MARSHALL UNIVERSITY STUDENT NEWSPAPER

Convocation Features Brandbur Of Illinois

By LLOYD D. LEWIS
Managing Editor

For the fourth consecutive year, Marshall is sponsoring the annual Honors Convocation at which time students of high achievement will be recognized. This year's program will be held in Old Main Auditorium at 11 a.m. tomorrow.

Featured speaker is a Huntington native, Dr. Edward Brandbur, who is dean of the Honors College at the University of Illinois. "The Life of Mind" is his subject.

The program also includes an invocation by The Rev. William B. Villers, Chairman of the Campus Christian Center selections by the Symphonic Choir; introduction of guests and recognition of honor students by Vice President of Academic Affairs J. Stewart Allen, and the singing of the alma mater. Dr. Brandbur will be introduced by President Stewart H. Smith.

A luncheon for invited guests will follow the main program and will begin at 12:15 p.m. in the University Cafeteria. Dr. Brandbur is scheduled to speak on the subject "A University Honors Program" at this luncheon.

Attending the Convocation will be students enrolled in the University Honors Seminar, those enrolled in departmental honors program, all students who earned a 3.5 or higher grade point average during the second semester of 1964-65 or the first semester of this school year, and honor students representing area high schools.

Dr. Brandbur received his A.B. and M.A. degrees from Xavier University and his Ph.D. from the University of Cincinnati. He taught at UC from 1958 to 1961 and is now an assistant professor of English at the University of Illinois.

Dr. Brandbur is also executive secretary of the University of Illinois' Division of Humanities and is now preparing a book on the early fiction of James Joyce.

Past speakers for the Honors Convocation have been Dean Stanley J. Idzerda of the Honors College at Michigan State University, who spoke in 1963; James Monroe Rathbone, a Parkersburg native and chairman of the board of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, who delivered the address and received an honorary doctor of science degree in 1964, and Dean Allen Pfeister of Wittenberg University, who spoke last year.

According to Dr. Charles H. Moffatt, professor of history and chairman of the Honors Committee, the idea of an honors curriculum at Marshall germinated in 1961 when the University Committee on Academic Standards began studying the matter.

Dr. Moffatt said the program is "an attempt to recognize students who are talented, just as athletes and beauty queens have been recognized in the past."

In 1962 the University Honors Seminar started with a small number of outstanding students and with no permanent meeting place. However, the Seminar has since acquired the Honors House which includes a lecture room and library facilities. The Seminar's topic this year is Asia.

The other major part of the honors program is the departmental honors courses. Sixteen academic departments now maintain and teach their own honors courses for seniors of outstanding ability.

Teachers' Deadline Is April 4

Applications for student teaching for the first semester of 1966-67 must be made by April 4, announced Dr. Lawrence H. Nuzum, professor of education and director of student teaching.

In the future "applications to do student teaching should be made as early as possible in the semester preceding student teaching," Dr. Nuzum advised, "with final applications due by the middle of the semester."

A new program of Orientation Seminars for those planning to student teach have been instituted during the latter half of the semester preceding student teaching. Dr. Nuzum stressed the fact that students must complete these seminars in order to be eligible for student teaching.

Orientation Seminars scheduled for this semester will be held at 4 p.m. in the Science Hall Auditorium on April 12 and April 25.

As a reminder to all juniors in Teachers College, Dr. Nuzum added, "As soon as you have earned 90 hours of credit, report to the Student Teaching Center, located in room 232 of Old Main, for an appointment to have a credit evaluation. The instructor assigned to do your evaluation will be your adviser until your graduation."

An exception to this is made for students who are majoring in music who should report instead to Dr. C. Lawrence Kingsbury, professor of music; those in speech correction to Dr. Ruth C. Garrett, associate professor of speech; home economics majors to Miss Reva Neely, associate professor of home economics; and kindergarten-primary majors to Dr. Woodrow Morris, professor of education.

Tourney Starts Here Tomorrow

The West Virginia State High School basketball tournament will be held at Memorial Fieldhouse tomorrow through Saturday, bringing almost 1,000 high school students to the MU campus, said Kenneth Cohen, housing director.

Mr. Cohen said that obtaining housing for the visiting students will be no problem if every one cooperates.

The majority of the students will be housed en masse. Mr. Cohen stressed the need for volunteers to house students in dormitory rooms, fraternity and sorority houses, and private homes. He said mattresses and linens will be provided for the students at the cost of $1.25 per night.

'Are You Ready, South Hall?'

Six Dorms Will Be Represented In MU College Bowl Tournament

By DAVE GARTEN
Feature Editor

The Inter-dorm College Bowl Committee has scheduled a single elimination tournament for Monday, according to Richard Hanson, Welch sophomore and co-director of the tournament.

Time and place of the event have not been announced.

The tournament, based on television's "G.E. College Bowl", is open to participation from the five campus dormitories and students residing at the Prichard Hotel.

"Each dorm will be allowed to enter four teams in tournament competition," said Hanson. "Practice games will be played in the dorms before the tournament begins."

"When a team decides to participate in tournament competition, it must select a name and a captain. The captain then must register with the Office of Student Affairs on or before Friday."

In addition to the eight players, the game requires a moderator, timekeeper, scorekeeper and an official. Each team will be designed "Blue" or "Grey" depending on the color of the game equipment which was especially constructed for the tournament by Ralph Stanley, Parkersburg sophomore and member of the College Bowl Committee.

According to the official game rules, 10 points will be awarded for each tossup question correctly answered (five points being subtracted for each question incorrectly answered when a player interrupts before the question has been completely read.) When a player correctly answers a tossup, his team is then entitled to a bonus question on which they may confer. Bonus questions vary in points according to the degree of difficulty.

"The questions came from committee members, faculty members and the original General Electric College Bowl book," said Hanson.

Each game lasts 35 minutes, consisting of two 15-minute playing periods and a five-minute halftime. A trophy will be awarded to the championship team.

A tentative tournament schedule will be posted on the bulletin board outside the Office of Student Affairs and in each residence hall. Time and place of the tournament is to be arranged.

Election Today For 35 Hopefuls

Today is election day on campus. Polls will be open in the basement of the Student Union until 5 p.m. where all full-time students are eligible to vote. The election will be for president and vice-president of the Student Body and for class presidents and senators.

Larry Bruce and David Frost, Huntington juniors, are opposing Lowell Adkins, Huntington junior, and Ranald Jarrell, Pt. Pleasant junior, for the top two government positions. A number of amendments are also on the ballot.

MIX TONIGHT

There will be a mix at the Student Union tonight beginning at 7:30. Music will be supplied by "The Tempos." I.D. cards must be shown at the door. The winners of the Student Government elections will be announced during the mix.

SNEA MEETING

The Student National Education Association (SNEA) will meet tomorrow night at 6:30 in the Science Hall auditorium. A speaker who served with the Peace Corps in The Philippines will be included on the program on international relations.

State Congressmen To Speak Tonight

Lyle Smith, state senator representing Cabell and Wayne counties, and Hugh Kincaid, representative to the House of Delegates from Cabell county, will be guest speakers at a meeting of the Marshall University Alumni Association Board of Directors, 7:30 tonight, in the Office of Alumni Affairs.

Representative Kincaid and Senator Smith will discuss with the board methods of securing funds for the university's continued growth and progress.

Would You Believe..?

Would you believe that this is election day at Marshall University? It is true that this is the day of the greatest and most fantastic event of the year. This is the day when "we the students of Marshall University" choose our leaders and protectors for the coming year.

We are extremely fortunate that we have such a fine selection of candidates to choose from in this election. All of them are efficient, dedicated, and their sole interest is the betterment of Marshall and its students.

We surely must also be thankful for the fine leaders we were blessed with this past year. They also proved themselves to be the servants of the students we have come to expect from the past performances of our forefathers in Student Government who have made it such a guiding factor in the lives of all Marshall students.

In order that we may better understand our debt to the Student Government on this election day, let's look at their record in this, one of their most productive years.

Who was it that made our Homecoming such a great financial success this year? Who else, but our illustrious Student Government. And who was it that outlawed the terrible discrimination of block seating at the Homecoming dance that was such a great factor in the success of Homecoming? Our Student Senate of course. We owe them much.

And who stood alone in their protection of the students against the powerful radical organization SDS and its three sinister members. Our Student Senate of course. We owe them much.

What group on campus worked actively in support of Marshall's bid for a larger budget when we needed them so. The Student Government, of course. We owe them much.

And who was it that made "Impact" such a smashing success and cultural asset to the students of Marshall. The turnout at the "Impact" convocation by the student senators was absolutely fantastic. This proved finally for all critics, that our senators support what they initiate. We owe them much.

When faced with magnanimous financial problems, who choose to withdraw support from the literary magazine, "Et Cetera", which after all is only cultural, in favor of such illustrious programs as The Collegiate Council of the United Nations. This contributes greatly to the betterment of the campus, as does Spring Weekend which has always been well attended and has brought us such great entertainers as Jay and The Americans. We owe them much.

And we cannot forget our Student Court which has gained such great prestige with the school administration and students alike, with their positive and judicious handling of the Jolly Green Giant case and other landmark cases. They have set an example for future courts to follow. We owe them much.

And what about the traffic court that the Student Court promised to establish, but were unable to tie to their great load of important pressing decisions. We owe them much.

And how could we forget the impressive performance of the Student Cabinet, who gave encouragement and direction to all of the Student Government, and were largely responsible for the stirring success of the Student Government this year. We owe them much.

And who revised the Student Government Constitution last spring to make it a document explicit in both the spirit and letter of the law. It is such a precise piece of legal writing that undoubtedly it will remain unamended and be an example of an efficient constitution for many years to come.

And who has been able to withstand the "slings and arrows of outrageous fortune" without developing an embittered and defensive attitude. All of these feats of greatness we can attribute to our very own Student Government which has served us so well. We owe them much.

And now we must look to the future of our great Student Government. Judging from the previous records of many of our candidates in today's election we can look forward to an absolutely wonderful year in Student Government.

And now let's get out and show our Student Government how much we appreciate all they have done for us. Get out and vote. We owe them much. . . .

Vanocur Discusses Viet Nam

By SHERRY ALLEN
Staff Reporter

"If we give up the right of dissent, Communism will have won in the long run."

Such was the opinion of Sander Vanocur, a leading television news commentator who spoke at the Community Forum last Saturday night on the existing situation in Viet Nam.

He stressed the importance of the people of America debating the subject "Where are we going in the long run in Asia?"

Vanocur didn't claim to be an expert on Viet Nam. On the contrary, it was his contention that there are no experts—"only varying degrees of ignorance." He did give a brief account of what had been going on in Viet Nam since 1942 and how America became involved.

He said that newsmen should print facts that would relate "where we are and how we got there."

He doesn't feel that the United States should get out of Viet Nam, nor does he feel we COULD get out. "If we got out, the political consequences would be terrible. It would have a jarring effect on the entire world."

"I only see two alternatives. We can: (1) hold on to what we've got—continuing to battle, hoping for peace talks and not enlarging the war, or (2) escalate the war, fighting not only the North Vietnamese but also Chinese Communist expansion."

He added that he sees no end in sight to the war because it has taken a direction all its own.

Commenting on the two trips he has made to Viet Nam, the veteran newsman said that the morale of the American troops was amazing; that the whole outlook was superb and that they never underestimated the ability of the enemy. He also said that the anti-war demonstrations "back home" bother them.

In his opinion, most of the college student demonstrations mean little, and that they are vastly overplayed. "They're more fad than anything. When you read about one, it's just like starting a chain reaction. That's all you read and hear about for a couple weeks."

"Just like the blackout in New York. For a week or two all you could read about was blackouts here and there and their probable causes. It'll be the same with the demonstrations."

When asked if he thought Communists could take over the United States, his spontaneous reply was, "Oh God! Do you mean that? Americans are too strong and powerful to be taken in by something like that. My fear of Communism is nothing."

Vanocur, who is with NBC, has covered such important events for the networks as: Khrushchev's visit to the United States; the Little Rock crisis; Jacqueline Kennedy's tour through India; JFK's political campaign; the 1964 political conventions, and was from 1961-64 the White House News correspondent.

PARTY PLANNED

A small "Get-Together" party is planned for the girls of West Hall tomorrow evening at 9:30. Miss Mary Beth Dorsey, speech instructor, will present a 20 minute dramatic presentation; other entertainment is planned.

Do Editorials Work?

THE CAVALIERS, independent social fraternity, recently came up with the same idea expressed in a "Parthenon" editorial. Last Saturday some of the members met at the Student Union to work on the ODK bulletin board which has been in bad repair (or no repair at all) for months. With about $10 and 4 hours labor, the men now have the bulletin board looking like new—with new glass, moulding strips, and paint. President Stewart H. Smith dropped by three times Saturday to admire the project. Student Union Manager Don Morris also commended the men. From the left they are: Steve Willis, Seaford, Del. sophomore; Dave Bailey, Beckley sophomore; Danial Miller, Huntington sophomore (behind) and Mike Parnicya, Moundsville freshman. MU Debate Team Wins 4 At Miami

Marshall's debate team posted a record of four wins and six losses at the Miami of Ohio University debate tournament last weekend. Debating for Marshall were Ralnd Jarrell, Pt. Pleasant junior; Harry Quigley, Elkhartview freshman; Bob Wilkins, Huntington sophomore; and Mike Engle, Charleston junior. The tournament was won by DePauw University.

THE DEPARTMENT OF WELFARE is offering immediate social workers positions for liberal arts graduates.

Additional benefits include:

- paid graduate study
- civil service job security
- vacation and sick leave
- retirement plan

CAN YOU QUALIFY AS A UNITARIAN UNIVERSALIST?

Unitarian Universalists have no one creed . . . except an active concern for mankind. They believe that religion must deal with today's problems. They are involved. They turn up in groups working for the UN or for Civil Rights or for Peace. They march. They write letters to congressmen. They volunteer. They don't think of religion as a quiet, hypnotic hour on Sunday. Maybe that's why our church is such a stimulating place.

Come this Sunday — and see if you qualify.

Wilson Fellow Is 'Surprised'

By DAVE GARTEN
Feature Editor

"I want to thank the professors and those who stood behind me," said Jane McCaskey, Huntington senior, following the announcement that she was the recipient of the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship. "I couldn't have done it without their support."

Miss McCaskey, an English and mathematics major, is the seventh Marshall student to be named a Wilson Fellow and she was "shocked by the announcement."

"I just couldn't believe it. I had gone to Washington, D. C. for the interview but after that I just told myself it was a nice honor to be a semi-finalist. I was really surprised when I won."

Miss McCaskey has been active in extra curricular activities throughout her college career. Honor groups in which she has held membership include Alpha Lambda Delta, scholastic fraternity for freshmen women, Fagus, leadership for junior and senior women, and Sigma Tau Delta, in addition to being a member of the senate for two years. She is president of Alpha Xi Delta Sorority and was listed in Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges. Her hobbies include sports, sewing, reading and bridge.

According to Miss McCaskey

she will use the $2,000 grant for graduate study in English at either University of North Carolina or Duke University.

First Pledges Accepted By Phi Mu Sorority

By BARBARA ROBERTS
Feature Writer

Phi Mu, the second oldest sorority in the United States, formally accepted its first pledges to Marshall campus Friday. Girls who were interested in the sorority have been attending interviews upstairs in the Student Union by the National Collegiate President, Adele Williamson, and the Vice President, Becky Peterson. Plans for a house will be completed this summer and in the meantime, the sorority will meet periodically on campus.

Phi Mu was founded in 1852, at Wesleyan College in Macon, Ga., by three women. It was organized with the purpose of helping those less fortunate than themselves, such as acting as hospital aids or caring for the elderly.

It was founded as a fraternity for this was the Greek word meaning clan. According to Barbara Beverly, a transfer student from Queens College and a member of Phi Mu, stated that the word "sorority" is relatively new and was adopted with the organization of the Pan-Hellenic Council. Phi Mu's crest is a shield with two lions on either side. The lions are joined by a lamp with an eternal flame.

Barbara also related that the sorority, nationally and locally, supports care projects. It donates to the support of the Good Ship Hope, which travels to the depressed ports of the world. In 1922, the Phi Mu's originated the Health Mobile which reaches out to many rural areas.

Cap & Gowns Now Available

Percy L. Galloway, bookstore manager, has announced orders will be taken this week from students and faculty for caps and gowns.

Galloway stressed the importance of submitting orders as soon as possible so that he will have the required number available for commencement exercises.

The gowns, which are supplied to Marshall by the C. E. Ward Co., New London, Ohio, are expected to arrive one week prior to commencement, Galloway said.

"No money is needed to place an order," Galloway added. "The rental fee is collected when the gowns are picked up at the bookstore."

Foundation Request Approved

By RON HITE
Staff Reporter

The first step toward the construction of a 10-story dormitory on the Marshall campus was approved last Friday by the West Virginia Board of Education.

A resolution, submitted by the Marshall Foundation, Inc., was approved by the board and cleared the way for construction of a residence hall to house some 500 students which is to be financed by private sources.

R. J. Payor, president of the Marshall Foundation, said that although no estimates have been made on the cost of the project and no site has been secured, the foundation would line up the financing and generally oversee the development of the structure.

Joseph Soto, vice president of business and finance, said the next step will be the leasing of land owned by the Board of Education to the Marshall Foundation.

In other action last Friday, the Board of Education awarded contracts for a $1.8 million addition to the James E. Morrow Library, authorized Marshall to apply for a federal grant to help furnish the addition, and confirmed the appointment of three new department chairmen.

The board also approved a graduate program leading to the degree of Master of Business Administration.

The West Virginia Commission on Higher Education has been asked to approve a request for a supplemental federal grant of $178,172 to furnish the library addition which will provide seating for more than 800 students.

Professor George Ward II, Professor O. Norman Simpkins and Associate Professor William E. Francois have been promoted to chairmen of their respective departments and will assume their positions next September.

Dr. Ward will succeed Professor Kenneth K. Loemker in the Psychology Department, Dr. Simpkins will succeed Dr. James T. Richardson in the Sociology Department, and Professor Francois will take the helm of the Journalism Department from Professor W. Page Pitt.

MU Spring Sports To Begin Soon

Marshall's spring sports teams are preparing for their respective schedules hoping to improve over last year's showings. The golf, baseball, track and tennis teams had a combined record of 24-37.

Coach Buddy Graham's golfers appear to be the strongest of the four again this season. The linksmen were the only ones to post a winning record last year as they recorded a 12-7 mark. In addition they finished second in the Mid-American Conference tournament.

The big reason for optimism is Dick Shepard. The powerful junior blasted his way to the MAC individual championship last year and is rated as one of the top golfers in Marshall history.

Among the others expected to play are Joe Feaganes, Pete Donald, David Carter, Vernon Wright and Bob Terrell.

The baseball team, under new coach Bob Kruthoffer, will have no way to go but up. Last year the MU nine was buried deep in the conference cellar with a 0-12 record. The overall mark was 6-19.

Pitching will be Kruthoffer's main problem. Last year the opposition belted MU hurling for an average of eight runs per contest and scored in double figures 11 times.

The situation in track figures to be improved. Actually Coach Mike Josephs' thinclads have participated in two indoor meets already, with a third one coming up Saturday at Dennison, Ohio.

This year's team has more depth than last season's outfit which placed last in the MAC meet and won one of four dual meets.

Results in the two indoor meets indicate that the broad jump should be the Herd's strongest event. The trio of Mickey Jackson, Arthur Miller and Bob Bloom has done well.

Jackson took first place in a meet at Columbus, Ohio and Miller finished fourth. Earlier Bloom grabbed off a fourth place finish in a meet at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Improvement is expected in the shot put, sprint relays and distance events.

Like the baseball and track teams, coach John Noble's tennis team finished at the bottom in the conference last year.

Three players return from that team which had a 5-8 record. They are seniors Lou Sammons and Jim Hovey, and junior Craig Wolverton who had the best individual record last spring. Top sophomores are Tom McClure and Doug Warner.

Pikes Lead Field In Water Polo

Pi Kappa Alpha No. 3 team is leading the water polo competition this season with three of the five teams remaining.

The Pike Club will meet the K.A.'s this week at Gullickson Hall in the semi-finals in the championship flight. These two teams are guaranteed two of the top four places in the event.

THINCLADS NEXT MEET

The Thundering Herd track team will be in action again Saturday when it takes part in the Dennison, Ohio Relays. It will be the third meet of the year for coach Mike Josephs' thinclads.

He Needs Water Wings

PLAYERS COMPETE in a friendly game of "keep away" in the Gullickson Hall's pool. The husky competitor in the center of the group strains for the elusive ball as it sails over his head. The game is part of Marshall's intramural program and considered one of the roughest in the world of sports. (Photo by student photographer Thomas Johnson.)

MU Fifth In All-Time MAC Standings

Marshall is fifth in the all-time Mid-American Conference standings. The Herd has a 71-88 record since it entered the league in 1955.

Miami is first with a 145-76 mark. Next comes Ohio U. (131-96), Bowling Green (88-72), Toledo (99-83), MU, Western Michigan (91-119), and Kent State (50-130).

Water Polo Wet Game Of Football

By THOMAS JOHNSON
Staff Reporter

While Marshall's football players restlessly await the gruelling opening of spring practice, five intramural teams have been competing in a sport described to be "as rough a game as ever invented"—water polo.

Water polo is a contact game that was derived from such sports as football, basketball, handball and baseball. In its earlier years, when rules were virtually nonexistent, roughness prevailed. The game became a survival of the fittest.

It grew up in England where swimming first emerged as a competitive sport. In 1870 the London Swimming Association played informal football matches in the water, and six years later aquatic handball had also evolved.

Championships were organized, international matches were played, and by 1902 an international set of rules had been adopted. The New York Athletic Club has the most outstanding players, and the players generally come to the athletic clubs after learning the game in colleges and universities.

Actually the name water polo derived from lack of a better term and merely consists of a grueling game of "keep away". A team is made up of seven men. Points are accumulated when a team places the ball in the opposite gutter for three seconds. The game is made up of four quarters, each being four minutes in length.

Although the game may appear to be an easy one, it requires more conditioning than almost any other sport.

TO ELECT OFFICERS

The Young Democrats Club will hold a meeting to elect new officers, tomorrow at 4 p.m. in Main 214. Dr. Paul Stewart, chairman of the Political Science department, is the faculty advisor.

DO YOU HAVE WHAT IT TAKES TO BE A LEADER?*

If you do, don't settle for less.

If you will complete your first two years of college this spring and have not had ROTC training, you now have a special opportunity to earn an Army officer's commission in the next two years. You can qualify to fulfill your military obligation as an officer while you study for a college degree in a field of your choice.

Through a new two-year Army ROTC program you will receive leadership training and experience that will be valuable assets for the rest of your life, in either a military or a civilian career. You will receive an allowance of $40 each month during your Junior and Senior years. If you desire, you may request postponement of your military service while you complete your studies for a graduate degree.

Most large business and industrial firms prefer the college graduate who has been trained and commissioned as an officer—who has the ability to organize, motivate and lead others—and who has had experience in accepting responsibilities beyond his years.

You owe it to yourself to investigate this important opportunity.

For complete information on the new two-year Army ROTC program see the Professor of Military Science on campus.
