutor and Mike Farrell, the then student body president, acted as legal representative of the Student Government.

The function of the court prosecutor, according to the Student Government Constitution, is to "interpret the provisions of the Constitution in accordance with its stated purpose and general intent when an interpretation is requested by a majority vote of the Senate transmitted through the president of the Student Body."

Slicer says that his position is also "to represent Student Government in all cases brought before the Student Court."

According to Slicer, there are three types of cases concerning students: (1) student disciplinary cases; (2) student grievances initiated against Student Government, and (3) grievances initiated by Student Government.

Student disciplinary cases involve some breach of University policy. In these cases the student may choose to be tried by either a faculty court, a student-faculty court, or the Student Court.

Cases involving grievances against Student Government or cases brought by Student Government are tried only by the Student Court.

Slicer says that there is a need to have rules and regulations and student rights well defined and there is a need for people who can help students when they get into situations in which disciplinary action is needed.

Slicer feels that the most important thing about his job is to know and understand the Constitution.

Fashion show set Sept. 13

The Fourth Annual Panhellenic Fashion Show will be held Sept. 13 in Old Main Auditorium. There will be a showing at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Women from each sorority will model 63 outfits from the Smart Shop and AB's Factory outlet. The fashions will include sportswear, lingerie, and ready-to-wears such as coats, suits, and formal wear.

Tickets are 50 cents and may be obtained from any sorority member. The money will be used for charity.

There will be door prizes furnished by the Smart Shop and AB's and the sorority girl that sells the most tickets will receive a gift.

Coordinators for the program are Joanne Chapman, Huntington senior, and Gail Kelsey, Huntington junior.

Rush by sororities begins Sept. 11; changes in procedure announced

By CAROLINE PENLAND
Staff Reporter

Panhellenic Council has announced several changes in the formal rush by Greek sororities this fall, according to Barbara Farrell, president and Huntington senior.

Rush this year has been cut from the original two weeks to one.

"This will help freshmen get better oriented to school and take up less of their class time," said Miss Farrell.

Other changes in fall rush include open house being held on Saturday instead of Sunday, the girls being limited to the number of third party invitations that they can accept, and students registering not only in the upstairs of the Student Union but also in the dorms.

Also, Panhellenic members plan to deliver bids to the coed's home instead of having the rushees pick their bid up in the Student Union.

Activities for rush will begin Sept. 11. Women who wish to participate in the formal rush must register either in the upstairs of the Student Union or in their dorms.

Registration will be open from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Sept. 11-14. A rush fashion show will be held Sept. 13. Open house will be held for all rushees Sept. 14. Coke parties will be held from Sept. 16-18, three parties a day.

Preference slips must be signed at the office of Mrs. Lillian Buskirk, dean of women, Saturday morning, Sept. 21, between 8-10:30 a.m. There is no way to receive a bid if a preference slip is not signed.

Bids go out Sept. 22 after 1 p.m.

Silence must be observed immediately following the third parties and will continue until bids are delivered.

The rules of silence require that rushees cannot speak to any active member or pledge of a sorority, but they can speak to others. The reason for this rule is to prevent attempts to recruit sorority sisters.

A $2 fee is required at registration and eight billfold size pictures.

Phaseout set at Lab School for 3 grades

The 10th grade will be eliminated from Marshall University's Lab School this year and the 11th and 12th grades will be phased out during the next two years, according to Prof. Phil Suiter, director of the Lab School.

The Lab School, made up of grades 1-12, is supervised by the Education Department and financed by the University, whose decision it was to eliminate the top three grades.

Professor Suiter, who takes office as Lab School director Sept. 1, said he wasn't the director at the time the decision was made, but he believes that "the Lab School wasn't large enough to meet the teacher education needs of Marshall."

He added that this is a movement in a new direction for teacher education at Marshall whereby the department will become "more clinical" and the Lab School "is needed for experimental purposes."

He emphasized that there has been no decision to completely phase out the Lab School. A study will be made this fall to determine more specifically the future of the school.

Dean Jones to review decision on Sig Eps

Formal review of the Sigma Phi Epsilon charter has been scheduled for this week, according to Olen E. Jones, dean of Student Affairs.

This final session will help Dean Jones to decide whether the fraternity charter will be returned to local chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Whether Sigma Phi Epsilon is reinstated on campus, Dean Jones and Dr. Ray Hagley, president of the Alumni Advisory Council, plan to attend the National Sigma Phi Epsilon Academy (convention) in Memphis, Tenn.

The Sigma Phi Epsilon was removed as a local chapter last spring on a recommendation of Dean Jones for a hazing violation.

The fraternity violated the code set by the West Virginia Board of Education, National fraternity regulations, and the University policy concerning hazing, according to Dean Jones.

"All Greeks nationally have said that hazing, both mentally and physically, should be avoided," said Dean Jones.

Dean Jones hopes to make a

Majorettes set for grid season

Marshall's majorettes are getting ready for the 1968-69 football season.

This year the spectators will notice a new look to the majorettes. They will be performing in new uniforms, according to Beverly Gwilliams, Huntington junior.

The girls will be marching in the first home football game with Morehead State University on Sept. 14. They are scheduled to go to the away games at Ohio University and Bowling Green State University.

The majorettes are under the direction of Robert Clark, assoc. professor of music and director of the University band. Beginning the week of Sept. 9 the majorettes will practice from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., according to Mr. Clark.

decision by Monday before going to the academy.

The Alumni Advisory Council now holds the Sigma Phi Epsilon charter.

To prevent future incidents concerning the treatment of pledges, a workshop on pledge education which will outline treatment of pledges, is planned for this fall.

"I think the Greek system as a whole is realizing that hazing is not a mature action for college students and that they are re-evaluating their efforts in this direction, Dean Jones said.

'Freshman Count-down' coming

By CATHY THOMAS
Teachers College Journalist

Ten, nine, eight, seven, six, five, four, three, two, one . . . count down . . . freshman count-down . . . Sept. 13.

"We are trying to encourage freshmen to return earlier in the fall to become familiar with Marshall's campus and to get acquainted with what there is to offer them as students," said Karen Lofland, Weirton, junior and coordinator for "Freshman Count-down."

"The name "Freshman Count-down" was chosen because of the space age in which we live and we wanted a name that students would not identify with freshman orientation. We actually hope to make it a more informal gathering than that of freshman orientation," said Miss Lofland.

The committee for "Freshman Count-down" has planned many activities. Among the planned events will be what Miss Lofland termed a "buffalo hunt." The students will be instructed to track down such items as the school's yearbook, the Student Handbook, a football schedule, a copy of The Parthenon, and other campus publications and information.

By doing this the incoming students are able to meet different representatives of campus life and discuss with them briefly the functions and purposes of each publication and information center.

A name group will play for a dance to be given Saturday evening on campus. The freshmen are invited to attend the first football game of the season Saturday afternoon. It is hoped that all students will turn out in full strength.

Small group discussions are being planned for the students in the dormitories. This is to help the students feel more relaxed and further understanding of Marshall and their classmates. Two cheerleaders are hoping to visit with each coed dorm to give them an informal idea of what school spirit is like. In the men's dorms it is hoped that coaches will be on hand to talk about the different opportunities and roles that sports plays on Marshall's campus. Dorm skits are also being planned.

Sunday is set aside for the students and their parents. Information booths will be set up informing them about the church or synagogue of their choice, places to have dinner, golf courses, and of course the school's own facilities for tennis and swimming. Sunday night there will be a President's conference for tennis and swimming.

It is the dream of Miss Lofland and her committee Rocky George, Huntington sophomore, Barbie Jones, South Charleston senior, and Betty Waller, Huntington junior, to help freshman realize that this is a "time to unpack and meet new friends and look forward to the new and exciting life at Marshall."

Police to recruit MU men

By DONNA HERALD
Feature Writer

Huntington Police Department and Marshall University have joined forces to recruit students for the police department.

According to Placement Office Director Robert P. Alexander, men will be interviewed who would like to work as policemen while attending Marshall and possibly continue after graduation.

Chief of Police G. H. Kleinknecht said they were interested in men between the ages of 21 and 35 who would like to take classes during the day and work the evening or night shift. The men will work 40 hours a week and the starting salary would be $5,500 a year.

Lt. T. T. Barr said the United States has 54,000 fewer policemen than it should have, and Huntington has 17 less.

Besides being a high school graduate, the applicants must weigh at least 150 pounds and be 5-8. They will have to complete a training course before starting work.

They answered the question, "What's it like to be a police officer?"

Chief Kleinknecht and Lieutenant Barr replied, "Adventure? yes, indeed. Also long hours, hard work, and responsibility. Our customers are citizens of Huntington who like having the police around; however, we must also deal with the thieves, criminals, and law violators who dislike having the police around.

"Our call is to take a life when necessary to protect the citizen and ourselves. To give our own life, when necessary, to protect the citizen or enforce the law. To save a life. Our associates are addicts, thieves, bums, winos, gamblers, bootleggers, girls who can't keep an address and men who don't care.

"Our heartbreaks are underfed kids, beaten kids, homeless kids, molested kids, sick kids, dying kids, and even dead kids. The old people that nobody wants, the relievers, the pensioner, the ones who are cold and walk the streets, and those who tried to keep warm and died in a $3 room with an unvented gas heater.

"It is a lonely profession and one that is frequently misunderstood. But where, other than in the police profession, can you choose a career that has a front row seat to the greatest show on earth — admission free?"

Anyone interested should contact Mr. Alexander, Old Main, Room 114.

FOCUS '68 slated for October 14-18

"Sex ethics and involvement in social issues will be the topic of the speakers thus far obtained for FOCUS '68," said Jim Slicer, Huntington senior and co-ordinator for the Christian Center sponsored activity slated for Oct. 14-18.

"Prentice Pemberton and William Stringfellow have already been obtained."

Tentative speakers include Dr. William Lynch: "How can a person maintain his identity in a computer society?" Andrew Young, executive head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and Sen. Mark Hatfield, who will explore the political responsibility of the

Activity fees are explained

In 1965 fulltime students paid $40 student activity service fee. With a $6 increase for health services the activity fee raised to $46 last year.

A breakdown of the student activity service fee shows: athletics, $7.50; ID card, 25 cents; student government, $2; assembly and forums, $1.50; health service, $6; Chief Justice, $2.25; Artist Series, $3.75; course fees, $8.60; debate, 15 cents.

Others are: WMUL, 25 cents; University Theatre, 50 cents; The Parthenon, $3; and Student Union, $10.

According to Richard D. Vass, treasurer, Business Office, "Receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, totaled $572,153.54, and expenditures for the same period amounted to $748,611.48."

However, he explained that certain departments received additional funds, "Athletics received gate receipts, while The Parthenon had advertiing income."

"The University Theatre and the Artist Series program received outside patronage for their needs," said Mr. Vass.

The total of fulltime students for the 1967-68 were: second semester, 1967 summer term, 1,677; first semester, 1967-68 fall term, 5,850; second semester, 1967-68 spring term, 5,479; and first semester, 1968 summer term, 2,336.

The fiscal year began July 1, 1967 and closed June 30, 1968.

church and Christian oriented society.

"FOCUS '68 is being planned to bring influential speakers to the Marshall campus, but also to allow the campus a means of deciding for itself the answers to the questions of religion and theology posed our society," said Slicer.

Rev. George L. Sublette, observer for the program, commented: "American society, not excluding the University, seems to be looking for an integrating and motivating factor. I believe that a vital practiced and intelligent religious faith offers real possibilities here. We hope to bring into focus the problems and tentative solutions to the crucial problems of the American people."

The FOCUS coordinators, Jim Slicer, Lorene Shreve, and Stephen Fair, plan to schedule two speakers in each theological importance (personal, social and political) with the hope of producing a program similar to IM-PACT for which Slicer also co-ordinated.

Congressman Arch Moore has pledged his support for FOCUS '68 week in a telephone conversation with Slicer.

Non-MU housing no longer OK'd

Off-campus housing can no longer be designated as "university approved," according to Olen Jones, dean of student affairs.

The University policy concerning off-campus housing, as passed by the Student Conduct and Welfare Committee, states that the University may provide the students with information about available off-campus housing. The University will not designate any housing not owned by the University as "university approved."

Property owners offering housing facilities for students must have on file with the University housing director a signed non-discrimination agreement. The agreement requires the property owner not to discriminate on the basis of race, color or creed.

After the student is shown this list, he is informed of the policy concerning off-campus housing.

Combat veteran joins MU staff

S. Sgt. Malcolm H. Van Dyke II arrived at Marshall Aug. 13 for duty as administrator of non-commissioned officers in the Military Science Department.

Sergeant Van Dyke is from Buffalo, N. Y., and has been in the service for nine years. He has had tours of duty in Germany, Dominican Republic during the 1965 revolution, and in Vietnam from July, 1966, to July, 1967. He has had 17 combat missions.

ROBERT ALEXANDER, director of the Placement Office, examines a partially charred letter addressed to him which was being carired aboard the ill-fated Piedmont airliner which crashed Aug. 10 at Charleston's airport killing 35 passengers and crew members.

Teachers College sets meeting with students

By IRIS HUDSON
Teachers College Journalist

"What do you expect from your instructor?" and "What do you expect from your four years at Marshall?"

These, along with goals of Student Government, are topics to be presented by students to the opening session of the Teachers College faculty meeting Sept. 9.

This faculty meting is an annual all-day orientation meeting of each college with its deans and faculty. Its purpose is for announcements, going over new materials, adviser instruction and to discuss new projects and problems of the year.

Student Government initiated this student group and with the cooperation of Robert Hayes, dean of Teachers College, hopes to produce a beneficial program.

The students participating in the faculty meeting will include Jane Clay, student body president, and two or three other students who will present the topic concerned. These students will be selected by Miss Clay in the next two weeks.

"This program provides an opportunity for students and faculty to have a meeting of the minds on problems of a communicative nature," commented Dean Hayes.

The program is expected to help both students and faculty. Students will have a chance to air their feelings about academic work and curriculum in specifics, not generalities. They will be able to make known their ideas on curriculum, and what they would like to see happen. The faculty will gain insight into what ideas students have about Marshall, or about college expectations on academics.

"It is my intent to continue the discussion in the area of academic concern with students. During the year 1968-69, we will have a Dean's Council on Academic Affairs." The council will be made up of interested students that will express student ideas, in hopes of further benefiting student and faculty.

Hopes dim for floats

By DAVID LAFFERTY
Feature Writer

There may be no floats for Homecoming 1968, even though the Inter-Fraternal Council has voted to revive competition, said Thom Keeney, Huntington junior and homecoming coordinator.

At present, judging is set for house decorations and sign competition only. According to Keeney, the downtown merchants haven't responded sufficiently to requests for aid in the construction of floats.

The float competition was dropped two years ago because of lack of funds and seemingly during Homecoming Week, according to campus sources.

When asked if classroom demands would interfere with homecoming, Kenney replied, "With the help of the administration and the faculty and with students budgeting their time, homecoming can be carried out successfully."

According to Keeney, "The Tams", a Negro singing group whose current record "Be Young, Be Foolish, Be Happy" is receiving national recognition, have been booked for Friday night Oct. 25.

Also, he said that in an effort to make Homecoming 1968 "unmatched" several well-known groups are being considered with the idea that whoever is chosen for Saturday night's dance "there will be no let down."

INSURANCE PLAN

Information concerning student insurance was mailed Friday to all students. The student plan is underwritten by Pilot Life Insurance Company and is a service of the Student Government handled through Raymond Hage Insurance Company of Huntington.

'Home' arrives for Dr. Dedmon

Sunday morning at 6:50 a.m. Dr. Donald Dedmon's furniture arrived in Huntington. Dr. Dedmon, dean of Arts and Sciences, was in his office working on the budget and could not be found until 9 a.m.

When he was finally located, the budget was forgotten as he enthusiastically urged the movers on.

Not only the arival of the furniture but also that of his wife and two daughters made his new house really a home.

Lemley 'going strong'

Averages .255 for farm club

By SANDY KARBONIT
Teachers College Journalist

Former MU baseball player, Bob Lemley, Huntington, senior has signed with the Cincinnati Reds and is now playing with a farm team, the Sioux Fall Packers, in South Dakota.

Lemley is a second baseman and has a batting average of .255.

According to Lemley, he had one home-run, seven doubles, and one triple. Although not a power hitter, he leads off in batting because of his ability to get on base.

He is playing in a Northern League which consists of six teams in Class A ball. The Sioux Fall Packers are presently in first place with a season record of 31 wins and 18 losses.

The second baseman has played in every game, except one; it was the middle of the season and the manager gave him a night's rest.

Lemley said he likes playing everyday — it keeps him sharp, in condition and enables him to hit the ball better.

He was asked to play winter ball in Florida but declined. He will return to MU to complete his schooling. He will student teach in the fall and graduate with a degree in secondary education in January.

Lemley reports for spring training in March.

Players to arrive

The 1968 Thundering Herd grid candidates will arrive tomorrow to greet the all-new MU coaching staff.

"I am as anxious as anyone to get underway," Moss stated in an interview. "And I am sure we are going to see some stiff competition for positions." Moss said he expects to win some football games despite last year's 0-10 record.

After equipment issue tomorrow and Saturday, the team will meet the press, T.V., and radio on "Press Day" on Monday.

Socha makes cut

"He really wants to play football, so what he wants, I want." That was the comment of Mrs. Sofia Socha, Steubenville, Ohio. Andy Socha, former MU football star is now trying to break into the pro ranks with the Washington Redskins.

As the football season draws near, the Redskins have played three exhibition games. Socha has played in all of these games on the specialty teams. He has played in the Houston Astrodome and, last week, against the Baltimore Colts, he played the entire fourth quarter in the backfield.

Tickets available

Season football tickets are now available to faculty members and their immediate families at a 50 per cent reduction from the regular price.

Tickets may be purchased at the MU ticket office in Gullickson Hall 8:30-4:30 Monday thru Friday until the week of the first game on Sept. 14.

Students wishing to purchase guest tickets for home games may do so at the ticket office for $2.00 a ticket.

Moss disagrees with news media

By DAVID DAVIS
Sports Writer

Head Football Coach Perry Moss doesn't agree with the sportswriters and broadcasters in the Mid-American Conference who last week picked the "Thundering Herd" to finish last in the conference this year.

"I really don't think we are going to finish last in the MAC this season," Coach Moss told The Parthenon. "If we do finish last, I will really be disappointed."

Sportswriters and broadcasters who covered the MAC at a meeting in Columbus, Ohio, last week picked the Bobcats of Ohio University, who shared the MAC grid title last year with Toledo, to take the crown this year, while putting MU at the bottom.

The vote was the feature of the annual MAC press preview. It was the biggest such affair in MAC history. Thirty-four newspaper and broadcasting newsmen from the three states represented in the conference were present.

Coach Moss said he feels the news media is making its predictions on last year's records. He said a few injuries to some key player of the top teams could change the picture considerably in the upcoming season.

"As you know being in last place gives you quite an advantage," said Coach Moss. "If we can pull some games out it would really be a victory and a real loss to some of the favorite teams in the MAC."

"I feel we have some fine football players. Our boys are in good spirits and if we can keep our team intact our fans are going to be in for some fine football games and some of the better teams could fall by the wayside," he added.

Following Ohio in the voting were Miami, Toledo, Bowling Green, Western Michigan, Kent State, and Marshall.

Frosh football players to begin grid practice

By DAVID LAFFERTY
Sports Writer

The MU freshman football players will meet on Friday, Aug. 30, one week after the varsity reports to campus.

Freshman coach Pete Kondos is expecting one of the largest squads in the history of MU, perhaps as many as 50 prospects from "almost every state east of the Mississippi."

Among a number of outstanding first year men is Ted Shoebridge, 6-1, 195 pounder from Lyndhurst, N. J. Shoebridge, one of the outstanding high school quarterbacks in the country, was offered more than 90 college scholarships before signing with MU.

Art Harris, 6-0, 205 pound halfback from Passaic, N. J., was also highly sought after.

Others who will brighten the freshman team outlook are Larry Sanders, 6-2, 195 from Druid High School in Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Jim Sly, 6-5, 220 from Iaeger, W. Va.; Stacy Poullard, 6-0, 178 pounder from Crowley, La., who scored 20 touchdowns last year as one of the fastest backs in the country and Ron Mikolajczyk, a 6-4, 250 pound tackle from Passaic, a teammate of Art Harris.
