Plan Lambda Tau Alpha Meeting

LAMBDA TAU ALPHA, a society for medical technology students, will meet Tuesday at 11 a.m. in Room 209 of the Science Building to discuss available job openings and possibilities for graduate school work in the field. Preparing the program are (left to right): Dr. Howard Mills, professor of botany and group advisor; Jane Hoover, Huntington junior and president; Peg Wood, Huntington junior and secretary-treasurer and Lou Glasgow, Huntington junior and vice president.

Novak, Denman In Play

Dr. Elaine Novak, associate professor of speech, and William Denman, instructor of speech, are currently acting in the play, "Death of a Salesman," by Arthur Miller, presented by the Huntington Community Players.

The play is a tragic portrayal of the last 24 hours in the life of a salesman. They are full of disillusion and a sense of failure in his life. Dr. Novak is Linda Lomen, the salesman's wife. William Denman plays the next door neighbor, Bernard. Steven Alberts Jr. portrays Happy, the salesman's son. The director of the play is James Asp from Huntington.

Dr. Novak commented, "It is a great tragedy of the twentieth century. In 1949, when the play opened on Broadway, it won the Pulitzer Prize and the Critics Award."

"Death of a Salesman" is now being presented at the Abbott Theater, 420 West 14th Stret, tonight and Saturday evening. The play starts at 8:30 p.m.; Tickets are $2.

Need A Loan? Apply Now

Applications for scholarships and loans for the academic year 1966-67 are now available in the Financial Aid Office in Room 124 of Old Main.

George O. Fraley, financial aid officer, said all students who were awarded scholarships for this year must also re-apply. He was referring to those students who received civic organizations, labor groups, industrial, or West Virginia scholarships.

A program under expansion is the National Defense Student Loan Program. This fall it will include opportunity grants. Mr. Fraley explained that the program is geared to meet the needs of those students from low income families. Further information may be obtained from Mr. Fraley.

All awards in the forms of scholarships and loans will be made during the latter part of May or the first of June.

'V.I.P.' TO BE SHOWN

The "V.I.P." will be shown at the Union tonight at 7:30. Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton co-star in the film.

Berea To Host MU Debaters

Four debaters will represent Marshall tomorrow at the Berea College varsity debate tournament at Berea, Ky.

Debating on the affirmative team are Randal Jarrell, Pt. Pleasant junior and Harry Quigley, Elkview freshman. The negative team consists of Robert Wilkins, Huntington sophomore and Mike Engle, Charleston junior.

The debate topic will concern the advisability of greater freedom for law enforcement agencies. The tournament will be in the form of four rounds of cross-examination debate.

Library Addition Bid $1.7 Million

The State Board of Education received bids totaling over $1.7 million for construction of the addition to the James E. Morrow Library.

The apparent low bidder for construction was the Neighborgall Construction Co. of Huntington at $1,169,000. The Columbus Heating & Ventilating Co. of Columbus, Ohio offered the apparent low of $364,850 for mechanical work, and low on electrical contract was the Prichard Electric Co. of Huntington at $168,900.

President Stewart H. Smith announced that more funds must be raised before a bid can be accepted. He has hopes for a federal grant for $200,000.

President Smith also said that all bids were higher than anticipated by the architect.

Mr. Harold W. Apel, librarian, has announced several plans for the new addition.

The main feature will be the Collegiate Library, an open-shelf collection of about 50,000 volumes. This part of the library will seat 425 students and will contain books that students readily need.

Another feature planned is a pneumatic air shoot. This runs on the same line as the shoots found in department stores, but will be used to send call slips from the circulation desk to the stacks. A student assistant will be posted on each floor to locate the book.

To get the books back down to the desk, there may be a book conveyor system. This is similar to the system used in hospitals for serving trays.

There will be a separate conveyor and tube for the periodical desk.

Cabinet Passes Ruling On Property Mutilation

By DAVID PEYTON
Editor-In-Chief

The Administrative Cabinet last Tuesday passed a new ruling affecting students who mutilate or destroy University property.

The new ruling states "Any student who mutilates or destroys University property shall pay cost of replacing such property immediately when called upon to do so, and shall be subject to dismissal from the University."

President Stewart H. Smith said the cabinet has been talking about the new ruling for some time.

President Smith said the University has had a considerable amount of trouble with the destruction of University property, and added that the new ruling would be strictly enforced.

He said there have been problems especially in the library reading room where pages have been torn from magazines. Some of the magazines can be replaced; others cannot because the magazine is not in circulation. He added that some books also have been mutilated.

Seven Professors Travel This Week

Seven members of the faculty will be traveling to meetings this week.

Dr. Neil L. Gibbons, associate professor of education has returned after spending three days at a meeting of the American Association of School Administrators in Atlantic City, N. J.

Dr. Robert B. Hayes, dean of the Teachers College will leave for Chicago today for a meeting with the National Association of Colleges For Teacher Education at the Hilton Hotel.

Eric Core, associate professor of English; Dr. Lawrence Nuzum, professor of education; Rex Gray, associate professor of education, and Hillard R. Hoffman, assistant professor of education will attend a meeting of the National Association of Superintendents of Student Teaching in Chicago tomorrow.

Dr. J. Stewart Allen, dean of Academic Affairs, announced that he has been asked to serve as Discussion Chairman at the March 17 meeting of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education in Chicago.

Ready For The Dance!

Editorials

Copying Machine May Save Books

It may sound like a sermon, but it's still true: Tearing pages out of magazines in the library benefits absolutely no one. Earlier this week, President Smith said that he had heard reports of pages torn from a magazine that was absolutely irreplaceable.

Naturally, it is only a small minority of students who would tear pages from a magazine. Of course, it's easier to read and digest magazine articles in the privacy of a dormitory room, but once the article is gone, it's gone for good and will never be of benefit again.

Library officials have ordered a copying machine for the reading room. The machine should be in, and in operation within a week to ten days.

With this machine, the student could pay a small fee for a copy of a magazine article or a portion of a book. Copies would cost approximately ten cents apiece.

This alone will not put a complete stop to the mutilation of reading materials. But, the new ruling by the administration will act as a threat to students and will put a halt to some of it.

But for the real and complete solution, the University must turn to the users of the library — the students who rely on the library as their primary source of information for term papers and special reports.

Mutilating books on Marshall's campus is a waste, and the sooner that every student realizes this the better for the University.

Health Service Good Or Bad? Editors Invite Student Opinion

The editors of "The Parthenon" have heard rumors that some Marshall Students are displeased with the service offered by the Student Health Center.

Although we do not condemn or support the Health Center, the editors of "The Parthenon" are willing to listen to anyone who has had experience (good or bad) with the Student Health service.

We realize that, according to University policy, the Health service is limited in its scope. According to President Smith, the service is not to provide complete facilities for treating patients but rather a service to provide minor medication and to spot more serious illness.

"The Parthenon" is interested in student opinion concerning the Health Center. Written, signed letters to the editor will be sufficient. This is your chance to voice your opinion on the Health Service.

Student Government's Constitution Questioned

Another discrepancy, one of many, has apparently been discovered in the present Student Government Constitution.

The discrepancy occurs in Article II, Section 7., and was discovered by freshman senator Larry Sonis as reported in "The Parthenon" Wednesday.

The problem is this; if the constitution is left as it is now, the only people eligible to run for president and vice president of the student body are the present holders of that office. This borders on the ridiculous and must be changed or the spring elections will be illegal.

Another sub-section of the same article places the restriction, that candidates for the office must have completed one semester at Marshall immediately prior to the semester in which he runs. This is unfair, because a qualified student active previously in student government would be excluded from running if for any reason he was not in school for one semester.

The amendment was to be presented and voted on by the Senate Wednesday night after "The Parthenon" press time.

If the Senate refuses to place the amendment before the student body, Sonis intends to ask the Student Court to enjoin the Student Government from holding the spring elections.

The Student Government is responsible to the student body for discrepancies such as this. We (the students) have a right to demand the correction of such constitutional discrepancies, and the right to have qualified candidates to vote for.

In the event that none of Sonis's measures succeed in having the amendment placed before the students, a petition of initiative is now being circulated by Sonis and several other students. If ten percent of the student body sign this petition, it will be presented to the president of the student body and will require that the amendment be put to a vote.

If you are approached to sign this petition we urge you to do so. It is of the utmost importance to the betterment of your Student Government.

Even Refs Have 'One Of Those Days'

IT'S A SAD TALE but true. Occasionally Marshall fans have been so incensed by the referees at Marshall's basketball games, the 'refs' actually have to be escorted off the floor by policemen for their own protection. Needless to say, we're not scoring any "brownie points" with MAC referees, and perhaps there are others in the state that are watching our crowd reaction, too. It's time for the crowds at MU games to calm down and practice a little etiquette at future games.

MU's Public Image Bright Or Tarnished?

Much has been said about the "Battle of the Budget" at Marshall lately. We don't have enough money to run our school at anywhere near top efficiency.

Why? Does public relations have anything to do with Marshall University being the poor country cousins here in West Virginia? Exactly what kind of an image does Marshall have throughout the state?

It would take more time and space than is granted here to explain the image of Marshall University throughout West Virginia. But you can bet your boots that it does not come near the shining image of the great "University of the North."

When Marshall fans were tossing cups, pennies, and other debris on the basketball court at a recent game, that "other" university was beating the number two basketball team in the country and gaining more prestige in this state than you can shake a stick at.

No one likes to see his favorite team lose, especially if it is a good and upcoming young team like we at Marshall have.

But there is something that we should all remember. It is not whether you win or lose but rather how you play the game. Is it really "Square" to refrain from booing, applauding a good play by an opposing player, or keeping quiet when the players are shooting free throws?

A good fan will cheer like heck for his team. This is as much a part of athletics as the game itself. But as a fan one should play the game according to the rules. In this way the fan becomes a part of the game.

Marshall may never beat the number two team in the country. But on the other hand we just might beat the number three team in the country, or the number one for that matter.

But whatever the score, if we are good sports we may gain a little prestige in the eyes of West Virginia — along with our fine basketball team.

Letter To The Editor

To The Editor:

Surely the conduct of Marshall University students and fans within the past several weeks deteriorated to such an extent as to seriously jeopardize our sportsmanship and sense of fair play in the eyes of visiting teams and students as well as guests of the University.

Webster defines sportsmanship as one who plays fair, or one who can take defeat without complaint or victory without boasting. We have let momentary bursts of anger downgrade our character as a student body. We have blasted referees without objective reasoning and logic — qualities we as products of an institution of higher learning are supposed to possess. We have downgraded ourselves to a point where our Dean of Student Affairs had to act as a watchdog and remove guilty students from the Fieldhouse for throwing items onto the playing floor.

No one will deny the fact we are all hungry for a winning basketball team. Yet regardless of the quality of basketball at Marshall University, there is absolutely no excuse for the behavior exhibited at the Fieldhouse.

Protest exerted by groups should always be examined critically. The right of protest is inherent in the American way of life. But before taking action on an emotional feeling while watching a game, it is the height of prudence to be certain that the method employed is in keeping with what you believe to be the best for the character of the student body as well as the University. Thoughtlessly, we criticize the decisions of referees without realizing the difficult tasks they have.

Marshall is your university and should be very definitely your deep concern. It would be in the best interest of all if we re-examine our behavior and conduct at basketball games so as to reflect those qualities which were basic to the great John Marshall.

WMUL Gives Free Air Time To Candidates

WMUL, Marshall's FM radio station, is planning to give Student Government candidates a chance to state their views.

The station is donating four half hour periods, from 6 to 6:30 pm, Monday through Thursday. The exact dates of these programs are undecided.

Monday and Tuesday will be reserved for the introduction of each party's candidates for president and vice-president. The candidates will have the opportunity to present their platforms and express their views.

The order of party presentation will be determined by a coin toss between the heads of the parties involved.

Senatorial candidates will be introduced on Wednesday and Thursday. Each will have three minutes in which to express their ideas. The candidates will be presented in alphabetical order, or as they will appear on the ballot.

Candidates should get in touch with Tom Tanner at WMUL office in the basement of the Science Hall for further information.

Frosh Housing Filled For Fall

Kenneth R. Cohen, housing director, has announced that all freshmen spaces in the residence halls have been reserved for Sept., 1966.

Cohen said that the housing office has already accepted 815 applications of new students entering the university next fall. Out of that number approximately 525 of the residence applications have been from women. The total number of students able to be housed on campus now is 1,375 men and women.

Cohen said that any student desiring campus housing should return the housing application which will be distributed in the residence halls, without the stated deposit fee. This will enable the student's name to be placed on a waiting list.

The Housing Director said that all students will be notified when and if a space becomes available.

Cohen said, "Judging from past experience we can say that a large number of students on a waiting list are eventually housed in residence halls."

Information concerning housing may be obtained by writing to the housing director.

Total Enrollment To Be Released

Total enrollment for the current semester will be announced today, according to Luther E. Bledsoe, registrar.

This is the latest in a semester that the figures have ever been held before announcement. The reason for the delay is a new program which is being held in connection with West Virginia University.

The program is a class in reading which will be broadcast on television and can be taken for credit at either Marshall or WVU.

Deadline for registration for the class at WVU was Feb. 15.

"We don't feel we can modify their deadline," said Mr. Bledsoe. The addition of the figures on this class will complete the total enrollment.

Future Plans Include Engineering Building

Although the new classroom complex has not been completed, University officials are already beginning to look toward new buildings on campus.

According to University administrators, the next project in line for construction might be a new Science and Engineering building.

President Stewart H. Smith said Wednesday that the idea of the new building will be submitted to the Board of Education in hopes that the construction of the building will be placed on the priority list.

As it presently stands, President Smith said that if the building is approved by the Board of Education, construction might still be nearly three years away.

President Smith said that the administration is considering building the new building adjacent to the present Science Hall at the site of the Music Building. The Music Building will be demolished when the Music Department moves into new quarters in the new classroom complex.

According to the president, a dormitory was originally slated for the space, but it was decided that a new Science and Engineering building should be as close as possible to the present Science Hall. He said that it is hopeful that the two buildings could be joined by catwalks or an underground passage.

The president said that probably, if the new building is slated, it will consist of eight or ten stories, due to the limited amount of space in that area.

The dorm that was slated for the site of the old Music Building will probably be constructed on Fifth Avenue property, according to the president.

Impact Topic To Concern Mass Education Dilemma; Sessions Begin February 27

By NANCY SMITHSON
Staff Reporter

Impact begins Sunday, Feb. 27, at 6 p.m., with a banquet in the main cafeteria, when the topic, "The Dilemma of Mass Education," is launched.

Impact, a three day series of discussion will include a special convocation on Monday, Feb. 28, at 7:30 p.m. This will be followed by fireside chats led by interested faculty members. Speaking at this session will be Dr. John H. King, president of Kansas State College, Emporia, Kan., on "Arms and the Man-In College," an academic aspect of the program. Dr. King will explain how increased enrollment in universities is affecting the associations of students and faculty members and self-expression in the classroom.

A convocation at 11 a.m. on Tuesday, March 1, will close the discussion with an address by Dr. Noah Langdale, Jr., president of Georgia State College, in Atlanta, Ga., on "The Human Equation and Mass Education." His talk will concern the ways that student government and social involvement can respond to increasing student population.

According to Terry Steiner, commissioner of academic affairs and acting committee co-ordinator, both speakers are equipped to present views on the situation of mass education from different colleges and universities and have expressed an interest in the problem.

"The misconceptions about mass education that will be discussed," explained Steiner, "are the loss of personal identity and lack of association with instructors that students face in larger classes, and how the connotations of such a system affect the rolls of students and instructors."

He added that freshmen and sophomores would be most benefited by the Impact program as they will be the ones who will be facing increased enrollment on Marshall's campus.

One problem that he pointed out concerns student government. He noted that on some campuses where student government is lacking, students sometimes resort to civil violence to obtain a voice on campus. Emphasis here will be placed on the present and future roll of campus politics.

"The object of Impact," Steiner reported, "will be to make students aware of what larger universities are facing now as the side effects of educational standardization, and what we may be subjected to in the future."

All aspects of the Impact program are open to students, faculty members and administrators. Tickets for the banquet may be bought from senators for $1.

Fraternities Announce 100 Semester Pledges

A total of 100 new second semester pledges received bids from fraternities last Friday as the climax to a week of rushing.

Members Needed In Choral Union To Sing 'Elijah'

There is a need for singers in each of the voice sections for the oratorio 'Elijah' to be presented by the Marshall University Choral Union, according to Dr. Paul A. Balshaw, assistant professor of music and director of the Union.

Rehearsals are held every Monday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in room 109 of the Music Building. Any faculty member, student, or other interested persons should attend the next rehearsal.

Since there is a conflict with the Norman Luboff Choir program, the rehearsal on Monday will begin at 7 p.m. and those with tickets to the concert will be excused at 8 p.m.

The 'Elijah', an oratorio by Mendelssohn, will be presented on April 5, accompanied by the Marshall Community Symphony Orchestra.

Marshall's Peak Tuesday Night

WE LOST THE GAME to Miami, but if MU had been scored on cheerleader antics, we would have won and might even win the MAC championship. MU's Betsy Rich, Huntington junior, made a fantastic leap into the air to cheer the men on to victory. Alas, MU lost its tilt against Miami, 71-52.

'Little Sisters Of Minerva' Keep Busy By Helping SAEs

In 1856, just before the Civil War, a Union soldier left with his sweetheart much more than his love and loyalty. He left papers which were to become the basis for the establishment of a new and interesting group.

Lucy Pattie was the sweetheart of the soldier and former SAE member. When the war came, he left the fraternity's papers with her for safe-keeping.

After the war was over, the SAEs wanted to re-unite. Each fraternity brother was identified by a secret handshake which was recognized by Lucy. Because women played such a big part in the fraternity, it was named "The Little Sisters of Minerva," an auxiliary to Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Its theme is "Women have played a big part in the realm of Sigma Alpha Epsilon."

The only one of its kind on campus, the auxiliary has 25 members consisting of pin-mates, wives of the SAEs, or those showing outstanding loyalty to the fraternity. Under the leadership of Cathy Call, South Charleston junior, the girls meet every other Wednesday at the SAE fraternity house. At every meeting there is an active SAE, called a "Laiason Man," who gives helpful ideas to the girls.

Some of the projects this year include selling candy for furniture of the new SAE house, decorating the house for the Christmas formal, and selecting the SAE "Model Pledge of the Year," who is sent to the SAE leadership school summer session. They also serve refreshments during open house and clean the SAE house in the summer.

WANT TO JOIN?

The Panhellenic Council has announced that women interested in attending a team for Phi Mu sorority should sign up in Dean Buskirk's office Feb. 21-23. The tea will be held at the Student Union Sunday, March 6, at which time women can sign up for interviews. National officers and Phi Mu members from other campuses will be there to answer any questions and describe Phi Mu.

Rockets Are Foe In Tilt Tomorrow

By WOODY WILSON
Sports Co-Editor

The Thundering Herd cage team will face another stiff hurdle tomorrow on the MAC "game of the week" when it engages the second place Toledo Rockets in Toledo. The game will go on the air at 1 p.m. and begin at 1:15 p.m.

This will mark the third appearance on television for the Herd this season and Coach Ellis Johnson hopes his slumping team will capture its second win in three outings on the tube. They have beaten Ohio University 79-68 and lost to Bowling Green 90-83 in two previous television appearances.

The Thundering Herd will enter the rematch game with a 9-9 record and 3-5 in conference action. Toledo's conference mark was 7-1, entering their game with Bowling Green Wednesday night.

The starting lineup for Coach Johnson will consist of four sophomores and captain and senior Tom Langfitt.

Langfitt and Orville Stepp are the guards, 6-7 George Stone and 6-4 Bob Redd will be at forwards, and 6-9 Bob Allen is the center.

Stone captured the scoring leadership from Stepp Tuesday night in the 71-52 loss to league leading Miami by tossing in 14 points. Stone has scored 327 points for an average of 18.2 while Stepp has 325 for an 18.1 average.

Redd is third in scoring with a 17.7 average on 318 tallies produced and first in rebounding with 208 retrieves. Langfitt is fourth in point producing with 213 points for an 11.1 average.

For Coach Bob Nichols streaking Toledo gang, already owning a 70-69 overtime decision over the Herd this season, senior forward Jim Cox and center Bob Aston lead its potent offense.

Cox, second to Aston in the conference's scoring race with a 21.1 average to 21.7, almost single handed defeated the Herd in the first encounter, by scoring 20 points and the final basket in the overtime.

Other Toledo starters are Dennis Perzynski at corner and 6-1 Don White and 6-3 Bill Backensto at guards.

In the conference loss at the hands of Miami, Langfitt and Stone were the only Herd players to consistently crack the tough

Superior Drug Defeats Frosh

Marshall's freshmen suffered their sixth loss of the season Tuesday night, losing to a strong Superior Drug Store team 110-90.

Superior, a local independent team, broke the game open in the second half after holding only a 56-50 lead at intermission. The loss left the Little Herd's record at (9-6-1) with three games to play.

The Druggists featured a pair of ex-Marshall players in Butch Clark and Corky Layman as well as former Florida University star Carlos Morrison and one-time small college all-american Bill Hardin from Hampton Sydney College.

Hardin and Don Moreland paced the winners in scoring with 28 points apiece. Clark scored 17, while Morrison and Bennie Fischer added 15 each.

MU was led by center John Mallet who tallied 25. Dallas Blankenship scored 21, while Dan D'Antoni, who fouled out, and Mike Watson had 16 points each.

The next game for the MU yearlings will be Tuesday when they tangle with the Ohio University frosh at Athens. OU won an earlier meeting between the two teams 102-101.

Redskin defense.

Langfitt took team honors with 16 points while Stone popped in 14. Stepp was next with eight tallies, his lowest total of his young career.

Center Jim Patterson led the Miami attack with 25 points and 14 rebounds. Forward Jerry Pier-son helped out with 17 and Jerry Fisher and Bob Jackson added 10 each.

After the Toledo battle, the Thundering Herd's next encounter is Tuesday at Athens, Ohio aginst the Ohio Bobcats. Game time at Grover Center is 8 p.m.

Tourney Men Pleased Morris

"We may not have come out on top, but I would say that Marshall was well represented in it."

This is how Don Morris, manager of the student union intramurals, related the outcome of the four MU students who participated in the Annual Association of College Unions Tournament at Pennsylvania State University last weekend.

The four students were Tom McClure, St. Albans sophomore (table tennis singles and doubles); Doug Warner, Vienna sophomore (table tennis doubles); Fred Smth, Huntington senior (chess), and Ed Seiler, Huntington junior (pocket billiards).

All four placed third in their respective specialties, competing against representatives from seven other colleges and universities.

Morris said, "the hope was that at least one of the participants would place in the top three, but when you finish third in all four contests, well that's great."

Summersville Star Signs With Herd

Gary Groves, a 6-0, 185-pound fullback from Nicholas County High of Summersville has signed a football grant-in-aid to attend MU, head coach Charlie Snyder announced Tuesday.

Groves, who plans to study pre-law, was co-captain of the New River Valley Conference team this year and won honorable mention all-stater.

This grid season he gained 1,009 yards on 132 carries for a fine 7.4 average and averaged 20.6 on kickoff returns. He also punted for a 38.6 average.

PLATO IS TOPIC

There will be a meeting of the Classical Association today at 3 p.m. in room 210 of Old Main. Diane Towne, Huntington junior, and president of the Classical Association said that most of the semester will be spent studying Plato's Republic. An introduction to Plato and his philosophy will be given today along with a study of his first two books. Miss Towne specified that anyone interested in attending the meeting should read the material.

Intramural basketball ended this week as South Hall's No. 1 team defeated Pi Kappa Alpha's No. 4 team 50-36.

It was a big day for the dorm as it crept into third place in the overall intramural standings with the victory. It was obvious from the beginning that it would be South Hall's game as they proceeded to outshoot, outmaneuver and outplay the determined and scrappy Pike quintet.

South Hall's team was led by Bill Smith with 17 points, followed by Gary Marvin with 11 points and Jim Weatherford (second place winner in the free-throw competition) with nine points.

The deciding game of third and fourth place winners was held Tuesday as Kappa Alpha's No. 1 team defeated the Frosh in an overtime match, 51-49. At the end of the second half the two teams were caught in a 44 point tie. With a three-minute period of sudden death the K.A.'s pushed ahead to win by two points.

The shooting of the Frosh remained fairly constant throughout the entire game while the K.A.'s depended on two men for more than 75 per cent of the shooting. Pete Donald, Huntington junior, lead both teams with 27 points while Art Frampton, Chareleston junior collected 13 points.

This year 59 per cent of all of the men who participated in intramural basketball belonged to a fraternity while 41 per cent were independents. Of the entire male freshman class 10 per cent participated, 14 per cent of the sophomores, 20 per cent of the juniors and 17 per cent of the seniors. Of the entire male student body 18 percent played basketball this year. It has been the most popular sport of the year.

College Is A Family Affair

Mother And Two Sons Look Toward June Commencement

Conquering Marshall University has become a family project for the Ransons.

Mrs. Thelma Ranson from Barboursville, and two of her sons, Phillip and Eugene, both of Huntington, are all candidates for their degrees in June.

According to Mrs. Ranson, "Coming back to school wasn't a big adjustment for me. My sons talked me into it."

To this Phillip added, "The adjusting was for the family. No cookies, cakes, pies or any of the little extras we used to get."

Mrs. Ranson is majoring in primary-kindergarten education and maintains nearly a 3.00 average.

"My schedule is very busy but it's worth the effort, says Mrs. Ranson. In addition to the mother and student roles, she is also a grandmother."

Mrs. Ranson's sons state that they also have a busy schedule. Both work full time and are full time students. Phillip, who is an advertising major, says, "I do most of my homework on weekends but still average only five hours of sleep a night."

Eugene, whose wife Susan also attends Marshall, is majoring in accounting.

"My husband is proud of his family of scholars said Mrs. Ranson.

Phillip wonders if they can apply for family discount rates as he recalls, "At one time my mother, brother, aunt, two cousins, sister-in-law, and I were all attending Marshall."

Mrs. Ranson's son also has another son who plans to attend

Marshall next fall.

Thinking of past experiences and perhaps of those yet to come, the Ranson family agreed that they are "fortunate to live in a college town and that college life can be an enjoyable family affair."

A Xerox model 914 copying machine has been ordered for student use in the library. The machine will be installed within a week or 10 days on the second floor reading room. Each copy made will cost the student 10 cents.

National Psychology Honorary To Begin Reconstruction Period

Psi Chi, national honorary society in psychology, is in the process of a reconstruction period said Pat Faller, Huntington senior and secretary of the organization.

Miss Faller said that the organization first appeared on campus in 1948. "The society deteriorated to nothing. There are no records from previous years when the society existed in name only," said Miss Faller.

President of the organization, Maynard Boyd, teaching assistant in psychology, and Vice President Herbert Smith, Milton senior, decided to contact people who would qualify for membership and sent out letters of invitation.

At the present time there are 16 active members of Psi Chi. Dr. Kenneth Loemker, chairman of the Psychology Department is the society's faculty advisor.

Psi Chi holds regular monthly meetings with guest speakers from the faculty and from Huntington. The society is planning a campus project for the near future and will initiate new members next month.

Campbell Scholarship Award

The first annual William C. Campbell scholarship was awarded to David Carter, Barboursville sophomore.

The scholarship, which is donated by the Elks Club and William Campbell (Huntington golf amateur and one time national amateur champion) is to be given annually to a young deserving golfer at Marshall.

Carter, who was captain of the Barboursville golf team, will be one of the starters this season.

The athletic department is responsible for choosing the recipient of the scholarship. Since this is the first year of its existence it went to an upperclassman. From now on it will go to a worthy freshman.
