Bruce Defends His Cabinet Appointments

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was submitted to "The Parthenon" and addressed to the Student Body. The letter is from Student Body President Larry Bruce and is his answer to accusations made of his administration about his recent cabinet appointments.)

In the April 6th issue of The Parthenon there were several criticisms of the appointments to my Cabinet, particularly that of Business Manager. I would like to defend my appointments and answer several questions, especially regarding the letter by Jim Mahoney.

To begin with—I worked very hard on my appointments to the Cabinet. I worked for an average of three hours a day for two weeks on these appointments. This work consisted of sorting applications, holding interviews and conferences, and evaluating the final material. I feel that through this process I remained more than fair and impartial.

Now, let me answer a few statements made by Jim Mahoney in his letter to the Editor. (I thought it was quite interesting to find out that Jim Mahoney is Mark Howells' little brother in Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity. Mark was one of the three applicants for the office of Business Manager.) He said that he had hoped that I would consider nothing but merit. I am sure this was the case in all appointments with the exception of one applicant.

When discussing the appointment of Business Manager he stated that I "had an entire accounting department full of business majors from which to select." I would like to inform Mr. Mahoney that three people applied for this position—not the entire accounting department. I did everything possible to get many applicants for the varying positions—I put up signs, had it put in The Parthenon, and spoke to many people personally. But still—only three people applied for the office of Business Manager.

Finally, Mr. Mahoney stated that "Even more disturbing was the fact that only 4 or 5 senators had the courage to oppose the appointment." Courage?? I think this is the most asinine statement I've read. I wonder if it ever occurred to Mr. Mahoney that the rest of the senators might have agreed with my appointment! Just because they didn't oppose the appointment didn't mean that they lacked "courage"—they could have been in agreement with the selection. I am not just making fun of Jim's letter—I welcome criticism, but the next time I hope it is more logical and rational.

Next, I would like to say one thing in connection with the rapping from Jack Hill. Jack resigned as chairman of the Student Government Constitution Committee and criticized me for my "immature and incompetent" appointments. I think it is quite interesting that Jack Hill

Medical, Dental Hopefuls OK'd, Edeburn Says

"This is one of the best percentages we have ever had," remarked Dr. Ralph Edeburn, professor of zoology, commenting on the fact that 14 of 18 applicants to medical and dentistry professional schools have been accepted.

All four students who applied for placement in dentistry schools have been accepted, and 10 of 14 applicants to medical school have been accepted.

Herman Jenkins, Glenwood senior, was accepted to Vanderbilt, and Charles Yarbrough, Huntington senior, received acceptance from the Medical College of Virginia.

Dentistry students who have been accepted at West Virginia University are Huntington seniors Donald McGhee, William Grimes and Kenneth Hinerman. Robert Martin, Richmond, Va., junior, has been accepted at the Medical College of Virginia.

Chemistry Awards To Be Presented

Two students will receive awards at a meeting of the American Chemical Society at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in room S 320.

Joseph Robertson, Huntington senior, will receive the Outstanding Senior Award given each year to the senior chemistry major with the highest average.

Outstanding Freshman Award will go to Linda Handloser, Huntington freshman, for attaining the highest average as a freshman majoring in chemistry.

Also honored will be three high school seniors from the tri-state area who were chosen as outstanding chemistry students in their schools.

A dinner in their honor will be held before the meeting at 6:30 in the Main Cafeteria.

CARLOS MONTOYA
... Artists Series Guest

Ole! Montoya Slated Monday

"A master performer. A unique, exciting star. Ole!" In this way the New York Herald-Tribune acclaimed Carlos Montoya.

Montoya, the most recorded Flamenco artist in history, will appear Monday at 8:30 p. m. at the Keith-Albee Theatre as an Artists Series guest performer.

Born in Madrid, Montoya began performing in cafes at the age of 14. After gaining experience by accompanying well-known dancers, he made his debut as a concert artist. He was the first Flamenco guitarist to ever display his art in a solo concert.

Montoya has traveled all over the world, from the United States and Canada to the Orient.

Students may obtain tickets for the concert by presenting their activity cards at Becker Music Store, 1040 Fourth Ave.

SUMMIT ACTIVITIES

Dr. Eugene Q. Hoak, professor of speech, will present dramatic readings tonight at 9 p. m. at the Summit at the Campus Christian Center. Tomorrow night, "Evolution of the Blues as an American Tradition and Musical Form" will be discussed by Fred Coon, Huntington junior. Coon will also sing several songs related to this subject.

Dean Hayes Plans Apology

Education Conference Creates Problems For West Hall Coeds

By ROGER JARVIS
Staff Reporter

When Marshall hosted the Association of Higher Education Conference last week, the meeting not only brought many of the state's leading educators but also a few problems.

The difficulty began when Dr. Robert B. Hayes, dean of Teachers College, scheduled 60-100 persons to stay in West Hall during the conference. To accommodate these people, West Hall residents were requested or "told" to vacate their rooms. Only seven people used the facilities in West Hall.

Dean Hayes said he received numerous complaints from the residents that they felt they were being forced to vacate their rooms, that their private rights were being violated, and that they were being forced to cut classes.

Dean Hayes stated that the complaints were not valid, and what had actually occurred was "a misunderstanding of the notice I sent to the women in West Hall."

The situation, as explained by Dean Hayes, was this.

Every year the WVAHE holds a meeting at a different educational institution. The meeting is held during the Easter vacation so no one will miss classes, and it has been the accepted procedure at other institutions to provide on-campus housing for those people attending the meeting.

"When I was appointed to coordinate this program I was informed that 60-100 beds would be needed," he continued.

Dean Hayes said he chose West Hall to house the convention members because it is near the Science Hall where the convention was held, and it is also near the Dining Hall.

Dean Hayes explained that under Marshall's former policy classes would have been dismissed at noon Wednesday and the dorms would have been vacated by the 3 p. m. registration set for the convention.

However, this year classes were held until 9 p. m. Wednesday and it was impossible to clear the dorms if the women wanted to attend classes.

What was done, he continued, was to request the women in West Hall to sign out by 1 p. m. Wednesday instead of waiting until Thursday morning, and let educators use their rooms.

"Obviously," Dean Hayes remarked, "the request was misun-

Not Eligible For Degree

Hospital Affiliates With Marshall

"The new affiliation Marshall will have with St. Mary's Hospital will in no way affect the current campus nurse program," Dr. J. Stewart Allen, vice president of academic affairs, said in an interview Tuesday.

The question had arisen after it was recently announced that the St. Mary's School of Nursing would affiliate with Marshall starting this September. At present, women enrolled in the Marshall nursing program receive an associate degree in nursing after two years of study on campus and work at Cabell-Huntington Hospital.

"All we have done is to say that St. Mary's student nurses may come to Marshall for certain academic courses. They will receive no degrees or certificates from here. In a sense, these two programs are separate."

Sister M. Celeste, director of the school of nursing at St. Mary's, said the new program "will probably involve the students going to Marshall classes on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and attending the regular nursing classes at the hospital on Tuesdays and Thursdays."

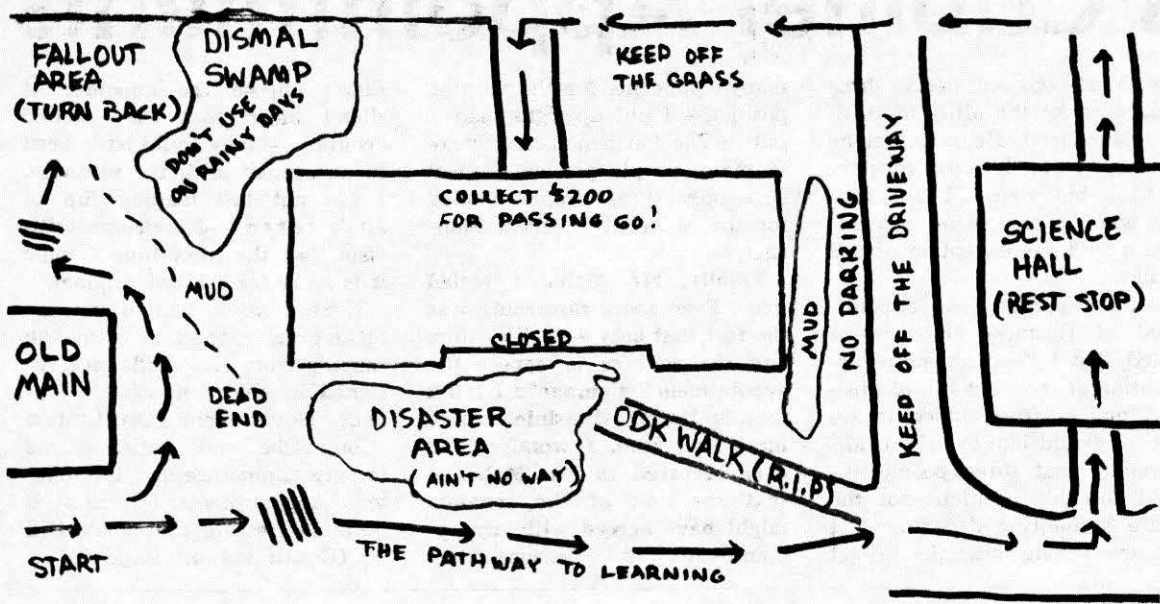

She said the new arrangement is designed to broaden the student nurses' education. Among those on-campus classes that will be required for the nursing students beginning in September will be two new courses for the students, English and speech. Others include microbiology, chemistry, anatomy, physiology, nutrition and sociology, some of which are now being taught at St. Mary's.

Sister Celeste explained that the new program will be the same length—three years—as the present one. It will give a student one year of college credit if she wishes to obtain a bachelor's degree in nursing after four years.

Now on a calendar year diploma program, the 40-year-old school of nursing will switch to an academic year schedule in September, according to Steve J. Soltis, executive director of St. Mary's Hospital. The nursing students' schedules will now be coordinated with the college calendar on a semester basis.

The new program, which was prepared by the school's faculty, has been approved by the West Virginia State Board of Nurse Examiners, the state accrediting agency for schools of nursing, Soltis said.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY'S
NEW INFILTRATION COURSE
(OR HOW THE EASTER BUNNY LAID AN EGG!)

You Can Get There From Here, But . . .

THE EDITORS of "The Parthenon" come to the aid of struggling MU students once again with this diagram of the proper way to get from the Student Union to the Library, now that the sidewalks are gone and the back door is padlocked. After "careful research", it has been decided that the only way to get to the Library from the Union, using only sidewalks, is through the Science Hall. Men's and women's lounges are provided in the basement of the Science Hall for rest areas during the "Incredible Journey."

'This Old House . . .'

NO, FOLKS, THE Library wasn't hit by a tornado. But work on the expansion has begun. The back door is blocked, and all entries to the Library must be made from Third Avenue.

Library Construction Started
At Inconvenient Time--Apel

"As soon as the contractors received notice to begin work, they began," said Harold W. Apel, librarian, commenting on the construction work at the back of the James Morrow Library. "We did not know exactly when work would commence, but we're glad that they've begun the addition," added Mr. Apel. The Neighborgall Construction Company received the general contract notice from the State Board of Education last week. Mr. Apel added, "The construction happened at an inconvenient time since it began over the Easter vacation. Obviously there is some inconvenience, but I haven't received any complaints." For the next six months library traffic will have to use the Third Avenue entrance to the library. The door which opens into room L8 in the basement of the building will be open in the mornings for students to use. A book return box is now being built in one of the Third Avenue entrance windows so that books can be placed in the box at 6 a.m. The construction company is now placing a fence around the area of construction on three sides of the building. This fence will serve to protect students from the debris of the working area, and to prevent damage to the lawns. As soon as possible a black top sidewalk will be installed at the back of the library for the students and faculty.

Letter To The Editor

To The Editor:
For the entire school year, there has been a monotonous cry that our campus government is suffering from a lack of student participation. Everything from apathy to politics has been blamed for this low rate involvement. While a multitude of external factors has been held accountable for this problem, one very significant fault within our Student Government has been overlooked — the inactive Civil Service Committee.
The purpose of this committee, as defined by the Student Government Manual, is "to encourage more participation in Student Government, to strengthen the committee system, and to aid in the selection of capable Student Government personnel by use of the merit system."

This agency has seldom, if ever, launched a strenuous drive to carry through its purpose. On May 5, 1965, the Student Senate passed a motion which called upon this committee to "stimulate . . . student participation." Specifically, it was ordered to actively conduct government registration drives in conjunction with academic registration periods, to develop a program to "acquaint the maximum number of freshmen" with Student Government and to obtain the services of representatives from each of our residence halls to increase contact with the dorms. None of these provisions were strongly implemented. Even more disheartening, it was later discovered that the act had never been signed by the Student Body president.

To the great majority of students, this committee does little more than exist. I would further assume that most of those students who read this article have never been contacted by a member of "Civil Service." It seems as though the government has quietly waited for volunteers rather than sought service on its own. In fact, as recently as a few weeks ago, our newly elected Student Body president had to go out of his way to post government want-ads because there was neither an effective registration nor an ample publicity program. Just as the Student Awareness Committee can provide an awareness to the students, the Civil Service Committee can vigorously supply them with jobs. I urge it to do so.

Greeks Combine
Work With Fun

Greek Week officially began last night with a speech by Gerald Work, assistant dean of men and fraternity adviser at Ohio University. The sororities and fraternities assembled at the Campus Christian Center for Mr. Work's discussion of the Greek's place in mass education. This afternoon the Greeks will meet at Camp Mad Anthony Wayne for a TGIF party at 3:30 with music provided by a local group, the Seagram Sevens. The Greek Week Commission, coordinated by Kenneylee Burgess and Jim Thompson, both Huntington seniors, had originally planned a carnival tonight in order to raise money for the "Swede" Gullickson Memorial Scholarship Fund. Due to complications, the carnival was cancelled and several organizations are to have their own parties which will be open to the other Greek houses as well as bids which are sent to dormitories. Saturday morning, from 8 to 12, the Greeks will collect for the "Swede" Gullickson Memorial Scholarship Fund. Out of each group, 24 members will go downtown to collect on the streets. At 1 p. m. Mayor Robert E. Hinerman will light the Greek Week torch on the steps of City Hall. Representatives from the fraternities will bring the torch down Fourth Avenue to the intramural field where the Greek Week games will begin. This consists of 10 competitive sports, with each fraternity competing against the other for the first-place trophy. The Greek Week informal dance will be held Saturday night from 8 to 12 at the Memorial Fieldhouse. Music will be provided by Hank Ballard and the Midnighters and Moses Dillard and the Dynamics. The cost will be $5 per couple with proceeds going to the "Swede" Fund. Sunday morning each fraternity will escort a sorority to church and in the afternoon everyone will meet at the Police Farm for a picnic which will complete Greek Week activities.

Two Seniors Take
Top Speech Honors

Two Huntington seniors took honors in the John Marshall Speech Contest held Tuesday. Winning in the Oratory Division was Edward M. Peoples, Edward Mullins took first place in the Extemporaneous Speaking division. The winners will represent Marshall in their respective divisions at the West Virginia Intercollegiate Speech Festival May 6-8 at Jackson's Mill. In a speech contest held last weekend at Norwich University in Northfield, Vt., Lowell E. Adkins, Huntington junior, took fourth place in the Discussion Division. He also received a rating of "good" in the Extemporaneous Speaking Division.

Student Health Center Subject Of Investigation

A special Senate Investigating Committee is conducting a survey to determine student's attitude toward the Health Center.

David Frost, Huntington junior and vice president of the Student Body, sent a letter to President Smith informing him of the Senate's intentions.

In the letter Frost stated that it was the concern of the Student Government administration to clear up any complaints that have been lodged against the present Health Center.

He said that if there were just a few complaints it could be dismissed as isolated cases. However, Frost said that the complaints are far from being few. He said that it is the desire of the Student Government to present facts, and if need be, recommendations to improve the Health Center.

The first thing the Senate plans to do is circulate questionnaires in the dorms, sorority and fraternity houses, and on campus. The questionnaire will ask, "Are you satisfied with the service and/or facilities of the Student Health Center?" Space is allotted for a yes or no answer. If the student answers no, he is to give an explanation. The questionnaire is to be signed by the student and is to include his I.D. number.

The Senate is also writing to other universities and inquiring about their health centers and facilities.

A letter is being written to John Kelly, treasurer of West Virginia, asking how much money is allotted to other universities to operate their health centers.

If the Senate receives enough complaints they intend to enlist the help of two local physicians to evaluate the center.

The facts plus recommendations would then be presented to President Smith for his consideration.

Bid Made To Force New Vote

Sophomore President Larry Sonis has formally petitioned the Student Court to issue a writ of mandamus requiring the Election Committee "to plan, conduct and supervise an election at the earliest practicable date in which all proposed amendments to the revised Constitution of Marshall University . . . shall be presented to the eligible voters of the Student Body for ratification or rejection."

The court was to have had a preliminary hearing on the petition this week with a formal hearing possibly next week.

Sonis says he is requesting the writ because "there is no reason through statutory, constitutional, or moral law for not holding the election. It is false to assume that amendments to the constitution may be ratified only in conjunction with other elections. It would be false to assume that not holding this election would be keeping with the letter and spirit of the Constitution."

The amendments were on the ballot in the March general election, however, the Election Committee ran out of ballots and one proposed amendment was left off the ballot. It was then decided that the vote on the amendments would be null and void.

Later, the Election Committee asked the Student Court for a ruling on a special election on the amendments. It was the court's opinion at that time that a special election on the matter would, in itself, be unconstitutional.

Sonis declared before the Easter break that he would petition the court on the matter. The petition was submitted to the court Wednesday.

John L. Shay, Jr., dean of student affairs, received his doctorate degree in higher education March 31 from the University of Michigan.

Dean Shay received his bachelor's degree from the University of Florida and his master's degree from Columbia University.

He will participate in spring commencement April 30 at Michigan.

Dean Shay has been at Marshall since September 1, 1964.

Sigma Kappa Officer To Visit

The national secretary-treasurer of Sigma Kappa Sorority, Mrs. Margaret Hazlett Taggart, will visit Delta Beta chapter Monday through Wednesday.

Arriving at 4 p.m. Monday, she will be greeted at the airport by members of the sorority. Events scheduled by the Sigma Kappas that evening include a dinner at the sorority house, and an active meeting at 7 p.m.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Taggart will attend an alumnae meeting at 7:30 p.m. and a reception at the sorority house in her honor.

Special guests attending the reception will include President

Stewart H. Smith, Mrs. Lillian Helms Buskirk, associate dean of students, and representatives from each campus sorority. Another guest will be Mrs. Ken Tucker, Sigma Kappa province president from Charleston.

During her visit, Mrs. Taggart will talk with each officer of the sorority and advise here concerning her duties.

Rita McCullough, a member of Sigma Kappa and Panhellenic president at Marshall, met Mrs. Taggart at a national Panhellenic Conference last fall in Williamsburg, Va.

Dr. Rollins Speaks Tomorrow To AAUW In Columbia, S. C.

"It's a philosophy of fear and frustration in the 20th Century," said Dr. Ronald G. Rollins, associate professor of English, of the paper he will read tomorrow at the biennial meeting of the American Association of University Women in Columbia, S. C.

Addressing women from the AAUW chapters in the southeastern United States, Dr. Rollins will speak on "Anti-Utopian Fiction: the Unfuture of the Future," a discussion of the factors behind the emergence of the negative utopias in works like "1984" and "Brave New World."

The theme for the two-day conference is based on a line from Robert Frost's poem "Stopping By Woods on a Snowy Evening", which reads: "I have miles to go and promises to keep." Speakers at the conference will represent a variety of promises in contemporary society which include genetics, United Nations, science, government and education.

"I will not be discussing one of the major promises of the 20th Century," commented Dr. Rollins. "My talk will trace the development of utopian fiction and what it has to say about the nightmare of the future and its threat to human dignity, and individualism in a society moving in an age of too much control and regimentation."

He described the premise of utopian literature as dealing with the problem of men desiring to play God for other men by controlling their existence.

In relation to the topic of the promises of science, Dr. Rollins plans to introduce the question "We know how to create life. Now, what kind of man do we want to create?"

"I believe that the answer to the problem introduced in these new, pessimistic novels is a wedding between humanism and science — a sort of scientific humanism," commented Dr. Rollins.

The last representative from West Virginia to appear on the program of the AAUW conference was former Governor Cecil H. Underwood, who appeared in 1962.

Hayes Says It Was A Misunderstanding

derstood, and the women thought they were being told to get out of their rooms by 1 p. m., and not but's."

"This," he stated, "is not what was intended."

The notice sent from Dean Hayes office and posted on the West Hall bulletin board read as follows:

We appreciate your willingness to permit the use of your room while you are away for the spring vacation.

To permit the guests to check in early we are requesting that you clear the rooms by 1 p. m. Wednesday, April 6. You may miss any later classes on that day without penalty. To be assured that the instructors will know why you are absent you should leave your name and a list of the classes you will miss at the West Hall desk. This information will be sent to instructors.

Mrs. Vana Hensley, house mother of West Hall, said this notice was read to the students. They were told that they did not have to cancel their classes, but could if they wished.

Mrs. Hensley also said that the women in West Hall had access to their rooms until their parents came for them or until some provision had been made assuring the women of a place to stay during the Easter vacation.

Dean Hayes said the women could have stayed in their rooms until 11 a. m. Thursday, the hour all dorms were to be closed.

"I did have some complaints," said Dean Hayes, "about the possibility of men being in the dorm while the women were still in their rooms."

"This," he said, "was a legitimate gripe, except that the women knew men were to be in the dorm, and the rest-room facilities had been clearly marked. The only problem would have been that the women may have had to use facilities farther from their room than usual."

Dean Hayes also reported that some of the girls were concerned about private property left in the rooms during vacation.

Ken Cohen, housing director, said he is prepared to receive and investigate any claims from women in West Hall about missing property.

Mr. Cohen also explained that the $3.09 fee collected from convention members per night would be put in the West Hall Business Account for future use by the Hall. The total amount collected was $33.99.

Expenditures, however, were approximately $100. The money was used to pay for linen, to pay the salary of Mrs. Evelyn Kiser, assistant house director of West Hall who worked extra time during the convention, and to pay the normal operating expenses of keeping West Hall open for the extra time.

C. S. Szekely, superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, said his staff was responsible for readying the rooms for the convention members.

"Cohen," Mr. Szekely said, "supplied pillows, linen, blankets, and towels, and my staff cleaned and readied the first three floors of West Hall."

"We are also responsible for having the building cleaned for the women when they return from vacation," he added.

Mrs. Lillian Buskirk, associate dean of students, said she thought the misunderstanding could have been prevented if the women of West Hall had been called to general assembly and the notice read to them with emphasis on the requesting phase.

"I think," Mrs. Buskirk said, "that the women would have cooperated had they understood they were being asked to do the University a favor."

"As it worked out," she said, "the women apparently thought they were being told to get out of rooms that they had paid for, and they didn't like it."

Dean Hayes said he had heard grievances from Miss Charlotte Ferguson, Holden senior, on behalf of the West Hall Dorm Council which had voted to take a petition to Dean Hayes.

It seems that the main complaint was the short notice given the coeds. "We hear that this sort of meeting takes place every 20 years," Miss Ferguson said. "It seems we could have had a little more notice."

She explained that the coeds had been notified in advance that there would be people staying in their rooms over the Easter vacation. The problem was created when the girls were told on Monday that they would have to be out of their rooms by 1 p. m. Wednesday.

"This caused a lot of confusion concerning rides home," she explained.

She went on to say that Dean Hayes was very nice about the complaints and said he would personally apologize to the girls.

Miss Ferguson's comments were echoed by Jackie Gleason, Chesapeake, Ohio, junior and president of West Hall.

"We had classes that we just couldn't miss," she said. "We weren't consulted, we weren't given proper notification, and we knew that there wasn't a thing we could do about it."

She added that the problem was caused by lack of communication.

Dean Hayes said he discussed the problem with Miss Ferguson and that she left his office apparently satisfied with his explanations.

DO YOU HAVE WHAT IT TAKES TO BE A LEADER?*

If you do, don't settle for less.

If you will complete your first two years of college this spring and have not had ROTC training, you now have a special opportunity to earn an Army officer's commission in the next two years. You can qualify to fulfill your military obligation as an officer while you study for a college degree in a field of your choice.

Through a new two-year Army ROTC program you will receive leadership training and experience that will be valuable assets for the rest of your life, in either a military or a civilian career. You will receive an allowance of $40 each month during your Junior and Senior years. If you desire, you may request postponement of your military service while you complete your studies for a graduate degree.

Most large business and industrial firms prefer the college graduate who has been trained and commissioned as an officer—who has the ability to organize, motivate and lead others—and who has had experience in accepting responsibilities beyond his years.

You owe it to yourself to investigate this important opportunity.

For complete information on the new two-year Army ROTC program see the Professor of Military Science on campus.

MU Nine At OU For 2-Game Set

The improving Thundering Herd baseball team meets the Mid-American Conference defending champion Ohio University in Athens, Ohio, today and tomorrow in a crucial weekend series. Starting times for these games are 3:15 p. m. and 2 p. m., respectively.

The Herd, which split two games with tough Western Michigan over the Easter holidays, will be gunning to push its season record to 4-3 and conference mark to 3-1 with a weekend sweep against Ohio.

Expected to pitch for Coach Bob Kruthoffer's club today is junior righthander Mike Fullerton. Fullerton's only decision so far has been a win in MU's 9-5 victory over Rio Grande College last week.

Tomorrow one of three sophomore righthanders will get the starting mound assignments. They are Tom Harris (1-0), Bob Hale and Bill Blevins (0-3).

Lemley leads the club in hitting with a .368 average and also in hits with seven. Dillon is next with a .333 average.

When MU split its two-game Easter series with highly-touted Western Michigan, winning 7-4 and losing 8-1, it was a quick improvement and surprise.

Coach Kruthoffer after the series, said, "The team played tremendous ball. They gave a good account of themselves and I'm real proud of them."

Western entered the game undefeated in three games while the Thundering Herd had beaten only Rio Grande College in three outings.

The Thundering Herd comes home Tuesday to play Morris Harvey College at St. Clouds Field in a 3 p. m. game.

Netters To Host Kent Tomorrow

Coach John Noble's tennis team, 1-1 for the season, will host Kent State University at the Gullickson Hall courts tomorrow at 10 a.m.

The Thundering Herd lost its opening match against Bowling Green University, 7-2, but came back to defeat Dayton University 6-3. Doug Warner is undefeated in the singles competition while Warner and Tom Chadwick are undefeated in the doubles competition. A match scheduled for Tuesday against Morris Harvey College was postponed due to rain.

After the Kent State match, the team will host powerful Western Michigan University Monday at 2 p.m.

Golfers Host Three Foes Tomorrow

The Marshall golf team will host a quadrangular match tomorrow at Guyan Country Club. Teams scheduled to participate are the University of Kentucky, Kent State University, Toledo University and MU. The match will begin at 8:30 a.m.

The Herd will take a 4-4-1 record into the match following a long road trip last week that saw it win three of five matches.

Last Thursday MU downed the University of Pittsburgh, 15-3. The next day the linksmen dropped a 17-7 decision to Kent State. Last Saturday Coach Buddy Graham's six-man team placed second in a quadrangular meet at Columbus, Ohio, beating Miami (Ohio) University and Bowling Green State University and losing to Ohio State University.

A scheduled match with the University of Cincinnati Monday was rained out after nine holes with the score tied 3-3.

Pete Donald remained undefeated and raised his record to 9-0. Other individual records are Dick Shepard (6-2-1), Joe Feaganes (6-3), David Carter (5-4), Vernon Wright (1-7-1) and Bob Terrell (1-7-1).

2 New Teams Appear On 1966-67 Cage Slate

Next season's Thundering Herd basketball team will face a 24-game schedule, very similar to the one it had last season.

Included on the 1966-67 schedule are 12 games at home and 12 on the road. The schedule is evenly divided between Mid-American Conference games and non-league encounters.

There are only two new teams on the schedule. They are Old Dominion College of Norfolk, Va. and Florida State University. They replace the University of Richmond and Ohio Wesleyan.

Old Dominion, coached by former Marshall player and assistant coach Sonny Allen, will play in Huntington Dec. 28. Florida State will be the foe in Tallahassee, Fla. Jan. 25, 1967.

MU will open the season once again with arch-rival Morris Harvey Dec. 3. It will be the first of nine Saturday night home games.

Probably the biggest home date on the card is a Jan. 21 contest with powerful Loyola of Chicago. The Ramblers, who were ranked fourth nationally last season, will feature such stars as former high school All-Americans Corky Bell and Doug Wardlow.

Coach Ellis Johnson's cagers will face home and home series with the six MAC schools, as well as traditional foe Morehead, Eastern Kentucky, St. Francis, Pa., and Morris Harvey. The other non-conference game is with Steubenville, Ohio.

An oddity in the schedule is that the Herd will face defending MAC champion Miami in back-to-back games. MU plays the Redskins at Oxford, Ohio on Feb. 18 and at Memorial Field-

Thinclads Compete At OU Tomorrow

The Thundering Herd track team is scheduled to compete in the Ohio University Relays at Athens, Ohio tomorrow. Some of the top track powers in the country will participate.

Three of the men who will be competing for Marshall at Athens took part in the Kentucky Relays at Lexington, Ky., last weekend. They were Jim Odum, Gary Prater and Hank Hastings.

Another meet that had been scheduled for Tuesday with Morehead State College was postponed until May 13 when Marietta will make it a triangular meet at Fairfield Stadium.

AGILITY PROGRAM

Assistant basketball coach John "Jody" Sword has announced an agility program, which began Tuesday and will run till the end of school, is open to all male students. The program will run from Monday through Thursday of every week and begin at 3:30 p. m. each day.

MU Cage Coach Signs Kentuckian

Basketball coach Ellis Johnson has signed Larry Osborne of Wheelwright, Ky. to a grant-in-aid. The announcement was made last week.

Osborne, a 6-3 guard, is the first cage signee. He averaged 18 points a game for Wheelwright High School this past season. Osborne comes from the same high school that produced MU assistant coach John "Jody" Sword.

7 On Faculty Will Be Honored Tonight

By LLOYD D. LEWIS
Managing Editor

Six professors who are retiring and one who has served for 25 years will be honored tonight at the annual faculty recognition dinner.

The retirees are Joseph S. Jablonski, professor of art; Ruby C. Foose, associate professor of home economics; Dr. Margaret T. Hampel, professor of education; Dr. Juan C. Fors, professor of Spanish; Dr. Leslie M. Davis, professor of geography, and Charlotte E. Berryman, professor of physical education. Also being honored is Dr. Alma N. Noble, associate professor of French, who has been teaching at Marshall for 25 years.

The dinner, which is to be held in the South Hall Cafeteria, will get under way at 6:30 p.m. with Mrs. Margaret Swann, chairman of the Faculty Service Committee, presiding. An invocation by Dr. Paul D. Stewart, professor of political science, will be followed by selections by the University Madrigal Singers.

Dr. J. Stewart Allen, vice president of academic affairs, will then speak on the topic "The View from the Inside," after which President Stewart H. Smith will present recognition awards to the honorees.

President Smith said, "All of the retirees have served Marshall faithfully and well for many years. We have appreciated their contribution to the University and we are grateful for their loyalty and effective service."

Professor Jablonski, who was born in Poland, received his master's degree from Harvard University and was once a free lance artist in New York. He graduated magna cum laude with a bachelor's degree in fine arts from Harvard and has been a Harvard Travelling Fellow and a Carnegie Fellow at the University of Cincinnati. He has been at Marshall since 1929.

Professor Foose did graduate work at the University of Tennessee after receiving her master's degree in home economics from Ohio State and her A. B. degree from West Virginia University. She was born in Kanawha County, taught for five years in West Virginia high schools and has been at Marshall since 1946.

Besides working on the United

State Cooperative Program in Education in Peru, Honduras and Bolivia, Professor Hampel has contributed to several education publications and has been at Marshall since 1953. She received her doctorate in education from Columbia University and has taught in the Denver, Colo., public schools, at Ohio University and at Oklahoma State University. She was born in Missouri.

Professor Fors, a native of Barcelona, Spain, was educated at the University of Barcelona, Washington State and the University of Chicago. He has taught at Marquette and Washington State Universities and has been at Marshall since 1931. He has written one book and several articles and was chairman of the Spanish Department from 1940 until 1964.

After receiving his master's degree from Northwestern University, Professor Davis taught geography at Syracuse University and earned his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago in 1935. A native of Indiana, he also taught with the Tennessee Valley Authority and has been at Marshall since 1939.

Professor Berryman, who was born in Pennsylvania, has taught at Marshall since 1927. She earned her master's degree from Columbia University and formerly taught at Bluefield High School, Concord College and the University of Wyoming. She has published two articles on physical education.

An Ohio native, Professor Noble obtained her doctorate from Ohio State. She also attended Wittenberg, Columbia and Western Reserve Universities and taught in Ohio high schools and at Ashland (Ky.) Junior College before coming to Marshall to teach French in 1941. She has been listed in the "Directory of American Scholars," "Who's Who in American Education," "Who's Who in the East" and "Who's Who of American Women."

Bruce Gives Reasons For His Appointments

was one of the three applicants for Business Manager. I don't think it was true constructive criticism.

Here we have Jim Mahoney (Mark Howells' little brother) and Jack Hill lambasting my appointments. I feel it was done not as true criticism, but sour grapes. Yes, sour grapes caused by disappointment from not getting the Business Manager position.

Now, let me explain my reasoning behind my decision to appoint Jim Wooton as Business Manager. Three people applied for the position: Jack Hill, Mark Howells, and Jim Wooton. First of all I did not consider Jack Hill for the appointment. There were four reasons for this: (1) I have worked with Jack Hill several times before and I knew (from experience) that he would be working against me and not with me. I could not work with him—it's that simple; (2) he was chairman of the Student Government Constitution Committee; (3) he already had a job with an insurance company; and (4) he and his wife have a job working with apartments for students next year.

This left Mark Howells and Jim Wooton. Since Jim Wooton is one of my fraternity brothers I knew from working with him that he was a conscientious, careful worker and had the follow-through it takes to be Business Manager.

Jim had excellent letters of recommendation, even one from L. Roland Aberle, chairman of the Business Department. I told Mark Howells four days before Senate meeting that Wooton had letters of recommendation. I did not require them, but if he had the initiative he would have gotten some.

Another argument was age. Jim is younger than Mark, but I feel ability (in college) can not necessarily be measured by age. When checking into grades I found that Jim had done better grade-wise too. Also I checked with members of the Accounting Department to see if Jim has the ability and the experience. These people assured me that he does.

Thus, after all this, I decided to appoint Jim Wooton as Business Manager. Now, particularly after seeing how hard he has worked in the first two weeks, I am even more positive that the appointment as Business Manager was the right one.
