WVU students favor game

By NANCY SMITHSON
Feature Writer

West Virginia University students want competition with Marshall in athletics.

In an interview with Fain Miller, Summersville junior and assistant news editor of WVU student publication, The Daily Athenaeum, he said, "The students here would like to see athletic competition between the two universities."

According to Miller, the general reaction of WVU students to The Parthenon's recent editorial promoting a basketball game between the two schools is highly favorable.

"The students want it to be established on a continuing basis, though. Not just when Marshall has a winning team," he added.

He cited specific reactions from other Daily Athenaeum staff members.

Martin Coy, editor-in-chief of the WVU paper and a Morgantown senior, said, "The idea deserves consideration and negotiation, but both teams have the maximum number of teams on their schedules this season that is allowed. While it is out of the question for this year, negotiations should continue for the future."

A senior basketball player, Jim Lewis, commented, "Many of the basketball players would like to play Marshall. But if we won, people would say we were expected to and if we lost it would be a big loss. It's impossible to plan a game this year because of NCAA scheduling rules. We are only allowed to play 25 games a year and we have that many scheduled already."

Lewis suggested that the senior members of each team might play a "barnstorming" game at the end of this season as a move for public relations.

Athenaeum Sports Editor Pat Gilbert, Parkersburg senior, said, "I think we should play Marshall. Most other states with two universities have scheduled games between their teams. It is the highlight of the season. I don't see why West Virginia should be different."

Jo Ann Friebertschauser, Wheeling senior, said, "Because of mutual friends on both campuses, I think it would be interesting. It might tear down the barriers between the universities and establish a friendly rivalry. I'm all for it."

Jan Kesling, Bridgeport senior, commented, "I think it's a fine idea. There should be more rapport established between WVU and Marshall. This would be a good way to get it started."

Miller's reaction was, "It sounds great. Everyone in the state would like to see it. If the schools could split the money cleared on such a game, and use it for scholarship funds, the results could be fantastic."

The Daily Athenaeum will carry an editorial in reply to The Parthenon in a future issue.

3 administrative positions filled

Green named acting dean

Dr. Norman Bayard Green, professor of zoology, has been appointed acting dean of the College of Arts and Sciences beginning Feb. 1, 1968, according to President Stewart H. Smith.

The position was vacated by the appointment of Dean A. Mervin Tyson as vice president of academic affairs.

President Smith said he recommended the appointment of Dr. Green because he wanted someone immediately in that position and also because he is not a permanent candidate for the office.

"Now we can concentrate all our efforts in finding a permanent dean of arts and sciences," Dr. Smith said.

Dr. Green has been a member of the Marshall faculty since 1938. Before consolidation of the Departments of Zoology, Botany and Biological Sciences into the Department of Biological Sciences, he was chairman of the Department of Zoology.

He received his Ph. D. degree from Ohio State University, and is a native of Bloomington, Md.

Dr. Green, 62, is married to the former Tressa Smith, and they have a son, James Norman, 34.

Dr. Tyson moves up; to be vice president

By SAM NEAL
Editor-In-Chief

Dr. A. Mervin Tyson, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, has been appointed vice president of academic affairs, effective February 1, 1968.

Recommending the appointment to the West Virginia Board of Education, President Stewart H. Smith said, "Although Dean Tyson was not a candidate (for the position), he has expressed his willingness to accept the position."

Dr. Tyson came to Marshall in 1959 as the Chairman of the Department of English.

Following Dean J. Frank Bartlett's retirement, Dr. Tyson was appointed Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences last Sept. 1.

A member of Phi Beta Kappa, Dr. Tyson has a Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania.

Included in his 15 years teaching experience are six and a half years as chairman of the Department of English at Kutztown State Teachers College in Pennsylvania.

Dr. Tyson, 56, received his AB from Gettysburg College in 1931 and his MA from the University of Michigan in 1934.

Married to the former Leona J. Kuhn, they have one child, Nancy Jane Tyson.

He is a member of the Modern Language Association, College English Association, National Council of Teachers of English, National Education Association, West Virginia Education Association, Conference on College Composition and Communication, and the West Virginia Association of College English Teachers.

Dr. Tyson will remain in his present position as Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences until Feb. 1, 1968.

Snyder assigned new post

Charlie Snyder, former head football coach for Marshall has been appointed acting associate dean of student affairs, replacing James Vander Lind who resigned to continue work on his Ph. D. at Ohio University.

In making the announcement today, President Stewart H. Smith said, "This definitely is not a lame-duck assignment. I feel that his (Snyder's) background, training, experience, and his activities with the football squads both academically and personally over the past nine years demonstrate his qualifications for the position."

The appointment is effective

Jan. 1, 1968, through June 30, 1968, according to Dr. Smith.

"There is the possibility that he may continue after June 30 if his work proves to be satisfactory and he likes it," Dr. Smith said.

Snyder was dismissed as head football coach just before the final game of this season, and at that time, Dr. Smith said, "We believe it will be in the best interests of Coach Snyder and the University to reassign him to another position, if he desires it, the details of which will be worked out later. He has much to offer his alma mater."

The 45-year-old Snyder received his A.B. degree from Marshall in 1948, and for ten years taught and coached high school students.

A Navy veteran, Coach Snyder is a member of the Elks and Lions Clubs, and is married to the former Betty Jo Jordan. They have one son, Walter William Snyder.

Count Basie comments on jazz; once played drums, gave 'em up

By RUTH ANN CORNELL And LEIGH FERGUSON

According to Webster, "count" means noblemen; but to Marshall students its means Basie.

Playing to a near-capacity audience at the Keith-Albee as part of the Artists Series, Count Basie exhibited his unique knack for appealing to students.

A jazz musician for nearly 30 years, William (Bill) Basie started his career in Kansas City.

"I received the name 'Count' from a Kansas City radio announcer in the late 1930's and the name just stuck. It all started as a gag," said Basie.

Starting with a five-piece band, the Count now has a 17-member band. The band does not have any particular "star" but it does have a package of talent.

In a backstage interview before the show, Count Basie commented on jazz today.

"I doubt if jazz will ever become as popular as it was and today's generation is not interested in jazz but they are trying to understand it," said the Count.

"The 'beat' has certainly affected jazz but in another way

Yuletide concert Monday, Tuesday

The Marshall University Choral Union will present its annual Christmas program, Monday and Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Evelyn Hollberg Smith Music Hall.

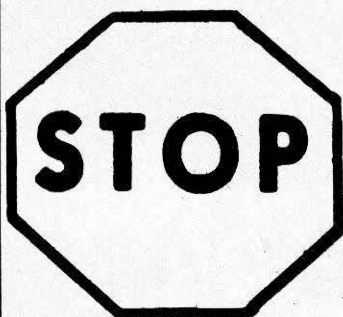

The program, directed by Dr. Paul A. Balshaw, features "In Ecclesiis" by Gabrielli, "Alto Rhapsody" by Brahms, and "Mass in E" by Bruckner.

Mezzo-soprano Jane Hobson will be the soloist for the "Alto Rhapsody." A wind and brass ensemble will accompany the 180-member choral group which is composed of university and high school students, faculty members and other Huntington residents.

Admission is free and there are no reserved seats.

it also helped. It brought the big bands back into popularity. The music today is played loudly but it is supposed to be played loudly," he added.

When asked if he played musical instruments other than the piano, the Count laughed and said, "I tried drums once but gave up. I'm still trying to learn the piano."

What does he do for relaxation? The Count described himself as an "ardent" TV fan who especially enjoys westerns. His favorite show is "Bonanza" and Basie said he'd recently met two members of the cast.

"I hope to spend a couple of days at Lake Tahoe with the Bonanza cast in a few weeks," added Basie.

His favorite entertainers include Ella Fitzgerald and Tony Bennett, both of whom he has worked with professionally.

Basie's band was chosen the "greatest ever" by names such as Louis Armstrong, Nat Cole, Andre Previn and others in Leonard Feather's 1956 "Encyclopedia Yearbook of Jazz."

Robertson, Underwood lead, political science survey shows

Attorney General C. Donald Robertson and ex-Governor Cecil Underwood were the favorites for the Democratic and Republican gubernatorial nominations respectively in a poll conducted by a National Government class of Dr. Mel Miller's, assistant professor of political science.

The students, taking the poll over the Thanksgiving holidays, interviewed approximately 275 people in each party in the state's largest 15 counties.

Mr. Robertson received 44 per cent of the Democratic vote while James Sprouse followed with 32 per cent, and Paul Kaufman had 23 per cent.

Mr. Underwood had 58 per cent of the Republican vote, Representative Arch Moore had 36 per cent and Peter Beter had 6 per cent.

Dr. Miller said his students deserve all the credit for conducting the poll. He said polls will be taken from now until the primary election in May.

It makes plenty of noise
all by itself.

Sprite, you recall, is the soft drink that's so tart and tingling, we just couldn't keep it quiet.

Flip its lid and it really flips. Bubbling, fizzing, gurgling, hissing and carrying on all over the place.

An almost excessively lively drink. Hence, to zupf is to err.

What is zuppfing?

Zuppfing is to drinking what smacking one's lips is to eating.

It's the staccato buzz you make when draining the last few deliciously tangy drops of Sprite from the bottle with a straw.

Zzzzzlllupf!

It's completely uncalled for. Frowned upon in polite society. And not appreciated on campus either.

But. If zuppfing Sprite is absolutely essential to your enjoyment; if a good healthy zupf is your idea of heaven, well...all right.

But have a heart. With a drink as noisy as Sprite, a little zupf goes a long, long way.

SPRITE. SO TART AND TINGLING, WE JUST COULDN'T
KEEP IT QUIET.

$248,500 fund expands campus

During the past two years, Marshall University has accumulated $248,500 — an unexpected bonanza that is being used to purchase property along Fifth and Third Avenues where the Student Center and a multi-story parking facility will be built.

Joseph S. Soto, vice president of business and finance, said $120,000 already has been spent to purchase the Phi Mu Sorority house, 1620 Fifth Ave.; the property at 1618 Fifth Ave., and four pieces of property on the north side of Third Avenue from Elm street east.

In addition, negotiations are under way to buy the four pieces of property on the campus side of Fifth Avenue beginning at the corner of Sixteenth Street. Once this property is acquired, the University will own all property on the campus side of Fifth Avenue from 16th to the Campus Christian Center, Vice President Soto said.

"We want to eventually square off the Marshall campus," Vice President Soto explained, "so that the University owns everything from 16th to 20th Streets between Fifth and Third Avenues, except the Campus Christian Center and the Baptist Church."

How did Marshall come by the $248,500 windfall? Vice President Soto explained it this way:

Five-million dollars in revenue bonds were sold in April, 1965, to pay for the construction of the Academic Center, the adjoining music building, and the addition to Morrow Library. Up to that time, $700,000 in student tuition fees had been accumulated which would be pledged to retire the bonds. Since it takes about 45 days to have the bonds printed once they've been sold, the bank holding the money from the bond sale paid interest. At the end of that period, Vice President Soto obtained permission from the West Virginia Sinking Bond Commission to buy $5 million in U. S. treasury notes, which paid five per cent interest, for a period of 37 days. The remaining money had to be used to begin payment to contractors.

SPECIAL SERVICE

A special Christmas worship service will be presented by the Baptist Student Movement Monday at 7 p.m., according to Rev. George Sublette, campus pastor. Following the service there will be an informal reception. Everyone is welcome.

LATTA'S

Art Supplies

At the end of the 37-day period, it was determined that another $500,000 would be needed to pay contractors during a 90-day period. This meant that about $4.5 million could be invested for that period of time.

These investments, in diminishing amounts every 90 days, continued until the construction periods ended this past Oct. 31.

Total interest which accrued: $248,500. Of this, $128,000 remains to help "square off" the Marshall campus.

Interest from the sale of another revenue bond issue cannot be used in the same way, however.

In mid-August, $9 million in bonds were sold to a New York City company to renovate and expand Laidley and Hodges dormitories, and to build the Twin Tower dormitory and married students' housing facilities. Dorm room rents and dining hall profits have been pledged to retire these bonds.

During a 40-day period, until the bonds were printed and delivered to the New York company on Oct. 11, the $9 million earned interest, as did $1,515,000 resulting from the U. S. government's purchase of bonds which provided funds for the addition to South Hall.

As the contractors on these projects need money, they will be paid from the $10.5 million, a large part of which can be invested on a short-term basis.

"We'll earn about $400,000," said Vice President Soto, but the interest must be used to retire the bonds. Unlike the previous bond issue, interest earned cannot be used for any other purpose.

WMUL heads meet with Buell, vote against 'mass resignation'

WMUL department heads will not resign, according to Dr. Stephen A. Buell, director of educational broadcasting.

Dr. Buell met with department heads in a special meeting last Friday concerning a "mass resignation" motion they passed at a Nov. 16 organizational heads meeting.

"I asked who wanted to resign and they unanimously voted to keep their jobs," he said.

According to Dr. Buell, it all started out of a lack of understanding and communication between the radio staff and himself.

"They had a misconception that all WMUL broadcasting equipment belonged to WMUL studio," Dr. Buell explained. "It doesn't — it belongs to the State Board of Education."

Maurine Milicia, faculty advisor to WMUL-FM, felt that Mike Rooney, York, Pa., senior, who made the resignation motion, was in no capacity to do so.

"He is not a department head — only a liaison between WMUL and the Student Government," she said.

Miss Milicia also felt that the heads meeting was essentially a gripe session.

Commenting on the drop of his resignation motion, Rooney said, "We do have a need for better communications between the station and faculty, and that is all I have to say on the matter right now."

According to Dr. Buell, Bill O'Brien, Beckley junior, will be station manager for second semester and Carla Thompson, Huntington junior, will be program director.

They will finalize the various positions open, with most of the present student department heads retaining their present positions.

This semester's program director, Roy Castle, has resigned, according to Dr. Buell, for reasons of health. Castle will continue to work with WMUL in another capacity.

SEMINAR POSTPONED

The Social Studies Department seminar originally scheduled for December has been postponed until January. Employment possibilities for social studies majors will be discussed.

CCC planning yule activities

A weekend of Christmas activities has been planned by students and staff at the Campus Christian Center.

A Christmas party and formal banquet will be held at 9 p.m. today. Nancy Cole, Ravenswood sophomore, will provide dinner music. Students on committees at the Center, faculty members on the board of directors, and the Center's staff are invited.

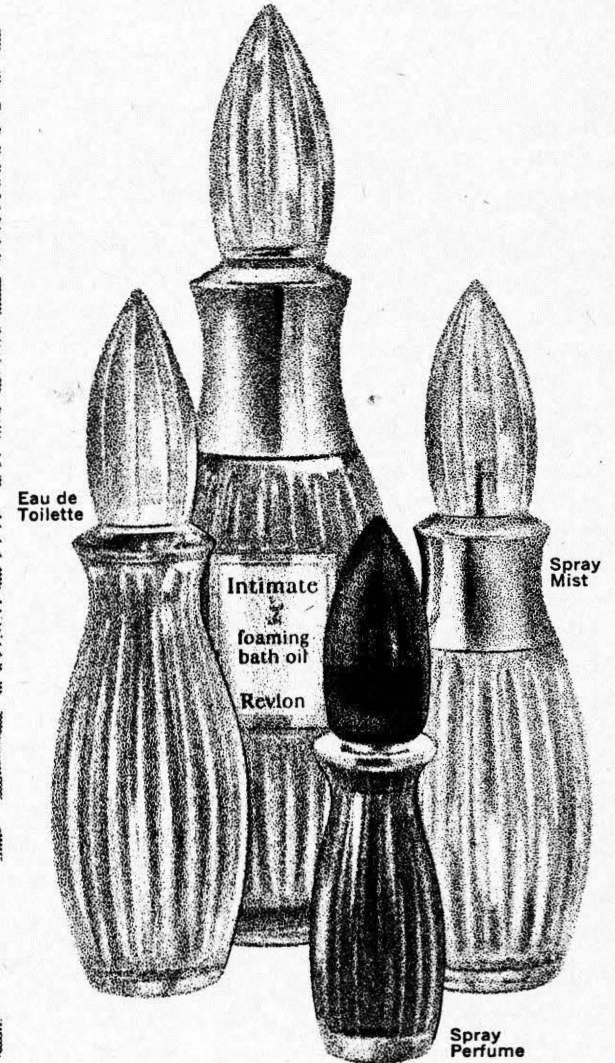

Children in the Proctor Project will be given a party from 9-11 a.m. tomorrow.

A special dramatic reading, "Standing Room Only, or Sorry, the Rice Is Gone," will be presented as a special Christmas sermon Sunday by Oscar J. Rumpf. A verse choir of seven men and seven women will be directed by Mary Beth Elmore, speech professor.

Christian Center groups, posing as Santa, Mrs. Claus and some of their elves, will visit the Huntington Orthopedic Hospital at 6:15 p.m. Sunday.

LYRIC . . . . . FROM $150

Sports Co-editor

"What the student thinks will undoubtedly play an important part in whether Marshall and West Virginia University will meet in athletic competition.

Fain Miller, assistant news editor of the Daily Athenaeum, WVU student newspaper, has consented to work with the Parthenon in boosting inter-university sports competition.

Miller will continue to interview the WVU student body. Seemingly at this stage of the campaign, there are several persons on the WVU campus who are interested in promoting athletic competition.

I wonder how many fraternities, sororities, clubs and individuals are interested in doing the same here at MU?

Many feel that such a game is impossible this year. Because the season is in progress, rules and regulations could hamper plans for any competition in basketball. However, there are baseball and track seasons yet to go this year.

If nothing can be worked out between the schools, a basketball game between MU and WVU could still come about.

If MU wins the MAC title and WVU the Southern Conference, maybe we'd get to meet in the NCAA play-offs.

The question around the MU Athletic Office these days seems to be, "Who's to be the new Thundering Herd football coach?"

An answer to this question could come within the next 10 days since various applicants for the job have been seen on campus this week.

* * *

The ticket situation remains the same. Not many arguments, either pro or con, have arisen this week as to the limited number (2,200) of tickets available to students.

Maybe it's because there's no home game this weekend.

Intramurals on campus include two different organizations—the intramurals that evolve from the Physical Education Department and ROTC intramurals from the Military Science Department.

Since both organizations will have championship play-offs why not have a game between the two winners for an all-campus championship?

Athletic Director Eddie Barrett, former sports information director at WVU, has not said whether he would like to see a MU-WVU ball game come to pass. However, Mr. Barrett did say:

"I feel that we should play any team that would enhance the reputation of the university."

JOHN MALLET
... scores winning points

Mallet views winning basket as zenith of college career

By QUENTIN CALLAHAN
Sports Writer

"It is one of the biggest things that ever happened to me," said John Mallet, Wheeling junior.

The big thing that Mallet is referring to is the tip-in that he made in the last eight seconds Tuesday night to defeat Morehead State University 79-78.

Mallet, 6-7, got into the game when Bob Allen fouled out. It was Mallet's first basket this season but it will go down as one of the most important he'll ever collect.

"The team really wanted to win for Coach (Ellis) Johnson and I am glad I was part of the effort," said Mallet.

"I feel Stewart Way, Assistant Basketball Coach, has helped me develop and has improved my board play," said Mallet. "We work on tipping the ball everyday, and this is where fundamentals paid off."

"When you can beat Morehead at Morehead you really have done something," said Mallet.

Tuesday's victory was the first time since 1958 that Marshall has beaten Morehead on their home court.

"This was a big win and the enthusiasm was high in the dressing room after the game," said Mallet.

Frosh cagers seek third win at Logan gym

Freshmen cagers will go after their third win tomorrow night at the Logan Branch College. Game time is 8 p.m.

Logan, a newcomer to the freshmen schedule, has two boys on its roster that played at Marshall, according to Coach Larry McKenzie.

"A boy named Johnny Ball played for our freshmen last year. Also a Justice boy played freshmen ball with Bob Redd."

McKenzie expects to start the same five players he has used in the last two games. Included are, Dave Smith and Bernard Bradshaw at the two forward positions, Gary Pommerick at center, and Blaine Henry and Rick Turnbow at guard.

"We have good personnel, but it will take time for us to become a good ball club," said McKenzie. "The boys need more polish on their playing and that's what we are working for now," he added.

Marshall freshmen, however, showed some polish in beating their first two opponents. The Herd freshmen won over Morris Harvey freshmen 78-70 and the Morehead frosh 105-101.

"We faced a tremendous Morehead team," said McKenzie.

"As the boys play more together," Coach McKenzie added, "I think they will end up as a pretty good ball club."

McKenzie lost one of his freshmen players when Charlie Chaney quit the team. "I don't know why Chaney quit," McKenzie said, "He could have helped us a lot, we were planning on him."

Ball-tipping practice sparks 79-78 win

By TIM BUCEY
Sports Co-Editor

Practice sessions on tipping in the ball 10 times a day paid off for John Mallet against Morehead Tuesday night.

Each practice Coach Ellis Johnson has the players practice tipping in the ball and that is what Mallet did with six seconds remaining to give the Thundering Herd its second win of the season, 79-78.

It was also the second win of the season over the Eagles—the Morehead Eagles and the Morris Harvey Eagles.

Mallet was as elated over the win as the fans and players who attempted to carry the 6-7, 225-pounder off the court.

"The team really wanted to win for Coach Johnson, and I'm glad I was part of the effort," the Wheeling senior commented.

Mallet came in the game with approximately five minutes remaining as a replacement for Bob Allen who fouled out. The winning score was his only two points of the game.

Larry Jordan, Morehead's 6-5 senior, and George Stone, Covington, Ky., senior, were leading scorers with .25 each. Jerry Conley, a 6-2 junior, from Jenkins, Ky., and Bob Redd, Louisville, Ky., senior, were runners-up in scoring with 21 and 23 points respectively.

Coach Johnson said he did not particularly note an improvement over the Morris Harvey game, but said the team was in better shape physically.

"We should have been rebounding better," the former Morehead coach said, "and we're not in shape on our offensive patterns. The main reason for this is not enough practice."

Coach Johnson explained that he's only been able to practice about an hour each night due to class conflicts among the players, and they have to be off the court in Gullickson Hall and Memorial Field House by 5:30 p.m.

"Most teams practice two hours a day since they have their own gym to practice in," the coach explained.

"Right now I'd say our defense is ahead of our offense and it all hinges back to the problem of lack of practice," the coach added.

Both Coach Johnson and Assistant Coach Stewart Way were pleased with the substitutes.

"Anytime you get a victory out of the bench, it's pretty good," Coach Johnson quipped.

Coach Way was particularly pleased with Ricky Hall who replaced the injured Jim Davidson.

"He played it pretty cool," Coach Way said. "He was a real good replacement."

Davidson's injury is not believed to be serious, according to coach Johnson.

Coach Johnson praised the Morehead squad which played without one of its starters, Willie "Hobo" Jackson.

"They're a good ballclub — big and strong — and they'll be better when Jackson returns," the coach said.

The Thundering Herd meets the Eagles at Memorial Field House on Dec. 27.

Three of the Eagle players out-rebounded the top Marshall rebounder as Lamar Green led with 22 and Jordan and Ron Cathright pulled down 13 each.

The Herd's leading rebounder was Allen with 12 and Davidson grabbed 11.

Morehead led at halftime 45-38, but Marshall outscored its opponents 41-33 in the second half.

The loss gave the Eagles a 0-2 record with its other defeat coming at the hands of Tennessee Tech.

Marshall plays its second straight Ohio Valley Conference opponent when it meets Eastern Kentucky University on Wednesday. Eastern last year experienced its worst record in history winning 5 and losing 18.

Is Stone wearing contacts? 'You'll never know, baby'

Did George Stone, all-MAC forward, wear his contact lenses during the Morris Harvey and Morehead ball games?

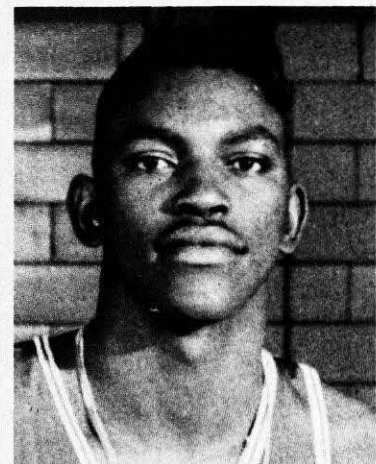

When confronted with the question, the Thundering Herd cager replied: "You'll never know, baby, you'll just never know."

Stone, who contributed 17 points in the first game and 25 against Morehead, received the news last year from an optometrist that he was far-sighted. It was then announced that Stone would try wearing contacts this season.

A reliable source said that Stone is definitely wearing the contacts. However, not even head Coach Ellis Johnson knows if the Covington, Ky., senior is wearing the contacts during a game.

"I just don't know," said Johnson. "I haven't bothered to ask him."

Christmas show is scheduled

"Heartbeat of Christmas" is the theme of the television show being presented by the television and programming class on WSAZ-TV Dec. 24 at 2:30 p.m.

According to Tom Busbee, Huntington senior and a member of the class, the group has teamed up with Rev. Jim Burchett, pastor of the Trinity Church of God, to put on this Christmas spectacular.

Busbee said the production is unusual in that it is not the traditional Christmas story. It approaches Christmas through a contemporary point of view. The informal production will feature folk singers. Well-known Christmas carols will be sung. Rev. Burchett will serve as the moderator for the group.

The main objective of the production, Busbee said, is to show that Christmas is not a story to a child, nor a Santa Claus on a street corner, but is a heartbeat of an inner person to express a desire for love to one another.

Busbee said the group hopes that other productions will be presented throughout the year.

Mock convention planned

The mock Republican national convention is tentatively set for March 14, said Randy White, Scott Depot senior and convention co-ordinator.

Civil Service forms are available in the Student Government Office for students wishing to participate as delegates. These forms should be returned by Jan. 3.

"The goal of the convention is to give students an opportunity to express their views on national problems and policies. The platform committee will devise a program on ways to act on issues, White said.

Two other important jobs, according to White, are the rules and credentials committees. The rules committee will set up the operational structure and the minute details, and the credentials committee will be "watch dogs," keeping non-delegates off the floor.

"As many people as we can get involved in the convention, we will," White said.

WMUL to broadcast opera

WMUL-FM will broadcast the 1967-68 Metropolitan Opera season beginning tomorrow, according to Roy Castle, Huntington junior.

Castle, WMUL program director, said "the operas will be carried live from the Metropolitan Opera stage in Lincoln Center every Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m.

Tomorrow's opening opera will be "Le Nozze di Figaro" with principal parts being sung by soprano Lisa Della Casa as the Countess Almaviva; bass Cesare Siepi as Figaro, the count's valet; soprano Mirella Freni as Susanna, the countess' maid; soprano Tresa Stratas as Cherubino, the count's page; baritone Tom Krause as Count Almaviva; and bass Fernando Corena as Don Bartolo, a doctor. The conductor will be Joseph Rosenstock.

The three intermission programs of the opera will be "Opera News on the Air," with Rudolf Bing, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera; the "Texaco Opera Quiz," with Quizmaster Edward Downes, and Francis Robinson's "Biographies in Music."

Three-day symposium is set for April; Ginsberg coming

By ROBERT FERGUSON
Staff Reporter

A three-day Impact symposium will be held at Marshall in late April 1968. It will feature well-known speakers on the major movements of our society and the future of these movements.

The theme of the symposium will be Emphasis 68: New Beginnings, New Hopes. Among the speakers on the program are Max Lerner, author and instructor of

Audio-visual aids workshop today

Students are invited to attend an audio-visual workshop which began at 10 a.m. today in Science Hall Auditorium.

The workshop is sponsored by the Junior League of Huntington and will feature demonstrations of audio-visual aids and discussions on TV programming.

The workshop will be followed at 1 p.m. by a luncheon, featuring Richard Settle, WMUL-TV general manager, who will be guest speaker.

Admission to the workshop is free. The cost of the luncheon is $1.50.

DEBATE TEAM WINS

Marshall's debate team won four debates and lost four Saturday at Butler University Tournament at Indianapolis, according to Dr. Ben Hope, professor of speech and debate coach. The negative team won three and lost one and the affirmative team won one and lost three.

American Civilization at Brandeis University, Waltham, Mass.; Allen Ginsberg, poet and "Father of the New Left;" Ervin Duggan, special advisor to President Johnson on domestic affairs; Lester Kirkendall, sociologist and advocate of the New Morality; and Marshall McLuhan, authority on the new communication and mass media.

A group from Huntington recently made a trip to Washington, D.C. to talk with possible participants in the program. Those making the trip are Jim Slicer, IMPACT coordinator, Charlotte Wilmer, Margaret Powers, Maureen Powers and Rev. George Sublette of the Campus Christian Center.

Impact, according to Margaret Powers, is a symposium designed to better acquaint the student with current issues and ideas and to stimulate thought on these topics. Of the April symposium, she said, "If we make an effort to understand what may be in store for us when we leave the security of Marshall, we will be better equipped to accept challenges as they are presented to us. I believe these speakers will present a different dimension for their world is not limited to a university campus, as ours is." Miss Powers also stressed the fact that the program is totally student-controlled and basically student-oriented.

A magazine will be published to coincide with the symposium. It will introduce the speakers and will contain various articles on the topics to be discussed. Miss Powers has urged anyone who wishes to take part in the planning of the program or the publication of the magazine to contact either her or Jim Slicer through the Student Government office in the Student Union. There are vacancies on the staff for writers and those acquainted with the layout procedure of newspapers or magazines.

"I LAUGHED WHEN MY ROOMMATE TOOK NoDoz."

-writes Private J. B., now of Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

"No pill can stop you from flunking out," I scoffed. "Well, he's there. And I'm here. Take warning from my sad case. And take NoDoz to help you stay with it."

Actually, our young warrior is right: NoDoz can't work miracles.

But it can help, any time you're drowsy or tired. For example: A couple of NoDoz can sharpen your mind and help you remember facts at exam time, or NoDoz can wake you up when you have to cram late at night.

When driving makes you drowsy, NoDoz can bring you back to life. If a long lecture makes your attention wander, NoDoz to the rescue.

Get the point? NoDoz can help you anywhere, any time, and it's non habit-forming.

NoDoz. The scholar's friend.

THE ONE TO TAKE WHEN YOU HAVE TO STAY ALERT.
