Student Group Meets With Dr. Smith

By LLOYD D. LEWIS
Editor-In-Chief

Seven students met with President Stewart H. Smith Monday for a discussion of University policy concerning Human Relations following a letter published in last Wednesday's Parthenon.

This meeting followed another that these students had with Dean of Student Affairs John E. Shay Jr. Friday afternoon. (Dean Shay's official statement appears below, column 1.) The students were Rudy Coleman, Beckley senior; John Kinney, Wheeling sophomore; Jim Madison, Huntington senior; Katura Carey, Portsmouth, Va., sophomore; Kay Williams, Huntington junior; Sherlene Gordon, Huntington freshman, and Carolyn Bodden, Huntington sophomore.

President Smith termed "absolutely inexcusable" the printing of a letter signed by "Richard Lee Rockwell" of Arlington, Va., in last Wednesday's Parthenon. He added, "I am sure that The Parthenon will take steps to see that this will not happen again."

As requested by the seven students, Dr. Smith said that the song "Dixie" would not be played again at Marshall games. The students had charged that "Dixie" carries with it a connotation of white supremacy, slavery, and the glorification of the South."

The president received a letter Monday from Howard L. Bell, professor of music and director of the Pep Band, stating that the song would not be played again.

The students also asked that the annual Kappa Alpha "Old South Weekend" be confined to the grounds of the groups that are enthusiastic about it because "all groups do not share this enthusiasm for this activity."

All future meetings of the Human Relations Committee should be publicly announced, the students feel.

The seven students presented a prepared statement which said, in part: "We realize that much of the overall prejudice at Marshall is subtle, intangible and possibly beyond the reach of one person or a group of persons; however, we feel that we cannot let things remain unchallenged."

President Smith noted that three years ago the Kappa Alpha fraternity was prohibited from drawing the Mason-

Dixon Line through the campus and from bringing the Confederate flag onto the campus. A protest demonstration was staged at the event two years ago.

Prof. William E. Francois, Parthenon adviser, appeared at the meeting and said he and the staff of The Parthenon were "deeply upset" about the publication of the letter" and added, "We are doing everything humanly possible to see that it won't happen again." (See new "Letters to the Editor" policy on page 1.)

President Smith then said, "The Parthenon was certainly sincere in its apology over this incident . . ."

Dr. Smith also discussed the recent conduct of basketball players at games and noted that Mid-American Conference Commissioner Robert James had warned Jim Davidson that Davidson would be thrown off the Marshall team if he committed another "overt act of violence" as when he knocked a University of Toledo player unconscious at the Field House recently.

Dr. Smith added, "Jim is young and I hope he's learned his lesson." The president also termed this incident "inexcusable."

Statement Is Issued By Dean

The following statement has been released by Dr. John E. Shay Jr., dean of student affairs, concerning a letter to the editor published last Wednesday in The Parthenon and the University's policy regarding students of different races, religions, and creeds.

Publication in The Parthenon of the outrageous "Rockwell" letter brought to the surface at Marshall racial tensions which unfortunately exist throughout American society. The anonymous writer of that letter can take sadistic satisfaction in the knowledge that he has inflicted a cruel and painful wound on every Negro member of the Marshall community.

Even though the entire University administration, as well as the staff of The Parthenon, regrets the printing of that letter, its appearance in a University publication has again raised the question whether Marshall University welcomes Negro students or merely tolerates them. The following statement is intended to clarify this point.

Ancestry is a criterion for neither admission nor success at Marshall. Any student with a satisfactory record of academic performance and social conduct will be admitted to the University. Once admitted, every student becomes a part of the University community. As such, he is encouraged to participate in the activities of this community provided that such participation does not hinder his academic work. The total University environment is designed to expose each student to a diversity of ideas and individuals. Hence, no student may be excluded from any activity recognized by the University because of his ancestry. Marshall University welcomes all its students regardless of their race, religion, or national origin, and accepts the responsibility to provide them with the opportunity for a sound education.

Dean of Student Affairs

NO MIX TONIGHT

Fred Waring To Appear

TICKETS ARE available today and tomorrow for the Fred Waring show, "The First Fifty Years," to be presented Tuesday at the Keith-Albee Theater.

Agency For International Development Honors MU

By SAM NEAL
Staff Reporter

Marshall was one of nine institutions of higher education throughout the United States honored last Friday in Chicago by the Department of State's Agency for International Development (AID).

Dr. Robert B. Hayes, dean of Teachers College, received a Certificate of Cooperation awarded to Marshall by AID for the University's participation in a program to assist in the economical and social development of other countries.

The award was the result of an administrative internship held by Joseph Okunlola, presently senior assistant registrar, University of Ife, Ibadan Branch, Ibadan, Nigeria. Mr. Okunlola spent a six-month internship at Marshall three years ago studying administrative procedures that might be incorporated at the University of Ife.

The certificate was presented to Dr. Hayes by Dr. Lewis A. Pingitore, Education Director of AID.

The presentation coincided with a joint meeting of the American Association of Colleges of Teacher's Education, the Association for Student Teaching, and College Teachers of Education.

Dr. John E. King of Wyoming University is president of AACTE, and Dr. Edward C. Pomeroy is executive secretary.

Also attending the three day meeting in Chicago from Marshall was Dr. John E. Warren, dean of the graduate school.

Italian Class Aired

Italian language lessons are now being offered on WMUL radio, according to Dave Clark, Huntington junior and program director for the station.

The program, sponsored by the Italian Radio Service, is broadcast Monday through Thursday at 6 p.m. Lessons are already in progress.

The program offers a complete course in the Italian language, Clark said, but no college credit is granted.

Fred Waring Singers, Orchestra To Perform

By SHERRY ALLEN
Staff Reporter

Fred Waring, celebrating his 50th year as Maestro of the "Pennsylvanians," one of the country's foremost orchestra-chorus organizations, is returning to Marshall for a performance "by popular demand," according to Professor Curtis Baxter, director of the Artists Series.

Waring and the 40 Pennsylvanians will present their golden anniversary show, "The First Fifty Years," at 8:30 p.m., Tuesday at the Keith-Albee Theatre for the semester's first Student Artists Series.

Tickets Available

Tickets are available today until 3 p.m., and tomorrow, 8 a.m.-3 p.m. in the rear hall of Old Main. Students may get them by presenting their activity cards.

The Fred Waring Show, which has appeared on the Artists Series at least four other times, has been presented to capacity audiences each time.

Mr. Waring made his debut as leader of a musical group in 1916, and has led his singers and musicians through a series of "firsts." He was the first to present an orchestra and chorus in elaborate stage presentations, and the first to mix secular and sacred music in the same program.

Group Of Firsts

In addition, the Pennsylvanians were the nation's first vocal group to have their own radio show, the first to be featured on records, and the first full orchestra and chorus to be televised.

But Fred Waring is more than a music man. His Shawnee Press is the world's largest publisher of choral music, and his 600-acre resort, the Shawnee Inn, is a haven for golfers, as well as vacationers.

Also An Inventor

As an inventor, he created the Waring Blendor, a facsimile of which is produced and sold by leading manufacturers of electrical appliances. His blendor was created to change food from a solid to a liquid for one of his friends who was unable to digest solids. Today it is standard equipment in many kitchens, bars and laboratories.

Warings greatest joy, though, has been performing before live audiences with his ever-changing Pennsylvanians, and during his "First Fifty Years," he has been able to transmit much of that joy to his audiences.

New 'Letter' Policy Begun

Effective immediately, a new policy will govern the acceptance of Letters to the Editor by The Parthenon.

Students must personally deliver letters to The Parthenon office, Academic Center 317. At that time, Parthenon editors or Journalism Department faculty and staff will check the student's I.D. card to verify the identity of the letter-writer.

Letters from students will not be accepted under any other conditions.

Acceptance of the letter does not necessarily mean it will be printed. An internal staff system for checking "good taste" of letters has been instituted.

Faculty and administrative staff personnel who submit letters must include office telephone numbers with their signed letters.

Off-campus letters must be signed and must show either the home or office telephone number of the sender, as well as the sender's address.

Letters already received by The Parthenon prior to the announcement of this policy will only be considered for publication if senders follow the newly-instituted procedure.

WE THE PEOPLE

By BECKY THOMAS
Feature Writer

If you have never attended a student Senate meeting you are missing an experience. The sessions vary from controversy to the epitome of strict parliamentary procedure.

The time of year has great bearing on the disposition of the meetings, and election season is one of the best times to see a action. Senate projects are being completed. Dave Frost, Huntington senior and student body vice president, has been requesting final reports from committee chairmen for weeks. So far he has received very little response.

Last week though, Linda Lawrence, Charleston sophomore senator and chairman of the social committee, gave her final report for the year.

Senator Lawrence reported, "Winter Weekend is not possible due to a lack of communication in the executive branch and the committee." It seems that the Student Government could find some way of communicating a program which could be as popular and beneficial to the student population as "Winter Weekend."

Perhaps the real problem lies in a lack of interest on the part of the Student Government leaders. Since the great majority of these students are Greeks, they all have winter and spring social events to attend. Thus this problem could be of very little concern to the Greek Student Government leaders, whereas it is very important to the general student population. At the present time the Senate, Student Court, and Cabinet each have one independent member.

If you want to hear some interesting resolutions, election time is the prime time. Some of the senior senators are still attending the meetings although this is not the general case. But the attendance problem extends even further. Jack Kessick, Huntington junior, was scheduled to make a resolution last Wednesday night, but sent his regrets that he would be unable to attend the meeting. It may be noted that he is not running for re-election. This puts him in the same "lame duck" position as the senior senators.

Ben Hale, Chesapeake, Ohio, senior, and senior class president, attempted to appoint Joe McVay, Huntington senior to the seat vacated by Betty Theis, Huntington senior. The Senate refused to ratify the appointment and asked for a postponement of one week in order that more pointment and asked for a postponement of one week in order that more in the Student Government Office.

Contrary to what some students may believe, the senior senator appointment should be given serious consideration. Senior Senators serve until the end of the semester rather than changing with the new administration. Thus the appointee could really accomplish something.

The freshman vacancy in the Senate is to be filled by Becky Fletcher, Huntington. Miss Fletcher was appointed by Tom Kenney, Huntington freshman president, last Wednesday night and ratified by the Senate.

Linda Clay, Huntington sophomore senator, introduced a resolution recommending that IFC change the date of Greek Week because it conflicts with Leadership Seminar. Ben Hale, former president of IFC said that it will be impossible to change the date of Greek Week because all of the arrangements have been made. Thus it seems that one or both of the programs will suffer because a great number of those eligible to attend Leadership Seminar happen to be Greeks. According to Penny Tully, Summersville junior, each Greek organization is eligible to send two representatives. This alone would total at least 34 students.

The Senate will meet at 3 p.m. today on the second floor of the Student Union. Why not come and see it for yourself? Many of the present senators are running for re-election this spring. Come and watch them in action.

TO HOST MEMBERS

President Stewart H. Smith will entertain members of the Board of Public Works, state legislators and Robert James, Mid-American Conference commissioner, at a buffet supper tonight in the Hospitality Room prior to the Marshall-Miami game.

CLUB TO MEET

The Young Republican Club will meet at 3 p.m. tomorrow upstairs in the Student Union to elect a new vice president. Other business will include voting on a new constitution and discussion of the Young Republican convention in Washington D. C., March 10-12.

Maria Godoy To Sing

MARIA LUCIA GODOY will appear tomorrow at 11 a.m. in a convocation singing Vella-Labos' "Bachianas Brasileiras" and Ravell's "Scheherezad." This will be one of many stops on her first full tour of North America.

Audio-Visual Department Receives Grant Of $11,528

The Audio-Visual Department has received a grant of $11,528 under the Higher Education Act of 1965, according to Walter Felty, Associate Professor of social studies and director of the audio-visual program.

The University must match the funds and they cannot be spent until Jan. 1 of this year. The grant is to be used in buying audio-visual equipment for various departments of the University.

Marshall was allotted a similar grant last year under the same act.

In applying for the grant Professor Felty prepared an outline and justification of the needs of the University. This outline was submitted to the State Commission on Higher Education where it was compared with other proposals.

The state proposal was then submitted to the United States Office of Education for federal approval. Marshall's grant was allotted from the money allocated to the state.

Various University departments will benefit from the grant received through the Audio-Visual Department.

The student teaching laboratory was begun with funds from the first grant and will be given $3,500 from this grant.

A variograph production outfit for cartography will be ordered for the Geography Department.

Accessories for a sound-movie projector bought with last year's fund, for the Journalism Department are on the list of equipment to be bought with the grant.

Other departments to receive equipment are Physics and Physical Science, Modern Languages, Art, Music, Radio and TV, Home Economics, Speech, English, Political Science and Social Studies.

Famed Soloist Here Tomorrow

"Featured" in several selections was a raven-haired young woman, Maria Lucia Godoy. With a voice of silken texture but with a wide range of power, she delighted the audience with solos supported by the chorus in "Three Beautiful Birds of Paradise" and "Rondi", two songs by Maurice Ravel. Later she led an intensely rhythmic American spiritual, "I Got Religion!"

The lady referred to in the preceding statement from the "St. Petersburg Times," Maria Lucia Godoy, will appear tomorrow at 11 a.m. for the Convocation in Old Main Auditorium.

Miss Godoy's appearance here is one of many in her first full tour of North America. She appeared in 10 major cities last year. It was then that Paul Hume of The Washington Post declared, "She covered herself with glory."

She was the winner of the highest musical awards the city of Rio de Janeiro (where she studied) could confer, and, in 1963, was presented with a government scholarship for further work in Germany. Shortly thereafter, her European debut resulted in leading operatic, orchestral and recital engagements.

In tomorrow's program, she will sing Vella-Labos' "Bachianas Brasileiras", Ravell's "Scheherezad", and Bernstein's "Jeremias Symphony". All students are invited to attend the program.

NEW POSITION

Dr. John H. Wotiz, professor of chemistry and chairman of the department, who announced his resignation earlier this month, will become chairman and professor of the Chemistry Department at the University of Southern Illinois effective July 1, not the University of Illinois as reported in Friday's Parthenon.

DO YOU WANT . . .
MONEY FOR FUTURE
FAMILY RESPONSIBILITY?

If you're like most young men, marriage will probably be your next big step. And marriage means increased responsibilities. It's a good idea to start building a cash reserve now to provide for those future family responsibilities. A life insurance program started now, when rates are lowest, offers a unique solution to this problem. I'd like to discuss such a program with you at your convenience.

Alumni Association Active

By LINDSEY BLAIR
Staff Reporter

Do you think that you will wonder about the activities and changes at MU after you have graduated? Keeping alumni informed is just one facet of the fast-growing Alumni Association.

"Our basic job is to keep in touch with the alumni and to inform them about Marshall, with the hopes that they will support Marshall with their moral and financial help," according to Harry M. Sands, director of alumni affairs.

In order to keep the alumni informed, the Alumni Office sends 210,000 publications and letters annually to the 15,000 active alumni. The "Marshall Alumnus," a semi-annual magazine, "Beech Notes," a quarterly newsletter, and fundraising letters make up the total.

The Alumni Association is financed by contributions and by fundraising projects, with the exception of the director's salary. The state now pays the salary which was formerly taken from the contributions.

"We were very happy to hear this, because it gives us more money to use on projects," said Mr. Sands.

Over the past year the Alumni

Two Students Win Area Opera Prize

Two Marshall students took top honors in the area Metropolitan Opera auditions held in Huntington last weekend.

Jane Nicholas, Milton senior, placed first in the auditions which were held at the Huntington Woman's Club. Miss Nicholas will automatically be advanced to the regional auditions to be held later this month in Bloomington, Ind.

Also competing in the regional auditions will be Judy Skeens Smith, Huntington graduate student, who tied for second place with John Taylor. Mr. Taylor is a member of the faculty at West Virginia Wesleyan College.

Third place winner was Phillip Smith, a Charleston senior at WVU. All three top winners received cash awards.

Eighteen vocalists took part in the competition. Entries to the Huntington area auditions are drawn from West Virginia and Kentucky. Mrs. Walker Long is in charge of the area auditions.

FRATERNITY TO MEET

Alpha Kappa Psi, national business fraternity, will meet tomorrow at 4 p.m. upstairs in the Student Union. There will be a speaker from Inco.

Association has had some very successful projects.

In July, the Alumni Association and the Downtown Improvement Group sponsored the Soupy Sales Premier Banquet. The proceeds were used for a $1,000 scholarship.

In September, a sign was painted on the Kroger building showing the lineman and back of the week. Next year, there will be a similar sign for basketball.

Also in September the Alumni Association sponsored the Philadelphia 76er-Boston Celtics basketball game in the Field House, which honored alumnus Hal Greer.

"It wasn't a sellout, but was very successful and put us on our feet," said Mr. Sands.

"The publicity and goodwill it generated alone was enough to make it a success," continued Sands.

The Alumni Association has some "promising" projects planned for the future, according to Mr. Sands.

The Marshall Invitational Tournament (tentative name) is planned for Dec. 20-21 at the Field House. The teams to participate this year are: Marshall, Bowling Green State University, University of Virginia and Manhattan College. The tournament is to be an annual affair.

"We wrote to about 100 colleges and universities, representing every conference, and received letters from all of them. Most of them showed interest in entering in future years," said Sands.

Alumni Day, May 27, is also planned.

"We've changed the format considerably, in hopes of attracting more attendance," commented Sands.

When asked if interest in the Alumni Association is increasing, Mr. Sands said, "It has grown tremendously, mostly because of the increased financial support and the publicity we receive from our projects."

Johnson Says Defense Was Key In Miami Win

By TIM BUCEY
Sports Co-Editor

The Thundering Herd, ranked next to the last in the conference on defense, went up against the nation's fifth ranked defensive team and according to Head Coach Ellis Johnson, "Miami did not do near the job on defense as my boys did."

Marshall's tight defense was a big factor as the Redskins scored only two points in the last five minutes to give the Herd their second victory since 1939 at Miami by a 66-61 score.

Coach Johnson credited all six players with an outstanding defensive job.

"Jim Davidson played his best game of the year both offensively and defensively," Johnson said, "and Bob Allen did a fine job by pulling down 11 rebounds in the second half while he had four fouls."

"Dan D'Antoni and Bob Redd played a fine defensive game out front in keeping Miami throttled," Johnson commented.

He also stressed the outstanding play of Orville Stepp, Inez, Ky., junior. "Stepp did a fine job defensive wise. He has done well everytime we put him in," the coach added.

Fred Foster, a 6-4 junior, led both teams in scoring with 24 points, and Jim Davidson, 6-3, Logan sophomore, was high for the Herd with 21, 15 of them coming in the first half. George Stone, Covington, Ky., junior, was second high man for Marshall with 20.

Bob Allen, 6-9, Port Huron, Mich., junior and the league's fifth leading rebounder, grabbed 17 rebounds while Foster led the Redskins in rebounding with 12.

The win moved Marshall into second place with a 7-2 mark and put Miami in third place with a 7-3 record. Overall Miami is 12-8 and Marshall is 15-6.

Miami was on a four game winning streak going into the game, its longest of the season, and the loss was the first conference loss for the Redskins at home this year.

The Herd has now won eight of its last nine games and three in a row.

The Redskins, second in the conference in field goal percentage at 48.3, hit on only 36.8 of its shots. Marshall made 4.9 percent of its shots.

The game started out just as the Herd had hoped as they jumped off to an 8-0 lead with Davidson scoring six of the first eight points. Foster then matched Davidson's feat by scoring six of the Redskins first eight.

The Thundering Herd never lost the lead in the first half, but Miami did pull within two points at 26-24 and 28-26 in the final few minutes.

At the midway point the Herd was leading 37-31, but Allen and D'Antoni, a Mullens sophomore, were in foul trouble with four on Allen and three on D'Antoni. Both men played the whole second half without committing a personal foul.

"At halftime Coach Johnson told me to keep playing like I was and to play as hard as I could," Allen said. "I just got a couple of breaks when the officials didn't call any more on me."

At the halfway point in the second half, the Herd once again increased its lead to eight as they led 53-45. Marshall then scored only three points in the next four minutes, and the Redskins tied the score at 56-56 with 5:35 remaining.

With 5:12 left the Herd's chances were in jeopardy when George Stone, Covington, Ky., junior, was ejected from the game for allegedly punching Fred Fisher in the eye. Stone was replaced by Orville Stepp, 6-0, Inez, Ky., junior.

"It was just one of those things," Stone said. "If anything I thought they might call a technical on me, but I couldn't see how they could kick me out. It doesn't matter though they won without me," Stone added.

Coach Johnson said he did not see what took place second, "but I definitely saw Stone fouled while he was shooting," the coach added.

Miami then took the lead on Fisher's foul shot and scored two more points on a field goal with 5:10 left. From this point until the final buzzer the Redskins scored only two points.

After a goal by Marshall, Bob Redd, Louisville, Ky., junior, tied the game at 59-59 on a foul shot and put the Herd ahead to stay on his second foul shot.

In the last minute of play Redd hit on a field goal, and Davidson and D'Antoni each sank two foul shots to round out the scoring for Marshall.

Miami scored its final two points when Davidson was charged with goal tending as the buzzer went off.

Women Cagers Win Two

SANDY SUNDERLAND, Huntington junior, scores two of her 17 points against West Virginia State in Marshall's 51-42 win Saturday. The women's varsity basketball team played two other games during the weekend, defeating Job Corps, 40-26, and losing to Ohio University, 40-27.

FRENCH CLUB TO MEET

The French Club will meet at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow in AC-414 for a social hour to be followed at 4 p.m. by a program of slides of France. The slides, which will be shown by Miss Virginia Parish, were taken during her tour of France.

MIT Planned Through 1970

By JOHN HACKWORTH
Sports Writer

Plans for continuing the Marshall Invitational Basketball Tournament at least through 1970 are already past the planning stage, according to Harry Sands, director of alumni affairs.

The tournament, which will be held for the first time this year at the Field House, is to be continued with big name schools participating.

The tournament is to be held Dec. 20-21, and will feature, along with Marshall, The University of Virginia, Manhattan College, and Bowling Green State University.

There will be a championship and consolation game, which means each team will play twice. The two games will count as away games for Marshall, the host.

Trophies and awards will be presented to the teams for sportsmanship, along with individual mementos.

Among teams invited to future tournaments are the University of Georgia, Duke, Louisville, Miami of Florida, Vanderbilt, Kansas, Maryland, Nebraska, University of Tennessee and Drake.

Sophomores...

Here's what the new 2-year Army ROTC program means to you

A new Reserve Officer Training Corps program permits selected college sophomores to be commissioned as Army Second Lieutenants in two years. You can do this by:

1. Completing a special 6-week summer camp between your sophomore and junior years.
2. Completing the 2-year Advanced Course at any school offering the ROTC program.

What are the benefits of Army ROTC training?

- Management training for success in civilian or military life.
- $40 per month pay while attending the Advanced Course, plus uniforms; pay and paid travel for summer camps.
- Eligibility for free flight instruction at selected schools leading to a private pilot's license.
- A commission as an Army officer, with all of its accompanying benefits, including higher income, greater opportunity for advancement and officer status.
- The personal satisfaction that comes from knowing you're trained to assume leadership responsibilities.

These benefits will put you a step ahead of other college graduates and will pay off for the rest of your life. You owe it to yourself to investigate these new opportunities.

For complete information, see the Professor of Military Science in Room 217, Gullickson, Hall, Marshall University.

Second-Place Herd To Face Miami

Game Tonight At 8 P.M. In Memorial Field House

By J. PRESTON SMITH
Sports Writer

Marshall will be out to defend its newly-won second place position in the Mid-American Conference tonight when it hosts the Miami Redskins in the second of two back-to-back contests. Game time at Memorial Field House is 8 p.m.

Marshall toppled the Redskins in Withrow Court at Oxford, Ohio, last Saturday, 66-61.

Many 'ifs' surround the final two weeks of conference play. If Marshall wins tonight over the nation's fifth-ranked defensive team and first place Toledo drops one of its remaining games the Herd could be tied for first place, provided MU defeats Western Michigan February 25 and Kent State University March 4.

But if Marshall falls under the stampede of the invading Redskins tonight it would once again be in a tie for second place with Miami, and Toledo could well be out of reach.

"I don't think their defense is any better than anyone else in the conference," said Coach Ellis Johnson in reference to the fifth-ranked defensive Redskins. "They hold the score down by stalling with the ball . . . their defense is overplayed," he said.

Even though the Thundering Herd cagers have defeated the Redskins once they know their task tonight will not be an easy one.

"They come close to being the best team we've played this year," said Bob Allen, Port Huron, Mich., junior. "They're a well-coached team and they have a tough defense because their men guard us real close."

"I think Phil Snow could give us a lot of trouble," Allen added, "but Dan D'Antoni did a terrific job guarding him Saturday."

Miami Coach Tate Locke told The Parthenon last week that he felt the team that loses the first game will have the advantage tonight because the losing team would be up for the game.

"I believe we'll be up for this game because we will be playing before the home crowd," Allen said. "Also, if we beat Miami we know we can do no worse than tie for second place."

In Saturday's win the Herd jumped off to an early lead and Allen feels the Herd will have to do this again. "When a team gets a little bit ahead of Miami they can't slow the game down," he said.

In regards to Withrow Court Allen added, "Their court is hard to play on. It seems like the crowd is right on top of you and that Indian beating his tom-tom doesn't help any either."

"I thought our defense outplayed theirs," said George Stone, Covington, Ky., junior, "their defense didn't bother us too much because we could still run our patterns."

"If we go out and play defense like we did up there we can't have any trouble," said Jim Davidson, Logan sophomore, "but the big factor was Allen not fouling out and controlling the boards. If he does that again, we won't have any trouble."

Smith Urges Sportsmanship

President Stewart H. Smith has urged students to "observe the highest principles of good sportsmanship" at Marshall home games.

In an announcement made Monday, which will also be read to all spectators at the game tonight, President Smith gave the following principles to be observed:

- (1) Be courteous — To the teams, officials and visiting fans they are our guests.
- (2) Be enthusiastic — By "rooting" for your own team—not "booing opponents or officials.
- (3) Be fair — Have confidence in the honesty and integrity of the officials. Remember they are neutral, and you are partisan.
- (4) Be a good sport — Don't yell during free throws. Do not smoke in the Field House playing and seating areas. Do not throw anything on the playing floor or elsewhere.
- (5) Please remember — We are playing a fine opponent. They are our friends, not bitter enemies.

President Smith issued the request following recent incidents at Marshall home games.

TC Pulls Ahead

Teachers College has pulled ahead of its traditional rivalry, the College of Arts and Sciences, in enrollment. Second semester figures released by the Registrar's Office show a total enrollment, full and part-time students, in the College of Arts and Sciences of 2,576. Teachers College has 2,858 full and part-time students, 282 more than the College of Arts and Sciences.

Although the lead in enrollment changed hands from first semester, both colleges experienced a rise in enrollment.

First semester, the College of Arts and Sciences had 2,529 enrolled with this semester's figure showing an increase of 47. Teachers College enrolled an additional 349 students this semester.

LONG, UPHILL CLIMB faces Coach Jack Cook as the Herd's baseball team begins pre-season practice at Gullickson Hall. Hampered by bad weather, the team is working indoors in preparation for this year's schedule, including expected top conference competition from Ohio University and Western Michigan.

Baseball Practice In Second Week

New Image Is Cook's Goal

By TOM MURDOCK
Sports Writer

Jack Cook, the Herd's new full-time baseball coach, has hopes of establishing a baseball image for MU.

"I'd like nothing better than to compete in this league," Coach Cook said in a pre-season interview.

"You don't find many stronger baseball teams in college ball than in this conference," continued Cook. "Ohio U. and W. Michigan always have good ball clubs."

Last year the W. Michigan Broncos and the O. U. Bobcats finished in first and second places in the MAC. W. Michigan was nationally ranked. However, the Herd, behind the pitching of Tom Harris, defeated the Broncos, 7-4.

This victory was the Herd's lone win in the MAC. It gave MU last place in the conference with a 1-7 record.

"Right now," said Cook, "it's a little too early to tell where we stand in the conference this year. I just hope we don't come in last."

"We have about 10 or 11 pitchers. This might seem like a lot, but W. Michigan has 30 or 33."

"It's hard to get interest up when the students have to go clear to St. Cloud's field to see a game," he said.

"The main thing to promote interest is to get a field on campus," continued Cook. "Although, I know we have enough building problems as it is."

Neal B. (Whitey) Wilson, director of athletics, also attributes location to the lack of student interest.

"An automatic action takes place within a student when he only has to walk out of the dorm and right to the ball field," said Wilson. "Whereas, he just wouldn't bother to go if the field is a good distance away."

Practice facilities are also badly needed. "Schools like W. Michigan and Ohio U. have facilities to practice year round," Cook added. "They have practice rooms big enough to play a game in."

The theory that a winning season draws attention is what Cook is striving to prove. However, to compete takes recruiting, and to recruit takes being able to offer financial grants-in-aid to prospective players. At this time, the Herd offers seven grants in baseball, as compared to 20 in basketball.

Many authorities think the name of the game is pitching. Cook's sentiments also run along this line.

"We have a young team that will go as far as our pitching will take us," he predicted. "You can't give up nine to 10 runs a game and win in this conference."

Respect in the MAC is what Cook wants most for his team.

Last Monday was the first day of scheduled practice for the team. Most of the workouts will be restricted to indoor conditioning and fundamentals.

"We can practice our hitting in the handball court," said Cook. "But I want to move outside as soon as the weather breaks—which is usually about the second week in March."

Concerning his job as head coach, Cook said, "I'm going to do all I possibly can for baseball here at Marshall. I was hired as a full-time coach — I love the game, and I think we have a very dedicated group of boys to work with."

Thinclads Capture 2 Firsts At Meet

The Herd thinclads captured two firsts and one second place in the Ohio State University Open track meet held at OSU last Friday.

Mike Coleman, Anstead junior, placed first in the 60-yard dash with a time of 6:04. Gary Prater, Huntington senior, placed first in the mile run with a clocking of 4:28.3.

Mickey Jackson, Harpers Ferry senior, captured second place in the broad jump event with a leap of 21-foot nine-inches.

Ed Berry, Huntington sophomore, was third in the 600-yard run with a time of 1:16.5.

Greg Connelly, Baltimore, Md., freshman, and the only freshman to make the trip, placed fourth in the two-mile run.

Pete Lowe, Logan junior, was fifth in the 440 with a time of 53.4, and Earl Jackson, Wayne senior, also captured fifth place with a clocking of 2:03.8 in the 880-yard dash.

Earl Rine, placed sixth in the shot put with a heave of 43-7 feet.

Raiders Win Title

Another phase of intramural competition ended Feb. 13 when the Raiders, an independent team, defeated Sigma Alpha Epsilon in tournament play, 46-33, for the season's intramural championship.

According to Robert Dollgener, assistant professor of physical education, 83 teams participated in tournament play this year. Professor Dollgener said that the 83 teams were separated into 12 flights for a round-robin tournament. The first and second place winners advanced to a single elimination tournament that was won by the Raiders.

7 Students Meet With Dr. Smith

He continued by saying that Marshall has tried hard in past years "to make integration work on this campus. We have just this year integrated the faculty and I have talked to fraternity and sorority presidents in an effort to encourage them to integrate.

"Only recently," Dr. Smith continued, "I talked to a fraternity leader who said his group was seriously considering pledging a Negro student . . ."

President Smith said he received a letter Friday from Joe Slash, president of the Huntington Business and Professional Men's Club, which charged that Negro students at Marshall were being discriminated against by professors when grades were handed out.

Mr. Slash said in his letter, "There is and has been for a long period of time, a feeling on the part of the Negro students attending Marshall University, that they are unwanted. While students universally complain of their grades, it has been brought to our attention that during the past few years the Negro students almost without exception, have felt that they were not being treated fairly when the grades were issued and we are sure that you can understand why these students are literally afraid to let themselves be known. In a word, we have found that almost all of the Negro students harbor this feeling."

Dr. Smith, who said the letter questioned the integrity of the University faculty, added that "this is a very serious charge."

The president praised the seven students meeting with him Monday for first coming to him directly.

Jim Madison, a member of the student group, said that very few Negroes had actually tried to get into fraternities and sororities and had tried out for cheerleaders and so forth. He said, "We have been negligent in doing our share and we can't stand back and expect them to come to us."

He said Negroes would seek to participate more actively in the future.

Graduate Student In Intern Program

Fred Tallman, Vienna graduate student in political science, is taking part in the Legislative Internship program sponsored by Marshall and West Virginia University.

Mr. Tallman signed up as Marshall's representative in this, the first year of the program. He will receive six hours credit, according to Dr. Paul Stewart, chairman of the Political Science Department.

Dr. Stewart said that Tallman will stay in Charleston during the legislature where he will do research on state law, help draft bills, attend legislative and committee sessions and meet weekly with Professor William Ross of the Political Science Department.

After the legislature adjourns, Mr. Tallman will assist in putting the acts passed together.

Working under Mr. Earl Vickers, head of the Legislative Services Office, he will be receiving academic credit as well as practical experience.

Tallman received his B.S. degree in Political Science from Marshall last June.

Expenses for the cooperative program are paid by the State Legislature.

Ensembles To Perform Friday

THREE WIND ENSEMBLES from the music department will be featured in a concert Friday at 8:15 p.m. in the Campus Christian Center. The woodwind quintet, brass quintet, and brass ensemble will perform in a program of Baroque, Classical, and Contemporary music. One feature of the program will be the first Huntington performance of the "Piece For Brass" by Alfred W. Blatter, assistant professor of music.

Alpha Kappa Psi Holds First Place In Stocks And Earnings Competition

By KATURA CAREY
Feature Writer

It's strictly business with the Alpha Kappa Psi, business fraternity. For the past two weeks they have held first place in competition between five other fraternities representing their colleges and universities.

According to Lee W. Call, Charleston junior and president of the Alpha Kappa Psi, the Intercollegiate Management Contest is the first and only of its kind that Marshall has participated in. "Already," he said, "we're in first place."

The contest is divided into two main areas: earnings and stock price. Call broke the amount earned into four quarters. Two decisions each week are sent to Atlanta, Georgia, where the headquarters of the contest is located. The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad office provides its telegraph facility for the fraternity's use.

For the first quarter, Call said earnings amounted to $93,000. The second quarter saw an increase of $60,000, making its total $153,000. The third quarter saw another increase; its total earnings were $205,000. The fourth quarter jumped up to $583,000. Call said that at first the stock price sold for $9.00 a share; now it is selling for $28.00 a share.

Of course this type of competition represents theoretically what is actually done in the processes of big corporations. The origin of this competition, Call noted, was on the West Coast; however it has spread to other cities including Cincinnati, New York, Indianapolis, and Chicago. Alpha Kappa Psi does not know any other university or college participating in this type of competition except for one, which is Emory University of Atlanta, Georgia.

Call realized that this is quite an experience for the young men in the fraternity. The fraternity just became a national organization May, 1964. Before then it was a local organization, known as Beta Alpha Mu. This national business fraternity now has over 60,000 active members. A few nationally known are Richard Nixon and Robert McNamara, presidents of such corporations as Ford Motor Company and General Motors are also members.

Culminating the competition between the five colleges and universities, each fraternity from these institutions are sending three members and the faculty adviser to Atlanta where they will present their report to the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce for judging. Three of the members, which are not yet named, and their faculty adviser, Mr. J. Timothy McMahon, instructor in business administration, will be in Atlanta March 9-11 for the judging.

Food Committee Meets Tomorrow

The Food Service Committee will meet at 6:15 p.m. tomorrow in the Main Dining Hall.

This committee, composed of students, representing each dorm on campus, work with the food service department to help meet the requirements and the desires of the mealbook holders, according to Frank S. Willis, director of food service.

In a recent meeting, the committee discussed the possibility of sending letters to all other schools in the Mid-American Conference to get information on their food service policy. These letters would be sent to the food director of the different universities in questionnaire form, said Betty Demyan, Coal City senior and committee representative from Prichard Hall.

"The student committee is an excellent idea," said Mr. Willis, "and I hope it continues."

Miss Demyan has been appointed to fill the vacancy left by Pat Notterman, Cincinnati, Ohio, junior and representative from Prichard Hall, who transferred.

Milton Cole, Charleston sophomore, has been named as the Hodges Hall representative

Chi Beta Banquet Scheduled Friday

Chi Beta Phi scientific honorary will hold its annual initiation banquet Friday at 6 p.m. in the Uptowner Inn.

Speaker will be Dr. N. Bayard Green, professor of zoology and chairman of the department.

Kappa chapter of Chi Beta Phi at Marshall was founded in 1925. President is Deborah Adkins, Barboursville senior. Other officers are Douglas Sullivan, Huntington senior, vice president; Jean Ann Setterstrom, St. Albans senior, secretary-treasurer, and Robert Arnold, Huntington senior, historian.

Faculty advisers to the MU chapter are Dr. Jon Shoemaker, assistant professor of zoology and Ronald B. Chase, instructor in geology.

Chi Beta Phi was founded in 1916 at Randolph Macon College in Ashland, Va. The purpose of the organization is to promote interest in science and to give recognition to scholarly attainment in science.

$4,850,000 Approved For MU

A $4 million science-engineering building, a $450,000 communication center and $400,000 for the acquisition of land has been approved for Marshall by the West Virginia Board of Education.

If the Legislature approves the Board's recommendations, the Board plans to advertise the sale of revenue bonds this summer to finance the improvements.

Previously, Marshall was given the go-ahead to advertise the sale of an $11 million revenue bond for renovation and addition to Laidley and Hodges Halls and for a new University Center.

Marshall had also requested an additional $4 million classroom building, which the Botard failed to approve. If approval had been given, this would have raised the total approved to $8,450,000.

In a report to the Board made by A. D. Albright, executive vice president of the University of Kentucky, Marshall was said to have principle physical needs—additional capital improvements some buildings and more land.

"Northcott Hall, over 40 years old, should be replaced," according to the Albright report. A student center is needed, and in spite of historical and sentimental attachments, the continued use of Old Main is an increasing liability.

"Old buildings pose difficult problems of maintenance and operation, usually at a higher cost. In spite of budget limitations, the institution has done an unusual job of keeping the existing structure useable," the report said.

The approval for Marshall was part of a $24,330,000 package of construction appropriations that covered a statewide approval for Marshall and the eight state colleges.

ON PROGRAM

Dr. Howard A. Slaat'e, professor of philosophy and chairman of the department, and Dr. John H. Wotiz, professor of chemistry and chairman of the department, will be panelists representing Marshall University at the Conference on Science and Religion at Wesleyan College March 3-4. The conference is titled "Contemporary Science and Our Conceptions of God."
