Cagers Comment On Tomorrow's Game

By TIM BUCEY
Sports Co-Editor

With the most important game of the season scheduled for tomorrow night against the Toledo Rockets, the Thundering Herd cagers are confident they will be up to the task.

Even though Toledo has defeated Marshall once this year, the Herd feels that having played them earlier will be an advantage in tomorrow's game.

"We didn't play a very good game against them last time (Dec. 17), but we'll be ready Saturday," Bob Allen, 6-9 junior center, said. "Since they've beat us once, the psychological advantage is ours."

Allen had nothing but praise for Steve Mix, the 6-6 sophomore center for the Rockets. He's a good strong boy and has a left-handed hook that seems to just float up to the net. It's almost impossible to stop."

Toledo defeated the Herd by a 103-93 score but Jim

Davidson, 6-3 guard from Logan, commented, "Toledo wasn't really that good the night we played them, but we didn't play defense."

"We weren't used to playing together the first part of the season," the big sophomore added, "but now we're working well together."

Davidson was the spark in the first game against Toledo as he led the Herd with 25 points. George Stone, Covington, Ky. junior and leading scorer, had 20 points and Orville Stepp accounted for 18.

Besides Mix, the cagers will also have to contend with John Brisker, the 6-4 forward who scored 28 against the Herd in December.

Besides Mix, the cagers will also have to contend with John Brisker, the 6-4 forward who scored 28 against the Herd in December.

"Brisker gave us a lot of trouble when we played them," Orville Stepp, 6-0, Inez junior, said. "They have him shooting most of the time while the others crash the boards."

"This is, of course, a big game," Stepp added. "If we can beat them I think we'll be on our way. The way we've been looking lately we can beat them, but we'll have to play good ball."

Allen also had some predictions about the MAC final turnout. "If we can get over Toledo, we'll be in the driver's seat for the title. The roughest part of Toledo's schedule is still to come. They have eight conference games left and four are away, but Marshall has seven conference games left, and only three are away."

Davidson agreed that Toledo's winning streak is partially because most of their games have been at home. "When you go on the road anything can happen," the sharp-shooting guard added.

Twin-Towers, U Center Plans Ok'd

Board Approves Eddins As Assistant Registrar

The West Virginia Board of Education has approved the appointment of a new staff member at Marshall University, and cleared the way for financing a twin-tower dormitory and university center for students.

Robert H. Eddins will serve as assistant registrar. Eddins has been teaching in Kanawha County, W. Va. and Middletown, Ohio for the past nine years. He received his B.S. degree from West Virginia University in 1958, and his M.S. from Marshall in 1962.

He takes the post held by Raymond Cumberledge, who has joined the staff of the University of Kentucky.

The board approved final plans and specifications for the construction of twin-tower dormitories and dining facilities; and granted authority to the university to advertise for the sale of revenue bonds in the amount of $11,000,000. The funds would be used for building a university center, and married student housing, and to make renovations, repairs and additions to Laidley and Hodges dormitories.

The board further cleared the way for Marshall University to advertise for bids on these projects, following the sale of the bonds.

Don Morris, director of the Student Union and chairman of the University Center planning committee, has announced that Dean and Dean Architects have been employed to draw the plans for the University Center.

Although the plans have not been completely finalized, Mr. Morris said, the committee has approved the facilities which will be included in the approximately $3 million structure.

They are:

1. A combination dining room-ball room;
2. A snack bar;
3. Bookstore;
4. Post Office;
5. Information desk;
6. Ticket office (to sell tickets for all University Functions except sports);
7. Two lounges, one main and the other for small receptions;
8. A hat-and-coat check room;
9. Six meeting rooms of various sizes;
10. Student government offices, yearbook and alumni offices, and offices for the new University Center Board;
11. Eight bowling lanes, a table tennis area, and a billiard area with 10 to 15 tables;
12. A poster room to make "uniform posters" for different campus organizations;

Construction Has Been Approved

PLANS FOR the construction of twin-tower dormitories and dining facilities have been approved by the West Virginia Board of Education. Final plans and specifications were approved along and authority was granted to the University to advertise for sale of revenue bonds in amount of $11 million for building of additional housing and additions to present dorms.

Administrative Cabinet Approves New Academic Suspension Rules

New regulations governing academic probation and suspension for academic reasons have been approved by the Administrative Cabinet and will go into effect this semester.

"The regulations have been changed," said Dr. J. Stewart Allen, vice president of academic affairs, "to clarify several obscure rules and to improve our overall regulations."

Quality Points Changed

One of the big rules that was changed governs the quality point deficiency of students who have been enrolled for more than one semester and who have earned fewer than 75 semester hours with a deficit of 11 or more quality points. Formerly, these students were placed on probation. The new rule now stipulates that a student enrolled for more than one semester and who has earned fewer than 75 semester hours will now be placed on academic probation when he has a deficit of 10 or more quality points, a raise in the academic standards.

Must Show Improvement

Another clause that has been changed, and that will work in connection with the rule stating that a student on academic probation may carry a full class load, stipulates that a student on academic probation must either earn a 2.0 average on all courses taken or show marked improvement in academic performance to be taken off probation.

"A student on academic probation who does not earn a 2.0 average may still be taken off probation if his academic dean thinks that he has shown marked improvement in his work," said Dr. Allen.

May Request Re-admission

A change in the rules governing suspension from the University says that a student who has been dismissed may request re-admission after a full fall or spring semester. Dr. Allen stressed that a summer session will not count towards the re-admission of the student.

After second dismissal from the University because of academic failure, a student can request re-admission only after the lapse of a full calendar year or such greater length of time as designated by his academic dean.

A rule that was not printed in the law list but that will also take effect this semester governs seniors applying for graduation while on academic probation. Beginning this semester, no student may apply for graduation if he is on academic probation.

Dismissal Date Changed

Academic standing of students will be determined at the end of each semester. However, Dr. Allen said, dismissal for academic reasons will not be made until the end of the second semester of both the regular and summer sessions.

"This will permit those who are on academic probation to pre-register and carry a normal class load. This rule was primarily passed because a student who has already begun second semester classes does not have a chance to enroll in another institution or to find employment. This rule eases the hardship on the students," Dr. Allen stated.

Resignation Is Announced By Dr. Wotiz

By G. MICHAEL LEWIS
Staff Reporter

Dr. John H. Wotiz, professor of chemistry and chairman of the department since 1962, announced his resignation Wednesday effective in June.

Dr. Wotiz said he had been offered the chairmanship of the chemistry department at the University of Montana. Dr. Wotiz said Montana has an established program at the Ph.D. level and that he would receive an increase in salary at Montana.

The chemistry department at Montana, added Dr. Wotiz, has a larger staff and greater budgets than MU.

"I want to wish the University and the department here the best of luck in its development," said Dr. Wotiz, who was born in Czechoslovakia and is a Ph.D. graduate of Ohio State University.

Letter To The Editor

To The Editor:

A high Student Government official, during the Senate meeting Jan. 11, stated that a new constitution was not needed at Marshall University.

My previous letter to the editor raised the question of what progress the Senate has made concerning our proposed constitution, which has been in a committee for three months and six days.

In regard to my letter, this official stated that eight reasons were required for a constitutional change. The following eight statements are weaknesses and flaws of our present constitution: 1. The apportionment of the Senate does not give equal representation to all students, which in reality defeats the major purpose of the Senate. 2. The structure of the executive branch is too specific, making it necessary to amend the constitution for minor changes. 3. There is no logical co-ordination among the various campus judicial bodies. 4. The qualifications of candidates are too strict in some areas and too easy in others. 5. There is no sound and clear method outlined for amending the constitution. 6.

There is no guarantee that the Student Government cannot deny students the privileges they pay for to keep their government running. 7. The organization of the Constitution is illogical and redundant. 8. The language of the Constitution varies from one place to another, thus making interpretation difficult.

The present administration has promised us a new constitution by the end of its term in March. It will tentatively run along the same lines as the proposed constitution that we voted on last fall. I'm sure the Senate will take into consideration the preceding eight loopholes of our present constitution and make sure history doesn't repeat itself.

Two of the major purposes of Student Government are to provide effective representation of the Student Body and furnish a communicative link between the students and administration. To do this it must have a strong foundation around which to base its work. A durable and elastic constitution is a chief prerequisite for a strong and efficient student government.

Move To Get Joint Grad Center In Kanawha Said 'Going Good'

Efforts to get a joint Marshall University-West Virginia University graduate center in the Kanawha Valley are "going good," Dr. J. Stewart Allen, vice president of academic affairs, said Wednesday.

Dr. Allen and Dr. John R. Warren, dean of the Graduate School, were to have met with WVU officials after Parthenon press time Wednesday in a continuation of discussions concerning the joint center.

The MU and WVU officials also were to have met with the West Virginia Association of University and College presidents in an attempt to enlist that association's aid in organizing the center.

At present, the officials from both institutions are exploring ways and means, at the administrative level, of engaging in the joint center.

A bill to give Marshall authority to cooperate with West Virginia University and other state colleges in the establishment of such a center was introduced in the legislature recently.

The measure was offered in the Senate by Sens. C. H. McKown, D-Wayne, and Lyle A. Smith, D-Cabell.

"It would be foolish to consider a larger graduate center in the Kanawha Valley without taking Marshall University into consideration," said Bruce M. John, director of West Virginia University's Kanawha Valley Graduate Center in Charleston.

Gov. Hulett C. Smith has indicated that he would like to see a graduate center established in the Kanawha Valley, possibly operated jointly by Marshall and West Virginia University.

TRYOUTS SET

Tryouts for the University Theatre production of "The Winslow Boy," written by Terence Rattigan, will be Monday and Tuesday at 3 and 7 p.m. in Old Main Auditorium. Tryouts are open to all students.

Fellowship Study

Fellowships to study at the Universities of Alabama, Kentucky, and Tennessee will be offered to students interested in public administration in government.

Candidates must be American citizens who have completed a bachelor's degree with any recognized major by June, 1967.

For information and applications, students should write to Coleman B. Ransone, educational director, Southern Regional Training Program in Public Administration, Drawer I, University of Alabama. The deadline for submitting applications is March 1, 1967.

MOVIE TONIGHT

The movie at 7:30 p.m. today in the Student Union will be "The Rounders"—in color and cinema-scope. Henry Fonda, Glen Ford and Sue Langdon star. Student Union Manager Don Morris said attendance at the last movie was "close to 200." He hoped this turnout would be repeated.

Proposal To Draft Women Creates Various Reactions

Several prominent people have recently advocated a universal draft—including women. Campus leaders had differing reactions to the proposal.

Student Body President Larry Bruce, Huntington senior, said, "I'm in favor of a universal draft for men incorporating all branches of the armed forces and social services such as Vista, but not for women."

Bruce said he was definitely not in favor of drafting women and added, "It's bad enough to interrupt a man's life."

Jane Sterne, Pt. Pleasant senior and president of Laidley Hall, said that if we are going to be completely fair, women should also share responsibilities.

Jobs In Service

"I don't think the draft itself is too democratic," she said, "but I don't think women will be drafted for a while." She added that women are going into many fields now and that there would probably be jobs for them in the services.

For West Hall President Susan Noyes, Dunbar senior, the first reaction to the proposal was, "Oh

SAEs To Begin Construction On $225,000 House

After two years of planning, construction will begin next month on the new Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity house. SAE president Dave Giffen, Wheeling senior, said that the approximate cost of the new house will be $225,000.

According to Giffen, bids are now coming in for the new house to be located at 1401 Fifth Ave.

The state fire marshal caused some delay because of inadequacies in the building plans, said Giffen. However, these have been corrected.

Giffen said that the brothers of Sigma Alpha Epsilon hope to move into their new quarters by December or January.

Facilities include 20 two-men rooms, living room, library, office, study, kitchen, house mother's quarters and dining and dance hall combination.

During World War II, Dr. Wotiz was commissioned an officer in the Army Chemical Corps and engaged in research and chemical intelligence.

From 1948-1957, he taught at the University of Pittsburgh, where he left with the rank of associate professor. In 1957, Dr. Wotiz joined the Diamond Alkali Co., Painesville, Ohio, working in research. He came to Marshall in 1962.

Dr. Wotiz is the author or co-author of 57 scientific papers and 33 patents. He is a member of the American Chemical Society, Society of Sigma Xi, American Association of University Professors, American Bridge League and the Unitarian Universalist Church.

The chemistry department staff will meet with President Stewart H. Smith tomorrow to set up a committee to begin the search for a replacement.

"I think there are excellent persons in the department who would lead the department in its future development," commented Dr. Wotiz.

"We're all very regretful and sorry to hear of the resignation of our chairman," said Dr. John Holland Hoback, professor of chemistry.

GAINS PROMOTION

George M. Curry is the newly-appointed promotion manager of WSAZ radio and television. Mr. Curry, formerly of Holden, is a graduate of Marshall University. He has been on the staff of WSAZ-TV since 1958.

ARLENE ROUSH, Letart senior, is among 200 students competing for a graduate fellowship at Michigan State University. Miss Roush, an English major, would be eligible for a $4,000 grant for each of three years in graduate study.

Parking Remains Campus Headache

There seems to be no remedy in sight for the Marshall student's parking problems on or around campus, at least until next semester.

According to Steve Szekely, superintendent of building and grounds, all parking permits, except a few which are reserved for South Hall residents, have been sold.

Mr. Szekely also said that parking in the new facilities under the Academic Center will not be ready until next semester.

Also, there will be no immediate changes in the street regulations around campus, according to Capt. Earl Duff of the Huntington Police Department.

Captain Duff said that the reason no action has been taken recently on the problem, such as permitting four-hour zones, has been because of the bad weather.

Captain Duff said, however, that when weather permits action will be taken to ease the parking problem.

gosh! Drafting women! What's next?"

She said that a lot of women are "running around aimlessly in life who don't know what they want to do" and that the draft might be good for them, "but I don't think they should take women out of homes or postpone marriage."

Not In Favor

"I'm definitely not in favor of it," Miss Noyes insisted, "I'd hate to think that our country would resort to it."

Pat Noterman, Cincinnati, Ohio, junior and former president of Prichard Hall, said that women aren't fit for most jobs in the armed services.

"The population keeps expanding and there will never be such a shortage of men so that they'll need women to fill the jobs," said Miss Noterman. "With push-button warfare in the future, the numbers of men in the armed forces will be cut down, so I don't think they'll ever really need to draft women."

No Real Need

Rita McCollough, S. Charleston senior and president of Panhellenic Council, said, "I'm against it." She added that she "really hadn't given it much thought. I wouldn't like to be drafted myself."

Sophomore Class President Jane Clay, Dunbar, said that she hadn't thought much about it and didn't wish to make any comments.

Freshman Class President Tom Keeney, Huntington, expressed confidence that there was a sufficient number of women in the armed services already. He didn't think women would ever be drafted "because I'm an idealist and I hope at some point the situation will be such that there will be no need for huge armies, and certainly no need for an army of women."

Clark Named Program Director Of WMUL For Spring Semester

By SAMUEL YATES
Staff Reporter

Dave Clark, Huntington junior, will serve as program director of WMUL-FM, University station, this semester.

Clark will be assisted by Fred Coon, Barboursville senior, who will be station manager. News director will be Jim Slicer, Huntington junior.

Other staff positions will be filled by Bill O'Brien, Beckley sophomore, sports director; Bob Wilkins, Huntington junior, classical music director; Dave Thompson, Dunbar freshman, librarian; Carla Thompson, Huntington sophomore, continuity director; Mike Rooney, York, Pa., junior, special program director; Ramey Barker, Logan junior, public relations director; Roy Castle, Huntington junior, traffic director; and John Preston Smith and Jerry Buttler, Huntington seniors, production directors.

A new program, "Night Life," is being planned for students. Broadcast time will be from 10-12 p.m., Monday through Friday. Clark said the program would be similar to "Monitor" and "The Tonight Show." Interviews and other special events will be a feature of the show.

Saturday night will feature "Off the Record," a program featuring the music of Johnny Mathis, the Lettermen, Herb Alpert's Tijuana Brass and Connie Francis.

WMUL will have a broadcast Fridays at 4:30 p.m. with faculty members and special guests. This program is still in the planning stage, said Clark. Another new feature will be the broadcasting of all home baseball games.

"The WMUL staff is looking forward to a fine season," said Clark. "We will be playing for the students, covering campus news and sports events."

What Did I Do To Deserve This?

HOURS OF WAITING seem to be an integral part of registration as students wait to pick up or drop classes in Old Main Auditorium for the College of Arts and Sciences.

South Hall Dorm's President Resigns

James R. White, Scott Depot junior, resigned Wednesday as president of South Hall Association.

Following White's resignation, Lynn Lewis, Dunbar sophomore and vice president of the dorm, assumed the presidential position.

Lewis also resigned from the post and the position was then to be passed to the Moderator of the Representative Assembly. This conflicted with the dorm's constitutional clause which states that the president shall be an upper-classman and shall not hold another position.

Presidential duties were then given to Carl Rose, Stony Bottom sophomore, who held the secretary's position.

Scholarship Fund

"The Hugh D. and Elizabeth G. Stillman Scholarship Fund" has been presented to Marshall as a retirement gift to Hugh D. Stillman, Appalachian Power Co.'s retiring division manager.

Contributions for the fund have thus far exceeded $2,000. The fund was raised from donations by division employees and the executive staff at Roanoke. The scholarships are to be provided for the children of Huntington division employees, to be awarded on the basis of tests administered by Marshall.

Students Won't Leave Lines For Fire Alarm

By SAM NEAL
Staff Reporter

At 8:45 Tuesday morning, Old Main was hit with the fifth false fire alarm within a year. Hundreds of students standing in line for over an hour to make schedule changes refused to evacuate the building saying they would lose their place in line.

A university staff member said, "I feel neglect is a main factor in the number of false alarms turned in from Old Main." "I also feel," he continued, "that the cry-wolf aspect plays an important part, and constitutes the real danger. It is a fact that the students are becoming indifferent and apathetic toward the alarm."

Upon investigation, it was revealed that Tuesday's alarm was not an actual false alarm. The Huntington Fire Department knew the alarm was going to be tripped, and in fact was on the phone with Buildings and Grounds when it went off.

According to Steve Szekely, superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, workmen were disconnecting Old Main Annex from the central alarm system, and when the wires were cut, the alarm was triggered.

Questioned about the fact that no one in Old Main knew there was going to be a false alarm, Szekely said, "There wasn't time to notify the people in the building. The contractors want to raze the building as soon as they can, and there was no time to get the word to the people in Old Main."

Huntington Fire Chief John Gallagher said that he felt the students were not to blame for not leaving the building. Chief Gallagher said, "We feel fortunate when we can get the faculty and students to evacuate any building."

"I personally feel," he said, "that the faculty set a bad example for the students." He continued: "Sometimes a faculty member will come strolling out of a building during a fire drill as much as three or four minutes after the rest of the personnel have evacuated."

"I'm sure if the members of the fire department were given an opportunity to talk with members of the faculty at an assembly about the dangers of delay, then they would get cooperation."

Committee Will Study Class Cuts

Mike Farrell, Huntington junior and commissioner of academic affairs, announced that a committee to study the University class cut will be appointed by Student Body President Larry Bruce, Huntington senior.

Members of the committee are to be selected from areas of campus activity rather than solely from the student Senate, said Farrell. This method of selection will allow better representation of the various opinions on campus rather than just the opinion of the Student Government.

Committee members will be selected from the dormitories, IFC, and Panhellenic Council, said Farrell. "This should give us a good cross section of the campus."

Bruce will announce names of the appointees at next Wednesday night's Senate meeting. The committee will work with Dr. Stewart Allen, vice-president of academic affairs. Farrell said that he hopes the committee will have a recommendation to make to the administration by the first of May.

The committee will submit a report to President Stewart H. Smith and Dr. Allen which may be referred to the Administrative Cabinet and possibly faculty recommendation.

Dr. Mary Calderone has been invited to be the guest speaker for the April 13 "Impact 67," according to Farrell. Dr. Calderone is presently executive director of the Sex Information Educational Council of the United States. She formerly has served as president of the Planned Parenthood Society of America.

Impact will be a one day program beginning this year, said Farrell. Formerly the program has been extended over a week, but has been shortened this year because the students tend to lose interest in the prolonged program, Farrell explained.

The program will begin with a lecture by the featured speaker, tentatively scheduled to be held in Old Main Auditorium. Following the lecture, a series of fireside chats will be held at various locations on campus. The speaker will visit each of these sessions to allow students to personally discuss questions with the visitor.

STEEL BEAMS ARE hoisted into place atop South Hall, (picture at left), which is gaining four additional floors under present construction plans. The bright orange beams stand out against the sky as another visible sign MU is expanding. Sparkling in its newness, The Academ Center stands in contrast to Old Main Annex, designed years ago as a temporary building, but still in use until this semester. The annex is due to come down as soon as possible.

The building, which should be started by late fall, will be located on Fifth Avenue between Elm and 17th Streets. The structure is expected to occupy approximately 100,000 square feet.

Old Main Annex, which was built as a temporary structure during World War II, will be torn down beginning Monday, according to Bill Taylor, construction superintendent of the Southeastern Construction Co.

Taylor said it would take three days to tear the building down and to clean up. The work crew will be using end-loaders and cables to pull the Annex down.

The remains of the construction will be loaded onto trucks and hauled away.

After the Annex has been demolished, the work crew will begin excavation for the driveway to the underground parking lot, which will be located where the Annex now stands.

The new addition to the James E. Morrow Library definitely will not be completed by September as originally planned, according to Harold W. Apel, librarian.

"The men have been making good progress on the new addition, and it should be completed by the end of this year," stated Apel. "They have almost finished pouring the roof, which will lessen the chances of work being slowed by bad weather."

32nd Annual UHSP Congress Expects 500 Student Delegates

The Journalism Department will host about 500 delegates for the 32nd annual United High School Press congress March 3-4.

Meeting with UHSP delegates will be the West Virginia Journalism Teachers' Association and the United High School Yearbook Association. It will be the 27th annual meeting of the teachers and the 14th convention for the yearbook association.

The two-day UHSP congress will feature workshops, seminars and business sessions for the three organizations. Critiques of high school newspapers will be conducted by members of the University Journalism faculty, and critiques of yearbooks will be conducted by representatives of the American Yearbook Co. and by James Martin, University director of information and publications.

Entries in newspaper and yearbook rating competition are now being received by the Department. Deadline for submitting newspapers and yearbooks for judging is Feb. 17. Deadline for advanced registration is Feb. 28.

The Huntington Publishing Co. will host a noon banquet March 4 at the Hotel Pritchard. Following the luncheon, delegates and their advisers will return to campus for the presentation of rating awards in the Journalism Department's judging competition.

New officers of UHSP, UHSYA, and WVJTA will be introduced at a buffet dinner that evening in the University Cafeteria.

Other activities planned for the delegates include a movie followed by a dance March 3 in the Student Union.

The congress was founded in 1927 by W. Page Pitt, professor of journalism and former chairman of the department. Last year 532 delegates and their advisers attended the March convention.

The Sports Corner

Tomorrow night the Thundering Herd basketball team faces its biggest challenge of the season and one of the school's biggest test in many years. Ellis Johnson's cagers tackle the undefeated Toledo Rockets, the Mid-American Conference pace-setter.

Another Memorial Field House sellout is expected to be on hand to see if the improving Herd can derail Coach Bob Nichols' hot-shooting Rockets. MU must win if it plans to overtake Toledo, 5-0 in MAC action. A loss would all but eliminate the Thundering Herd's chances for its second MAC cage title in history.

Toledo has mowed down 14 straight opponents this season including victories over the likes of Villanova, St. Bonaventure, Marquette, and Notre Dame. Conference teams who the Rockets have beaten are Miami, Bowling Green, Kent State (twice), and MU.

Pacing the way for Nichols' crew has been 6-6 sophomore sensation Steve Mix. Mix, who plays center, is the Rockets leading scorer and rebounder. He's the man the Thundering Herd must stop.

Rounding out Toledo's probable starting unit are 6-4 sophomore John Brisker and 6-3 senior Bill Backensto at forwards and 5-10 soph John Rudley and 6-2 junior Will Babione at the guards. Giving added support are top reserves Bob Miller, a 63 soph forward, and Don White, a 6-1 junior guard.

While Toledo has been the surprise of the MAC with its tremendous start, MU has not done so badly itself. The Herd brings a 11-5 record into the showdown after dropping Western Michigan Monday, 73-61. The victory over the Broncos pushed the Herd's conference mark to 3-2 and put the final touches on tomorrow's crucial encounter.

After opening with three victories, the Thundering Herd lost three of the next four before appearing to find itself. MU will take a four-game winning streak of its own into tomorrow's battle.

The four-game winning streak has come against no easy competition. After punishing St. Francis College on Jan. 14, 101-83, Johnson's chargers then proceeded to thump always-tough Loyola of Chicago, 97-81 (top-ranked UCLA beat Loyola only 15 points Saturday, 82-67), hand Florida State its first home loss of the season by a score of 77-71, and beat MAC contender Western Michigan.

Two of the big reasons for MU's latest surge have been the outstanding play of 6-9 junior center Bob Allen and 5-11 soph middleman Dan D'Antoni. The other three starters, 6-7 junior forward, George Stone, 6-3 junior forward Bob Redd, and 6-3 soph guard Jim Davidson, have also played large parts in what seems to be the Thundering Herd's growing-up period.

Allen, after a slow start, has come on like a wildman. In his last three games, the Port Huron, Mich., performer has grabbed 20, 20, and 15 rebounds, respectively, and leads MU in rebounding with 193 for a 12.1 average. The two 20-rebound games were against Loyola and Florida State while 15 came against Western Michigan. Improvement like this and hustle has brought a smile on Johnson's face.

Likewise, D'Antoni opened slowly but has been coming on strong. The little Mullens playmaker is averaging 12 points per game, fourth highest on the squad.

Stone continues to punish the nets. The lanky Covington, Ky., star has poured 259 tallies through the hoops for a 22.4 average and has sunk 59 of 72 free throws for a 81.9 average. Both of these are team leaders, while in rebounding Stone is third with 152 grabbed off the boards for an average of 9.5.

Redd and Davidson have continued their steady performances. Redd, the Louisville, Ky., ace, is runnerup to Stone in both scoring and free throws. He has dropped in 285 tallies for a 17.8 average and has made 89 of 118 free throws for a 75.4 average.

Jumping-jack Davidson is averaging 17.4 on the season on 279 points produced and has grabbed 163 rebounds for a 10.2 average. The Logan performer has taken much of the rebounding pressure off Allen and Stone.

Other Thundering Herd players who have helped are 6-0 soph guard Dallas Blankenship, 6-1 junior defensive player Parkie Beam, and 6-0 junior guard Orville Stepp. These reserves have stepped in when needed and did the job for Johnson.

These players hold the key to the Thundering Herd's chance of up-ending Toledo tomorrow. A win for MU would enhance the chances of Johnson's first winning season in four years at Marshall and also pave the way for the school's first winning season since the 1957-58 team.

Marshall's Only 5-Letter Athlete Recalls Past; MU Future 'Great'

By JAMES CAMPBELL
Sports Writer

Throughout the years, Marshall has had its share of great athletes. One of these is George Queen—believed to be the only five-letter man ever to graduate from Marshall.

Queen, who is now teaching at Man Junior High School in Man, W. Va., entered Marshall in 1921. He graduated from Man High School where he was the first student to enroll there and the first to graduate from there.

During his college career, the native Logan countian lettered in five sports including football, basketball, baseball, track and tennis.

He played the guard position in football and basketball; alternated between catcher and second base in baseball, and ran the 880-yard dash, mile and two-mile in track. With the exception of football, he was team captain in all of these sports.

Queen was brought into competitive track in an unusual way. The Marshall track team found itself in need of a distance runner, so the coach approached the young athlete.

"I told him I didn't know a thing about distance running," Queen said. "When I asked him about setting a pace, and the strategy of winning, I was told the only way to win was to get in front when the gun sounded and stay there," he added.

"Logan," as he was often called, has many fond memories of Marshall. "I can remember when there were only three buildings on campus—Old Main, the old gymnasium and Northcott Hall," he said. He also recollects that there were only 365 college students enrolled here during his stay.

Queen credits a great deal of his athletic success to Jerome Van Meter and Hall Stutz. "These were two great men," he said, "who were there to help you at all times."

He also remembered some of his college coaches including John Stewart, Bill Strickland and Russ Meridith. The names Briggs, Barnes and Sutton also rank high in his memory.

MU grants many scholarships each year to deserving athletes, but "Logan" remembers a quite different situation.

"When I was here they gave you from $25 to $50 for each sport you lettered in," he said, and then jokingly added, "Tuition was only $7.50."

The five-letter man was also active in campus social life. He was a social member of Zeta Phi, and was given an honorary membership to Kappa Alpha two years after his graduation.

Queen graduated in 1925 and since then has taught virtually everything in high school except home economics.

His first position was at Hurricane High School where he assumed football, basketball and baseball coaching positions following his graduation.

"I was uncertain about the job," he said, "so I thumbed to Pt. Pleasant to see Coach Van Meter. I didn't think I had the ability to coach, but he advised me to start then and even offered to play his football squad against mine."

He accepted the job and took his young squad to Pt. Pleasant where, after a stiff battle, they suffered a 13-9 loss.

After a two-year stay at Hurricane, Coach Queen moved to Maldon, which is now DuPont, where he coached for two years. Next he went to Man where he became head coach in six sports.

He coached "Hillbilly" squads to many outstanding seasons during his 22 year stay before finally leaving the coaching world.

Queen, however, has never neglected MU sports.

"Since I graduated, I have seen at least half of Marshall's home games," he said. "I am interested as an alumnus in Marshall athletics and MU overall," he added.

In comparing today's teams with those of the past, he said, "Teams are better disciplined and there is more interest overall because sports fill a larger scope in college life."

It's 21st Season For MAC Cagers

The 1966-67 basketball season is the 21st for the Mid-American Conference.

MAC basketball began in 1946 with only five teams in the conference including Butler, Cincinnati, Ohio University, Western Reserve and Wayne.

Marshall broke into the MAC in 1953. The first squad finished fourth that year with a 6-7 mark. In all-time conference standings the Herd has compiled 71 wins and 88 losses. Their only conference championship was in 1956.

Miami leads all-time standing with a 145-75 record for a .659 percentage. Marshall ranks fifth in this category.

Only two teams have gone undefeated in MAC play. Cincinnati had a 10-0 season in 1949-59, and Miami finished 12-0 in 1957-58.

MEMBERS QUIT

Two track members on scholarship will not be competing for the Herd this spring. John McNeely, Bluefield freshman and an ex-Marine, has dropped out of school for "personal reasons," and Henry Bishop, Wheeling freshman, dropped out of school to enlist in the Air Force.

BASEBALL PRACTICE

Head Baseball Coach Jack Cook announced the opening of spring training for the varsity pitchers and catchers. Anyone interested in pitching or catching should contact Coach Cook in Gullickson Hall, Room 106. Practice for the rest of the varsity team will begin about a week later.

Big Game Facing Herd Tomorrow

WITH ONLY MINUTES REMAINING, Coach Ellis Johnson bounces up from his chair and cheers the Herd against Western Michigan. The 73-61 victory moved the Herd into a third place conference tie with the Broncos. Trailing by five points when the second half opened, MU hit for eight straight points and never lost the lead again.

SHOOTING FROM THE LINE, Jim Davidson boosts the Herd lead over the Broncos by two. Davidson was second high for the Herd with 22 points, while pulling down seven rebounds. The Broncos hit on only 29.7 per cent of their field goals while MU hit for 47.5.

RON KIDNEY, Bronco forward, races downcourt in an attempt to halt a hard drive by Bob Redd (32). Redd ran into trouble with the Western Michigan defense and scored eight points with three rebounds.

Last year the Herd dropped two games to the Rockets, one of them in a 70-69 overtime thriller. Some Marshall fans tried to help by pelting the Rockets and the referees with everything from pennies to popcorn for much of the game.

At the beginning of the season Bobby Nichols, Toledo's head coach, was a bit concerned about his team. The Rockets had lost their top two scorers via graduation and also lost their leading rebounders. The coach admitted he didn't know if his sophomores could replace them.

Three of the Rockets and the number one sub are sophomores. Two of them are leading the team in scoring and rebounding.

In the first match against Toledo the Herd stayed close, before Toledo pulled away in the last five minutes.

Marshall may have to use their game-saving, second-half comeback if Toledo continues their hot shooting on the road. The St. Bonaventure contest was the first time in four straight road appearances that the Rockets failed to hit 50 per cent from the floor.

Davidson said there is no specific reason for the second-half comeback. "It's just that once we get behind we want to play harder. Marshall hasn't had a winning record since the 1958-59 season, so we want to get back."

The Herd used their comeback against Western Michigan, as they were down 31-26 at halftime, but outscored the Broncos, 47-30, in the last half.

"We usually do better in the second half just because we have more determination," Dan D'Antonio, Mullens sophomore, said. "As far as our conference chances go, if we beat Toledo we'll be right there, because they are going to get knocked off before long."

Toledo plays a quick run and shoot game. The Rocket coach said that when a team runs with them, they usually have a better chance.

Stepp, 6-0 junior forward, noted, "We play better against fast teams like Toledo, because that's the type of ball we play. When a team slows up it takes away from our game also."

Coach Nichols feels there are four other teams still in hot contention besides the Rockets — Miami, Western Michigan, Marshall and Toledo.

Five of the Rocket players are averaging in double figures, and Steve Mix is second in the conference in scoring and tied with three others in rebounding with a 13.3 average.

Toledo also has two other men in the top ten in scoring. Bill Backensto at 6-3 is assured of taking a place among the all-time leaders in scoring at the Ohio school. He is currently averaging 16.7 per game and is first in field goal percentage. Backensto has already moved into tenth place in the school's scoring department. Coach Nichols termed him the Rocket's best defensive player.

John Brisker is ninth in the conference in scoring with a 16.3 average. Brisker is the team's playmaker and is noted for his fine outside shooting. He holds the team's individual high mark for field goals made with 14 against the Herd.

The Rocket's set the team high mark for the season with 41 field goals in the contest with Marshall.

Toledo is currently averaging 89.7 points per game, while they have held their opponents to 78 points.

Toledo has won only one conference championship in its 20-year history and that was in 1953-54 when the Rockets finished with a 10-2 mark.

This is Nichols' second year as head coach of Toledo. He was the assistant coach at Bowling Green during the 1963-64 season.

Morehead, MU Clash Monday

The Thundering Herd is hoping to repay another debt Monday night when it visits rival Morehead State University. The Morehead Eagles defeated Marshall earlier this year 84-77.

"I think Marshall is playing much better ball now than when we first played them," said Morehead Coach Bob Wright.

"Although I haven't had the opportunity to preview any of their recent games," he said, "I am looking forward to an interesting rematch."

"We thought it was a big win for Marshall over Loyola, but the Western Michigan game may have been more important since it was a conference game.

"Those games often prove to be a big factor for the future when you put down one of the big dogs that is also in contention for the conference title."

Guard Jim Sandfoss, who scored 24 points in the first encounter, is averaging 13.9 points per game. The 6-0 guard will be teaming with Jerry Conley, 6-1, for the tentative starting lineup.

Willie Jackson, 6-6 center, is the leading scorer at 14 points per game. Rounding out the starting five at the guard position will be Lamar Green, 6-7, and Bruce King, 6-5.

Cage Activity Tomorrow Night To Be Enlivened By Rock-ets

The dancing Rock-ets, University of Toledo's prettiest public relations organizations, will appear at halftime tomorrow night as the Thundering Herd meets the Toledo Rockets in Memorial Fieldhouse.

The 30 Toledo co-eds will "show their stuff" for the fans tomorrow for the second time in as many years. The organization, formed in 1961 to provide something different in half-time entertainment, performs dances like their famous namesake in New York City. They were only to perform at four home games, but their fame spread rapidly and they have since performed in Madison Square Garden, in Cobo Hall for the Detroit Pistons, the NCAA basketball tournament in Michigan, and at Dayton, Ohio, and Marshall University.

The dances choreographed by Mrs. Daryl Stone and her husband, Bill, operators of three Toledo dance studios, frequently employ dance steps as the cha-cha, rumba, Charleston and the soft shoe. They are famous for their high kicks, which are their trade mark.

The dancing co-eds will make their homes for the weekend in sorority houses and will be entertained by escorts provided by the fraternities.

$11 Million Bond Issue Discussed By Foundation; Officers Elected

VA Offers Aid On G.I. Benefits

Any questions about the G. I. Bill can be answered by qualified counselors of the Veterans Administration at the Regional Office, 502 8th St., Monday through Friday.

All details of the new educational allowance payment procedure are available for veteran students and for sons and daughters of deceased or disabled veterans so they may receive their checks as promptly as possible.

The law requires that students sign and send to the VA monthly "certificates of attendance" showing they have attended classes. These certificates can be sent only after the month's schooling is completed.

The allowance check is then mailed on the 20th of the following month. Without the "certificate of attendance", the check cannot be released.

For example, if a student began classes this semester, not having attended the first semester, he would send in his certificate the last day of February and his check would be mailed to him on the 20th of March. It is during this time that the student must rely on himself for funds.

Veteran Administration counseling is given to assist students in school and career planning. This is done through personal interview, interest and aptitude evaluation. The interview is aimed at helping the student decide which is his best and strongest potential field of endeavor.

University Center, and renovation of Hodges and Laidley Halls. Also discussed was a married student housing project and Twin Towers, a dormitory for full-time students.

Stewart H. Smith, president of Marshall University, urged the Foundation members to appeal to legislators and friends in outlining the need of Marshall for a proportionate share of state educational funds.

President Smith emphasized that Marshall was seventh among the 11 state-supported institutions in personal services, 10th in current expenses, 11th in repairs and alterations and 11th in equipment. It should be second, based on enrollment, in the amount of money it receives from the state.

At the meeting the Board of Directors elected officers and the members updated the by-laws and articles of incorporation of the Foundation.

Department Chairmen Express Pleasure With New Building

Chairmen of departments moving into the new Academic Center seemed pleased this week with their new quarters.

"These new facilities are marvelous," said Dr. Norman Simpkins, professor of sociology and chairman of the department. "They should get better after these first few days of confusion are eliminated."

Dr. George Harbold, professor of speech and department chairman, said: "After some of these initial problems are settled, I am sure things will be fine."

Mathematics Department Chairman Dr. Thomas Bauserman, professor of mathematics, said his department's problems Monday were small and of no consequence.

"Coming from Main Annex, we're bound to be enthusiastic," he added. "We're glad to get out of the stable."

Dr. John L. Martin, professor of Spanish and chairman of the Modern Languages Department, said,

The Board of Directors was increased from 11 to 18 members of which four were to be from the University, nine from at-large, three from the alumni, the executive secretary, and the past president.

Newly-elected officers of the Foundation are: Robert Myers, president; John Brothers, vice president; Leland Thornburg, treasurer, and Harry M. Sands, executive secretary.

R. J. Payor, past president of the foundation, recommended that the foundation seek more grants from all sources, employ a full-time development director with or without legislative support, and appoint a committee to develop publicity and public relations program for constant exposure of the foundation to the public in the work which the Foundation performs.

"I think the new building is beautiful. We all should be very grateful to the people of West Virginia, and we should strive to do the best work we can in these new facilities provided for us."

"Wonderful!" was the reaction of William E. Francois, associate professor of journalism and chairman of the department.

"The only problem has been some furniture that hasn't arrived, such as typewriter desks for the reporting students," said Professor Francois. "These are minor problems, however. Everything has been going smoothly."

Dr. Herschel Heath, professor of history and department chairman, said a few minor problems had been encountered. "But we enjoy the new building thoroughly."

"It's much more desirable than Science Hall," said Dr. Heath. "We have more office space and more privacy, enabling us to get more work done."

Are You An Alumnot When You Graduate?

Ever have trouble remembering whether you will be an alumnus, an alumna or alum or perhaps an alumni or alumnae after you graduate from MU?

Well, after you get these suffixes straightened out, you haven't heard anything yet. Seems there are a few other words to worry about.

According to the Alumni Office alumnological guide — and its alumnology (theory of alumni) — you could turn out to be several things.

For instance, an aluniac. That's a grad who's really crazy about old Alma Mater and the guy opposite of the alum, a mad Muer.

But if you're the flighty grad, probably you'd be classified as an alumnaut. That's a grad on the way up.

There's even family classifications — everything from the alumbrio (unborn alumnus) to an alumnikin, a baby Muer to be. Naturally alum-mum watches over the whole crew.

And the list of nouns also includes:

alumnots—students who never make it.

alum-inums — "medal-winning alumni."

alumdram—a humdrum alum.

alumknight — the British Muer.

aluminite — the very bright graduate.

Reportedly, an "alumbus" transports these types around the campus on Alumni Day and afterwards they all get together to do the "alumbo," their favorite dance.

What to watch out for are the alumbums, the numbalums (the drunk alums) and the alumdumbs. Also embarrassing is walking in two grads alumnecking.

Oh, yes, there's another type of alum to watch for.

The alumnot!

Soon To Be Razed

OLD MAIN ANNEX (below), an "old" landmark on campus, will soon be torn down, according to university officials. The razing of the building may start this week.

Invitational Cage Tourney Planned By Alumni Group

Marshall Alumni Association is making tentative plans for an invitational basketball tournament to be held over the 1967 Christmas holiday period.

"Invitations will be sent out to between 25 and 50 colleges and universities to see if they would be interested in playing in the tournament," said Harry M. Sands, director of Development and Alumni Affairs.

"We hope mainly to have a Big Ten representative, such as Purdue, a representative of the Ohio Valley Conference and a major independent school, such as Duquesne, Villanova or Xavier of Ohio," Mr. Sands added.

If the tournament does become a reality, the games will be held at the Memorial Field House and will be considered road games on Marshall's schedule, and the Herd will still play 12 home games.

Mr. Sands also said the Alumni Association wrote to the commissioner of the NCAA and MAC for approval, and permission has been granted.

The purpose of the tournament will be to raise money for the Alumni Association and also publicize Marshall which would help to recruit better students and athletes.

Tentative dates for the tournament are Dec. 20-21.

Ballerina To Perform

SHEILA MACKINNON, a principal member of the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, will perform with the Canadian company in its presentation of Napoli Act III at the Keith-Albee Theatre Wednesday night.

Royal Winnipeg Ballet Slated On Artist's Series Wednesday

The Royal Winnipeg Ballet will present Napoli, Act III at the Keith-Albee Theatre at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday. Students may get tickets for $1 starting Monday in the lobby of the Keith-Albee.

The Royal Winnipeg Ballet is Canada's first ballet company and one of the oldest in North America. The group proudly bears its regal title granted by Queen Elizabeth in 1953.

Although entirely Canadian in origin, the ballet has achieved an international reputation. The ballet is under the direction of Canadian-born Arnold Spohr with the aid of choreographers, Brian Macdonald and Agnes deMille.

Organized in 1938 by two women, the company had its first season in 1940 at Winnipeg's Playhouse Theatre. It was such a success that they ventured outside their home territory.

4 MU Students Listed In Cast

The cast for the Community Players production of "Look Homeward Angel" includes four Marshall students.

Professor Charles Billings, of the Speech department, will direct the play which is to open Feb. 16 at the Abbot Theater.

TRYOUTS SET

Tryouts for the University Theatre production of "The Winslow Boy," written by Terence Rattigan, will be Monday and Tuesday at 3 and 7 p.m. in Old Main Auditorium. Tryouts are open to all students.

Honors Seminar Resumes Program

The Honors Seminar resumed its study of Mexico, Central America and the Caribbean Tuesday night at the Honors House.

"The second semester study is a continuation of last semester's work," said Dr. Jack Brown, professor of English.

He explained that the honors students have done research on Mexico and Central America and will examine Panama, Columbia, Venezuela and the islands of the Caribbean.

Geography of these countries was discussed Tuesday night by Robert Britton, professor of geography.

Immediate plans of the Honors Seminar include an introduction to the history of these regions by Dr. Oliver Ross, assistant professor of history, at next Tuesday night's meeting.

Non-Resident Tuition To Rise?

A bill to raise non-resident tuition at West Virginia colleges and universities has been introduced in the State House.

Under the bill introduced by Del. Robert Harman, R-Mineral, non-resident tuition at the University would be increased from $175 a semester to $275. The tuition hike would apply to Marshall and all other state-supported colleges.

Del. Harman's proposed bill would also hike out-of-state tuition rates for students at West Virginia University. The boost at WVU would be from $205 per semester to $305.

The measure, said Harman, would produce $663,440 annually for capital improvements at state colleges and universities.

Sgt. Fuller Retires From ROTC

Two ROTC instructors were lost and one gained by the military science department during semester break, the department announced today.

M. Sgt. Richard R. Giles, in making the announcement, listed Sgt. 1. C. John W. Fuller, who retired as supply sergeant; Sgt. Maj. Fred DeMaio, who was transferred to Fort Dix, N. J.; and Sgt. Carmel F. Gillman who replaces Sgt. Fuller as supply sergeant.

Sgt. Fuller retired after two and a half years of service at Marshall, and a total of 20 for his military career. He was presented with a commendation in recognition of this long record by Col. Henry C. Bowden, professor of military science. Sgt. Fuller is a veteran of World War II and the Korean War. He and his wife will continue to reside in Huntington.

Sgt. Maj. DeMaio was transferred to the U. S. Army Training Center at Fort Dix, after serving at Marshall for five months. His duties included instructing the freshman "MS-1" classes, and handling the public information office. He also is a 20-year veteran.

Sgt. Gillman began his military career in the late forties in the U. S. Marine Corps at the Naval Base in Philadelphia. He later saw Marine duty in the Mediterranean, and other eastern points.

His career with the Army began in January, 1953 with the 143rd Tank Battalion in Munich, Germany. He was assigned to the Advanced Marksmanship Unit at Fort Hood, Texas, in 1960, as pistol instructor and shooter.

His assignment immediately prior to Marshall was supply sergeant with Co. C., 4th Battalion, 37th Armor, Fort Knox, Ky., from Jan. 1965 to Jan. 1966.

Sgt. Gilliam resides with his family in Kermit, W. Va.

Student Teaching Applicants Face March Deadline

Final date to apply for student teaching for the first semester of 1967-68 is March 28.

All junior and senior students in Teachers College must follow certain procedures if planning to student teach.

Students must pass the English Qualifying Examination as soon as possible, and before applying for student teaching.

Student teaching applicants should attend the Orientation Seminars during the latter half of the semester preceding the semester that they want to teach. The first Orientation Seminar will be held March 30 at 4 p.m. in Science Hall Auditorium. The second Orientation Seminar will be April 12 at 4 p.m. in Science Hall Auditorium.

Students are not eligible to do student teaching and should not make application unless they meet the quality point average of 2.0 in each of the following: (a) overall grade average, (b) education courses, and (c) each major and minor field of specialization.

International Poetry Contest Set

Any United States citizen who has never published a volume of poetry is eligible to submit a book length manuscript of poems to the International Poetry contest.

Winners will be announced Oct. 1, 1967. The author of the winning manuscript will receive a $2,000 cash award plus the publication of his manuscript by the University of Pittsburgh Press. The Press in cooperation with the International Poetry Forum has the right of "first refusal." All manuscripts submitted for the award may be withheld at the discretion of the judges.

The manuscript must include at least 48 typewritten, double-spaced pages. No more than one poem may appear on a single page, but poems may extend for more than one page. The pages must be numbered consecutively throughout. Neither the Press nor the Forum can be held responsible for the loss of material.

Entries for the 1967 award should not be submitted before Feb. 1, 1967, and none will be accepted after April 1, 1967.

Manuscripts should be mailed to: The International Poetry Forum's United States Award, University of Pittsburgh Press, 3309 Cathedral of Learning, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15213
