Speech Class Views Closed-Circuit Video

By DAVE PEYTON
Editor-In-Chief

For the first time in history, television signals were transmitted from a room in Old Main to a facility outside the building when the Electronic Specialty Company of Charleston demonstrated special portable television equipment Wednesday for the faculty and staff.

Technicians stationed the equipment on the south side of Old Main near the Buildings and Grounds entrance to the building. The equipment was housed in a van truck.

From there, cables were run to Room 212 of Old Main to record speeches presented in a speech class taught by Mary Beth Dorsey, instructor of speech.

Two cameras were set up in the room. The television images were then transmitted, by cable, to the van outside where a miniature video tape machine recorded the sights and sounds of the speech class.

Then later, the students who were recorded were given a chance to see themselves on television.

Dr. Stephen Buell, professor of speech, explained that the demonstration was performed to show the effectiveness of educational television. The Marshall Speech Department was recently given money from the state for the establishment of a campus educational television system.

Just before one unidentified coed presented a speech before the cameras, the director, outside in the van, told the cameraman to "tell the talent (the student) to watch the tally lights when she's talking."

This the cameraman did. The girl nodded, as if she understood, paused briefly, then asked "What's a tally light."

Draft Exam Dates Set

Ray Cumberledge, assistant registrar, said that Marshall will be one of the schools to administer the Selective Service Board Tests.

According to Mr. Cumberledge, he has not received specific information on the tests.

Officials of the Selective Service Board in the Cabell County Courthouse say that they have received only one communication on the tests. That communication, dated Feb. 21, said that Science Research Associates are preparing the tests.

The tests are to be administered May 14, May 21, June 3 and a make-up test on June 24.

Male college students, and male high school seniors and high school graduates may take the test.

According to the Selective Service Board officials, the test is not mandatory, although the test may have a bearing on whether one is drafted.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: It is believed that male students with low college grades will be advised to take the test over those with high grades. It is also likely that those with higher grades in college will be exempt for a longer time than those with lower grades. As the American Council of Education has pointed out, the guidelines of who will and who will not be drafted from high schools and colleges has not been clearly defined by the Selective Service Board.)

Meanwhile, the draft board said that according to information it has received, applications for the test should be available in local offices by April 1.

Movie Thursday On Red China

The only American-or British-produced film made in Communist China since the revolution there will be shown at Old Main Auditorium at 11 a.m. Thursday.

Brought to the campus under the auspices of the Honors Council and Honors Seminar, the 65-minute sound and color motion picture is entitled "China with an Exclamation Mark!"

Dr. Jack Brown, professor of English and coordinator of the Honors Seminar, said there would be a brief intermission at 11:50 a.m. to permit students who must leave for class to do so.

The film was produced by Felix Greene.

Television Comes To MU

JIM WOLFORD, with the Specialty Services of Sylvania, demonstrates the use of closed-circuit television to faculty and staff on Wednesday. Signals were transmitted from a Speech 103 class. Students whose speeches were recorded were later invited to view themselves on television.

THE FIRST TELEVISION signals transmitted from Marshall were recorded in this mobile production unit of the Sylvania Specialty Services.

Election Hopefuls Asked To Attend Alumni Forum

Thirty-six candidates for state offices, along with certain members of the West Virginia Legislature, have been invited to a "Meet the Candidate Forum" at 7:30 p.m. April 13 in Old Main Auditorium.

The Marshall University Alumni Association is sponsoring the forum.

Questions will be limited to sounding out candidates and present legislators on their ideas concerning the present and future status of Marshall.

David A. Foard Jr., president of the Marshall University Alumni Association, said in a letter sent to members of the association, "This forum, in the most constructive manner possible, will deal with a discovery of means for a coordinated and convincing presentation of needs of this local area in particular and of West Virginia in general to official state leaders."

Those candidates invited are: Dr. Jack Bobbitt, Gerald E. (Jerry) Broughton, J. Q. (Jink) Copley, John W. Dickensheets, William E. Simmons, Jody G. Smirl.

Darrell Spurlock, Harry F. Thompson, Jr., Carl N. Woodrum, Don E. Booth, Mike Casey, Andrew A. D'Antoni, H. Fred Ferguson.

Tennis S. Ferrell, Hugh A. Kincaid, Thomas E. Medeiros, Robert C. Myers, Freda N. Paul, J. Fred Plymale.

Dr. J. Bernard Poindexter, Sr., Dan Smith, Donald E. (Don) Smith, Robert R. Nelson, R. L.

Napier, Jr., Clayton C. Davidson, Robert K. "Bob" Flanagan, Lawrence M. Booth, Walter Rollins, Jr., Jesse F. Cyrus, John R. Sanford, Hiram (Hi) Curry.

Virginia Murray Owen, David F. Varney, Lyle A. Smith, A. R. "Snooks" Winters, Homer L. Harris.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The final two performances of the University Theatre production "She Stoops To Conquer" by Oliver Goldsmith, will be presented tonight and tomorrow at 8:15 p.m. in Old Main Auditorium.

The central character is Marlowe, played by Bill York, Huntington sophomore, who is betrothed to a girl he has never met. The mistake comes when the girl's step-brother directs Marlowe to her house, telling him as a practical joke that it is an inn.

The female lead, Kate Hardcastle, will be played respectively tonight and tomorrow night by Ann Turkovich, Charleston sophomore, and Carol Hart, Huntington senior.

Students will be admitted by showing their activity cards at the door, while other tickets will be sold for $1.

Directing the play is Clayton R. Page, associate professor of speech, who feels that Goldsmith's "She Stoops To Conquer" is "a milestone in dramatic literature."

Shut Off Water!

It's water battle time again on campus. It's time for all groups to gather around the old faucet and fill up with liquid ammunition. They come in droves, carrying balloons, buckets, hoses, tubs, anything that will hold water.

Perhaps what is not realized is that sometimes traffic on Fifth Avenue is halted while fraternity brothers and sorority sisters carry gallons of water from one side of the street to the other.

Fraternity leaders have expressed a concern about the Greek image on campus. As far as Huntington goes, the only time citizens see Greeks this time of the year is on Fifth Avenue with a bucket of water in their hands.

Water battles are childish and stupid. Nearly everyone will agree to that. But further, they often impede traffic and could cause serious injury.

There seems to be no reason why this age-old practice should be carried on. The Interfraternity and Panhellenic Councils should team up with the Dean of Student Affairs Office to see that a halt is put to this liquid madness immediately.

Marshall's image could easily rust under such watery conditions.

Editorials Interest You?

"The Parthenon" is running a survey of its editorial page. The first questionnaire is on this page of today's "Parthenon," and will be run in two successive issues.

Boxes for depositing the completed questionnaire will be at all "Parthenon" news stands.

We are interested in learning the extent of readership, and whether or not the students would like us to extend the scope of the editorial page.

We also invite additional comments concerning what students' opinions are of editorials, editorial cartoons, and the column, "Would You Believe?" These additional comments may be attached to the questionnaire and deposited in the boxes.

We urge you to participate in this survey.

BOB ROGERS,
News Editor

Questions for survey of readership:

1. Do you generally read the editorial page? Yes No
2. Do you read the editorials? Yes No
3. Do you approve of an editorial cartoon? Yes No
4. Do you generally read the column "Would You Believe"? Yes No
5. Do you read the letters to the editor? Yes No
6. Should "The Parthenon" comment editorially on off-campus events? Yes No
7. Please indicate your classification:

Freshman	Graduate
Sophomore	Special
Junior	Faculty
Senior	Administration

Additional comments may be attached. Please deposit survey form in box attached to "Parthenon" news stands.

School Leaders Meet April 1-3

The annual Marshall University Leadership Seminar will be held April 1-3 at Jackson's Mill near Weston.

All organizations recognized by the Marshall student government may send two representatives. All faculty members, cabinet members and senators are invited to attend.

The discussion topic for the seminar is apathy, its tangible and intangible aspects. Speeches and panels on this subject will be included in the weekend program.

Seminar activities will begin April 1 with registration between 4 and 5:30 p.m. The keynote address will be given at 7:30 p.m. by Dr. J. Stewart Allen, vice president of academic affairs.

April 2 activities will be highlighted with discussion groups conducted by student and faculty leaders. Speaker for the evening session will be H. Laban White, speaker of the House of the West Virginia Legislature. Evening entertainment will be provided by a hootenanny.

The seminar will conclude on April 3 with a summation of the weekend activities by President Stewart H. Smith.

It's Your Turn To Tell Us

YOU SAY YOU WANT to strike back? Well, now is your time to answer some questions for "The Parthenon." The editorial writing class had decided to see if students on campus read "Parthenon" editorials. Place your answers to the survey in the ballot boxes attached to the regular "Parthenon" news stands. Your cooperation in the survey will enable your campus newspaper to provide better service in the future.

Teaching Views Noted By MU Indian Professor

By RUSS SCOTT
Feature Writer

"Research and teaching are complimentary and are vital to each other in the university." This statement summarizes the philosophy that Ishwar Pradip, assistant professor of biological science who arrived at Marshall last month, intends to follow during his stay.

Professor Pradip, a native of Agra, India, received his B.S. degree in chemistry at St. John's College, Agra University. While there, he also received a Bachelor of Veterinary Science degree.

He then came to the United States and studied at the University of Florida where he was awarded a M.S. degree in dairy microbiology in 1963. Next he attended Louisiana State University to study in the area of bacteriology. A Ph.D. degree from LSU will be awarded to him in May of this year.

Commenting on Marshall and the people here, Professor Pradip said that this school has "great potential for growth and education" and could become one of the "great institutions in the nation."

Professor Pradip also said that students in this country, judging by those he has met, concentrate more on their work and are more conscious of their studies than students in India. He continued, however, saying that "students in India participate more in festivities."

Professor Pradip plans to do some research in the area around Huntington dealing with industry and water problems. He feels that "emphasis on research will lead to advancement," both for the university and the students.

MU Health Unit Probe Is Possible

The Student Government has begun procedures for an investigation of the Student Health Service, in compliance with a plank in the platform of newly-elected President Larry Bruce, Huntington junior.

In a letter to President Stewart H. Smith, David Frost, Huntington junior and vice-president of the Student Body, said that a committee will begin an investigation of the health service within the next few weeks.

Frost said that 1500 questionnaires will be distributed at dorm council meetings to seek out present student attitudes on the center.

According to Frost, if the committee finds a large number of student grievances about the center, he will then ask two local physicians to continue the investigation, recommending needed changes to the facility.

While a senator, Frost was the head of a committee that was formed to investigate the Health Center. However, the committee disbanded before any official report was made.

Student Aid Nears Half-Million Mark

George O. Fraley, financial aid officer, announced that one-half million dollars in financial assistance will be given to students for the academic year 1966-67.

Although no official amount has been announced, Mr. Fraley said that approximately 900 students have requested financial aid. The Student Executive Board is now considering these applications.

The board asked for an additional $31,000 in the form of scholarships and an additional $75,000 for the Work-Study program.

Computer Picks Partners In Sociology Club Dance

By LLOYD D. LEWIS
Managing Editor

"... Skip, skip, skip to my Lou, Skip to my Lou by Fortran." And that is just what the Sociology Club will give students the opportunity to do on Friday, May 13.

Sound like fun? Here's the dope:

To raise funds for a copy of Yale University's Human Relations Area File, the Club is sponsoring a "computer dance" using the Fortran computer language to match partners. Pairing will actually be done by the "brain" from results obtained from questionnaires answered by students.

According to Joan Fleckenstein, Huntington senior and Sociology Club president, this type of project has been carried out on many other campuses throughout the country and has met with great success. In fact, Jerry Kowalski, Erie, Pa., sophomore who is programming the Marshall dance, did the same thing last semester at a college in his home state. He wrote the program for a dance given at his all-male school for two female colleges.

Questionnaires will be distributed to all students holding tickets and the information contained on them will be run through the computer according to a specified program. The questionnaires have 38 questions on such subjects as the students' political and religious beliefs, hobbies, ambitions and so forth. The computer will pair up men and women as closely as possible from the answers given. Dance-goers won't know who their dates will be until the time of the dance.

Says Miss Fleckenstein, "The matching will be all in fun and nothing serious is intended by it. It should really be good for the school."

The purpose of the dance is to raise some money to pay part of the cost of a microfile copy of Yale University's Human Relations Area File. Dr. Samuel T. Habel, professor of sociology and club sponsor, said the File to be purchased with the proceeds "will be a great aid to research here and will undoubtedly attract scholars to our campus for study."

Dr. Habel explained that the File costs $3,750 in microfile form and the Club hopes to make $1,000 on the dance as part of this cost. He believes matching funds can be obtained to complete payment.

The File itself is condensed from 3,679 sources and consists of 450,000 pages containing a vast amount of information on 250 world cultures and societies. Dr. Habel says the material concerns "the whole spectrum of human behavior from birth to death, including such topics as personality, drives, motivations, history, language and communications, fine arts, government and law."

At present 21 colleges own the microfiles and 20 have the printed volumes. Some of these are Purdue, Rice, University of Southern California, Pennsylvania State, Harvard, Princeton, Alaska and the University of California. Dr. Habel is quick to point out that no school in West Virginia or Ohio now owns the File and the nearest one to Marshall is the University of Kentucky.

Definite plans for ticket sales, band and dance location were to have been made yesterday at a Sociology Club meeting (after "Parthenon" press time). However, Miss Fleckenstein announced Wednesday that tickets will be on sale beginning next week for $1 each and will be available in the Student Union, in dormitories and from club members and others.

Puppets Featured In Summit Debut

By DOTTIE KNOLL
Feature Writer

"Puppets are an international language," says Caroline Massey, Ashland, Ky., sophomore and member of the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority.

Miss Massey recently presented a puppet show at the Summit. According to Steve Edington, St. Albans junior, who was acting announcer, this type of program was unique since it was the first of its kind to be presented.

"Punch and Judy" and "The Toy Maker" came alive on Miss Massey's stage which was made of bamboo poles and cloth.

For the performance at the Summit, Sue Dilworth, Huntington sophomore and Roger Drummond, Silver Springs, Md. freshman read the speaking parts while Miss Massey presented her characters.

Miss Massey became a "puppeteer" about six years ago when the Girl Scout troop she was in adopted puppets as their project. The leader of the troop, Mrs. John C. Mayo, of Ashland, taught the girls how to make the puppets and to give a performance.

The girls were able to raise enough money by giving puppet shows, to travel to the International Scout Roundup in 1962 in Vermont where they staged their puppets in a play of the histories of Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia.

The next year the girls traveled with their puppets to Mexico for the scout meeting, "International Living at the Cabana," where they presented "The History of the United States from the American Revolution to Present Day."

The puppets are easy to make, says Miss Massey. First you make a paper cone to fit the index finger, then a "gob" of sawdust is stuck on the end of the cone. Next you mold the face as you want it, let it dry and then paint features on it.

Any kind of dress or costume can be made for the puppet. This is made the length of one's elbow and attached at the neck of the cone.

Some of Miss Massey's puppets are nearly 10 years old. She used about 12 different characters for her performance at the Summit. Punch is portrayed by his traditional bell on his cap, the red-haired policeman with his "billy" is heroic looking and the devil whose red face glows in the dark seems quite gasty.

The puppets are unbreakable; this can be seen during a performance of "Punch and Judy" where Punch throws all his victims off the stage and they crash to the floor without a scratch.

There are many techniques to remember during a performance, says Miss Massey. For example: all the puppets make their entrance from the side of the stage except for a ghost or an angel who just "pops" on the stage in any position.

When putting a puppet to sleep, Miss Massey directs that the arm is bent back as if to lay it down.

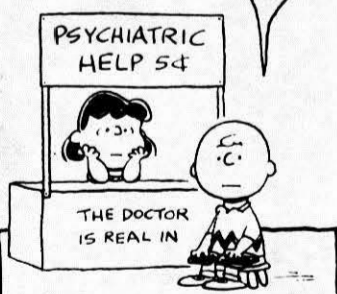

Miss Massey says it is important to keep the arm which the puppet is on, straight, bending only at the wrist or finger to move the head.

The three middle fingers are used in holding the puppets; however, since Miss Massey is left-handed she finds it easier to hold the puppets with her thumb, second finger and little finger.

The most difficult part in producing a performance says Miss Massey, is "keeping your arms up for so long."

Miss Massey likes working with the puppets because she says they can portray just about anything—satire, comedy or tragedy.

Two Professors Examine GI Bill

By ELIZABETH COHEN
Feature Writer

Dr. Harold Ward, associate professor of science, was one of the thousands of young men who completed their educations with the financial assistance of the old G I bill after World War II. The G I bill made it possible for many young men to go to college who would otherwise not have had the opportunity. Dr. Ward feels the new G I bill will serve the same purpose.

Dr. Harold Willey, professor of education, also took advantage of the bill to complete his education. Dr. Willey taught at Marshall in the post-war years and remembers the difference the veterans made on Marshall's campus.

He recalls that the over all grade averages were better, and that most of the veterans finished in three years instead of the usual four or five. He thinks this was because most of them were older than other students and knew what they wanted to accomplish.

Dr. Ward said that more than half the G I students were married and could not have gone to school without the G I bill. He can recall 20 or more of his own friends, now teachers, principals, and businessmen, who went to Marshall on the bill and would never have been able to realize their potential otherwise.

Dr. Willey feels that young men can now plan their future around this money they know will be available to them when they become civilians again.

ADVISER REPLACED

Nicholas C. Contopoulos, instructor of economics, has been chosen as the new adviser for the International Club. According to Pil Choung, Seoul, Korea junior, Mr. Contopoulos replaces Dr. Soo Bock Choi, assistant professor of Political Science, rather than replacing Dr. John Martin, professor of Spanish as Wednesday's "Parthenon" reported. Dr. Martin is the Administration's foreign student adviser.

and Tom McLaughlin. The Herd began practicing Monday and have 30 days in which to get in 20 practice sessions. Coach Snyder is working with 25 lettermen as well as a promising group of sophomores-to-be. Ferrari, Keese and Carr are seniors-to-be, Parker, Wilkinson and McLaughlin are juniors-to-be, while Kenney is a soph-to-be.

MU Sig Eps Are Victorious In Own Cage Tournament

Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity captured its own invitational basketball tournament last weekend at Gullickson Hall. The winners defeated the Bowling Green University chapter 72-66 in the championship game.

West Virginia Tech College won third place, while the University placed fourth. East Tennessee and the MU Alumni also competed.

Marshall's height was the difference in the final game. MU had four players in double figures. They were Chris Cremeans, Ron Milam, Bill Patterson and Dave Life. The losers had five men in double figures.

West Virginia Tech's Al Toothman was the high scorer in the tournament. Toothman, a former All-Stater from Parkersburg High School, compiled a 23 point average for three games.

It was the seventh time that the tournament has been held, with the Marshall Sig Eps winning four titles.

The tournament was first started in 1958 when the Marshall Sig Eps felt that some type competition was needed to foster brotherhood among the Sig Ep chapters in West Virginia and surrounding states.

Six teams took part in the first event in 1958. A total of 12 teams have participated over the seven year period. Ohio State University and Indiana State College were the only other winners besides the host team.

Tournament Director Charles Kincaid said that the affair proved to be quite successful. The visiting brothers were provided with dates for a dance last Saturday. One visiting Sig Ep said: "I never realized what a great bunch of guys Sig Eps were until I met so many wonderful fellows here at the tournament."

Linksmen Tackle Dayton Tomorrow

The Thundering Herd golf team will play its second match of the 1966 season tomorrow at Dayton, Ohio, against the University of Dayton. Starting time is 1 p.m.

Coach Buddy Graham's linksters, who opened yesterday at home against rival Ohio University, are led by star Dick Shepard, an All-American candidate, and Captain Joe Feaganes and Pete Donald.

Tom Langfitt Honored At Basketball Banquet

Thundering Herd cage star Tommy Langfitt was presented the "outstanding senior player" award Tuesday at the 1965-66 basketball banquet.

Langfitt, who finished 11th on the school's all-time career scoring list with 1,171, ended this year with 305 points for a 12.8 average, the lowest of his career.

During his junior season, Langfitt captured a berth on the All-MAC team and last week won honorable mention on this year's conference squad.

Also honored at the banquet were the wrestling team and varsity cheerleaders.

Ohio University Athletic Director Bill Rohr, who was guest speaker, labeled the young Thundering Herd as a future great team with some winning seasons ahead. Master of ceremonies was "Herald-Dispatch" Sports Editor, George Rorrer.

Pikes' 336 Total Leads Intramurals

Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity leads the intramural standings with 336 points after capturing second, third and fourth place in water polo.

Second-place honors go to South Hall with 223 points, which is only one point ahead of third-place, Tau Kappa Epsilon. Kappa Alpha, winner of the water polo tournament, is in fourth place with 218 points.

The remainder of the intramural top ten are: Sigma Phi Epsilon (133), Frosh (75), Lambda Chi Alpha (74), Sigma Alpha Epsilon (72), Alpha Sigma Phi (55), and Zeta Beta Tau (35).

WRA INTRAMURALS

Intramurals in bowling, badminton, and table tennis have been begun by the Women's Recreational Association. The contests in badminton and table tennis are being held in the women's gym, but the bowling is being done at Imperial Lanes at a cost of three games for $1.

SAEs Sponsor Tourney Today

Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity will sponsor a "back-alley" basketball tournament today at 3 p.m. on the court behind its fraternity house.

There will be a $10 entry fee per team, with proceeds going to the Otto A. "Swede" Gullickson Scholarship Fund.

The tournament is open to fraternities only and each one can enter no more than two teams. Freshmen and varsity lettermen in basketball are not eligible to compete.

Teams will be made up of four players each with no substitutions. The first team to score 30 points will be the winner. In addition, the winning team must have a four point margin. There will be no time-outs.

A team committing a foul will lose possession of the ball. The other team will then play the ball in from out of bounds. Court rules will be announced before the competition begins.

Chinese Poetry Subject For Honors House Talk

Dr. Neille Shoemaker, director of eastern studies at Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, Ohio, will speak at the Honors House at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

His topic will be "Chinese Poetry." The Honors Seminar is studying the Far East.

Dr. Shoemaker has traveled extensively in the Middle and Far East, studying international cultural differences.

In 1962 he studied at Tunghai University in Formosa on a Fulbright grant. The following year, Dr. Shoemaker spent three weeks in Egypt, four weeks in Israel, and three days in Jordan.

"Similarities between the peoples of the Middle East and peoples of the West are more noticeable and more important than the dissimilarities," he observed.

"The average person in those countries has about the same hopes, ambitions and desires that Americans have in this country," he added.

Dr. Shoemaker did his undergraduate work at Hendrix College, Conway, Ark., and received his M.A. from the University of Arkansas.

After earning his Ph.D. at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, Dr. Shoemaker became chairman of the English Department at Baldwin-Wallace in 1949.

This is Dr. Shoemaker's second visit to Marshall as a guest speaker. In September he addressed the Honors Seminar on "An Introduction to Asian Culture."

Faculty Grants Undergo Delay

Dr. J. Stewart Allen, vice president of academic affairs, has announced a delay in the awarding of $17,000 in Benedum grants to 20 faculty members.

Originally slated to be announced by March 18, the announcement has been delayed while Marshall's Research Board reviews additional information concerning approximately six allocations, Dr. Allen said.

Dr. Allen explained that another meeting of the Research Board, scheduled for March 29, is necessary to complete the review.

At this meeting, he added, the Board will make its final decisions. An announcement of the grants will immediately follow the meeting.

Under Benedum Foundation provisions, annual awards are granted to faculty members engaged in research programs.

ently given open bids to four coeds. They are: Cindy Batley, Washington, D. C. freshman; Cheryl Marshall, Huntington freshman; Carol Sumner, Toms River, N. J. freshman, and Lucinda Welch, Huntington freshman. The Tri Sigma's will have their annual "Brat's Ball" informal from 8-12 tonight at Stark's Floor Town. The Seven Coachmen will play. The annual spring retreat will be held at the house all day tomorrow.

The brothers of Kappa Alpha Order recently attended the funeral of one of their brothers, Art Frampton, Charleston junior, who died last weekend in a car accident. Tuesday, the Kappa Alpha Knight Commander visited the KA house and met with John Shay Jr., dean of student affairs; Joseph S. Soto, vice president of business and finance and faculty adviser to Kappa Alpha; Blaine Carpenter, past president of the fraternity, and Pete Donald, president.

Kappa Pi art honorary will meet Sunday at the home of Mrs. Ruby June Kilgore, assistant professor of art from 3-5 p.m. All members needing rides are to be at Northcott Hall at 2:30.

Grads Told Card Due March 28

May graduates should fill out and return to the Registrar the card indicating the exact name to be printed on their diploma and the address where further instructions can be mailed.

This card must be returned to the Registrar's Office on or before March 28.

Registrar Luther Bledsoe said that unless the card is received by this date it will be impossible to order diplomas in time for commencement.

Teachers College seniors will receive this communication in the near future.

All graduating seniors are required to attend the baccalaureate service and commencement exercises on May 29 or request to be graduated in absentia. Students graduating in absentia must have the approval of their respective deans and pay a fee of $10 on or before May 16 so that proper notation may be made in the commencement program.

Complete instructions will be sent to all potential graduates by the registrar's office sometime in May.

The registrar said, that "there will be no tickets for commencement, there will be no reserved seats." In case of bad weather the ceremony will be held in Gullickson Hall.

WRA MEETING

The Women's Recreational Association will hold a meeting at 4 p.m. Monday in the Women's Gym. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss plans for Play Day, the Spring Banquet, and money making projects. All members are urged to attend.

"THE FUGITIVES"

One half-fare ID card is as good as another on Eastern to Florida or 79 other places.

Show us any airline's youth ID card. If it's valid, you'll pay only half price for your Eastern Coach seat (except on April 7th and certain days during the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays). Provided there's a seat available at departure time, you can fly off on your spring vacation to any of our 96 destinations within the continental U.S. Including Florida.

If you don't have such a card, and you're 12 through 21, it's a snap to get one from Eastern, as long as your parents don't object. Fill in the blank below. Send the blank, a photocopy of your birth certificate or other proof of age, and a $3.00 check or money order (payable to Eastern Airlines) to Eastern Airlines, Dept. 350, 10 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10020. Or take same to any Eastern ticket office, and you can buy your half-fare ticket on the spot. We'll send you your ID card later.
