Nuzum, freshman president

Robert Nuzum of Huntington was elected freshman class president Wednesday with 340 votes out of 656.

Cathy Perry of Charleston became vice president of the class by receiving the largest amount of votes among the senatorial candidates.

Other senators elected were Pam Ison, Barclay Brown and Marty Harshbarger, all of Huntington, and Karen Gaiter of Charleston.

"There were 656 votes," said Pam Evans, Parkersburg senior and election co-ordinator. "The freshman class has a total of 2,132 members. I'm very disappointed in the turnout of the election as a whole. I believe this reflects a general apathy of the whole freshman class."

"The Parthenon," she added, "gave us better coverage than we've ever had before, therefore the freshmen should have known about the election."

Miss Evans refused to release the number of votes each candidate received.

"The freshmen were not only selfish," said Harry Budden, chairman of the Initiative Group, "they showed no respect for Student Government

Nuzum was vice president of the student body at Huntington East, and a member of the honor society, Key Club, Mu Alpha Theta, A Capella Choir, All-state chorus and the Varsity H Club. He was a delegate to Boys' State and Student Council

Workshop and is a pledge of Lambda Chi Alpha.

Miss Perry, a pledge of Alpha Xi Delta, was president of the junior class in high school and vice president of the student body and French Club.

Miss Brown participated in the Youth in Government during high school and is an Alpha Xi Delta pledge.

Miss Ison was a class officer three years, an officer of Student Council for two years, and is an Alpha Xi Delta pledge.

Miss Gainer was a member of the National Honor Society, editor of the annual and is an Alpha Chi Omega pledge. Miss Harshbarger, also an Alpha Chi pledge, worked as a political aide in Washington D.C. this summer.

Queen hopefuls begin campaigns

By LEIGH FERGUSON
News Editor

Campaigning is under way for the election of Miss Marshall and three class attendants to reign over 1967 Homecoming festivities.

More emphasis is being placed on Homecoming elections this year since there will be no float competition, and students are being asked to follow the campaigns closely in order to elect the queens of their choices.

Eight senior girls are vying for the title of Miss Marshall, according to Pam Evans, Parkersburg senior and Homecoming election co-ordinator.

The candidates include Diana Muth of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority, Sherry Baker of Alpha Xi Delta, Jackie Bernard of Sigma Sigma Sigma, Dorinne Walker of Delta Zeta, Patty Callicoat of Sigma Kappa, all of Huntington.

Others are Sue Herndon, Alpha Chi Omega, Gauley Bridge; Frances Chirico, Laidley Hall, Mt. Hope, and Donna Ingman, Phi Mu, South Charleston.

Junior attendant candidates are Jane Meisel, Alpha Sigma Alpha; Priscilla Hofmeier, Alpha Chi Omega; Lynda Clay, Alpha Xi Delta, and Penny Mosser, Sigma Sigma Sigma, all of Huntington; Jane Allen, Sigma Kappa, St. Albans; Linda Ruth Miller, Phi Mu, Welch; Pam Buffington, Laidley Hall, Point Pleasant, and Priscilla Curtis, Delta Zeta, Nitro.

The eight sophomore attendant hopefuls are: Jan Dean, Alpha Sigma Alpha; Merle Wiley, Sigma Sigma Sigma and Linda Ballinger, Alpha Chi Omega, all of Huntington.

Barbara Kay Wilson, Delta Zeta, and Bonnie Howard, Sigma Kappa, both of Charleston; Charlotte Pritt, Phi Mu, Sissonville; Nancy Cole, Alpha Xi Delta, Ravenswood, and Carolyn Rader, Laidley Hall, Ripley.

The eight candidates for freshman attendant are: Alice Cook, Alpha Chi Omega; Margie Barron, Phi Mu; Nancy Cremeans, Alpha Sigma Alpha; Becky Miller, Sigma Sigma Sigma, and Karen Hibbard, Alpha Xi Delta, all of Huntington; Patti Jo White, Delta Zeta, Proctorville, Ohio; Margie Costanzo, Laidley Hall, Wheeling, and Jean McClure, Sigma Kappa, St. Albans.

Paradoxical protests?

It seems to be a paradox of immense proportions, this thing called peace demonstrations.

"Peace now," the paradox says, "peace now at any costs, even if it takes violence."

This past weekend, thousands of marchers, sit-inners, love-inners, and flower-power advocates, including some 10 Marshall students, gathered in Washington to protest the United States involvement in Viet Nam.

They gathered for a mass demonstration at the Pentagon, seat of military might in the United States, to voice their arguments. Very clearly, they wanted a withdrawal of all troops from the south-east Asian country, and they were more than vociferous in their demands.

So, some stormed the citadel which represented all that was wrong in the war. Some of the peace-loving war haters were met with clubs wielded by war-hating peace lovers. Some were injured, many more arrested.

And the paradox, neither hurled from the throats of the demonstrators nor painted on one of the signs, was there just the same.

"Peace now," it says, "peace now at any costs, even if it takes violence."

Letters to the editor

To the Editor:

As a freshman I observed the freshman election campaign. To say the least, the campaign left much to be desired.

A four-day campaign is not long enough to get acquainted with the candidates. Merely a few signs on campus giving the name of the candidate and his ballot number is not enough.

The candidates had no opportunity to speak to the entire freshman class on the same platform. They had to resort to approaching students in the cafeteria and sheepishly asking, "are you a freshman? I sure would appreciate your vote."

The more elite had fraternity brothers and sisters "pushing" them. Because a candidate is a first semester pledge in a particular fraternity (or sorority) does not qualify him for a freshman office.

Then there were the students who did last minute campaigning. Evidently they waited too late. In a regular election candidates are not permitted to campaign at the polls.

Although the campaign appeared to be a farce we might have stumbled on to some good leadership. Apathy on the Marshall campus is surprising and disappointing, but I don't suppose apathy is as bad as trying to fight "the Greek system."

To the Editor:

Marshall University deserves a pat on the back for the fine support it has given to all of its athletic teams: football, basketball, baseball, golf, tennis, and . . . soccer?

Soccer?

This word means little to anyone at Marshall. Most students do not even realize that Marshall has a soccer team, but the time has come for our soccer team to be recognized and assisted.

Last year only two contests could be held. The blame for the small schedule may be attributed to the fact that other schools will not compete here unless we are able to compete at their school. Since no funds are provided for traveling expenses, we can not play away games.

It is evident that no assistance will be given the team unless soccer becomes a varsity sport. Therefore, the steps necessary to "varsityize" soccer must be taken.

Headed for adventure

By JO ANN FERGUSON
Teacher's College Journalist

A 14-foot "Redbird" will glide down the Ohio River at 9 a.m. tomorrow carrying two physical education majors into two days of adventure.

Zane Perry, Gilbert sophomore, and Frank Cook, Oceana senior, will man the red, fiber-glass Herter's canoe against the hazards of the Ohio in an adventure described by them as, "... something we have looked forward to for a long time."

The initiative for this project stemmed from the desire to remain active in water sports, a constant summer activity for one and an ever growing interest for the other.

Perry, an expert water skier, will guide the lightweight, unsinkable craft while Cook will man the log book. This will note such things as the number and size of boats sighted, currents, game and water pollution. Their overnight equipment includes a knap-sack, bedrolls, camera, log book and radio plus a dime to call in at their final destination about 4 p.m. Sunday.

The men are confident of their ability to combat any hazards involved, such as current, rocks, and barges. When asked of future plans the two replied, "We are looking for a race the next time we embark."

'Barefoot' was 'record smashing'

"We had a record smashing production," said Professor Clayton R. Page, associate professor of speech and director of the play "Barefoot in the Park."

Mr. Page said there was more attendance at 'Barefoot' than any other University production.

There were also more downtown people who attended the play than ever before.

He contributed some of the attendance to the Arts Festival which was being held at the same time. "Many people who attended the festival also came to see the play," said Mr. Page.

"Everyone seemed to enjoy the play and I am pleased with its success," commented Mr. Page.

Mr. Page said that the University Theatre plans to do something different for its next production which will be announced later.

all by itself.

Sprite, you recall, is the soft drink that's so tart and tingling, we just couldn't keep it quiet.

Flip its lid and it really flips. Bubbling, fizzing, gurgling, hissing and carrying on all over the place.

An almost excessively lively drink. Hence, to zlupf is to err.

What is zlupfing?

Zlupfing is to drinking what smacking one's lips is to eating.

It's the staccato buzz you make when draining the last few deliciously tangy drops of Sprite from the bottle with a straw.

Zzzzzlllupf!

It's completely uncalled for. Frowned upon in polite society. And not appreciated on campus either.

But. If zlupfing Sprite is absolutely essential to your enjoyment; if a good healthy zlupf is your idea of heaven, well...all right.

But have a heart. With a drink as noisy as Sprite, a little zlupf goes a long, long way.

Date set for blood drive

This year's blood drive will be Nov. 8 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the ballroom of the Student Union.

"The University gets back 70 per cent of the blood it donates for the school's use," said Bob Gregg, blood drive coordinator. For each pint of blood we donate we get a credit card for it which is good for one year. We average about 60 cards each semester and of these we use somewhere between 15 and 30 cards."

"If a student or a member of the student's immediate family needs blood, all that needs to be done is for someone to see the blood drive coordinator or Mike Farrell, student body president and Huntington senior, and give the name, hospital and location and the blood will be given free because of student donations."

Gregg continued, "The program is good only while we have the credit cards. We have the first drive Nov. 8 and the second one in March so the periods the cards represent overlap. After each year is over, we lose the cards to the Red Cross. The usual rate for a pint of blood is $50."

Judging will take place from 2-4 p.m. Thursday. A plaque will be presented to the winner at 10 a.m. Friday.

All sized windows are eligible. Judging will be based on appropriateness, originality and imagination. The five-member panel of judges selected from the Tri-State area will use a cumulative point system.

Entry blanks are available at the Alumni Office. They must be returned to the office by Saturday.

Martin listed in biographical

The biography of John L. Martin, professor of Spanish, has been listed in "Who's Who in The East," a publication containing biographies of leading executives and officials in government, business, education, religion, the press, civic affairs and fine arts and law.

According to Professor Martin, a questionnaire was sent to him by the publishers stating that they would like to have his name listed in Who's Who in The East. Mr. Martin filled out the questionnaire and sent it back to the publishers.

A graduate from Marshall in 1933 Magna cum laude, Professor Martin received his M.A. from the University of Kentucky in 1934, and his Ph.D. from University of Pittsburgh in 1940.

Martin is the author of "El Alferez Real" (Oxford Library of Spanish Text), 1940 and "Las Obras Literarias De Jose Milla" (University of Guatemala), 1948.

Professor Martin's biography has also been listed in the "Directory of American Scholars" and the "Directory of Latin Americanist," Library of Congress.

COACH ELLIS JOHNSON KEEPS TAB ON PRACTICE
90-minute workouts have begun for cagers

Cagers face tough year; practicing hard for opener

By D. G. HUMRICHOUER
Sports Writer

"We have our work cut out for us."

Those were the words of Head Basketball Coach Ellis Johnson as he looked to the upcoming cage season which starts Dec. 2 when the Thundering Herd battles Morris-Harvey at Memorial Field House.

This year's schedule puts Marshall against some top rivals plus two nationally ranked teams from last season, Houston and Loyola of Chicago.

"Morehead State and Eastern Kentucky will be real tough," said Johnson of two talented teams MU will face.

According to Johnson, Morehead is favored to win the Ohio Valley Conference with Eastern fighting all the way.

When asked about the MAC Johnson said, "It will be the toughest it has ever been. Toledo is heavily favored, but Bowling Green will be right on their heels."

The coach added, "There won't be any pushovers."

Also eyeing the championship will be the Thundering Herd led by the efforts of seniors Bob Redd, George Stone and Bob Allen.

Coach Johnson has been putting his team through 90-minute workouts in Gullickson Hall.

"We are working on fundamentals," stated Johnson, "Strictly fundamentals."

Johnson divides the practice sessions into three different phases: shooting, offense and defense.

"Passing, pivoting, shooting, dribbling and rebounding are the basic things we work on," commented the coach. "All the work thus far has been individual. We will start scrimmaging a little later."

The coach plans to increase the length of practices as the season opener nears. Beginning this week practice sessions will last one hour and forty-five minutes. Next week the sessions will run two hours.

"The boys are looking good," said Johnson speaking of his squad as a whole. "They have a real good attitude and they came back in good shape."

Freshman team bows to second grid defeat

Marshall's freshmen football team lost its second game, 54-13, to the University of Dayton freshmen Monday night.

The "Little Green" gained 68 yards rushing but was thrown for 63 yards in losses. Fullback Dick Carter of Man was MU's leading rusher with 37 yards in 13 carries.

Quarterback Don Swisher of Pomeroy, Ohio passed for the "Little Green's" only two touchdowns. He threw 22 yards to Mike Smith of Kenova and a five-yarder to Dave Cyrus of Coal Grove, Ohio, in the second half. Swisher hit on 12 of 20 passes for 150 yards.

"He (Swisher) did a real fine job," said Ken Fisher, freshmen football coach. "He scrambled well and picked his receivers very good."

Fisher also had praise for ends Cyrus and Smith. "They really went after that ball, they gave us a good game."

Unbeaten Dayton, however, stole the show. They scored four touchdowns, including a 93-yard kickoff return, in the second half to put the game out of Marshall's reach.

"We were in the game until the second half, but that kickoff return just killed us," said Coach Fisher.

"On that return our boys just didn't get down field. They didn't get set up as they should have," added Fisher.

Fisher pointed out that Dayton's quarterback John Haynes played an outstanding game. Haynes is a fine runner and a good passer, Fisher said.

As for Dayton's team as a whole, Fisher said, "They are a real fine team with a lot of depth. The big difference was their running backs. They are real good."

The "Little Green" is the first team to score on Dayton, who has beaten foes 58-0 and 18-0.

Marshall will play its first home game with Xavier University Monday at Fairfield Stadium. They will close the season with Ohio

Herd faces MAC leader tomorrow

By TIM BUCEY
Sports Co-Editor

Charlie Snyder is wondering what the Western Michigan Broncos will be doing tomorrow afternoon — running or passing.

"Some games their running game has been best while in other games their passing has been the strong point," Coach Snyder said. "It all depends on the weakness of the team they're playing."

No matter what offensive charge the Broncos and Head Coach Bill Doolittle choose when the Herd takes on Western Michigan they have men that can do the job.

The Broncos, who were co-champions with Miami in the MAC last year, are currently tied for the lead with Toledo and Miami. Western has a 3-1 conference record and 3-3 overall.

Marshall is 0-6 overall and 0-3 in the conference.

Western relies on two quarterbacks, Ron Seifert and Jim Borlland, both seniors, who so far have shared the signal calling duties.

Seifert led the Mid-American conference in passing last year, but this season Borlland has handled the brunt of the quarterbacking chores.

Borlland is ranked third in the MAC in passing, throwing for three touchdowns.

"Their best receiver is Marty Barski, a split end, Coach Snyder commented, "while their best running backs are Foster and Tim Majerle."

Another department Western won't be lacking in is size.

"They're as big as any team we play or bigger," Snyder lamented. "One tackle weighs 270."

One player the Herd offense will probably be seeing a lot of is Rolf Strout, a linebacker, who is considered as one of the best in the MAC and was the MAC lineman of the week earlier in the season.

Western Michigan's defense is rated sixth in the MAC with an average yield per game of 311 yards. Only the Herd's defense is ranked lower.

Coach Snyder, however will not allow the statistics to fool him.

"Their defense has been outstanding in the clutch," Snyder said. As I recall they held Bowling Green within the five yard line twice and that's pretty tough to do against Bowling Green. Their defense always seems to come up with the big play."

Concerning Marshall's play Coach Snyder is not completely dissatisfied.

"The team has improved quite a bit. At Louisville we moved the ball good and the defense curtailed their passing game, but we lacked in other places. The score was no indication of the game," the coach added.

Players attitude is not a problem either according to Snyder.

"We have a fine group of boys dedicated to the game and have worked extremely hard to win. Anyone that watches our practices can see they hustle and you have to admire kids like that."

TICKETS ON SALE

Tickets for the homecoming concert and dance can be purchased in the Student Government office. Price is $6 per couple for a combination ticket. Single tickets for the concert and dance are $2 and $3 respectively.

PLAYERS OF THE WEEK are seniors Claude Smith, Louisville, Ky. (left) and Dennis Parker, Long Bottom, Ohio. They were named for their play in the 47-7 loss to Louisville last Saturday. Parker is 5-11, 213 pound defensive tackle and Smith is a 5-10, 188 pound back. The Robe sponsors the selection of the "player of the week."

Rifle team meets Eastern Kentucky

The men's varsity rifle team will have its first match here tomorrow against Eastern Kentucky University. The teams will compete on an individual and team basis. The match will be fired using 22 caliber rifles and international-type targets at 50 feet.

Six men will represent Marshall's 15 member team. They are: Joe Dandois, San Francisco, Calif. senior; Arley Abraham, St. Albans junior; Jim Reese, Huntington senior; Jim Harler, Huntington sophomore, and David McLaughlin and Sam Davis, Jr., Huntington freshmen. The team is coached by Sgt. Walter Russell, instructor of military science.

Herd finishes third in meet

By QUENTIN CALLAHAN
Sports Writer

Ohio University captured the first two spots in defeating Cincinnati and Marshall in a triangular cross-country meet last Saturday at Athens, Ohio.

The Bobcats scored 26 points to Cincinnati's 32, while the Herd tallied 72.

Greg Cashman, OU junior, finished first with teammate Lynn Irvin, sophomore, running down the second spot.

Greg Connelly, MU sophomore, was the top finisher for the Herd ending up ninth, with Bill Hill right behind in the eleventh spot.

This defeat brought Marshall's record to 1-6. Marshall's next meet is with arch rival Morehead on Nov. 1.

'Existentialism' is just a manner of thinking

By JANE BILLMAN
Feature Writer

"The Existential Perspective in Religion" was Dr. Howard A. Slaatte's topic for Tuesday night's Honors Seminar Program.

Dr. Slaatte, a former Methodist minister, gave a relevant description of religion's communication with people in everyday personal existence and of existential religion's rejection of the more speculative, idealistic approaches.

He introduced existential perspective by contrasting it to the problem faced by high school football coaches: boys would rather watch the game from the stands than be out on the field. The existential perspective, however, holds that one must get into the arena of life rather than sit in its grandstand.

Existentialism, he said, is just a label for a way of thinking.

"You cannot define the existential point of view," he added, "you can only have it."

The self has to find truth for itself, Dr. Slaatte said, and just as no one can take a bath for you, no one can make choices or value judgements for you.

God, he explained, is the "is" in existentialism. Man yearns for true existence, and when he grows to despair of his self-sufficiency, he is lead to repentance and faith perspective.

"Religion," said Dr. Slaatte, "is not something that you grasp, that you conceive, it grasps you."

In his relationships with other people, the religious existentialist finds a new compassion and love which seeks no gratification or reward, Dr. Slaatte pointed out.

In the discussion following Dr. Slaatte's lecture, there was much lively debate about new morality. Among topics discussed were "the pill" and pre-marital sex.

"T. Duncan Williams, professor of English and co-ordinator of the Honors program, ended the discussion with the creed of the love movement at Berkeley, California. It was written by an unidentified undergraduate there and is entitled "For My Son."

Cantata to be presented Monday

By VICKI ALLEN
Staff Reporter

"Carmina Burana," a cantata written by the contemporary German composer, Carl Orff, will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Monday at the Keith-Albee.

The cantata will include dancing by the full company of Les Grands Ballets Canadiens, which is comprised of 40 dancers. They will be accompanied by the Symphonic Choir, which includes 40 singers and an orchestra.

Carl Orff was inspired to write "Carmina Burana," (literally, songs of Beuron), by a collection of 13th century poems discovered in the Benedictbeuron monastery in 1847. These songs and poems, which had been written by university students, scholars, wandering minstrels and troubadours in vulgar Latin, medieval German and French, dealt with fate, love, springtime, coquetry and pleasant living.

"There was a good turnout," said Miss Evans, "but there are usually more freshmen running."

Students will vote from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday in the basement of the Student Union. All full-time students, carrying 12 hours, are eligible to vote according to their scholastic classification.

Voters must bring their ID and activity cards, Miss Evans said.

One change has been made by the Senate in this year's elections. In case of a tie, coeds will share the title. In the past the Senate has broken all ties.

Homecoming winners will be announced in the Nov. 3 edition of The Parthenon.
