South Hall Dorm Rent Raised $15

Dean of Student Affairs, John E. Shay announced Wednesday that dorm rent in South Hall will be raised from $120 to $135 next semester.

The raise has been approved by the Board of Education and the money will be used to meet financial obligations of the dorms.

"We now have one of the lowest dorm rents in West Virginia," he stated.

Shay said the rent will probably be raised in all the dorms eventually. The rates in Prichard and West Halls will remain the same next year since there will still be three girls in each room.

Renovation is planned for Laidley and Hodges Halls. Shay hoped that all facilities in the dorms will be the same.

Rent for students staying in South Hall this summer will be the same as this year's cost, $120.

Board OKs Extra Cash For Budget

By DAVID PEYTON
Editor-In-Chief

The Board of Public Works has approved the release of $120,000 from a sinking fund for Marshall to be used in the purchase of land and the renovation of buildings.

The money, which comes from interest on $5 millions worth of bonds sold by Marshall last year, carries with it the restriction that Marshall not use the money for personal services or operational expenses.

The University asked that the money be released from the sinking fund earlier in the legislative budget session.

Earlier this week, President Smith went to Charleston with a request for $140,000 for the operational budget. The additional money was not expected to be given to Marshall as of "Parthenon" press time Wednesday.

President Smith said that the money he asked for was absolutely necessary to the operational budget.

Last year, the University sold $5 million worth of bonds for new buildings on campus. Since all of the money was not needed immediately, part of it was turned over to the Sinking Fund Commission who, in turn, invested the money. The $120,000 is the result of that investment.

President Smith said Wednesday that he hoped to buy additional property on Fifth Avenue with the money from the sinking fund.

Early in the day Wednesday, administrators thought there was some hope of releasing the sinking fund money into the operational budget, but the Board of Public Works nipped this idea in the bud.

Leland Miller Suffers Injury

By CHARLES ABEL
Staff Reporter

Leland Miller, Green View senior, completed his requirements for graduation last semester. As this issue of "The Parthenon" is written, Miller lies in a hospital, unaware of his candidacy for graduation.

Miller was traveling home from his last final Friday, Jan. 22, when he lost control of his vehicle, near the intersection of routes 3 and 14, near Madison. The car rolled over and Miller was pinned beneath it. He is now a patient at Herbert Thomas Memorial Hospital, with severe injuries to his brain.

Doctors have completed two operations on his brain. A slight improvement has been noted, but his condition is still listed as "critical."

Miller completed his requirements for a B.E.S. degree, with an area of concentration in business administration, last semester.

Student Government Receives Shorter Version Of Manual

A new Student Manual was presented to the Student Senate Wednesday night.

The manual was prepared to take the place of a much longer version. The Student Government document was revised and prepared by Student Body President Steve Goodman and his cabinet.

The manual is a basic information document for all persons interested in Student Government activity, according to the preface of the document. It outlines the structure of the Student Government and provides a supplement to the constitution.

The manual provides guidelines for the various committees in the Student Government and details rules and regulations for organized Student Government functions.

The manual also lists the structure of the branches of Student Government.

The project was embarked upon by President Goodman in an attempt to simplify and shorten the old manual. According to President Goodman, the new manual is just about half as long as the old one, containing 38 pages.

God Bless You, Dean!

(Editor's note: We don't usually print anonymous communications, but we feel this verse, submitted to J. F. Bartlett, dean of the college of Arts and Science, is worthy of publication. What we'd like to know is: Who's the author? Make yourself known because we like it!)

Dear Dean:
Early Tuesday morn I arose, and a seat in the auditorium chose.
A million others did likewise
And at nine o'clock I had to arise
To attend class of considerable size.
The way the "monster" my schedule arranged,
Left an item in need of change.
It was only a minor item I say,
but nevertheless I had to pay.
All week long to the line I came
Come hail, snow, sleet or rain.
Once to the front I almost got
But to the restroom I did trot.
When I returned to my position
"To the back," you ordered without inquisition.
I wanted to throw you out the door,
But my respect for you was more
—For suddenly I knew because I'm wise,
This problem is for you no prize.
In all humility I do suggest,
A numbering system would serve the best.
Thank you sir, and may you God bless.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:
The students, faculty and staff at Marshall University proved again that they are most gracious hosts to visitors from The University of Toledo on the weekend of Feb. 5. For the second year I accompanied TU's dancing Rock-ets who performed at the TU-Marshall basketball game. The results were the same both years.

The girls were treated royally. They were welcomed at the sorority houses and treated to meals in the Marshall dining halls on Saturday evening and Sunday morning. The Rock-ets were warmly appreciative of the reception they received in Huntington and of the courteous, friendly students who escorted them to the dance following the game.

Ten members of our group were stranded at the arena following the game when our bus got stuck in the snow. Coach Ellis Johnson and his assistant, who I am sure had other things to do, offered their cars to drive us back to our rooms.

My compliments and thanks to everyone at Marshall for a thoroughly enjoyable weekend.

Sincerely,
JERRY L. MORROW
Director of University Relations

University students throughout the country are demanding a voice in rating their instructors, reports the "News Record," University of Cincinnati student newspaper.

While evaluations are both complex and controversial, they have been well received by the campuses which have undertaken such projects.

Reactions from University of Cincinnati professors have been both favorable and unfavorable. Some are completely opposed to the plan as are invasion of their freedoms as instructors, while others favor the system if it is operated without administrative control.

The "News Record" suggests any student rating would demand careful construction by personnel skilled in areas relating to behavior, statistics and psychology, and the subsequent analysis would also require deep consideration and attention.

American college students pay higher tuition and a greater share of the cost of their education than students in most other countries.

From Ballads To Bach To Blues

THE NORMAN LUBOFF CHOIR is scheduled to be at the Keith Albee Theater Monday, Feb. 21, at 8:30 p.m. The choir has made nearly 30 long play albums for RCA Victor and Columbia recording companies. These recordings range from Cowboy ballads to show tunes, and from Bach to the blues. Since 1963, the choir's reputation has been enhanced by a succession of successful live concert tours.

Male Singing Society Tryouts To Be Monday

A new male singing society will meet Monday at 4 p.m. in Room 203 of the Music Building, according to Dr. Paul A. Balshaw, assistant professor of music, and director of the group. Those wishing to sing, meet Feb. 7. In order to allow more students to participate, Dr. Balshaw has set up a second meeting of the group. "The turn-out February 7 was good," said Dr. Balshaw, "but we feel that a second meeting will help us even more."

He continued, "Whether we can get this group going or not depends on student support. We don't necessarily want people who can read music. We just want those who are really interested." The first male singing group on campus, was formed seven years ago. "However, this group dissolved because of a lack of student support," said Dr. Balshaw. He plans to have the group perform on campus, as well as for various local and area civic organizations. "I hope that we can build this singing group into as outstanding a one as it was seven years ago," added Dr. Balshaw. Practices will be held every Monday from 4-5 p.m.

University Budget Has Funds For 3 Additional Watchmen

"With the great expansion of the University's campus, I believe that Marshall students have a right to police protection ON CAMPUS."

The above statement was made by Sophomore Class President Dick Smith in a report presented to the Student Senate.

He stated that President Stewart H. Smith and Mr. Joseph Soto, vice-president Business and Finance, have realized this problem and have included funds for three additional watchmen in the budget presented to the state legislature.

He went on to disclose that "as a student representative I wrote a formal letter to state congressmen and senators from Huntington, Charleston, Parkersburg and Weirton asking for their support and views on this much needed protection.

"From the letters sent, only one response was received," said student Smith.

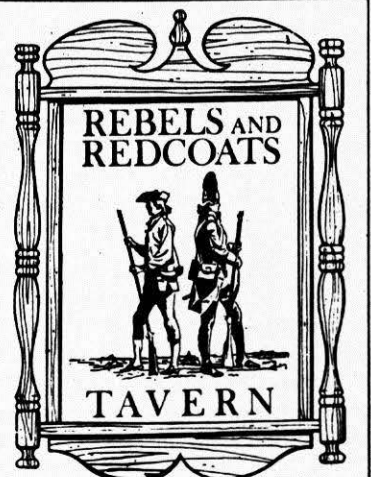

In his letter, Smith informed the congressmen and senators that "at the present time there are three watchmen employed by the University, each taking an eight hour shift. However, if trouble starts on campus, these men have no power other than to call the city police. The administration informs me that the city police have always been cooperative, but they are not always close enough to come immediately."

Concerning the continuation of his investigation, student Smith said, "until the State Legislature is over, and we find out if we received this additional help, I will not press this issue. However, if we do not receive this needed protection, further investigation will be made."

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS

Representatives of the Civil Service System will be on campus March 17 and 18, to interview and examine applicants for several positions for which college graduates with no work experience may qualify. Interviews will be held in the morning and examinations will be given in the afternoon. Persons interested in meeting with the Civil Service representative should immediately contact the Placement Office for details.

Main Leaks After Thaw

The old nemesis, weather, has given rise to a new diversion and a new organization on campus. The organization is the "Old Main Bucket Brigade" and the diversion is moving the buckets around to catch the drips, and then emptying them between the drips.

Superintendent of buildings and grounds Steve C. Szekely, attributed roof leakage to the thawing of ice in the gutters and roofs which resulted in a backing up of the excess water.

A temporary remedy has been effected in the organization of the "Old Main Bucket Brigade". A permanent remedy will be in the hands of the contractors who repaired and recovered the roof of Old Main this past summer. Until then, office workers and professors who are located in the east end of Old Main will have to man the brigade and carry on as best they can.

The snow removal on campus has also been hampered because of extensive repairs to the power and heating system of the Student Union. This was the primary consideration of the buildings and grounds crew during semester break. Because this problem needed the attention of the greater part of the working crew, snow removal on sidewalks was begun late.

'She Stoops To Conquer' New Play For Theater

By PATTI ARROWOOD
Staff Reporter

University Theatre will present the eighteenth century play "She Stoops to Conquer" by Oliver Goldsmith as its third production of the year.

The play will run for four days, Mar. 23-26, and is double cast with the two casts alternating days.

Women's roles include Charlotte Davis, Bluefield graduate student, and Janet Willey, Huntington sophomore, as Mrs. Hardcastle; Carol Hart, Huntington senior, and Ann Turkovich, Charleston sophomore, as Kate Hardcastle.

Nancy Loven, Warwick, R. I. freshman, and Marcia Hamilton, Pittsburgh, Pa. freshman, as Constance Neville; and Opal Rose, Ft. Pleasant sophomore, and Bonnie Sharp, Waverly freshman, as Pimple.

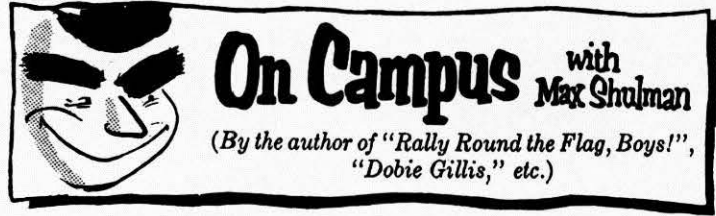

The play itself is set in England in 1773. The plot has been described as "witty, fast-paced, delightfully absurd, it revolves around the actions of: a young man shy with ladies but not with barmaids; a young lady sensible enough to pose as a barmaid; and Tony Lumpkin, a simple fellow whose wits are sharpened when he feels himself approaching the marriage altar too closely."

Marshall's production is being done in costumes of the period, according to Clayton Page, associate professor of speech, who is directing the play.

This is the second such play which has been done by the University Theatre. Several years ago "School for Scandal" by Sheridan was produced.

"She Stoops to Conquer," according to one critic, "has remained one of the half dozen most popular comedies in English drama."

ROOMMATES: THEIR CAUSE AND CURE

You'd think that with all the progress we have made in the education game, somebody would have found a cure for roommates by now. But no. Roommates remain as big a problem today as they were when Ethan Mather founded the first American college.

(Contrary to popular belief, Harvard was not the first. Mr. Mather started his institution some 100 years earlier. And quite an institution it was, let me tell you! Mr. Mather built schools of liberal arts, fine arts, dentistry and tanning. He built a lacrosse stadium that seated 200,000. Everywhere on campus was emblazoned the stirring Latin motto CAVE MUSSI—"Watch out for moose." The student union contained a bowling alley, a weighing machine, and a sixteen-chair barber shop.)

(It was this last feature—the barber shop—that, alas, brought Mr. Mather's college to an early end. The student body, being drawn chiefly from the nearby countryside, was composed almost entirely of Pequot and Iroquois Indians who, alas, had no need of a barber shop. They braided the hair on top of their heads, and as for the hair on their faces, they had none. The barber, Tremblatt Follicle by name, grew so depressed staring day after day at 16 empty chairs that one day his mind gave way. Seizing his vibrator, he ran outside and shook the entire campus till it crumbled to dust. This later became known as Pickett's Charge.)

But I digress. We were exploring ways for you and your roommate to stop hating each other. This is admittedly difficult but not impossible if you will both bend a bit, give a little.

I remember, for example, my own college days (Berlitz '08). My roommate was, I think you will allow, even less agreeable than most. He was a Tibetan named Ringading whose native customs, while indisputably colorful, were not entirely endearing. Mark you, I didn't mind so much the gong he struck on the hour or the string of firecrackers he set off on the half hour. I didn't even mind that he singed chicken feathers every dusk and daybreak. What I did mind was that he singed them in my hat.

To be fair, he was not totally taken with some of my habits either—especially my hobby of collecting water. I had no jars at the time, so I just had to stack the water any-old-where.

Well, sir, things grew steadily cooler between Ringading and me, and they might actually have gotten ugly had we not each happened to receive a package from home one day. Ringading opened his package, paused, smiled shyly at me, and offered me a gift.

"Thank you," I said. "What is it?"
"Yak butter," he said. "You put it in your hair. In Tibetan we call it gree see kidstuff."

"Well now, that's mighty friendly," I said and offered him a gift from my package. "Now you must have one of mine."

"Thank you," he said. "What is this called?"

"Personna Stainless Steel Razor Blades," I said.

"I will try one at once," he said. And did.

"Wowdow!" he cried. "Never have I had such a smooth, close, comfortable shave!"

"Ah, but the best is yet!" I cried. "For you will get many, many smooth, close, comfortable shaves from your Personna Blade—each one nearly as smooth, close, and comfortable as the first!"

"Wowdow!" he cried.

"Moreover," I cried, "Personna Blades come both in Double Edge style and Injector style!"

"Sort of makes a man feel humble," he said.

"Yes," I said.

We were both silent then, not trusting ourselves to speak. Silently we clasped hands, friends at last, and I am proud to say that Ringading and I remain friends to this day. We exchange cards each Christmas and firecrackers each Fourth of July.

The tournament, which starts today and runs through Sunday, will have some of the largest Universities in the country participating.

The four students who will be out to put Marshall in the lime-light will be Tom McClure, St. Albans sophomore, who will participate in the table tennis singles; Doug Warner, Vienna sophomore, competing in the table tennis doubles along with McClure; Fred Smith, Huntington senior, the chess champion, and Ed Seiler, Huntington junior, who will go after the pocket billiards championship.

The winners of this tournament will meet other regional winners in a place not designated as of yet for the union championship.

"All the boys are good in their field and all are capable of winning the tournament," said Morris.

Morris also said the Union doubles table tennis tournament will start next week and that anyone interested in participating should sign up this week.

Herd To Host Strong Steubenville In Non-League Contest Tomorrow

By WOODY WILSON
Sports Co-Editor

The young Thundering Herd cage team will face unscouted Steubenville College tomorrow at Memorial Field House in hopes of snapping a mid-season losing drought. Game time is 8 p.m.

The 6 p.m. preliminary contest will feature Coach John Sword's Little Herd against Mountain State College of Parkersburg.

Coach Ellis Johnson's Herd, loser of five of its last six outings entering Wednesday's game with Eastern Kentucky, will seek to deficient and poor shooting (a season low of 34 per cent against Toledo Saturday) and hopes it finds its shooting eye soon.

Answering the opening whistle for the Thundering Herd against the Barons will be sophomore Orville Stepp and junior Bill Whetsell at guards, sophomore Bob Redd and captain and senior Tom Langfitt at the corners, and 6-7 first-year man George Stone at center.

Stepp continues to pace the Herd in scoring with 281 points for an average of 18.7 and was fourth in the conference point-producing race entering the week.

Following Stepp in scoring is Stone who has 270 tallies for an 18.0 average and Redd with 262 points for an 17.5 average. Both also led in rebounding. Redd is first with 173 for an average of 11.5 per game while Stone is runnerup with 171 carooms for 11.4 average.

Langfitt, All-MAC first team last year, is fourth on the team in scoring with 184 points for an average of 12.3. The fifth starter, Whetsell, has gathered 74 points for a 5.7 average.

The Steubenville Barons, in the small-college top ten earlier in the season, are led by veteran 6-3 guard John Hummell, a big factor in the Barons two upset wins over MU last year.

The Thundering Herd will hold a slight height advantage over the Barons but, when Johnson puts 6-9 soph Bob Allen or 6-4 high - jumping senior George Hicks in the game, his squad will have a definite height enlargement.

Next week the Thundering Herd steps back into Mid-American Conference action against the conference's two top clubs. Tuesday they host first-place Miami University at Memorial Field House and Saturday travel to Toledo to battle the runnerup Rockets at the Toledo University Field House. Starting times for these tilts are set at 8 p.m. and 1:15 p.m., respectively.

Cage Tourney Finals Monday

The intramural single elimination basketball tournament continued this week with five of the original 17 teams still in the running. The championship game will be played Monday, at 7 p.m. in Gullickson Hall.

The Pi Kappa Alpha No. 3 team met the Pi Kappa Alpha No. 4 team Wednesday, deciding which would go into the semi-finals.

The Frosh No. 1, an independent team, defeated Hotel Prichard's No. 1 52-41 to gain a place in the semi-finals. The Raiders lost to the No. 1 team of South Hall, scoring 31 points to South Hall's 52. Kappa Alpha's No. 1 upset the Crickets, 40-36.

Last ear's cage championship was won by the Beavers, who defeated the Kee-Vees, 53-49.

Bob Bloom Places In Michigan Meet

The Thundering Herd track team competed against 33 teams last Saturday at Ann Arbor, Mich. in the Michigan Indoor Relays in the first indoor meet of the year.

Of the nine Marshall trackmen who competed, Robert Bloom, Weirton senior, was the only member of the squad who placed. Bloom finished fifth in the broad jump with a jump of 21 feet 10 inches.

Mickey Jackson, Harper Ferry junior, and Paris Coleman, Winona sophomore, placed 4th in their heat in the 60-yard dash.

Coach Mike Josephs' thinclads will go to Columbus, Ohio Feb. 19, to take part in the Ohio State Indoor Championships.

GRAPPLERS HOST MAROONS

The Thundering Herd wrestling squad will tackle the Eastern Kentucky Maroons tomorrow in Gullickson Hall at 2 p.m. Coach Ed Prelaz's grapplers, beating only Cincinnati University this season, took a 1-6 record into Wednesday's match with Ohio University.

Physical Education Instructor Receives Outstanding Female Athlete Award

Mrs. Marian T. Barone, assistant instructor of physical education, recently received the Germantown High School, Philadelphia, Pa., award for the outstanding female athlete of the past 50 years.

Mrs. Barone graduated from Germantown High School in 1941. She attended Temple University, Philadelphia, Pa., and received her A.B. from Marshall.

Mrs. Barone finished third in the Women's Gymnastic National A.A.U. Championships and Olympic Tryouts held in Philadelphia in 1948, and participated in the 1948 U. S. Olympics in Switzerland.

In 1952 she participated in the U. S. Olympics in Finland and was chosen the best all-around performer for the U. S. Olympic team in addition to being high scorer on the uneven parallel bars.

Mrs. Barone has taught at Marshall for three years and is currently working on her master's degree.

To any kid who'd like to leave home: We'll pay half your fare.

The idea's not as crazy as it may seem.

Anytime we take a jet up, there are almost always leftover seats.

So it occurred to us that we might be able to fill a few of them, if we gave the young people a break on the fare, and a chance to see the country.

The American Youth Plan*

We call the idea the American Youth Plan, and what it means is this:

American will pay half the jet coach fare for anybody 12 through 21.

It's that simple.

All you have to do is prove your age (a birth certificate or any other legal document will do) and buy a $3 identification card.

We date and stamp the card, and this entitles you to a half-fare ticket at any American Airlines counter.

The only catch is that you might have to wait before you get aboard; the fare is on a standby basis.

"Standby" simply means that the passengers with reservations and the servicemen get on before you do.

Then the plane's yours.

The American Youth Plan is good year round except for a few days before and after the Easter, Thanksgiving and Christmas rushes.

If you can't think of any places you'd like to go offhand, you might see a travel agent for a few suggestions.

We can't add anything else.

Other than it's a marvelous opportunity to just take off.

Complete this coupon—include your $3. (Do not send proof of age—it is not needed until you have your ID validated.)

In addition to your ID card, we'll also send you a free copy of AA's Go Go American with $50 worth of discount coupons.
