Is Student Senate A 'Ding Dong School'?

By BECKY THOMAS
News Editor

"In the past week it has been suggested by members of the student body and the administration that the student Senate is like a highly-educated Ding Dong School," said Paul Matheny, Charleston junior and student body vice-president.

Matheny said he turned last week's Senate meeting over to Linda Lycan, Fort Gay junior and president-protem of the Senate, so that he could "sit back in the peanut gallery and watch the Clarabells of Student Government."

Matheny said that, in his opinion, Senator Lycan did a fine job "replacing me as the Wednesday night Howdy Doody." He added that if insinuations, such as the references stated above, continue to be voiced, there will definitely be a Student Government revolution on campus.

Matheny continued, "For years the Student Government has been under the auspices of kids with a little more opportunity than other students on campus. We have had a lot of good leaders who are now leaving Student Government. They are fed up. They don't like to be a part of something that doesn't work."

Matheny suggested that the administration not treat the Student Government leaders as "little boys playing games," as Larry Bruce, Huntington senior and former student body president, suggested earlier.

"We talk about discrimination against Negroes on campus, but actually the discrimination is directed toward the talented leaders of the student body," Matheny said.

Senator Lycan agreed with Matheny's concern by saying that in her opinion, "Marshall is still in the Victorian Age." She added that there is an "activist group" and a "Wednesday night group" in the Senate. Senator Lycan continued, "The school has expanded physically but not mentally. The students have no voice."

Matheny added, "There is no communication between the Student Government and the administration. President Smith should listen to what he says. It is a beautiful idea that he is preaching, but he should relate it to modern times."

Senate Gets 'Beer Bill' Tonight

By J. PRESTON SMITH
Staff Reporter

The beer on campus issue, one which has prompted the discussion of its desirability, necessity and morality, will finally reach the Student Senate tonight.

Ron Beatty, Weirton junior and student senator, said he will introduce a resolution which will establish guidelines for the sale of beer in the Shawkey Student Union.

Beatty's resolution, which was somewhat "changed" after his meeting last week with President Stewart H. Smith, is a result of what Beatty calls "a state-wide effort by students" for beer on campus.

Up To Student

"Wheeling College will have beer on campus and this is a church supported school," he said, "and West Virginia University is trying to get beer too."

Does Beatty think this will encourage drinking? "No," he said, "I don't think it will encourage drinking at all . . . the question is up to the student."

"The issue at hand is not an argument as to whether or not drinking is immoral," he said. "If a person because of his own individual preference wants to drink a beer it is obvious that he will have no trouble getting one."

Beatty went on to say that if a student is going to "indulge", it would be best for him to do so, in his opinion, "in an environment where there would be stricter controls and a more wholesome atmosphere."

Termed 'Good'

Although President Smith has termed Senator Beatty's resolution as "good", he has noted that the administration appears to be divided in its feeling of beer on campus.

Dr. Smith has indicated, according to Beatty, that he will take "a great deal of time" before deciding on the issue.

Dr. John E. Shay, Jr., dean of student affairs, also termed the resolution "good" but said it deemed "serious consideration" and would necessitate "strict controls".

Paul Matheny, Charleston junior and student body vice president, views the resolution with optimism.

A First Step

"Of the 23 senators it will take 12 to pass the resolution," he said. "Presently there are seven senators definitely for it and two that

10 MU Students Return From Anti-War March

By ROBERT HAMMETT
Staff Reporter

Ten Marshall students returned Sunday night from New York City and the largest anti-war demonstration in United States history.

"The Spring Mobilization to End the War in Vietnam" was the most impressive thing I have ever seen. Thousands of students, teachers, doctors, war veterans, and religious groups poured down Madison Avenue Saturday to the United Nations Building for a rally to denounce the war.

Marshall students and the West Virginia delegation marched close to the front of the parade before the University of Wisconsin and a group demanding support for draft refusers.

"I was impressed by the number of people, not only in the parade but those along the route who sympathized with us," said Alan Fuchs, Audubon, N. J., sophomore. "Two elements which had most impact were the veterans and a member of the Special Forces who had been in Vietnam and denounced U. S. policy there."

The march was peaceful with few incidents and Marshall students neither saw nor experienced any violence.

William Curry Jr., Randolph, Mass., freshman, said, "I thought the march was good and I hope it will bring attention to the people so that they will think seriously about the war. It did have an effect but if we stop now its effect will die along with peace."

Few of the students in our group could get close enough to the rally speakers because of the size of the crowd. The Rev. Martin Luther King was the main speaker at the rally.

David Kasper, Clayton, N. J. sophomore, said, "It was fine except the speeches were slanted toward racism." Kasper continued, "The only way to end the war is to demonstrate and call attention to it. When we get 190 million marching — and honest reporting — it may do something."

Sell Beer On Campus? Dr. Smith Deliberating

By ANN JOHNSTON
Feature Writer

"My ultimate decision will be made for the good of the students," said President Stewart H. Smith concerning the proposal to sell beer in Marshall's Student Union.

"I am going to consider the views of four areas of the campus: the administration, faculty, students and parents, before I make any conclusion," explained President Smith.

President Smith said he thought he already knew how his administration felt.

"The administration is distinctly divided. They either are in complete approval or complete disapproval, with very few being undecided. I would say there are as many against the sale of beer in the Student Union as there are for it."

Favors Questionnaire

"The faculty will let me know how they feel," said President Smith, "but I am very interested in getting the students' opinions." President Smith said he favored the use of a questionnaire in polling student opinion because it would reach more students than would a ballot-vote.

The final area considered, parents, is also one from which the president is awaiting more word, although he has "already heard from a few parents," he said.

"I think I have heard all the arguments on both sides of this question," commented President Smith. He noted the most prevalent favorable opinion stemmed from the fact that a student would be able to drink in a healthier environment by being able to purchase beer in the Student Union.

"Personally, I'd rather have my children drink, if they desired, on campus rather than other places," said President Smith.

Issue Pointed Out

He did not discredit local taverns saying, "I realize there are many nice establishments in Huntington, some very close to campus."

On the other side of the issue, the President pointed out that many are opposed to the Union's sale of beer on sincere religious grounds. "They feel that it would be detrimental to the students' well-being and offensive to students who do not care to drink."

When commenting that Huntington is a very conservative town in a conservative area, President Smith was asked if the community's opinion would also be used as a basis for his decision. President Smith said that it would not.

"Marshall likes Huntington and Huntington likes Marshall, but Huntington does not dictate to the University. My decision will come after a conscientious study of the four areas: administration, faculty, students, and parents."

School Visitation Schedule Planned

A program of high school visitations has officially begun by the Student Government Affairs Committee of the student Senate, according to Larry Sonis, Charleston sophomore senator and chairman of the committee.

Representatives of the Marshall student body will be sent to high schools throughout the state to discuss the opportunities and benefits which Marshall has to offer prospective college students.

Sonis said, "Marshall will have the stage at every appearance." This will be possible because the program is not part of the regular college night activities.

The first visit is scheduled for Charleston High School on May 2, Sonis added. Speaking to the senior class of the school will be Lowell Adkins, Huntington senior, Caroline Massey, Ashland, Ky. senior, Harry Bruner, Charleston freshman, Jane Clay, Charleston sophomore, and Sonis.

Further visits in the Huntington area and other parts of the state are now being arranged, Sonis added. Any student who wishes to take part in this program is urged to contact Sonis at the Student Government Office.

OPEN HOUSE

Dr. and Mrs. Stewart H. Smith will have an open house for students at their new home at 1515 5th Ave. from 2:30 p. m. to 5 p. m. Sunday. All students are welcomed.

Letters To The Editor

To The Editor:

On Wednesday, April 12, the Parthenon published a letter from Mr. John Hogg, a former student at Marshall. In his letter he condemned the action of Marshall students while celebrating our two NIT victories. He called us a MOB that refused to abide by the laws that protect the community. But I feel he went way too far when he said that the mobs at the Easter beach riots and Marshall students were one in the same!

I don't know if he was on Fourth Avenue the night we won the NIT games, but I was, and I felt our behavior wasn't that bad. True, a car was destroyed, and this is very bad, but if you will take into consideration that there were about a thousand students on the street, and that there will always be bad apples in every bunch, you must come to the conclusion that we students as a whole were well behaved. This belief is also held by two policemen with whom I talked later in the week.

As to the other part of his statement that we would not abide by the laws set up to protect our community, I again must disagree. If this group of one-thousand students were set out to destroy, the way he made it sound, I do believe we could make a bigger dent on Fourth Avenue than we did. Nobody attacked a fruit truck, then threw the fruit at a pop truck, and then tried to overturn a bus with people in it. At Fort Lauderdale, about 500 out of 20,000 students were arrested, in Huntington I don't know how many, if any were arrested, but I would go as far as say no more than 5 or 10 at the most. So, after looking at the facts, I feel Mr. Hogg had no justification in making his statement, and owes the students of Marshall an apology.

TERRY BOSTIC,
Huntington Freshman

To the Editor:

The West Virginia Legislature has amended the state beer law to allow the sale of beer on college and university campuses. If the individual school administration permits it, the consumption of beer on campus would be legal in certain areas.

In step with this change of policy, the Student Senate will consider a resolution tonight dealing with this proposal. The plan would permit the sale of beer in the Student Union with five major rules and regulations: (1) beer would be sold only after 3 p. m., (2) beer would be sold to students possessing MU ID cards, (3) beer would be sold by the glass, (4) beer would be sold and consumed only in a certain area of the Union so as not to disturb other activities, and (5) disorderly conduct resulting from intoxication would not be permitted.

This plan is an excellent beginning step which deserves serious consideration by school officials. I emphasize that it does not advocate drinking; it only allows those students who wish to drink to have the privilege of drinking in a wholesome atmosphere, provided that they do not interfere with the comfort of others.

If the West Virginia Legislature did not think that this would be a workable plan, it would not have passed the amendment. If our State Government did not have faith in the maturity and responsibility of college students, it would not have given us the chance to have this privilege. However, it did, and it is time for Marshall University to take action.

The University of Heidelberg has been drinking on campus for more than 600 years, and it has produced some of the finest scholars in the world. Furthermore, our sister school in the MAC, Ohio University, already has a beer policy similar to the one being proposed here which has been very successful since its adoption.

The sale of beer would also provide a greater amount of revenue for the Union, making it possible for larger student recreational facilities.

At 6:30 this evening in the Science Hall Auditorium, the Senate will deal with this resolution. I urge all students to attend this important meeting.

LARRY SONIS,
Sophomore Senator

Navy To Counsel

A Naval aviation officers information team will counsel students Thursday and Friday interested in an officer commission in naval aviation. Mental examinations (multiple choice) will be given to interested students.

There are many programs available to seniors: pilot, flight officer or air intelligence. Students must inquire about the programs in their junior year but will not go on active duty until after graduation.

Second semester freshmen, sophomores and juniors may apply for pilot or flight officer summer training programs.

Students interested in the program should stop by the Student Union for additional information.

Applicants can wear glasses and still qualify for some of the programs, according to O. J. Dussia, Commander, U. S. Naval Intelligence.

CHEERLEADER TRYOUTS

All students, including men, who will be upperclassmen next year may try out for cheerleader. Six practices will be held tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday at 4 p. m. in the Women's Gym. Tryouts will be April 26 at 4 p. m. in the Women's Gym. All students who want to try out must attend three practices.

Operative Soon

A WORKMAN (upper left) looks down at the new air conditioning unit of the Academic Center, which, according to the architects, will be operative in three weeks to a month. The unit is capable of cooling 500 gallons of water to a temperature of 42 degrees.

Academic Center Cooling Unit 'One Of Huntington's Largest'

By ANN JOHNSTON
Feature Writer

Air conditioning in the Academic Center will be operative in three weeks to one month, according to Brooks Dean of Dean and Dean Architects.

"The half-million dollar unit, one of Huntington's largest," said Mr. Dean, "gives the building approximately 450 tons of air conditioning. It is capable of chilling 500 gallons of water per minute to a temperature of 42 degrees, and the main fan blows 108 cubic feet of cool air per minute into the entire building."

Mr. Dean said that the Academic Center's air conditioning unit is a relatively new type which gives a constant volume of air. This means that the volume of air entering the building is never changed, a concept important to proper ventilation, he explained.

Temperature may be regulated by adjusting a mixing damper which mixes the separately entering warm and cold air to a proper temperature.

Mr. Dean explained the unit's operation as water circulating through the unit causing the chilling of coils, over which air is passed, cooled, and blown into the building's air-conditioning outlets. Heat from the air is returned to the main chiller and the same water is used each cycle.

"The Academic Center's air conditioning," commented Mr. Dean, "is one of the latest types. It is well-engineered, and should prove very effective."

Counseling Begins

The counseling period for pre-registration for the first and second term of summer school began Monday and will continue until April 29.

Registration will be held Saturday and Saturday, April 29, from 8:30 until 11 a. m. on the second floor of Old Main.

To register for either term, or both terms, a student must present a treasurer's receipt for payment of fees. Students are also requested to use their student number as it appears on their ID cards.

Urban Renewal Project Being Recommended

An urban renewal project, which would include expanding Marshall's campus to 23rd Street, has been recommended to the City Council by D. W. Harris, executive director of the Urban Renewal Authority.

Marshall hopes to build a new stadium and use the remaining area for fulltime off-campus parking lots over which dormitories might be built.

President Stewart H. Smith said, "It hasn't been all worked out as yet. We definitely need parking spaces. The administration is considering other uses for the area and will come up with them, but we have nothing definite."

The proposed area for the stadium is located between Third and Fifth Avenues and 20th and 23rd Streets. It is primarily designed as an open horseshoe facing Fifth Avenue and it would seat about 25,000. Its closeness to the campus will permit students to walk to events held there.

The project calls for five years for completion and five years for development of the area, but President Smith said, "I don't think it will take that long."

Plans for redevelopment of the area not proposed for the stadium are due in two to three weeks.

The 15-page report said that since stadium events are limited each year, the stadium could be used for other community events.

The land will be cleared and deeded to the university, which will be responsible for developing it.

The recommendation for the site was submitted in November, 1966, by a committee chosen by President Smith. The Urban Renewal Authority then investigated for three months the feasibility of the project.

Beer Vote Expected Tonight

are rather pessimistic that I know of."

"This plan is an excellent beginning step," said Larry Sonis, Charleston sophomore and student senator. He emphasized that Beaty's resolution "does not advocate drinking" but, he said, merely presents a "wholesome atmosphere" for those who wish to drink.

If the resolution passes the senate, it must then be signed by Mike Farrell, Huntington junior and student body president, before being sent to Dr. Smith for consideration.

List Of Points

Following is a list of points that will be presented tonight in Beaty's resolution.

1) The sale of beer shall be conducted only at certain hours of the day. The hours from 3 p. m. until the union closes. This is to eliminate drinking between classes.

2) Beer will be sold only to those individuals who present an MU I.D. card, which is positive identification due to birthdate and picture. In accordance with the state law, only those persons 18 years and older would be allowed to purchase beer.

3) Draft beer will be sold, thus eliminating any bottles that would clutter the union.

4) The drinking of beer will only be allowed in certain areas of the union. Beer will not be permitted outside of this area so as not to interfere with other union activities.

5) The sale of beer will be at the discretion of the bartender.

SENIOR BANQUET

The senior banquet will be held within the next three weeks. Graduating seniors will be introduced to the Alumni Association and made honorary members for one year. Details concerning the banquet will be posted on the Alumni Office bulletin board.

DORA MAY MITCHELL, assistant professor of education, will be among five retiring faculty members to be honored Friday night at the annual University recognition dinner for faculty members. Professor Mitchell joined the faculty in 1951. She is a native of Oklahoma.

Library, Parking Lot Broken Into

The James E. Morrow Library and the underground parking lot in the Academic Center were broken into over the weekend, according to Jim Martin, director of information and publication.

The vandals first entered the underground parking lot under construction in the Academic Center by knocking down a petition from the outside wall. They then entered the library through the construction and broke in a window on the southside of the building.

The vandals did damage to an already broken Xerox machine and attempted to take a coin box but found it had already been removed. The center drawer of the desk behind the circulation desk on the second floor had been forced open, but nothing had been taken. The only thing found out of order was an umbrella on the floor.

Police are still investigating.

Matheny: '... Laughing At Myself'

"If it means that I must lose my office by speaking what I feel," concluded Matheny, "then that's the way it must be." When Matheny was asked what he thought Mike Farrell, Huntington junior and student body president, would think of his statement, Matheny said, "Mike would say that the situation will work itself out, that there is nothing we can do about it." Matheny explained that in his opinion any president has to take this position. It's like the old idea "You can't fight City Hall," Matheny added, "but I would never want to be a part of something I couldn't fight. I hate to be laughed at, and I am even laughing at myself."

Farrell Replies

In reply to Matheny's charges, Farrell said, "People clamor for change, but they don't know what they want."

Farrell asked that definite proposals be made, not just ambiguous cries for power. He said these proposals should be researched, proper officials consulted, and then be backed up with relevant facts.

"I think Student Government should solve problems and investigate social, academic, and athletic situations which directly affect the students," said Farrell.

He cited examples of these functions being carried out by the present administration as, social — planning a "Winter Weekend" for next year; academic — a new class cut policy to be instituted next fall; and athletic — a new ticket policy for the games next year.

Farrell summed up his feelings by saying that, "The students pay for Student Government through the student activity fee, and thus the Student Government should provide services for the students. This is our primary function."

He concluded that, "Changes should come about through discussion and mutual cooperation, not through one side demanding rapid change."

Committee Appointed

A Senate committee has been appointed to investigate the reasons for the defeat of the Student-Faculty Mediator Board by the Student Conduct and Welfare Board.

Larry Sonis, Charleston sophomore senator, will introduce a student information proposal at tonight's 6:30 p. m. Senate meeting in the Science Hall Auditorium. The proposal differs slightly from the two rating systems already defeated by the Senate in the last few weeks. Sonis outlined the motion as follows:

1. The report would be made by the speaker of the Senate.
2. Each month the report would be attached to the Senate synopsis which is distributed to all organizations on campus.

3. The report would include legislation by each senator, work on standing committees, work on special committees and projects, and work through personal initiative. Any senator who refuses to authorize his report shall not be mentioned.

A majority vote of a quorum of the Senate will be required to pass or defeat the motion.

REQUIEM FOR A SQUARE

You, like any other lovable, clean-living, freckle-faced American kid, want to be a BMOC. How can you make it? Well sir, there are several ways, none of which will work.

You're too puny to be an athlete, too lazy to be a valedictorian, and too hairy to run for Homecoming Queen.

As for becoming a best-dressed man, how are you going to buy clothes with a miser for a father?

Are you licked then? Is there no way to make BMOC? Yes, there is! And you can do it! Do what? This:

Become a hippie! Get cool! Get alienated! Have an Identity Crisis! Be one of the Others!

How? Well sir, to become a hippie, simply follow these five simple rules:

1. Read all of Tolkien in the original dwarf.
2. Have your Sophomore Slump in the freshman year.
3. Wear buttons that say things like this:
NATIONALIZE DAIRY QUEEN
ASTHMATICS, UNITE
LEGALIZE APPLE BUTTER
HANDS OFF AIR POLLUTION
4. Go steady with a girl who has long greasy hair, a guitar, enlarged pores, and thermal underwear.
5. Attend Happenings regularly.

This last item may require some explanation, for it is possible that Happenings haven't reached your campus yet. Be assured they will because Happenings are the biggest college craze since mononucleosis.

A Happening, in case you don't know, is the first formless art form. Things just happen. For example, eighty naked men come out and squirt each other with fire hoses containing tinted yogurt. Then eighty more naked men come out and light birthday candles in the navels of the first eighty men. Then one girl, clothed, comes out and pulls three thousand feet of sausage casing through her pierced ear. Then eighty more naked men come out and eat a station wagon.

There is, of course, a musical accompaniment to all these fun things. Usually it is "Begin the Beguine," played by 26 trench mortars, a drop forge, and a rooster.

There used to be, some years ago, still another requirement for becoming a hippie: a man had to have a beard.

But no longer. Beards were worn in the past not so much as a protest, but because shaving was such a painful experience. Then along came Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades.

Today if you don't want to shave, well, that's your hangup, isn't it, baby? I mean when you've got a blade like Personna that tugs not neither does it scrape, what's your copout, man? I mean like get with it; you're living in the past. Shaving used to hurt, used to scratch, used to gouge, used to give you all kinds of static. But not since Personna. It's a gas, man. It's a doozy; it's mom's apple pie. You dig?

I mean, man, you still want a beard? Crazy! But you don't have to turn your face into a slum, do you? Shave around the bush, baby, neatly and nicely with Personna. I mean like Personna comes in double-edge style and Injector style too. I mean like any way you try it, you gotta like like it.

Herd Beats XU, Stopped By UC

The Thundering Herd baseball team outlasted Xavier University 4-2 Friday and then bowed to the University of Cincinnati Bearcats 10-3 Saturday.

Third baseman Bob Lemley, Huntington junior, doubled home the winning run in the top of the 11th inning to give southpaw Paul Holley his second win of the season.

Holley, the sophomore from Huntington East High, struck out five and walked just one in going the entire 11 innings. Holley is now 2-2 on the season.

Shortstop Jim Fantuzzo, Lower Burrell, Pa., sophomore, started the winning rally with a base hit in the 11th inning. Carl "Rocky" Nelson, Peekskill, N. Y., senior, sacrifice bunted him to second. It was at this point that Lemley belted his tie-breaking two-bagger.

The Herd added an insurance run in the same inning as Horlin Carter's ground ball slipped through the Xavier shortstop's legs, scoring Charlie Yonker, New Haven senior, on the play.

In Saturday's game at the University of Cincinnati, the Bearcats exploded for five runs in the bottom of the fifth inning, knocking MU starter Tom Harris from the pitchers mound. The Huntington junior, who took the loss, is now 2-2 for the season.

The Bearcats' John Meyer and John Hageleison both collected three hits, including a home run, a triple and four runs batted in for Meyer.

MU scored all three of its runs in the top half of the eighth inning after two outs. Lemley singled and was followed by Yonker who walked. John Mazur, Lower Burrell, Pa. sophomore, loaded the bases with a hit and Bill Blevins, Huntington junior, knocked in two runs on a base hit. While fielding Blevins' hit, Bearcat left fielder Gordy Smith committed an error and Mazur scored the final run.

The Herd swings back into MAC action this weekend when they travel to Bowling Green University to play the Bobcats on Friday and Saturday. MU is 0-2 in the conference and will be trying to even the record at the expense of the Falcons.

Lemley Helps Herd Win

THUNDERING HERD third baseman Bob Lemley, Huntington junior, copped the team's win over Xavier Saturday when he doubled home the winning run in the top of the 11th inning. The final 4-2 score gave southpaw pitcher Paul Holley, Huntington sophomore, his second win.

Record Is Broken But Meet Lost

By DAVID DICK
Sports Writer

Jim Davidson, Logan sophomore, broke the school record for the high jump Saturday in the Ohio University Relays.

Davidson, who holds the West Virginia high school record, set the record with a jump of 6-4 3/4. The old school record high jump was set in 1966 by George Hicks. Hicks' jump was 6-4 1/4.

Despite this, Davidson placed second in the high jump competition.

This is the fifth school track record to fall this season. When asked about this, Dr. Michael Josephs, professor of physical education and track coach, said, "More emphasis has been placed on track this year. The track program is better organized — the boys are working and improving."

The 440-relay team — Mike Coleman, Anstead junior; Mickey Jackson, Harpers Ferry senior; Larry Parker, Huntington junior; and Joe Gast, Baltimore, Md., sophomore — placed fifth with a time of 43.7.

Coleman also placed sixth in the 100-yard dash with a time of 9.8. The event was won by Jim Ray of Kentucky State with a 9.3 second run.

ALUMNUS CITED

Lt. Clyde A. Bonar, Wellsburg 1959 alumnus, has been listed in the 1967 edition of "Outstanding Young Men in America." Approximately 10,000 young men from throughout the country are included in the listing selected by a 14 member national board of editors.

Third Game Saturday

Alumni, Varsity To Clash

By GARY JUDE
Sports Writer

Marshall football alumni will renew their rivalry with the Thundering Herd varsity Saturday at 2 p.m. at Fairfield Stadium in the third varsity-alumni clash.

The alumni won the first meeting, 13-12, in 1962, but the varsity evened the series with a 14-6 triumph in 1963 before the series was discontinued. However, Dr. Sam Clagg, professor of geography and department chairman, will again coach the old grads in an effort to better his .500 percentage. This year's encounter has added interest, as many of the players will return from the undefeated 1937 team and the 1947 team which lost 7-0 to Catawba (North Carolina) in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.

Thundering Herd Coach Charley Snyder, who was captain of the 1947 team, said he expects a hard-hitting and exciting battle with the alumni.

"They beat our pants off in 1962, so we expect a rough game," Coach Snyder said. "They have some real good players. This game will be well worth the price of admission."

"This game will also give our football fans a chance to see our 1967 Thundering Herd football team in action," added Coach Snyder.

"We really need the support of everyone in making this a profitable event. I feel we have a tremendous drawing card and it should be a great game," said Harry M. Sands, director of alumni affairs and development.

Tickets for the contest are now on sale in the Alumni Office. They cost $1 for students and $1.50 for adults.

Festivities for the weekend will begin on Friday evening with a 9 p.m. cocktail party at the Hotel Prichard. The party will be open

DEAN ATTENDING CLINIC

Dr. Robert B. Hayes, dean of Teachers College, will attend a teaching clinic today through Saturday in Daytona Beach, Fla. The purpose of the clinic, entitled "The Anatomy of Student Teaching," is to study the professional laboratory experience roles in teacher education, said Dean Hayes.

Marshall Places Fourth In Purdue Invitational

Marshall's golf team finished fourth Saturday in the Purdue Invitational golf meet in Lafayette, Ind., with a score of 800.

The Purdue squad won the 36-hole event with a 769 total, Michigan State finished second with 782 and Ball State was third at 793. Other scores were Kentucky, 810, and Cincinnati 826.

The Herd was led by Pete Donald who shot rounds of 77 and 78 for a tourney total of 155 shots. Ken Bowen fired a 35-38-73 to tie Purdue's Jim Duffie for the lowest 18-hole round of the day.

Marshall's individual 36-hole totals include Pete Donald 155, Ken Bowen 156, Dave Carter 158, Dick Shepard 160, Jeff Billie and Brecht Peoples 173.

The weekend action moved Marshall's season record to 6-5.

The Herd will return to action Saturday when they travel to Columbus, Ohio, to compete in the Ohio State Invitational. Other entries include Michigan State, Indiana, Purdue and Notre Dame.

MOREHEAD NEXT FOE

The MU tennis team will face Morehead State tomorrow at 3 p. m. on the Gullickson Hall courts. Morehead Coach Jerry Denstorff said he thought the match would be pretty even. "If anything Marshall will have the advantage because of the three matches they have already played," he said. The Herd's lone win this season came on a forfeit by Xavier last Saturday. Morehead posted an 8-3 record last year.

Dr. J. Frank Bartlett To Retire This August

Dr. J. Frank Bartlett, who was born in Flatwoods (Braxton County) — the geographical center of the state — has been the central pivot in the development and expansion of the College of Arts and Sciences during the past 21 years. He will retire in August after completing 35 years at Marshall as teacher and A&S dean.

"Some of my most treasured memories come from the classroom," Dean Bartlett said, as he looked back to science and chemistry classes at Gassaway High School (1925-1930) and at Marshall (1932-1945).

"Everyone who leaves the classroom regrets leaving it for an administrative role," he said.

But there has been satisfaction as a college dean, too.

Satisfactions Told

"My greatest satisfaction has come from seeing the intellectual and social development of the young life," the dean said, citing instances of students who had been forced out of college for academic reasons in their freshmen or sophomore years but who, when later readmitted, went on to do college work of high caliber. Or, added the dean, of watching an immature coed — "the greenest of the green" — develop into "a mature young lady holding down a responsible position."

"You can see hundreds of such instances," the dean reminisced, "in which you had a personal hand — and that's the reward of this kind of thing. The headaches are temporary; the achievements are permanent."

Achievements Named

Achievements have been many. Under Dean Bartlett's leadership during two decades, the College of Arts and Sciences has:

1. Instituted a Bachelor of Business Administration degree.
2. Established the present Honors Program in A&S.
3. Established a program of joint majors which cuts across academic departments within the university.
4. Instituted an advertising curriculum.
5. Set up a forestry program in cooperation with Duke University.
6. Set up the Speech 103 requirement.
7. Consolidated the various language departments into the Department of Modern Languages and brought the various life sciences into a single Biological Science.
8. Established an adviser-advisee program.

In addition, A&S faculty has grown from 40 in 1945 to 141 now, with 39.6 per cent of the faculty holding Ph. D. degrees. As for student enrollment, it was "very low" in 1945 because returning GI's had not yet started the campus invasion. Now there are 2,576 full — and part-time A&S students.

Growth Cited

Not only has the student body grown by leaps and bounds, but physical facilities have mushroomed since Dean Bartlett first began teaching chemistry at MU in 1932. At that time there were only five main buildings: Old Main, Northcott Hall, the physical education building (now the Women's Gym), Music Building, and the Library. The Student Union was being built in that year.

In terms of length of service, only a few have been at Marshall longer: W. Page Pitt, professor of journalism, 1926; Lyell V. Douhat, associate professor of education, 1926, who also will be honored at a faculty recognition dinner Friday night for retiring faculty members and administrators; Louise McDonough, professor of physical education, 1929; Frederick A. Fitch, professor of physical education, 1930; Robert L. Britton, professor of geography, 1930; Dr. Kenneth K. Loemker, professor of psychology, 1930, and A. Otis Ranson, professor of speech, 1931.

Dr. Smith Comments

In honor of Dean Bartlett's long service at Marshall, President Stewart H. Smith said:

"Dean Bartlett is completing 35 years of distinguished service to Marshall. He and I began as academic deans on Sept. 1, 1945. At that time Marshall had only two academic deans. Upon my election as president by the West Virginia Board of Education, he was the first member of the staff to congratulate me.

"During my long association with Dean Bartlett, I have found him to be a loyal and trustworthy colleague. As a teacher of chemistry and as academic dean, he has always performed his duties competently and cheerfully. I have been most fortunate to have had his counsel, cooperation and friendship."

The dean summed up future plans by saying, "My time is going to be my own. I plan to take a 12-month vacation each year."

"I'm going to live in Huntington," he added, "where I've spent the greater part of my life, where I have established friendships, organizational connections, and so on."

And, no doubt, he will devote more time to one of his favorite pastimes: gun collecting and rifle-pistol marksmanship.

Nominations Open For Who's Who

Nominations for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities for 1967-68 year are now open. Any faculty member, club, or organization on campus may submit nominations. Nominations must be turned in at the Student Government office. They must contain the name of the faculty member or organization making the nomination, the nominee's name, and if possible, the nominee's address and telephone number. Nominees must have a 2.5 overall scholastic average. Deadline for submitting nominations is Friday, April 28.

Previously, the selection of students for Who's Who has taken place in the fall. This year Marshall is complying with the request to select students in the spring, in order that the national organization may print their publication earlier than usual. This earlier date is to aid students in obtaining scholarships and jobs.

Nominees will be notified on May 1, to pick up their application form at the Student Government office. Applications must be returned to the Student Government office before 3 p. m. Wednesday, May 10.

Intra-Dormitory 'College Bowl' Scheduled For This Month

An intra-dormitory version of "College Bowl" will be held this month at Marshall.

All dormitories except West Hall will participate in this tournament based on the television game. Richard Hanson, Welch junior and residence director of Rowley Hall, said "this is a continuation of an idea formulated last year that proved successful."

Each dorm can enter a maximum of four teams, each consisting of four members of that dormitory. Team members are selected by inter-dorm competition, and the winners elect a captain and choose a team name.

Eliminating rounds for the contest will be held in the dorms, and the finalists will compete in Old Main Auditorium at the end of April. The final tournament will be broadcast over WMUL, and trophies will be given to the winners.

Questions for the games have been submitted by faculty members.

TUTORS AVAILABLE

Alpha Lambda Delta, women's honorary sorority, is offering tutoring services to students for $2 an hour. A list of the subjects with the names and addresses of the student tutors are available with Mrs. Lillian Helms Buskirk, associate dean of students.
