Irish Music On Monday

Solo singers, chorus, dancers and the Irish Harp of Feis Eireann, are scheduled to appear at the Community Forum at 8 p.m. Monday in Old Main Auditorium.

There is a music—new and familiar—for every mood, joyous, nostalgic, loving, exhilarating, rejoicing and lamenting.

As the music is made of the spirit of Ireland to delight the ear, so are the costumes made to delight the eye.

There are the Kelly green evening skirts the Irish sopranos wear, topped by scooped-neck pure Irish lace blouses. The male dancers shine in royal saffron kilts with Kelly vests and white ruffled shirts.

Among the music they have selected are such favorites as: "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," "The Good Old Mountain Dew," "Danny Boy" and "Galway Bay."

Students will be admitted to the Forum by presenting their activities card at the door.

Phi Mu Invited To Panhellenic

By TERRI GOTHARD
Society Editor

Janet Ratcliff, Huntington junior and Panhellenic Council president, has announced that, "As a joint effort through the office of Lillian H. Buskirk, associate dean of student affairs, and Panhellenic, Phi Mu social sorority has been invited to become a member of the Marshall Panhellenic Council."

During the interview, Miss Ratcliff said that Phi Mu indicated that they would be able to colonize sometime in February or as soon as possible. Miss Ratcliff went on to say, "if they accept Panhellenics invitation, Phi Mu could take up to 65 girls second semester. This would enable many girls who otherwise might not have an opportunity to join a sorority to do so."

Colonization parties would be carried on by national council members from the sorority, the procedure being similar to that of first semester rush. The only exception would be that Phi Mu would be the only sorority rushing.

Phi Mu was first colonized Jan. 4, 1852 at Wesleyan College in Macon, Ga. Their Philanthropic Project is raising money for the Red Cross ship Hope. Rose and white are their colors and the Enchantress Carnation their flower.

JOB INTERVIEW

Robert Alexander, director of placement, said that a representative from the Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. would be at the Placement office today.

Featured In Forum

MUSIC FOR EVERY mood, depicting the spirit of Ireland, will be presented in the Community Forum at 8 p.m. Monday in Old Main Auditorium. Twenty-two singers and dancers are scheduled to appear in addition to Irish harpist Feis Eireann.

Students To Enter Marietta College Debate Tourney

Nine Marshall students will participate in the annual debate tournament and radio announcers' contest sponsored by the Speech Department of Marietta College Jan. 29.

The tournament is divided into two divisions, one for varsity teams and the other for novice.

Representing Marshall in the varsity division will be Caroline Massey, Ashland, Ky., sophomore; Ranauld Jarrell, Point Pleasant junior; Mike Engle, Charleston junior; and Lowell E. Adkins, Huntington, junior. In the novice division will be Larry Sonis, Charleston freshman; Harry Quigley, Clendenin freshman; Robert Wilkins, Huntington sophomore; and David Kasper, Clayton, N. J. freshman.

First, second, and third place trophies will be awarded in each division on the basis of unit win-loss record.

In the radio announcers' section of the tournament, Marshall will be represented by Tom Tanner, Huntington freshman. Tanner is assistant program director of WMUL.

Competition will be on the basis of a five minute presentation, including three minutes of news, a minute spot, and a one minute ad lib on an assigned topic. Medals will be awarded to first, second, and third place speakers.

STOP THE PRESS

Today's "Parthenon" will be the last issue of this semester. The next paper will hit the stands Friday, Feb. 4. All copy for that issue must be turned in by deadline on Wednesday, Feb. 2.

Get Schedules Next Week

New Revised Schedules of classes for regular registration will be available next week in Old Main. Regular registration will begin Friday, Jan. 28 at 8 a.m. and last through Saturday, Jan. 29.

Freshmen arriving on campus Thursday morning, Jan. 28, will meet in Gullickson Hall that afternoon for assignment of advisors. Transfer and transit students will also receive their advisors and fill out trial schedules.

Regular students who did not pre register should fill out the application for a time card found in the Revised Schedule and turn it in to the Registrar's office. Time cards will be mailed.

Gov. Smith Receives Report From Higher Education Board

By DAVE PEYTON
Editor-In-Chief

The West Virginia Committee on Higher Education has proposed the establishment of a separate Board of Governors for Marshall.

The proposal came in a Jan. 11 report to Gov. Hulett Smith.

The report says, "The present and potential growth of Marshall University, together with its complexity and number of educational programs, makes it wise that lay participation be enlisted to help this institution advance in distinctive ways. In addition, the characteristics of Marshall University already so distinguish it from the state colleges that its administrative activities generate problems of magnitude and complexity which require disproportionate attention by the W. Va. Board of Education. Since this variation of Marshall University from the State Colleges will likely increase rather than diminish, the Committee recommends that its own Board of Governors be established according to the terms of statutory membership yet to be developed by the Committee."

The Committee, which is composed of the West Virginia Board of Education, the West Virginia University Board of Governors, and the West Virginia Association of College and University Presidents, was activated by Governor Smith in accordance with House resolution No. 51 passed March 13, 1965.

The Board of Governors recommendation was one of four specific recommendations in the report.

Another recommendation called for the establishment of a West Virginia Board of regents for the purpose of planning and coordinating higher education, together with a chancellor and an adequate staff.

The Board of Regents would make continuous studies and plans for all higher education in West Virginia, allocate educational functions and programs, and receive, review, and revise budget requests for all public institutions of higher education, including the sole authority to submit with appropriate recommendations a total budget for all public institutions of higher education.

The Committee recommended also that West Virginia University also be allowed to maintain its present Board of Governors.

For the eight state colleges in the state, the Committee recommended that a Board of Governors be established to govern these institutions.

The committee has asked the governor to extend the time within which the committee may complete its studies. The present target date for the completion of the study is September, 1966.

President Stewart H. Smith served on the subcommittee on structure from which the four specific recommendations came.

The committee was assigned the responsibility of studying the structure of higher education and of recommending a mechanism of coordination which will continually elevate the educational needs of West Virginia and provide the necessary allocation of function among the public institutions of higher education.

Others on the structure committee included Charles C. Wise, Jr., President, West Virginia University Board of Governors, Chairman; A. H. Spangler, West Virginia University Board of Governors; and Richard E. Shearer, President, Alderson-Broadus College.

Honors Seminar Taking Students For Next Term

Dr. Jack R. Brown, professor of English and coordinator of the Honors Program, announced last Tuesday that any student with a 3.3 average or above is eligible to enroll in the Honors Seminar for next semester.

Dr. Brown said only sophomore, junior and senior students may enroll in this three-hour credit course.

Next semester topics to be discussed are China, Japan, Korea, Taiwan and the Phillipine Islands. Speakers from these embassies, nearby institutions and the faculty will lecture on the history, cultural history, economics, sociology and other subjects pertaining to these countries.

Student Government In Money Trouble--Again

Marshall's student Government is in trouble, as usual. But this time it's big trouble — it's financial trouble. The Student Government will start the second semester with $1,869. Second semester of last year saw over $4,000 in the budget. Are you beginning to get the picture?

Let's take a look at the causes and effects of this problem. The cause of the lack of funds goes back to Homecoming. The events leading up to Homecoming can only be termed a fiasco.

First, a few weeks before Homecoming, the Student Senate passed a resolution outlawing block seating for the Greeks. This, of course, upset the Greeks. They thought they were being discriminated against.

Greeks seem to think well, or at least prolifically when they are upset, so they came up with a brilliant idea. At least it seemed to be brilliant at the time. They decided they would have their very own dance.

But no one took the time to consider what effect it would have on the Student Government budget and, consequently, the Student Government's programs.

The Student Government didn't seem to think of it either, but that's understandable since most of the Student Government is also Greek.

As is the case with all rash decisions, there came a day of reckoning. That day came about two weeks after Homecoming when the Student Government discovered it was broke.

Since the Inter-Fraternity Council had made a mint on the Greek dance, they very benevolently reimbursed the Student Government to the break-even point on their losses on the dance at the Fieldhouse.

This was all very nice, but what about the $1,200 profit the Student Government had expected to make on Homecoming before the Greeks seceded.

From this expected $1,200 was to come the funds for some of the Student Government's most important programs.

$1,000 of this was to be used to publish the campus literary magazine, "Et Cetera." Since "Et Cetera" represented the largest sum of money, needless to say, it was the first to go.

Thanks to Jim Martin, Director of Information and Publications, "Et Cetera" will be printed, although it will be done on a much smaller budget.

"Et Cetera" is only one of the effects of the blunder. The Student Government's financial situation will be shaky for a long time to come.

A word to the wise (Student Government and IFC) should be sufficient. Next year when Homecoming rolls around — THINK.

Exam Time Good, Evil?

"It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness, . . . it was the season of light, it was the season of darkness, it was the spring of hope, it was the winter of despair . . ."

With a little revision, these words from Dickens' "A Tale of Two Cities" might have been talking about final exams.

It is certainly the best of times because it means another grueling semester is over; it is the worst of times because here at last we must pay for the frivolities of the semester.

It is an age of wisdom, sadly, for a few persons, and an age of foolishness for most, since thinking a semester's work can be crammed into one night is surely the height of foolishness. Likewise, only a few see the light and most remain in the dark, the art of studying forever a mystery.

It's always the spring of hope, however, at least until grades arrive; then despair reigns.

Hope, nevertheless, being the eternal quality that it is, assures every student that next semester he will study, he will pass his exams with flying colors, he will . . . and then reason prevails and the student resigns himself to another leisurely semester that will end in the inevitable panic. He may even learn to enjoy it.

MU May Get Separate Board Of Governors

Marshall University — take one giant step. Then, wait for further instructions.

Last Tuesday, the West Virginia Committee on Higher Education recommended that Marshall be given a separate Board of Governors.

The news brought signs of relief and joy from Marshall supporters. Finally, after many years of what seemed a fruitless campaign, an official committee, established by Governor Smith, recommended what Marshall has known it needed ever since it was given university status.

The committee is to be congratulated for this and three other recommendations that will provide, if enacted, fairer distribution of funds for higher education in West Virginia.

So, Marshall can take a giant step forward. And hopefully, further instructions will come soon from the West Virginia Legislature.

Scholars Reflect Honors To MU

Sunday afternoon, three Huntington seniors will be interviewed in Washington, D. C. for the Woodrow Wilson Fellowships. Marshall should be proud to have such outstanding scholars as Jane McCaskey, Pat Faller and Charles Lloyd. Congratulations to these students for their exceptional scholastic achievement.

Dr. Paul Balshaw To Sing Sunday

German art songs will be the featured music in a recital at the Huntington Galleries Sunday at 3 p.m. by Dr. Paul Balshaw, assistant professor of music.

Dr. Balshaw, baritone soloist, is director of University choirs. He graduated from the Eastman School of Music, where he received his B.A., Ph.D., and Performer's Certificate.

He was on the Wisconsin State University faculty before joining the Marshall staff. Dr. Balshaw was a leading singer with the Madison Wis. Civic Opera before teaching, and has appeared in operas, oratorios, and recitals in the Eastern and Midwestern sections of the United States. He is a 1964 National Finalist for the Singer of the Year Award.

He will be accompanied by Mrs. Eugenia McMullen, associate professor of Music.

Mrs. McMullen received her B.A. degree from Marshall and her M.A. degree from Columbia University. She has also studied at the Julliard and Cincinnati Conservatories of Music.

She is active in the American Association of University Women and was chairman of the music department of the Huntington Women's Club for two years. She is a member of Delta Omicron, music society, and Sigma Kappa.

The German Art Songs will feature such composers as Schubert, Schumann, Mahler, Wolf, and Loewe. The concert, sponsored by the Huntington Art Galleries, is open to the public and free of admission.

Sell Old Books For Half Price

The campus bookstore will purchase used textbooks from students next week beginning 8 a.m. Monday. Student identification cards must be presented when selling the books.

Percy L. Galloway, bookstore manager, reported that the bookstore will pay 50 per cent of the previous purchase price for each book. He reminded students, however, that some of the texts are designed for both semesters and should not be sold until the end of second semester. Some of these two-semester books are freshman English, social studies 104-105 and 201-202, biological science 107-108, and physical science 109-110. Galloway said that either the class instructor or persons working in the bookstore could be consulted if a student was not certain whether texts were designed for both semesters.

An outside buyer will be in the bookstore Jan. 19 through Jan. 21 to buy textbooks that have been discontinued at Marshall. He will also purchase books bought at other colleges that are not used here.

Letter To The Editor

(The following letter was addressed to Marshall University)

I'm a Marine serving in Viet Nam. Some of my fellow comrades are writing to their hometown colleges to obtain pen pals for their friends. Most of the guys don't receive very much mail, and don't know how the college students and other people in the states feel about the Marines fighting in Viet Nam. Also, it gets pretty lonely at times and they need someone in the states to correspond with. So, I am writing to ask you if you would inform your students that if any of them desire to write one of their American fighting men, write in care of me and I will distribute the letters. Thank you.

Astronaut Sends Professor A Card

By DAVE GARTEN
Feature Writer

Each year Miss Dora May Mitchell, assistant professor of education at Marshall Laboratory School, receives a Christmas card from one of her former students.

He is Thomas P. Stafford, 34-year-old astronaut and co-pilot of the Gemini 6 spacecraft which accomplished history's first space rendezvous with Gemini 7, 185 miles above the earth.

Since his graduation from Weatherford High School in western Oklahoma in 1947, Stafford has corresponded with Miss Mitchell, who was his high school English teacher for three years.

"When Tom was in the Naval Academy he wrote of his life and studies there. When he was on cruise he sent me cards from all over the world. They were very interesting and he was selective in choosing them. During the mission I sent messages and even with all of the demands of the program and the training, he always answered them. I saw him last in 1962 when I was invited to the reunion held by his class. Since then correspondence has been mostly through Christmas cards."

Miss Mitchell is especially proud of the Christmas card she received from Stafford this year.

The card, called "Gemini Christmas Constellation" was especially designed for the astronauts by Kenneth A. Maloney. "The focus is on the star — I suppose the Star of the East," explained Miss Mitchell in discussing the cover design. "The two capsules are crossing the beam of light from the star and the earth is shown below."

"It's a great way to fly once you get off," wrote Stafford, commenting on the pictured space capsules.

Inside the message reads:

As our own
Stars thrust ever outward into the heavens,
And God's Infinite
Universe still dwarfs man's knowledge . . .
We pray that

Christmas, 1965,
will bring you
Peace, Love and God's Blessings

"It's a beautiful message, I think," said Miss Mitchell. "The card shows that they're not defying space — they're exploring it."

Miss Mitchell has many clippings which she has collected since she began following Stafford's career in the space program. "I was always interested in the space program," she said. "I was excited about it even before it was announced that Tom was to take part in it. He was selected in the second class of 1962 and I've been following his training and career ever since."

One of her favorite clippings, which is hanging in her office, includes a large photograph of Stafford, his wife, who was also one of Miss Mitchell's students, and their two young daughters.

Stafford served as mathematician and computer programmer for the Gemini flight and according to Miss Mitchell he was a good student.

"He was a keen reader of scientific material," she recalls. "He had varied interests. He took part in athletics and he was in one of the plays I coached."

"Before he was selected for the space program he was at Edwards Air Force Base training jet pilots, and is co-author of a handbook and manual on performance flight testing for pilots."

'Greetings From A Space Twin'

MISS DORA MAY MITCHELL, assistant professor of education at Marshall Laboratory School, displays a Christmas card received from Astronaut Thomas P. Stafford. Stafford was one of Miss Mitchell's English students at Weatherford High School in Oklahoma and has corresponded with her since his graduation in 1947.

Student Realizes Goal

By JOANNE KING
Staff Reporter

After four years of study, Jane Nicholas' ambition to be a professional singer is finally becoming a reality.

Miss Nicholas, Milton junior, recently returned from a trip to New York City, during which she auditioned for officials of a scholarship fund which awards scholarships to young singers. She won a scholarship and will leave in February or June to study in New York.

Her trip was arranged by Thomas Martin, a translator of operas. Last summer, Miss Nicholas became acquainted with Mr. Martin, music director at Lake George, a music camp in New York.

On Feb. 2, Miss Nicholas will participate for her third year in the tri-state region's Metropolitan Opera Auditions. Two years ago she won the third cash prize and last year the first cash prize. This year she will be trying again for the chance to go to Indianapolis to compete with regional winners from all over the country.

Miss Nicholas prefers operatic songs. I "sound like a bullfrog on anything else," she confessed. Her choices for the Audition are "O Mio Fernando" from "La Favorita," "The Letters" from "Werther," and "All That Gold" from "Amahl and The Night Visitors." The first two are sung in other languages.

In addition to the Indianapolis trip, Mr. Martin has arranged for the first place winner to receive a scholarship to the Lake George Opera Festival next summer. This person will be classified as an apprentice artist.

An apprentice at Lake George last year, Miss Nicholas, has already been granted a scholarship for next summer. She will be an apprentice opera producer.

Thundering Herd Eyes Second MAC Victory

The Thundering Herd will lay its five game win streak on the line tomorrow at noon against the Ohio University Bobcats in a televised contest at Memorial Fieldhouse.

Coach Ellis Johnson's crew will be gunning for win number two in the Mid-American Conference. The Bobcats played Miami Wednesday night looking for their first win in the league.

Ohio U., defending MAC champs, will bring a well balanced attack to Huntington. Sporting an 85 points per game average, the Bobcats will feature 6-9 John Schroeder at center and 6-4 Ken Fowlkes at forward. Fowlkes is the Bobcat's leading scorer, averaging 16 points a game. Schroeder is the leading rebounder in the MAC, grabbing almost 14 per game.

At the guards, the Bobcats are set with 5-10 Mike Hammond and 6-0 Dave Brown. Head coach Jim Snyder has tried three alternates at the remaining guard position. Russ Hamilton, at 6-3 has started most of the games, but 6-7 Fred Cuff and 6-5 Phil Williams have seen plenty of action.

Marshall will meet the Bobcat attack with the highest scoring average in the MAC. Clipping along at a 95.5 clip, the Herd has three players in the top six in MAC scoring.

Orville Stepp is second to Western Michigan's Reggie Lacefield with a 22.2 point per game average. George Stone, at 19.9, is third, followed by Bob Redd at 17.4.

Coach Johnson commented that it is always good to beat

Ohio University, then added, "I guess, I've never beaten them myself."

In other games around the MAC, Kent St., after three straight conference losses will be at Western Michigan. In the other league contest, Miami will play Bowling Green.

The following Saturday the Herd will be at home in another televised game with Bowling Green. During the semester break Marshall will play three games in six nights. Jan. 24 the Herd will meet Loyola of Chicago in an away game. MU will complete the road trip against Miami Jan. 26.

Returning home, Marshall will meet Western Michigan Jan. 29. Morehead will host the Herd in a non-conference battle Feb. 1.

Herd Clips Morris Harvey In 82-79 Revenge Thriller

Into the valley of the Kanawha roared the Thundering Herd on a four game winning streak and after the smoke had cleared from a barn-burner it was Marshall 82 and Morris Harvey 79.

The Big Green played before an enthusiastic crowd Tuesday night as it squeaked by to win its fifth game in a row and sixth for the season. The Charleston Civic Center seemingly housed as many Marshall fans as rooters for the bitter opposition.

Although Marshall was ahead

by 12 points at one time, there were times when the Golden Eagles questioned what seemed to be an "obvious win."

During the fourth quarter only two of M. U.'s starters were left in the game. Bob Redd, Bob Allen and captain Tom Langfitt had all fouled out.

The high scorer for Marshall was George Stone with 22 points. Orville Stepp knocked in 21 points, two of which were free throws in the last five seconds which iced the victory. Bob Redd collected 13 points, Bob Allen 12, and Joe Dawson 10.

One of the most outstanding plays of the game was made by George Hicks, who was playing his last game in his home town, as he fought against three rivals to collect a rebound during the last few seconds of the game. Hicks passed to Bill Whetsell who dropped it in the basket.

In a preliminary game the freshmen beat the Morris Harvey J. V.'s for the third time this season, with a score of 90-77.

Kent Defeats Grapplers Six Gridders Sign MU Grant-In-Aid

Marshall's wrestling team went down to defeat last Saturday against Kent State, 34 to 3. Charles Smith, Huntington junior, was the only MU grappler to win in his class.

"Kent, like Toledo and Bowling Green, is pretty tough. They have more experience than us," coach Ed Prelaz commented. He also said, "We really won't know how things are going to stack up until we get in our own class."

Marshall's next meet is at Bowling Green State University Saturday. Last week Bowling Green defeated West Virginia University, 27 to 5.

Jimmy May, Huntington senior, will be moving into the 130-pound class to get ready for competition in the big MAC meet later this year. Dave Cramp, Glenshaw senior, will be starting in the 123-pound division. For the 137-pound class there will be a wrestle-off between Dave Greathouse, Huntington sophomore, Russell Hodges, Huntington sophomore, and Harry Ellison, Beckley sophomore.

Six high school senior football players have signed grants-in-aid here, announced Head Football Coach Charlie Snyder.

The signees are: Larry Carter, a 6-2, 184 pound end from Dunbar; Terry Richmond, a 185 pound halfback from Calhoun County; Danny Slusher, Middletown, Ohio halfback; John Shelleroff from Lousia, Kentucky, a 160 pound halfback and defensive safety; and twin brothers, Robert and Richard Dordinger, halfbacks from Canterbury, Ohio.

WOMEN'S GAME TOMORROW

The Women's Varsity Basketball Team will play West Virginia State in the first game of the season tomorrow at 2 p.m. in the Women's Gymnasium.

Let's Back TV Debut

Marshall embarks tomorrow on something entirely new and perhaps unmatched in its few years in the Mid-American Conference. It will play host to Ohio University and the MAC in the weekly televised "MAC Game of the Week" on WSAZ-TV, beginning at noon.

But, because of the irregular time and the fact that the contest will not be blacked out in the local viewing area, it will be easy for students and other fans to stay and watch the game at home.

Show the armchair fans that we support the Big Green. Miami of Ohio had the privilege of being the first conference host last week and came up with a packed house and a victory.

ROMAN IN THE GLOAMIN'

Now as the end of the first semester draws near, one fact emerges clearly: you are all going to flunk out of school.

There are two things you can do about it. First, you can marry money. (I don't mean you marry the money itself; I mean you marry a person who has money. Weddings between people and currency have not been legal anywhere in the United States since the Smoot-Hawley Act. Personna® Stainless Steel Blades, on the other hand, are legal everywhere and are, indeed, used with great pleasure and satisfaction in all fifty states of the Union and Duluth. I bring up Personna Stainless Steel Blades because this column is sponsored by the makers of Personna Stainless Steel Blades, and they are inclined to get edgy if I omit to mention their product. Some of them get edgy and some get double-edgy because Personna Blades come both in Injector style and Double Edge style.)

But I digress. I was saying you can marry money but, of course, you will not because you are a high-minded, clean-living, pure-hearted, freckle-faced American kid. Therefore, to keep from flunking, you must try the second method: you must learn how to take lecture notes.

According to a recent survey, eleven out of ten American undergraduates do not know the proper way to take lecture notes. To illustrate this appalling statistic, let us suppose you are taking a course in history. Let us further suppose the lecturer is lecturing on the ruling houses of England. You listen intently. You write diligently in your notebook, making a topic outline as you have been taught. Like this:

- I. House of Plantagenet.
- II. House of Lancaster.
- III. House of York.

Then you stop. You put aside your pen. You blink back a tear, for you cannot go on. Oh, yes, you know very well that the next ruling house is the House of Tudor. The trouble is you don't know the Roman numeral that comes after III.

It may, incidentally, be of some comfort to learn that you are not the only people who don't know Roman numerals. The fact is, the Romans never knew them either. Oh, I suppose they could tell you how much V or X were or like that, but when it came to real zingers like LXI or MMC, they just flung away their styluses and went downtown to have a bath or take in a circus or maybe stab Caesar a few times.

You may wonder why Rome stuck with these ridiculous numerals when the Arabs had such a nice, simple system. Well, sir, the fact is that Emperor Vespasian tried like crazy to buy the Arabic numerals from Suleiman The Magnificent, but Suleiman wouldn't do business—not even when Vespasian raised his bid to 100,000 gold piastres, plus he offered to throw in the Colosseum, the Appian Way, and Technicolor.

So Rome stuck with Roman numerals—to its sorrow, as it turned out. One day in the Forum, Cicero and Pliny got to arguing about how much is CDL times MVIX. Well, sir, pretty soon everyone in town came around to join the hassle. In all the excitement, nobody remembered to lock the north gate and—wham! before you could say ars longa—in rushed the Goths, the Visigoths, and the Green Bay Packers!

Well, sir, that's the way the empire crumbles, and I digress. Let's get back to lecture notes. Let's also say a word about Burma Shave®. Why? Because Burma Shave is made by the makers of Personna Blades who, it will be recalled, are the sponsors of this column. They are also the sponsors of the ultimate in shaving luxury. First coat your kisser with Burma Shave, regular or menthol—or, if you are the devil-may-care sort, some of each. Then whisk off your stubble with an incredibly sharp, unbelievably durable Personna Blade, Injector or Double Edge—remembering first to put the blade in a razor. The result: facial felicity, cutaneous cheer, epidermal elysium. Whether you shave every day, every III days, or every VII, you'll always find Personna and Burma Shave a winning combination.
