Coach Elated By Victory Over Falcons

"This is my biggest victory since I came here!"

It was an elated Coach Ellis Johnson that made this statement after his Thundering Herd five had downed Bowling Green last Saturday night, 79-74.

"I've said all along that when my sophomore guards gain some maturity we'd be all right," Johnson said.

He said that chances for possible shot at the MAC title are improving since they beat the Falcons.

"Our chances have to look a lot better when we beat the pre-season favorites on their own court," he said.

"Toledo looks like the team to beat now," Johnson said. "But you should take into consideration the fact that they've played seven of their nine games at home, and even though they beat Bowling Green, that's only a 20-mile trip for them."

Johnson praised the team effort that led to the win.

"It was strictly a team effort," he said. "What a mature team needs is poise, composure and confidence. We showed just that against Bowling Green. It was the same type of ball we played in the second half against Eastern Kentucky."

Johnson praised one of the outstanding players in the last three games—big George Stone (6-7) from Covington, Ky.

"That George is terrific," Johnson said. "He has very few turnovers while he gets his quota of rebounds, assists, and points."

In the last three games, Stone has netted 29, 27, and 28 points, respectively. He is the team's leading scorer with a 22.5 average per game. Bob Redd follows with a 17.8 average.

"It just takes time to develop a mature ball club," Johnson said. "Even when D'Antoni (Danny D'Antoni, sophomore guard from Mullens) steals the ball, it's a team effort. He has to have the confidence that someone will pick up his man if he loses him. This type of stuff takes experience."

DZs Get OK On New House

A French provincial country manor will be the prevailing theme of the new Delta Zeta sorority house.

Official consent to begin construction was recently given to the sorority by national headquarters.

The house will accommodate 40 girls and will be located at the corner of 17th Street and Sixth Avenue.

Soundproof study rooms will be provided and washers and dryers will be available in the basement.

"The theme of a French provincial country manor will also be carried out in the interior decorating," said Betty Kessler, St. Albans senior and Delta Zeta house manager.

Construction on the house is to begin in June and is to be completed by the second semester of the 1967-68 school year.

'Winter Weekend'?

Constitution Study Slated By Senate

The proposed Student Government constitution, which failed to receive the approval of the student body earlier this year, has been placed in a committee for study and revision, according to Dave Frost, student body vice-president.

Frost said that he has been working with the Parliamentary Affairs Committee in an attempt to present a constitutional reform to the Senate before the present administration goes out of office this spring.

"It seems that we are trying to establish a new constitution just for the sake of change," said Frost. "This will continue to be my opinion until someone can show me beyond a doubt that we actually need a constitutional revision." Frost said that although he does not believe a revision is necessary at this time, he will continue to work with the committee in order that others may express their opinions on the subject.

Impact '67 is in the planning stage. Prospective speakers being contacted include Dr. Helen Gurley Brown, author of "Sex and the Single Girl," Hugh Hefner, editor of "Playboy" magazine, and Al Capp, syndicated columnist. At this time replies have not been received, Frost added. Impact is an annual spring event which features well-known speakers, fireside chats, and panel discussions.

The Chief Justice for 1965-66 is being given out by the Chief Justice staff in their office on the second floor of the Student Union, Frost said. Students have been coming to the Student Government office asking where they can pick up last year's annual. "We regret that the Chief Justice staff is not keeping the posted office hours, but that is not in the domain of the Student Government, and annuals cannot be obtained in the Student Government office," Frost concluded.

The majority of the Senate meetings next semester will be rotating meetings, to be held at various places on the campus. Exact locations and dates will be announced at a later time, said Frost.

The possibility of a Student Government sponsored "Winter Weekend" is still being investigated by the Senate, according to Frost. The weekend has been tentatively scheduled for February or March, pending Senate approval, said Frost.

"If the weekend is approved by the Senate," Frost added, it might include a dance at the Field House, or various other social activities still in the planning and investigatory stage."

4 DUE ON TV

Four education majors are scheduled to appear on "John's Almanac" on WSAZ-TV at 7 a.m. Saturday. They are Larry Triplett, Clay sophomore; Sharon K. Wells, Palestine junior; Janet Reed, Chester sophomore, and Charles M. Williams, White Sulphur Springs sophomore.

Record Signup Totals 4,500

Marshall University has set a record with about 4,500 students pre-registering for the second semester. This year's number of pre-registering students has topped previous years when 2,800 to 3,000 students pre-registered, according to Luther E. Bledsoe, registrar.

With the increased number of students pre-registering, a problem developed when many of the students' schedules were rejected by the computer. Many of the rejections were caused by errors in the schedule itself, unknown courses (those not in the class schedule), failure to list a full load of courses, closed classes and failure to list alternate classes, said Mr. Bledsoe.

Those students whose schedules were rejected are to follow the regular procedure of registering by filling out a request slip (on page 3 of the Schedule of Courses for the Second Semester) and turning it in to the Registrar's Office. Registration date is Jan. 27-28.

Mr. Bledsoe said that students whose schedules were rejected will have a better chance to receive the classes requested by paying their fees early.

A list of closed classes is now being prepared and may be released by Jan. 23.

Resources Center Receives $216,000

A federal grant of $216,000 has been made available to the Resources Demonstration Center.

The grant was made Dec. 15 through the Office of Education in the Department of Health Education and Welfare.

The Center plans to use the grant to provide personnel in order to meet the objectives of the organization.

"We hope to employ 11 staff members to be specialists in the fields of math, science, social studies, art, music, language arts, health and physical education" said Bernard Queen, assistant professor of education and director-co-ordinator of the Resources Demonstration Center.

The purposes of the center are to provide supplementary educational services to the counties of Boone, Cabell, Logan, Lincoln, Mason, Putnam, and Wayne, and to assist classroom teachers by making available to them the latest materials used in new teaching methods.

An Editorial

$6.1 Million Approved; Only $600,000 To Go!

Only $600,000 to go!

That's how our school's 1967-68 budget stands today. President Stewart H. Smith requested that the State of West Virginia give us $6.7 million this time around; the Board of Public Works last week approved our getting $6.1 million. That's pretty good but we still have one more big hurdle to jump.

The problem of our additional $600,000 now goes to the State Legislature . . . and they convened for a 60-day session in Charleston at noon today. These gentlemen can send our budget bill back to the Board of Public Works as it is, they can lower our appropriation (heaven forbid!) or, hopefully, they can find some more long green collecting cobwebs in the bottom of the state's till and raise our budget to its requested level of $6.7 million.

We think we deserve all our president has asked. For the first time in our 129-year history, Marshall has students representing all but one of the 55 West Virginia counties. Eighty-seven per cent of our student body are West Virginians. Our enrollment jumped 14.5 per cent over last year—a terrific increase—and current full-time enrollment already exceeds next fall's projection.

Marshall has many needs—from more night watchmen to a four and a half million dollar science and engineering building to a separate board of governors to oversee our activities and finances and help coordinate West Virginia's higher education system with a proposed State Board of Regents. We can get all these and much more that our University so desperately needs . . . if the Legislature will try to fully see our side of the picture this time around.

President Smith was so right when, in his recent all-University Convocation to explain Marshall's plight, he said we've had bad financing "since time immemorial." But with a little boost from the lawmakers and final approval by the Board of Public Works, Paradise may be the next station on the line for us.

Letters To The Editor

To The Editor:

The gift of hindsight is not an uncommon virtue. No one, alas not even I, is immune to a good "I told you so" story. Here's mine:

During the winter of 1965 I conceived the idea for a literary-sociological magazine to be called "Appalachian Review" which I felt would greatly enhance the reputation of Marshall "Yoohoo," (as we sing at basketball games). Jesse Stuart thought it was a good idea. Ray Brewster thought it was a good idea. Then Vice President Walker thought it was a good idea.

Bolstered by these opinions, I approached President Smith with the idea. As I recall, it was about the time that everyone was excited about getting a new layer of dirt for the intramural field. To make a short story shorter, the idea ended there as far as Marshall is concerned.

But, word gets around. This summer a new literary-sociological magazine called "Appalachian Review" appeared from West Virginia University and is being distributed nationally. It is doing quite nicely, thank you. As a matter of fact, rumor has it that the magazine is in the black after only two issues.

I might add that the magazine was not started with university funds. (You know, the money that WVU gets that Marshall doesn't.) Proving once more, gentle reader, that it ain't always what you've got. It's how you use it. Pax Indisiduous Societas.

JERRY BOWLES, '65,
Morgantown, W. Va.

To The Editor:

This past year the Student Senate presented a completely new constitution for our school. This new document updated our Student Government in almost every aspect. With the exception of the "junior clause" being amended, the constitution was unanimously ratified by the Senate. On Oct 19, the student body rejected the proposed constitution by a vote of 533 to 792.

Up to this time the proposed constitution was the most publicized and controversial topic on campus. This was largely due to the fact that the Senate was constantly working on the constitution and the Parthenon was giving excellent coverage to the students. It is interesting to note that between Oct. 28, and Jan. 11, there has not been one mention of the proposed constitution in Senate or in the Parthenon. The Senate has convened eight times since the defeat of the constitution and never once has the assembly made an attempt to notify the Parthenon or the student body on the progress that is being made in regard to our new Constitution.

The preceding information raises two questions of momentous importance to the student body. (1) Has the Senate let the proposed constitution become a "dead issue" in a committee? (2) How can the Parthenon keep the students explicitly informed on the document if the Senate is not going to release its progress reports? The success or failure of our modernized constitution, whenever we vote on it again, will depend solely upon the student body rationally and intelligently understanding the document.

Another year has now slipped by and it is still hard to believe that Marshall University has functioned under the constitution of Marshall College for six long years.

MEETING SLATED

A meeting of the student branch of the Association for Childhood Education will be today at 3 p.m. in the cafeteria of the University Laboratory School.

Rotary Club Gives $1,000 Scholarship

DON MORRIS, CHAIRMAN of the Rotary Club Loan Committee, presented a $1,000 scholarship to George Fraley, (center) financial aid officer, and President Stewart H. Smith at the Rotary Club meeting last Wednesday. The scholarship is made up of donations by Rotary Club members. By being awarded this scholarship, Marshall is eligible for federal matching funds of $9,000, Mr. Morris said.

Field House Parking Is Discussed

By BECKY FLETCHER
Staff Reporter

If Marshall continues to win its basketball games, parking spaces at Memorial Field House will become even harder to find.

City Traffic Engineer Earl Duff said that he has not yet received specific complaints about the lack of parking space around the Field House. Fans at some of the games have been forced to park in the private lot of St. Mary's Hospital. Others have received tickets for illegal parking.

Mr. Duff, who makes recommendations to the City Council about parking areas, said that even if additional off-street parking places were provided, the problem would not really be solved.

"Only five cars can park for every 100 feet of curb," he said. "Many of the streets around the Field House are too narrow to allow parking on both sides. The Fire Department requests that certain lanes be kept open for emergency travel. If the parking problem at the Field House becomes severe, I would recommend a shuttle service to the Field House from area parking lots."

Sears Roebuck and Company has announced that the west side of its parking lot may be used for spectator parking. The Ohio Valley Bus Company has made no plans to run a shuttle service from the Field House to the parking lot. However, the idea is under consideration.

One shuttle service provided by the bus company is already in action. The Green Arrow bus gives students and faculty direct transportation to and from the Field House for all home games. Leaving from the University cafeteria and 18th Street, Green Arrow buses provide regular service from 6:30 to 7:45 p.m.

Sam Samworth, Huntington senior and son of the Ohio Valley Bus Co. president, said, "We are happy to provide this service for University students. To enable us to continue it throughout the basketball season, we hope that students will support this service by using it each home basketball game."

Until something is done to alleviate the parking situation, Mr. Duff advocated the use of the Green Arrow buses which should at least cut down the number of cars students take to the games.

The City Police Department has said that regardless of the lack of parking spaces, it will continue to ticket those who park in prohibited areas.

Constitutional Revision Group Includes Smith

President Stewart H. Smith has been asked to serve as a member of a committee to work for constitutional revision and for a constitutional convention for West Virginia.

Dr. Smith was invited to attend a meeting in December, 1966, by Mr. Earle L. Elmore, managing director of the West Virginia State Chamber of Commerce. After the meeting, it was decided to form the group into a committee. Named as chairman of the committee was David L. Francis, chairman of the board, Princess Coals Inc., Huntington. From this group a steering committee was formed with Dr. Smith named as one of the seven members.

The purpose of the committee is to inform the citizens of the state of the need for constitutional revision and the desirability of having a constitutional convention.

"It is planned to introduce a bill into the Legislature which will make it possible to hold a constitutional convention sometime during the year to discuss constitutional revision," said Dr. Smith.

Gov. Hulett C. Smith will ask the legislature to repass the same bill passed last year with a change in the portion declared unconstitutional. The State Supreme Court threw out a 1965 act because the membership for the convention was not apportioned in keeping with the one-man, one-vote principle.

Members of the steering committee met with Governor Smith to discuss the question of constitutional revision and a constitutional convention. They have asked Governor Smith to call a meeting in Charleston of government officials, leaders of civic and social organizations, representatives of business and industry and leaders of educational institutions to discuss the proposal.

MU To Challenge Bobcats Tonight

Herd Seeks Third Win In Conference Action

The Thundering Herd invades Athens, Ohio, tonight to play the Bobcats of Ohio University. Marshall was a 70-68 victor over OU in the first meeting of the two Mid-American Conference foes Dec. 18 in Memorial Field House.

OU Coach Jim Snyder told The Parthenon Monday he feels the Herd is an improved team.

"They are much better than they were prior to Christmas vacation," said Coach Snyder.

Snyder said inadequate rebounding and a 27-point scoring performance by the Herd's Bob Redd were important factors in OU's first loss to Marshall.

The Bobcat coach said his starting five tonight is still a question, with only 6-8 forward Fred Cluff, 6-9 center John Schroeder and 5-10 guard Mike Hammond assured of starting roles.

The other two starters, said Snyder, would come from 6-3 forward Russ Hamilton, 6-3 forward Jerry McKee, 6-3 forward Larry Coon and 6-1 guard Marshall Hatcher.

The Herd will be going after its third MAC victory of the year tonight against one loss. The Herd whipped Bowling Green, 79-74, last Saturday in Bowling Green (see story page one) after rolling past Eastern Kentucky, 112-83, at home last Wednesday.

After trailing 41-39 at the half, the Thundering Herd came on strong against Eastern behind the sparkling performances of Danny D'Antoni and Jim Davidson.

D'Antoni, 5-11 sophomore guard from Mullens, scored 20 of his 22 points in the second half and riddled Eastern's offense with timely steals. Davidson continued to play his consistent brand of basketball by leading the Herd in rebounding (14) and scoring, 23 points.

In the second half the Herd outscored, outrebounded and out-fought the Colonels. George Stone, 6-7 junior forward, had one of the finest shooting nights of his career. He made nine of 15 from the floor and shot 2-2 at the foul line to score 20 of his total 27 points in the first half.

On defense, Bob Allen and Redd provided the Herd with tremendous second efforts. Allens grabbed 13 rebounds and scored seven points, while Redd added 17 and nine assists. Redd's passes to Davidson under the basket proved to be one of the game's major turning points.

Commenting on the Herd's performance, Coach Ellis Johnson said, "We sure needed a game like this one."

"I wish I knew what happened," was Johnson's remark about the Thundering Herd's 73-point second half.

"They just seemed to jell," Johnson said, "and they played real tough defense."

When asked if the run-away game was the result of hard holiday practice sessions, Johnson said he didn't think so.

"We worked on the same thing we have been doing since the first of the season."

Johnson also said the victory looked like it might pull Marshall out of its slump.

MEETING SCHEDULED
The Young Republicans Club will meet at 3:15 p.m. tomorrow upstairs in the Student Union. John S. Callebs, assistant professor of social studies, will be the speaker for the meeting.

Four Sign Herd Grid Grants

Charles Snyder, head football coach, has announced the signing of four prospects for the 1967 football season.

Three of the players are from Huntington High School and the other from Boyd County High School near Ashland, Ky.

From Huntington are Steve Gore, an end on this year's Pony Express, Ron Dick, a fullback, and Jim Willey, a two-way tackle. Gore was named to the third-string all-state team this past season, and Dick received honorable-mention honors.

The last recruit, Roger Stuart, was a tackle for the Boyd County team and was named to the North-eastern Kentucky Conference team this season.

The coaches have been busy the past few weeks trying to sign new players for the '67 season.

Each coach is assigned an area to scout in West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Pennsylvania and Virginia. The five coaches then begin scouting players in pre-season practice and during the regular season. If possible, a film is obtained of the player and the coaches analyze the prospects through these films. One of the problems in recruiting players according to defensive backfield coach, Larry Coyer, is finding players who meet Marshall's academic standards.

Coach Chancey Quits MU Staff

Charles Chancey, offensive back-field coach for the Thundering Herd, has resigned his position to accept the job as head coach and athletic director at the New Meigs Local High School in Pomeroy, Ohio.

The 1960 Marshall graduate said he hates to leave, but that this is a challenging job with a good financial offer.

Just before joining the Herd staff, Chancey was named South-eastern Ohio Athletic League Coach of the Year in 1964 while at Pomeroy.

In 1965 Chancey coached the defensive backs and was shifted to offense this season.

Charlie Snyder, head football coach, said he will begin accepting applications immediately for the job vacated by Chancey.

ORVILLE STEPP, 6-0 junior forward from Inez, Ky., pumps in another two points to boost the Herd in its 112-83 victory over the Eastern Kentucky Colonels last Wednesday. Eastern had the Herd in foul trouble early, and in the last few minutes of the first half, Coach Ellis Johnson sent in the reserves. The Herd saw a seven-point lead evaporate and found itself trailing by three at the half.

Team Win Is Lauded

With Stone's shooting, Allen's rebounding, Redd's defense, D'Antoni's flashy steals and Davidson's flawless free throwing the Thundering Herd presented its most impressive showing of the young season against the Falcons.

After a rugged first half Marshall went into the locker room down by three points, then once again came out to prove the second half to be their best.

Stone started the second period hitting from the corner and the Falcon lead was cut to one. He then followed up with another 27-footer over big Walt Piatkowski to put MU on top again. Stone held Piatkowski to 20 points covering him man-to-man most of the game.

Marshall, once again missing free throws, was caught by Bowling Green which took the lead at 59-57. But Marshall bounced right back with buckets by Redd and Davidson to go ahead to stay 61-59.

Marshall spread its lead to six while shutting out the Falcons for almost four minutes. As time began to run out Marshall stalled successfully while sinking 13 of 15 free throw attempts and was able to halt a Falcon comeback.

Stone ended with game honors of 28 points followed by Davidson with 24, Redd with 12, D'Antoni with 11 and Allen with 3.

Marshall's victory brought it into the number three position in the MAC standings with a 2-1 record.

Undefeated Toledo is 3-0 and Western Michigan is 1-0 in the MAC. Marshall has an overall record of 7-3.

DO YOU WANT . . . MONEY FOR FUTURE FAMILY RESPONSIBILITY?

If you're like most young men, marriage will probably be your next big step. And marriage means increased responsibilities. It's a good idea to start building a cash reserve now to provide for those future family responsibilities. A life insurance program started now, when rates are lowest, offers a unique solution to this problem. I'd like to discuss such a program with you at your convenience.
