Spring Election Slated For March 17

Film Producer Will Narrate His Own Film

The film "Six Gateways to the Caribbean" will be shown and narrated by its producer, Eric Pavel, 8 p.m. Tuesday in Old Main auditorium for the tenth Community Forum.

Although born in Europe, Pavel is now an American citizen and a television film producer. He attended college in Switzerland and England and received degrees in engineering and economics.

Proficient in six languages, Pavel worked three years in the scientific film department of the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology. Later he moved to South America where he founded the Pan American Press and Film Company in Sao Paulo, Brazil, the first South American film co. to produce industrial and classroom color films.

After traveling in South America for eight years, Pavel settled in California.

With his technical and educational background he has been commissioned by Encyclopaedia Britannica Films to produce a series of classroom films in Latin America. His still photographs have appeared in textbooks and in the National Geographic magazine.

Pavel's films concentrate on people; he believes the best insight to a country is through a knowledge of its people. He has devoted many months of field work in each country selected for photographic study to develop scenery as a backdrop to the human element. He always speaks the language of the people he films.

Leading Roles Set In University Play

The initial casting for "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," a three-act romantic comedy, has been selected by William G. Kearns, associate professor of speech and director of the play.

Lynn Slavin, Huntington junior, and Jeff Cowden, Williamson senior, will portray Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning respectively. Cast members, most of whom are new to University Theatre productions, auditioned Feb. 10 and 11 for the parts.

Acting as assistant director will be Susan Maruschi, Logan unclassified, while Kathy Hatfield, Barboursville junior, will serve as stage manager.

"The Barretts of Wimpole Street" will be given March 25, 26, and 27 in Old Main Auditorium and will be the last production of the University Theatre for the year.

Newest Campus Hobby -- Pet Boa Constrictors

The new hobby of a small group of students on campus is snake charming.

Having a house pet is one thing, but playing nurse maid to boa constrictors is of a completely different nature. Heading this unusual group is Steve Nelson, Huntington senior, who recently purchased a seven-foot boa constrictor from Miami, Fla. for the nominal price of $25.

Also in the group are Richard DuVall, Huntington graduate student; Tom Rose, Williamson junior; and Steve Hutchison from St. Albans.

When "Porgy," (name given to the snake by Nelson) arrived on Feb. 10, he was placed in a glass case in the animal feed room in the basement of Science Hall. Already in the case was a four-foot boa constrictor which is appropriately named "Bess."

After "Porgy" arrived the students noticed that he was suffering from a gum infection. The snake was given an injection of cherry-flavored achromycin. This was done by forcing a plastic tube down the throat of the snake and squirting the syrup through the tube with a hypodermic needle. They also swabbed the snake's gum with diluted mouth wash.

In a few days the boa showed definite improvement, but Nelson felt that further swabbings with the mouth wash might be necessary.

Now that "Porgy" and "Bess" are resting quietly, the students are waiting for the arrival of another boa constrictor later this week.

Members Of SNA Attend Conference

The Student Nurses' Association (SNA) will have a program meeting at 2 p.m. today in Room 102 of Old Main Annex. The speaker will be Frank Dougherty, a nurse anesthetist from Cabell Huntington Hospital.

The officers of the association and other nursing students attended the fourth West Virginia Nurses' Association Legislative Conference Wednesday and Thursday of this week in Charleston.

The conference concerned the passage of the Mandatory Licensure Bill which will be introduced into this session of the Legislature. The purpose of the bill is to protect the public by establishing certain requirements with which an individual must comply in order to practice nursing.

Student Government Candidates Can File For Office Feb. 25-26

The student government spring election has tentatively been set for March 17, according to Carole Martaus, Weirton senior and Election Committee coordinator.

Those interested in filing as candidates may do so at the Student Government office on Feb. 25 and 26 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Filing fees are as follows: president of student body—$5, vice president of student body—$4, class president—$3, and senator—$2.

Student government lectures will be conducted by Fred Reeder, Huntington senior and student body vice president, on March 1 and 3 at 4 p.m. in the Science Hall auditorium. All candidates are required to attend the first lecture.

All candidates who have not taken the Student Government test will be required to attend the second lecture and to take the test given by Reeder on March 4 at 11 a.m. in Science Hall Auditorium. Candidates who have previously taken the test at any time will not be required to do so again.

The election will be held in the basement of the Student Union and election machines may be available.

Graduating seniors will vote for only the student body president and vice president. All other fulltime students will vote for the student body president and vice president, their class president, and class senators.

The number of senators elected from each class will be determined by the percentage of students from that particular class voting in the election.

The senatorial candidate receiving the highest number of votes in each class will automatically become the vice president of his class.

Dauer Gets Grant For Second Time

Dr. Dorothea Dauer, chairman of the Modern Language Department has received a $300 grant from the German Literary Society in New York City.

This grant is given to outstanding professors throughout the country and is to be used to purchase special equipment and aids which are not permitted in the school budget.

The one stipulation of this grant is that the University must also grant an equal sum of money to the Department of Modern Languages.

This is the second time Dr. Dauer has received this grant. She received the news of the grant in January, shortly before the mid-semester break.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

The International Club will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Campus Christian Center. Dr. Mahlon Brown, associate professor of social studies, will lead the discussion.

2 Grid Stars Are Academic Honor Winners

Larry Tyrone Coyer and John Earl "Jabbo" Williams, two stars of the 1964 Marshall University football team, have been named Honorable Mention Academic All-American football players by the College Sports Information Directors of America.

Coyer, who played safety and was a punt return specialist for this year's team, when asked about the award, stated, "It's a surprise. I feel wonderful and this has to be one of my biggest thrills."

Williams, who played defensive halfback on the football team, when told of the award, said, "This is really a big surprise. I'm thrilled to have been selected for such an honor. It's wonderful."

2nd Semester Enrollment Up

"A noted increase in the number of transfer students and special students seems to indicate the reason for the increase in the number of second semester students as compared to the total in January, 1965," said Paul Collins, director of admissions, concerning the enrollment increase this semester.

According to Mr. Collins, there is an increase of 240 new students who were processed this semester. Among them are 121 freshmen, 115 transfer students, 167 special students, 10 general educational development students, and one foreign student.

Although no explanation could be given for the increase in the number of transfer students, Mr. Collins stated that more people with master's degrees are coming back for additional study because of the increase in the teachers' salary scale.

Male students continue to outnumber the females with a total of 2,715 compared with 2,293 women on campus in an over-all student enrollment of 5,008 breaks the record for the total number of second semester students.

This is an increase of 612 over the same period last year. There is a total of 3,532 fulltime students and 1,476 part-time students.

In a break-down of fulltime students, there are 1,652 enrolled in Teachers College, 1,539 in Arts and Science, 290 in Applied Science, and 52 in Graduate School.

Registration Process Hampered; Solution Needed By Fall Of 1965

The registration process was made to seem ridiculous this semester by a farcical all-night vigil by 35 students, and a subsequent stampede by an unestimated number of students to get time tickets when the registrar's office opened at 8 a.m.

Through individual and organized group efforts many students were able to obtain time tickets earlier than those obtained by students who spent hours waiting. Many students were provoked to the point of almost fighting. This situation need never have occurred.

The problem would seem to lie in the emphasis students place on time tickets. But why is the emphasis so placed? For various reasons students may want particular classes at particular hours. But should this lead college students to the scenes that resulted outside the registrar's office early this month?

Many students have grievances against the present process of registration. Their problem—the lack of effective or efficient channels through which to present their grievances.

There is an evident lack of understanding between the students and the administration. One of the underlying reasons for the time ticket episode is that there is a basic lack of communication between the student and the administration.

Administrative officials have expressed the opinion that if students would pre-register the problem of time tickets would be alleviated. Would it not be feasible for the administration to make changes that would place a premium on pre-registration, rather than on time tickets?

Some students feel that an early time ticket for regular registration is better than a late time card for pre-registration. They believe some class cards are withheld for regular registration.

According to Luther Bledsoe, registrar, there is a possibility that in the future it will be mandatory that students submit a petition to register. A permit, stating the time of registration, would then be mailed to the student by the registrar's office.

Perhaps an alternate solution would be for time tickets to be given out, not on a first-come, first-serve basis, but in scattered time slots.

Before a solution can be found, the problem must be understood—both by students and administrators. The solution should be found in time for pre-registration for the fall term of 1965-66.

Final 'Deputy' Discussion Sunday

On Sunday, from 3-5 p.m. in the Campus Christian Center, the play, "The Deputy," by Rolf Hochhuth will be the subject of the final discussion slated for the Book-of-the-Semester activities.

Leaders in the program will be Dr. Dorothea Dauer, chairman of the Modern Languages Department, and the Rev. William Gardner, sponsor of the Newman Club.

All students are invited to attend. By participating, they may receive a clear knowledge of the position which the Pope took during World War II.

A joint faculty-student committee has selected and publicized the book and has encouraged the student body to read it. The student committee is made up of Carolyn McDonel, co-ordinator

The faculty committee consists of Dr. Jack Brown, professor of English and committee chairman; Dr. Homer Arhelger, associate professor of education; Jack Behrens, assistant professor of journalism; Dr. Louise Hoy, chairman of the Classical Languages Department; Eric Thorn, associate professor of English; Dr. H. C. Skidmore, associate professor of engineering; Harold Murphy, assistant professor of Spanish, and Dr. Norman Simpkins, professor of sociology.

To supplement the reading and discussion of the play, Mr. Thorn obtained an Army Signal Corps documentary film which depicted the conspiracy of Hitler and other leaders of the Nazi movement to overthrow governments and eventually rule the world.

The film, entitled, "Trials at Nuremberg," shows the events leading to World War II, the atrocities of the war, the sufferings of the persecuted prisoners of war, and the subsequent trials of the Nazi leaders for their crimes against humanity. The film was shown Tuesday at a Convocation and on Wednesday in conjunction with the SNEA discussion group which was led by Mr. Thorn and student members of the committee. One reel of the film will be shown on Sunday.

Student reactions to the film were those of shock, sadness, and dismay.

PEYTON'S PORTFOLIO

'Old College Try' Brings Disorder

By DAVID PEYTON
Parthenon Columnist

Welcome to the second semester of activities here at Marshall. If you were one of the lucky ones, you pre-registered for this semester. If, by some chance, you couldn't register until final registration, we extend to you our sympathies. Registration at Gullickson Hall wasn't so bad; it was the day previous that was so terrible. Some found it necessary to wait in line all night in order to get an early time card. But by 7 a.m. the line in the hall of Old Main became a howling mob—similar to a mob scene one might find in a movie spectacular.

This second semester promises to be prolific as far as campus politicians go. The senate is once more coming up with some beautiful plans on paper amidst hopes that students will make note of both plan and promoter of the plan. At present, there's the open end forum plan, the REACT plan, and the professor of the year plan. Just one more plan is needed—a how-to-get-these-plans-off-paper-and-into-operation plan.

The senate has been in a particularly happy mood for the past few weeks. They've been so happy and jovial that they met in the Campus Christian Center last week and no one felt guilty about it. But this happiness is only the calm before the storm, no doubt. If the past is any guide, the senate will soon be beating their plowshares into swords and preparing for spring elections. As a guide on what to expect in the next few weeks, here are some things to look for in senate meetings to come:

Look for senators who haven't said three words all year to begin expounding on everything and anything in the next few senate meetings. These are the ones who seek re-election or a higher office in the executive department. . . . Look for some senators to introduce some plans on paper that would never get off the ground otherwise.

The senate has another first. For the first time in recorded history, there is a husband-wife team in the senate—Jean and Rick Diehl. Jean is the former Jean Cattano. Rick predicted last week that there may be several debates between him and his spouse. For instance, Rick claims that the student government spends 82 per cent of its income on social functions which, Rick claims, is entirely too much. This situation is complicated by the fact that his wife, Jean, is chairman of the Spring Weekend Committee and Spring Weekend promises to be the second biggest social event on campus.

Sorry to hear that Mike Mittleman has resigned as election coordinator. Few people realize what a difficult task the job of coordinating an election really is and under the circumstances, Mike handled the job admirably. With all the other troubles of the office, Mike's was doubled due to the fact that voting machines were not available. Add to this a lack of personnel for handling elections and counting ballots and the results might have been disastrous. But, under the circumstances, Mike can be content that his was a job well done.

The Zeta Beta Tau's received their national charter and one more national fraternity has been added to the campus. So, the BT's, with their Z's are off and running. . . . The crowds seem to be getting worse and worse in the Student Union around noon. Perhaps medals of honor should be given for standing at the counter above and beyond the call of duty. The jammed union only accentuates the need for a bigger and better building. . . . More student faculty parking is planned for next fall on and around campus. This time the space will be provided in area G which is one block East of Gullickson Hall. Perhaps with the additional parking, someone could provide rest stops for those who have to walk from Area G to Old Main. . . . We have learned from Steve Goodman that the buffalo costume the Robe agreed to furnish for football and basketball games might not materialize. But there are many ways of advertising our mascot. Perhaps some interested organization could sponsor a "Thundering Herd Card Game". Of course it would be illegal to bet money, but instead of many, why not use—you guessed it—BUFFALO CHIPS.

Roaming The Green

Rush and pledges seems to be the main thought this week-end on the Greek scene. All the sororities and fraternities will extend second semester bids this afternoon.

Alpha Xi Delta will have a ribboning ceremony for new pledges today at 4:30 p.m. A slumber party for actives and pledges will follow the ceremonies.

Pledging ceremonies for Alpha Xi will be Monday at 4 p.m.

Alpha Chi Omega will have pledging tonight at 7 p.m. A slumber party will follow.

Sunday afternoon starting at 1:30 p.m. the Alpha Chi's will canvass for the Heart Fund.

On the agenda for Sigma Kappa sorority is ribboning for new pledges this afternoon and a slumber party tonight. Pledging ceremonies will be Monday at 4 p.m.

Sigma Phi Epsilon will have a stag party tonight for actives and the new pledges. The Sig Eps will have a retreat Friday night until Saturday evening.

The Sig Eps will have "Poets' Corner" as the theme of their house party tomorrow night at 8 p.m. until midnight.

All the sororities on campus wish to extend their thanks to the Sig Eps for the Valentine candy that they received last Saturday.

Tonight Tau Kappa Epsilon will have a "Welcome Pledges" party at the house from 8 p.m. until midnight. Tomorrow night the TEKES will have a house party from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Activation for first semester pledges of Tau Kappa Epsilon will be 2 p.m. on Sunday. Those going active are: John Dlugos, Daniel Hartley, Gomer Jackson, Phil Keys, Keith Smith, Rom Beatley, Tom Belville, Jim Johnson, Howard Scheidegger, Keith Skidmore and Max Stull.

The TEKES had election of four new officers for second semester. They are Kyle Fossum, Barboursville sophomore, president; Jim Ramsey, Huntington junior, vice-president; Roger McCaskey, New Martinsville junior, treasurer, and Tinker Ferrell, Rand junior, pledge trainer.

Zeta Beta Tau, the campus' newly initiated national fraternity, has taken eight pledges active. They are Harold C. Dodd, John Booth, Stan Wonn, William Dreger, David Calvert, Richard Landau, Ed Tarowsky and Steven Ewing.

Delta Zeta sorority's College Province Director Mrs. Charles Devereaux spent last week conferring with officers and members of the chapter.

The brothers of Sigma Alpha Epsilon will gather with their new pledges for a stag party tonight. Saturday they will begin pledging ceremonies at 6:30 p.m. and a house party will follow.

The newly-elected officers of SAE are; Jim Headley, president; Jim Stevenson, vice-president; Larry Magariello, secretary; Doug Crickmer, treasurer; Howie Weitz, social chairman; Paul Lutz, scholarship chairman,

Dr. Dauer To Give Talk In New York

Dr. Dorothea W. Dauer, chairman of the Department of Modern Languages, will speak before the German Literary Society in New York April 14.

Her topic will be on Ainus, a tribe located in northern Japan. Dr. Dauer said that she would enjoy repeating this speech for the students in the near future.

Dr. Dauer will speak to the society in German, and will include slides and pictures which she took of this tribe during her stay in Japan.

Dr. Dauer lived in Japan for seven years, teaching for the members of the Armed Forces stationed there. She also taught language at the Tokyo Academy of Music, which is the number one academy in Japan.

and Ed Eckley, intramural chairman. Eddie Balough was chosen model pledge and Paul Janssen received the scholarship award.

Lambda Chi Alpha will be busy this week-end with new pledges and new initiates. Tonight at 7 p.m. they will have their pledging ceremonies. Saturday at 7 p.m. the following men will be activated; Joe Heinz, Mike Robinson, Bill Evans, Don White, Jim Wallen, Dave Truscatt, Lowell Adkins, Ed Good, Bob Carlisle, John Marck, Kyle Nye, Mack Howells, Duane McCallister, Theron Morgan, Ron Frame and Kent Boyd. They will have a banquet at 2 p.m. Sunday at Martin's Restaurant.

A buffet dinner will be held this afternoon at the Sigma Sigma Sigma house for their new pledge class.

Pike Kappa Alpha will have a pledging ceremony at 6 p.m. today. A House party will follow and at 7:30 p.m. Saturday the Pikes will have a party at the house. They will attend church as a group on Sunday at the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church.

Alpha Sigma Alpha will have a pizza party at 5 p.m. today honoring their pledges. Their alumnae will have a tea at the house from 3-5 Sunday honoring their chapter members, new pledges and visiting Charleston alumnae.

Alpha Sigma Phi will hold their pledging ceremony at 7:30 with a party for their new pledges following.

The Kappa Alpha Order will attend a dance at the Hotel Prichard at 8 p.m. tonight, sponsored by their alumnae. The Collegiates will play. Tickets may be obtained from any active or pledge of KA for $1.50 or at the door. The dance is open to everyone.

New Program Set By Newman Club

The Newman Club has initiated a new program of activities for second semester, according to James R. Johnson Jr., South Charleston junior.

The meetings have been changed to 7 p.m. every Tuesday in the Science Hall Auditorium and will consist of a business session, a guest speaker, a movie, and a follow-up discussion.

Another change is the celebration of mass on campus. Mass will be held at 5 p.m. this Sunday in Old Main Auditorium by the Rev. William Gardner, moderator of the Newman Club. All students and faculty members are invited to attend.

Chemistry Seminars Set Today, Tomorrow

Dr. John H. Wotiz, chairman of the Chemistry Department, announced that two seminars will be held this week in the Science Building.

Dr. R. B. LaCount, University of Pittsburgh, will conduct a seminar on "The Preparation and Chemistry of 1, 2, 3, 4, 5- Pantacarboxy- Cyclopentadine" at 1 p.m. today in room 313 of Science Hall.

Dr. R. P. Walter, Haverford College, Pa., will conduct a seminar on "Substitute Effects on Properties of Stable Organic Free Radicals" at 11 a.m. tomorrow in room 320 of Science Hall.

Do You Need Help?

Financial Aid Applicants Must Apply By April 1st

Applications for financial aid for 1965-66 academic year may now be obtained at the Office of the Dean of Men, according to George O. Fraley, director of financial aid.

"We have approximately 175 scholarships that are available for the 1965-66 school year, plus numerous loans; and the sooner the applicants get their applications in for these loans the sooner they will know whether or not their loan or scholarship will be granted," said Mr. Fraley.

Part-time students are now eligible to receive National Defense loans, due to a recent revision of regulations for administering loans to college students under the National Defense Act.

Prior to this time, recipients of these loans had to be registered as a full-time student with at least 12 semester hours.

The new provision permits granting National Defense loans to students who are taking at least half of a "normal" load or eight semester hours.

Mr. Fraley said that all applications must be in his office by April 1, 1965.

"It is very important that students, who wish financial assistance, complete the applications as soon as possible because the Student Aid Executive Board will begin reviewing completed applications on or about March 1," continued Mr. Fraley.

Mr. Fraley also pointed out that one page of the application must be completed by the student's parents and, because of this, applicants should allocate enough time for the form to be sent home and be returned to the University by the April 1 deadline.

"The Student Aid Executive Board wishes to base its awards on as complete an understanding of the student's financial and scholastic situation as possible. Students are, therefore, urged to provide a supplementary statement with any information not reflected in the application form itself."

GOLFERS SIGN GRANTS

Marshall golf coach Buddy Graham has announced the signing of Warren Wick of Winfield and Ken Bowen of South Charleston to golf grant-in-aids.

The 1965 Big Green linksmen will open their season on March 25, at Ohio University.

Debaters To Vie At Berea College

The Debate Squad will compete tomorrow in a tournament at Berea College, Berea, Ky.

The topic will be "Resolved: That the federal government should establish a national program of public work for the unemployed."

Taking the affirmative for Marshall will be Randal Jarrell, Pt. Pleasant sophomore, and Mike Engle, Charleston sophomore. Danie Stewart, Salt Rock junior, and John Cross, Huntington senior, will take the negative.

This is the first of approximately six debates scheduled for the second semester.

PRESIDENTS' RESIDENCE

The President's House, located at 1636 Fifth Avenue, has been the residence of successive presidents of the University since its erection in 1925.

TO FACE DePAUL

The Marshall ROTC rifle team will face DePaul University of Chicago tomorrow in a postal match. Sgt. Major James Dowling's sharpshooters will take a 4-3 record into the match.

In March the team will face Southwest Missouri State and will participate in the NCAA regional match at West Virginia University.

In April they will face Clarkson College and will be entered in the Second Annual U.S. Army and Inter-Collegiate Rifle Match.

'Who's In Control?' Is Theme Of Christian Science Lecture

"Who's in Control?" is the title of a Christian Science lecture March 1. William Milford Correll will be the speaker, beginning at 7 p.m. in Campus Christian Center.

Man is never a victim of circumstances, says Mr. Correll, and his lecture is described as an exploration of the basic ideas that shape human events, with emphasis on the spiritual concept of man. It is being sponsored by the Campus Christian Science organization.

Mr. Correll is a graduate of Oberlin College where he majored in mathematics and philosophy. He served in the European theater during World War II, and shortly afterwards entered the public practice of Christian Science healing.

Although his native state is Mississippi, he now resides in Cleveland. He has participated in Christian Science radio and television programs, has become a recognized teacher of the religion, and is currently on tour as a member of the Board of Lectureship of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

'Appalachian Aspirations' Impact Theme

President Of Ohio University To Discuss Area's Problems

By CONNIE BURGESS
Parthenon Editor

"Planning for Education's Forgotten Man" will be Dr. Vernon R. Alden's Topic for the Impact (formerly Life Planning Week) banquet Sunday at 6 p.m. in the University Cafeteria. Dr. Alden, president of Ohio University, is one of the leading authorities in the field of reforms for depressed areas.

Impact, lasting Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, will have "Appalachian Aspirations" as its topic of discussion. This topic will deal with the economic problems of the Appalachian area. The purpose of Impact is to acquaint the students of Marshall with the problems in their immediate area and to stimulate a desire and interest to have these problems corrected.

Dr. Alden was born in Chicago, Ill. in 1923. He entered Brown University in 1941 where he did honors work in English and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in his junior year. He was a first-string second baseman and a half-miler. In 1950 he received his MBA from Harvard and has received honorary LL.D. degrees from Emerson College, Brown University, Ohio Wesleyan University, and Rhode Island College.

Dr. Alden served in the United States Navy as a lieutenant from 1943 to 1964 aboard a minesweeper and a patrol ship in the Northern Pacific, and on the aircraft carrier, U.S.S. Saratoga. He was sent to the Navy Language School in Boulder, Col. where he learned to read, write, and speak Japanese.

After the War, Dr. Alden worked as assistant to President Henry M. Wriston of Brown University and as an admissions officer at Northwestern University. He filled several administrative and teaching positions at Harvard Business School and was appointed associate dean in 1956. He served in that position until his appointment as president of Ohio University in 1962.

Appointed in March, 1964, by President Johnson, Dr. Alden is the chairman of the Task Force

Planning Committee of the United States Job Corps. He is also the co-founder and a trustee of the Institute for College and University Administrators, sponsored by the Carnegie Corporation of New York. At the Institute, Dr. Alden has conducted case study seminars for more than 800 college presidents and deans.

Dr. Alden has taught and served as educational director of advanced management programs in Japan, sponsored by Harvard and Keio Universities. He is also a founding member of the European Institute d' Administration des Affaires in Paris.

On April 27, Ohio Governor James Rhodes appointed Dr. Alden chairman of the Ohio Valley Regional Development Council.

Life magazine in its Jan. 15, 1965 edition featured a special article on President Alden as part of a three article series on education. The article dealt with the problems that Dr. Alden encounters at Ohio University and the work that he has done in promoting and improving Ohio U. during the short time that he has been there. In the article Sargent Shriver said about Alden, "He's full of spunk and what's unusual in his field, he's broadbased. He thinks in many terms."

Mr. P. F. Byer of Berea College will speak on Monday night at a convocation in Old Main Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Byer, professor of sociology, will have as his topic of discussion "People Trouble."

Also on Monday night, William Wells, project coordinator for Appalachian Volunteers, will speak.

The last speaker for Impact will speak on Tuesday at 11 a.m. in Old Main Auditorium. He will be Dr. J. Glenn Blackburn, formerly of Wake Forest college, but now on the staff of VISTA. Dr. Blackburn, a representative from Sargent Shriver's Economic Opportunity Act, will speak on "Opportunities for Service in the War Against Poverty."

Coordinator for Impact Carol Hubbard said, "these top-notch speakers are coming to help Marshall as well as West Virginia. The success of this new program depends on the participation of the students and the interest that they show. The situation of the Appalachian area should be of interest to all students because we are immediately faced with it. These speakers are nationally well-known men and will speak on how we can correct our situation."

WANT INSURANCE?

Enrollment deadline for the student insurance program is March 1. The rate is $17 which covers the second semester and summer sessions. Forms may be secured from Robert Altomare, Weirton senior, in the Student Government office.

Danish Gymnastic School Accepts MU Student For Study Next Year

Charles "Spike" Barnette, Huntington junior, has been accepted for entrance to one of Denmark's oldest and best known gymnastic schools, The Gymnaslikhojskolen. Located 60 miles from Copenhagen, the school has no academic requirements since it is concerned primarily with the field of physical education and body development.

The classes begin next November and end the following October, with a month break at mid-term, providing ample time for traveling in Europe. Students to attend the school are selected from applicants who have had previous training in acrobatics and tumbling.

According to Spike, who has had roles in the "West Virginia

Centennial Cavalcade", "Brigadoon," and "Honey In The Rock," his interest in attending the school began in the fall of 1963 when he observed the Danish gymnast tour at Marshall. While watching them perform, he became very impressed with the importance the Danes put on grace and harmony of the body.

According to Spike, the Danish people deal more with rhythm movement, body coordination, and balance, while American gymnasts are more concerned with strength as the main factor in gymnastics. He said that this observable difference between the two techniques stimulated him to apply to the school.

The school enrolls approximately 3,000. Their program consists of a daily work schedule of rhythmically controlled calisthenics, detailed work in apparatus, swimming, diving, and a conversation class in Danish, which lasts four weeks.

The Gymnaslikhojskolen has participated in the Olympics, having sent representatives to the summer olympics of 1962 and the winter olympics at Innsbrook. The school's more advanced students often get opportunities to tour Denmark, performing in various towns and cities.

After studying in Denmark, Spike hopes to finish his academic schooling at Marshall, getting his degree in physical education with specialization in gymnastics. He also desires to teach gymnastics in the Physical Education Department at Marshall.

Science Fair Due On March 19-20

Marshall University will host the 10th annual regional Science Fair March 19-20.

Dr. Robert V. Digman, regional fair director and associate professor of chemistry, expects approximately 300 entries this year.

Represented at Gullickson Hall will be high school and junior high school students from 21 counties in the Tri-State area of West Virginia, Kentucky and Ohio.

The competition is divided into two divisions. The junior division for grades 7-9 will have exhibits in the biological and physical sciences, and the senior division for grades 10-12 will feature exhibits in biology, chemistry, earth sciences, physics-mathematics-engineering, and miscellaneous.

The exhibits will be open to the public on the afternoon and evening of the first day and the morning and afternoon of the second day. Judging will take place the afternoon of March 19 and awards will be presented at 1 p.m. March 20. The boy and girl winners of the senior division will compete in the National Science Fair in St. Louis May 5-8.

To Be Called 'The Summit'

Coffee House Will Open Tonight

By DIANE MELROSE
Staff Reporter

"The Summit," a newly constructed coffee house sponsored by the Campus Christian Center will be open for use tonight at 7:30.

Terry Galler, Huntington freshman, and Fred Coon, Huntington sophomore, will provide folk music for the opening program. Sally Montgomery, graduate art student, will present an art display. Taped background music will be played when nothing is happening on the platform.

Folk singing, readings, one-act plays, poetry readings, paintings, sketches, sculpture and three dimensional wood pieces, as well as speakers visiting the campus, will make up the pro-

New Swim Times Listed For Pool

Schedule changes in the Gulllickson Hall pool for faculty and students are as follows: 3-5 p.m. Mon.-Wed.; 4-5 and 7-9 p.m. Thurs.; and 3-5 p.m. Fri.

Life guards will aid those who want help with strokes. One may also start the 50-mile swim. This is divided into one-fourth mile segments, 18 laps of the pool equal one-fourth of a mile. The segments are recorded on a chart, and a Red Cross card is given upon completion of each 10 miles. The swimmer receives a patch or pin, or both.

YAF TO REORGANIZE

The Young Americans for Freedom, a conservative - anti-Communist organization, will be reorganized on campus, according to John Jones, Follansbee senior. The organization will meet in Campus Christian Center at 4 p.m. Sunday.

grams.

Members of the program committee are hopeful that the programming will be provided by those who make up the university community.

Programs in the coffee house will be presented on the stage, located at the front of the room. Draperies will cover the windows and burlap covered pegboards will be used for displaying paintings by Marshall University students.

Pieces of various colored glass have been fitted into frames built by students to cover the lights being used at the present time. The light shining through the pieces of colored glass will fuse a variety of color throughout the room. Candles on the tables will provide the needed additional lighting.

The redecorating of the room has been done by interested university students during their free time. Students will also serve as waiters and waitresses in the coffee house. Although the menu will be limited, the prices will be kept at a minimum.

The coffee house, open Friday and Saturday nights from 7:30 until 12:30, will be available to the entire university but student admission will be by ID card only. ID cards from all colleges will be recognized.

The coffee house will provide a place where persons can go and talk in an atmosphere conducive to conversation.

The Rev. Mr. W. R. Willers, representative of the Christian Center staff said that "although the Christian Center isn't an official part of Marshall University, we are grateful to the university community for its co-operation with and for the operation of the center.

"The building and operational expenses are paid for by the various denominations represented in the center and a Board of Directors with representatives from the various denominational groups forms policy and raises the funds for the center's operation."

The committee for the redecoration of the room was: Rev. Mr. Royce McDonald, representative of the Campus Christian Center Board of Directors; Mrs. Allen Blumberg, wife of the associate professor of education; Erline Sizemore, Logan senior art student; Barbara Carter, Summersville sophomore, and representative of the Campus Christian Fellowship Cabinet; John Campbell, graduate student; Mrs. Page Estler McDaniel, adviser and Alumna of the center; Fred Coon, Huntington sophomore, and Mr. Villers, chairman and representative of the Christian Center staff.

An advisory committee will work with Mr. Villers to determine the policy and programming of the coffee house. Those making up the committee are Mrs. Allen Blumberg; Erline Sizemore; John Campbell; Miss Mary Beth Dorsey, instructor in speech; Frances Kookan, Point Pleasant freshman; Wendell English, Bluefield senior, and Chief Justice of the student court, and the Rev. Father William Gardner.

DINNER FOR GRADUATE

The Marshall Alumni Association held a Get-Acquainted Dinner for 34 January graduates January 15 in the basement of the cafeteria.

The program consisted of a welcome by Mr. David Foad, Jr., president of the Alumni Association, and a talk "Your Changing Role" by Mr. John Sayre, director of the Office of Alumni Affairs. Each graduate who attended was given an alumni information kit.

Chemistry Research Projects Noted By Department Chairman

"The primary function of research in a University is to add to the fundamental state of knowledge," says Dr. John H. Wotiz, professor of chemistry. At present, the Chemistry Department is conducting three outstanding research projects.

The first of these projects, researched by Jerry Rose, a graduate student assistant, is the study of the chemistry of 1-7-Cyclotetradeca-diyne. The purpose of this project is the possibility of preparing dibasic acids of a novel structure, perhaps resulting in a new type of nylon.

The second project is being undertaken by Richard Sinkowitz, another graduate student assistant. Mr. Sinkowitz is studying the ratio of acetylenic and allenic products formed in the reaction of propargylic grignard reagents in its reaction with certain aldehydes and ketones.

Frank Turrill, a Marshall graduate working towards his master of science degree, has undertaken the third project. Mr. Turrill is tracing the impurities in magnesium and their effect on the structure and properties of grignard reagents. The reason for these last two projects is to add to the fundamental knowledge of basic science.

The Biology Department, under the guidance of Dr. Harold Ward, associate professor of biology, has its own type of project. Marshall University is cooperating with the National Science Foundation in sponsoring an in-service for high school biology teachers. The main objective of this program is to improve the subject matter competence of participating teachers. The summer, 1964, session of this project was such a success that Marshall University's request for support of a grant for the summer of 1965 has been approved by the NSF.

Hoof-Beats

By TIM MASSEY
Parthenon Sports Editor

In everyday sports events here at Marshall there are many things happening behind the main events that are interesting, humorous and important to the reader. It is difficult to cover them all through straight news stories and features — something else is needed. This is the purpose of this column.

If there are any pressing issues that you, as Marshall followers and students, would like to bring to my attention, please do so. All constructive advice, criticism, information and general correspondence concerning the column will be welcomed.

What better way to start than with our unbeaten freshman basketball team? Coach Sonny Allen's combine has raced through 17 straight victories with hardly a sweat and the road toward an unbeaten season looks smooth and wide. The Little Green has only Eastern Kentucky, a team it defeated handily earlier in the season, and the Intramural All-Stars left on its schedule.

If it accomplishes this difficult task, the Little Green will become the first group of yearlings to do so at Marshall, according to records on file and several MU "Oldtimers." The best previous mark posted by a Marshall freshman five was 14-1. That was the 1954-55 season when Coach Michael Josephs' squad, paced by the now great professional Hal Greer, lost only to Cincinnati's frosh, 67-64. The Bearkittens had such notables that year as Paul Hogue and Connie Dierking, both professionals.

"This team is much tougher than the one I had back then," says Dr. Josephs. "We didn't have the height or the scoring balance that these guys do." Coach Allen, who played for Dr. Josephs the following season along with super-star Leo Byrd, is quick to say he rates his present group superior to any he has seen at Marshall.

"The team I was on was virtually a one-man show with Byrd, but we have balance this year," Allen attests. For the record the great Leo averaged a remarkable 37 points a start in his first year and Allen, one of Marshall's finest guards in recent years, averaged over 12 a game.

"The thing I like most about the boys this year is the way they work together," Allen says. "We've got several good individuals on the team who can score a lot of points but they are unselfish. When a boy has an open shot, he shoots, but he will pass just as easily. This is the big reason we're winning."

However, opposing coaches will give other reasons why they fell victim to the Little Green — they run until the buzzer sounds and few teams can keep the hot pace. One will point to Orville Stepp as the star, another will say Bob Redd is the best, while others think either Joe Dawson, George Stone or big Bob Allen is the key. However, the truth is that there is no individual on the "Fabulous Five"—each is a cog in a smooth-running machine.

Stepp, the bull-doing six-footer from Inez, Ky., is the shooter, and he does it with deadly accuracy. Averaging 28 points a game, Stepp had an individual high of 40 tallies against Kentucky Christian College last Saturday night at the Field House and followed it with a sizzling 38-point performance against West Virginia Tech's junior varsity Monday at Oak Hill. Redd, who has been called the best all-around player to enter MU, led the team in rebounding during the first semester with 17 a start and finished his brilliant frosh career with a 19.1 scoring average. (Redd played the second semester of last season and isn't eligible to compete this semester.)

Dawson, an all-stater from Huntington East, is the "holler guy" and the middleman on the fast break. Besides leading the team in assists, he is scoring at a 20-point plus clip, including a 34-point outburst against Tech. Stone, the 6-7 Covington, Ky. stringbean, serves both as the "confidence man" and the team humorist. When the going gets tough, Stone gets tough and he seems to keep his sense of humor through it all. Although he weighs only 175 pounds, Stone pulls down 14 rebounds a game and is scoring over 20 points a start.

Possibly the most underrated player of the five is Allen. Although he isn't scoring in double figures, the 6-8 center serves the team in two important capacities, on defense and off the boards. "Bob has come a long way since the beginning of the season and he could score a lot more but that's not his job. He's in there to get the ball for us and to stop the other team from scoring," Coach Allen points out.

So hepped up are many of Marshall's fans that they are begging for a chance to play West Virginia's highly publicized yearlings, led by Ron "Fritz" Williams. Several columns in the local papers have been devoted to this subject and it has caused a ripple in Charleston. The MU players would like a chance at the Little Mountaineers. "Tech players told me that we could run them (WVU) off the floor and I would like to have a chance," Stepp relates.

Coach Ellis Johnson, who is the proud recruiter of the present team, is already grinning over the prospects of picking a starting unit next season. With the nucleus of most of this year's varsity regulars returning plus the talented group coming, it will be interesting to see who will be on the first five. "It's the kind of problem I like, though," Johnson admits with a gleam in his eye.

Unbeaten Freshmen Get Rest

By DAVID COLLINSWORTH
Assistant Sports Editor

Marshall's undefeated freshman basketball team will get a well deserved rest following a 127-112 victory over the West Virginia Tech junior varsity Monday night at Oak Hill.

The Little Green will not hit the hardwood again until Feb. 25, when they tangle with the Eastern Kentucky freshman in a pre-elim to a varsity encounter between the two schools at the field house.

On Monday the frosh set a floor record for the Collins High School Gym with their 127 point splurge. The 239 points scored by both teams combined also eclipsed the court record.

The hot-shooting Little Green were torrid with Orville Stepp, Joe Dawson and George Stone scoring 99 points among them.

Stepp canned 38, connecting 16 of 29 from the floor and 6 of 8 at the foul line. Stepp also scored 38 in a previous meeting between the two teams, won by Marshall 98-81. The Inez, Ky. fireball has poured in 198 points in his last six games for a 33 point average. He has upped his overall average to almost 29.

Dawson hit his season's high with 34 markers, shooting a fantastic 70 per cent from the floor on 14 for 20. Stone popped in 27 points and picked off 19 rebounds to grab game honors in the latter.

Jim Jordan and Glenn Justice were also in double figures with 11 and 10 points respectively. Justice also captured 14 rebounds. Dave Eisel led Tech with 38, while Dave Griffith and Jim Sullivan added 19 apiece.

The Little Green took the lead at 5-4 with 17:49 remaining in the first half on a free throw by Stepp and they were never headed. Once Marshall had the lead it was just a matter of the Golden Bear Cubs trying to catch up, which they were never able to do.

With Stepp firing them in the frosh quickly built up a 26-16 advantage with 12:06 left in the half. Marshall maintained a seven point lead throughout most of the first stanza as both teams put on a blistering shooting barrage.

With 4:06 to go in the half Tech closed the gap to 42-37, however, the Little Green suddenly exploded for 12 straight points before Tech could manage MAC'S LEADING SCORER — Marshall's Tommy Langfitt took over the leadership of the Mid-American Conference scoring race Saturday night with a brilliant 31-point performance against Kent State. Langfitt also passed teammate Bill Francis for the team scoring lead with the outburst.

Herd Visits TU Seeking 5th Win

Marshall's Big Green will get a good taste of on-the-road living for the next five days but Coach Ellis Johnson hopes his team will feel at "home" for several reasons:

Although the Big Green hasn't been too successful anywhere, it has won only one of four victories this season away from the Memorial Field House.

Leaving Huntington Wednesday afternoon, Marshall met rugged Steubenville last night after an overnight stay in that city and is in Toledo today in preparation for its meeting with the Rockets Saturday night.

The Big Green then travels to Bowling Green, Ohio Sunday, staying overnight at the university's union, and will meet the Falcons Monday evening. Coach Johnson indicated that he and his team would stay in Columbus, Ohio, Monday night before returning home again Tuesday morning.

"Steubenville is going to be tough," Johnson predicted Wednesday before leaving. "They have already been invited as an art-large team to the NCAA tournament and are 17-3 on the season." The Barons whipped Marshall 85-78 in December and have been improving steadily during the season.

"Toledo beat us at home and they will be harder to beat on their home court," Johnson indicated, but said he knew little about Bowling Green this season. "We haven't played Bowling Green this season and I haven't been able to see them in action."

Losses to both Toledo and Bowling Green would really put the Green on the spot when it faces Western Michigan at Kalamazoo next Saturday, in a battle to stay off the bottom of the Mid-American Conference standings.

"We actually need at least a split in our four remaining MAC games to stay out of the basement," Johnson said. Western Michigan is now 1-8 in the conference, while Marshall has lost one less.

The Big Green dropped its latest MAC decision to Kent State last Saturday, 80-72, despite Tommy Langfitt's heroics. The Washington, Pa. junior poured in 31 points, topping his best season's effort, and took over the MAC scoring leadership with a 24.0 point average.

"Wild Bill" Francis, who had paced the conference earlier in the season, dipped to third place behind WMU's Dave Anderson with a 21.0 average.

Marshall, as a team, leads the MAC in only one department, foul shooting percentage. The Big Green, paced by Francis, has connected on a respectable 74.9 percent of its charity tosses.

First Aid Course Scheduled Here

Mrs. Louise McDonough, professor of Physical Education, is offering a first aid instructor's course to all eligible and interested students.

The class will be held from 7-10 p.m. on March 2, 4, 8, 9, and 11 in the women's gymnasium. To be eligible one must have a valid advanced first aid certificate. This class could act as a renewal course for many students.

Mrs. McDonough would like to know, in advance, who will be in the class and she requests that all students bring their text books the first night. Mrs. McDonough, also, wishes it to be made known that the first aid certificates from first semester's work may be picked up in her office now.

Coyer, Williams Get Honorable Mention On 'Academic' Team

Janice Jordan, live at Lesage, W. Va.

Coyer was born April 19, 1943, at Barboursville, and attended Barboursville High School where he played sports under Jim Cain.

While at Barboursville he was active in football, basketball, track, wrestling and baseball. In other words a "super star."

While participating in these sports, Coyer won 10 letters. He won three in football, two each in wrestling, basketball, and track, and one in baseball.

In 1961 Coyer was second team All-State, All-Area, Honorable Mention All-American, and All-Southern West Virginia in high school football. During the same year he was also named to the All-State team in baseball.

After graduating from Barboursville High School in May of 1961, Coyer signed a football scholarship with Marshall.

Coyer, who will graduate from Marshall in June with an AB degree, ended his brilliant football career by being named first team All Mid-American Conference.

He is presently co-captain of the wrestling team and will receive his third letter in the sport when the season ends.

During his football career at Marshall, Coyer won three letters and was well known for his all out effort on the gridiron which won him the cheers of Marshall fans.

Coyer maintained a high B average in high school and has a B average in college. He is in Teachers College and majoring in physical education and speech.

After graduation Coyer plans to teach and would like to try his hand at professional football.

Williams, who's football career at Marshall was shortened by a late season knee injury, resides at Bluefield with his pretty wife, Rebecca, and their two sons, Jay and Fred.

Williams was born Feb. 17, 1942, in Bluefield, where he later attended Bluefield High School and played sports under Merrill Gainer.

While at Bluefield High School, Williams participated in football, basketball, baseball, track, gymnastics, and intramural sports. He received seven letters: three in football, two in baseball, and one each in track and basketball.

Williams graduated in 1960 from Bluefield High School and in football that year was awarded All-Mercer County, All-Coal Field Conference, All-Southern West Virginia, and best player for the West Virginia All-Stars in the annual West Virginia-Ohio High School All-Star game.

After graduating from high school, Williams accepted a football scholarship at Marshall.

Williams was a halfback on the football team this year and has won three letters in the sport at Marshall. His senior year was shortened by a knee injury with three games left to play.

Williams, who will graduate this June with an AB degree, had an A average in high school and has maintained a high B average at Marshall.

After graduation in June, Williams plans to attend a Physical Therapy School in Pittsburgh, Pa. He would also like to try professional football if given a chance.

Williams is in Teachers College and majoring in physical education and biology at Marshall.

"They are not only good students but good football players," said Head Football Coach Charley Snyder. "They are two of the better boys we have ever had. They deserve the best."

"THESE BOYS ARE the brains of the teams and I wish I had a lot more like them," Coach Charley Snyder says as he congratulates John "Jabo" Williams and Larry Coyer on their selection to honorable mention on the Academic All-American Football team Wednesday. Coyer was also selected to the All Mid-American Conference team this past season and Williams was given honorable mention on the same honorary team.

a basket. Marshall went into the dressing room with a 56-41 lead.

The MU yearlings made good on 25 of 53 shots in the first half for 47.2 per cent, while Tech hit on 19 of 52 for 36.5 per cent.

In the first half Stepp connected on 11 of 19 shots and 3-5 at the charity stripe for 25 points.

In the second half the Little Green opened up with 12 straight points to break the game open and held a 68-41 lead before Tech could score on free throw.

With the Tech defense concentrating on Stepp in the second half Dawson really began to connect. He hit on 7 of 8 shots from the floor in an excellent display of shooting ability.

Marshall maintained around a 20 point margin most of the second half and Stepp put them over the century mark with 8:01 remaining and gave the Little Green a 102-79 lead.

The closest that Tech could come was 119-108 with 1:10 left but Marshall pulled away to the final 15 point margin.

Both teams scored an amazing 71 points in the second half. For the game Marshall hit on 51-101 for 49.5 per cent and Tech connected on 48-122 for 39.3 per cent.

The contest was a benefit game with funds going to the high school. It provided southern West Virginia basketball fans an opportunity to see the Little Green just two nights after West Virginia University's frosh had played in the area.

SERGEANT PROMOTED

Sgt. E5 James O. Baker, a member of the ROTC staff, was recently promoted to staff sergeant. Sergeant Baker, who has served here a year and a half as rifle team coach, has also been reassigned to Eastern Kentucky State College, in Richmond, Ky. He, his wife Carolyn, and their four children, reside in Proctorville, Ohio.

Two freshmen, one who has been playing since he was four years old and the other a novice of five months, took top honors in the state table-tennis finals

TOURNEY UNDERWAY

The Intramural Basketball League's single elimination tournament, which began Monday afternoon, will crown the 1965 champion this coming Monday, Feb. 22.

The tournament which will last one week, has the defending champions Beavers back to defend their championship which they won a year ago by edging Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 43-41.

The single elimination tournament started with 16 teams. The teams that were in the tournament are as follows: Beavers, New Men's Dorm No. 1, Pi Kappa Alpha No. 1, K-Vees, Marcos, Rebels, Kappa Alpha No. 2, Engineers No. 1, Rogues, Panzies, Pi Kappa Alpha No. 3, C3H5(NO3)3, Pi Kappa Alpha No. 4, Rinky Dinks, Campus Trotters, and New Men's Dorm No. 6.

last Sunday in Charleston. They were Doug Warner and Tom McClure.

Warner, a 6-foot-2, 165 pound athlete from Vienna, W. Va., was runnerup in the 18-and-under singles and took first place in the novice doubles.

He has been playing for 14 years and says he hasn't tired of the game yet.

"My dad taught me how to play," says Doug. "He has won about every table tennis award there is."

And Warner isn't exaggerating one bit. His father, now a promoter of table tennis matches, has won among other things the State and National Table Tennis Championships in 1938.

Not far behind his father, Doug has won various city championships and has held the state novice doubles titles for the last two years. He teamed up with his younger brother last year and joined McClure to capture the honor this year.

Tom, from St. Albans, had little interest in table tennis until he met Warner at the beginning of the first semester. Doug taught him all he knows about the game and it surely paid off later.

Because in the 18-and-under finals McClure the pupil beat Wagner the instructor three straight games for the state championship and then went on to win the men's singles.

"It was no streak of beginner's luck, either," says Warner. "He played hard and deserved to win."

The next thing in the immediate future are the National Doubles, for which they have set their goal.

But Marshall will be seeing a lot of these two men in a different sport — lawn tennis — where they are sure to be standouts. Since both are here on tennis scholarships, they are looking forward to the coming season.

"I sure wish we could play in varsity competition this year," states Warner. "We have four boys on the freshmen team who are among the best I've seen."

Marshall Hosts Wrestlers

By ED LANHAM

Do you like wrestling? If so then there is much in store for you for the next couple of weeks.

Starting this weekend Marshall's Gullickson Hall will be host to the Region IV State High School Wrestling Tournament. The tournament is to begin today with weigh-in for the wrestlers beginning at 11 a.m.

After this there is a meeting with the coaches and the preliminaries which are to begin at two p.m. The semi-finals are to be held tonight at 7:30 p.m. with the finals being held on Saturday also at 7:30. Admission to the tournament is .25 for students and .50 for adults.

Teams entered in the Region IV tournament are Huntington

East, Huntington High, Barboursville, Milton, Logan, Hurricane, Winfield, Huntington Vinson, and Buffalo of Putnam.

Officials for the tournament are Charles Tanner and Ralph May. The head trainer will be Edward J. Prelaz, Marshall's wrestling coach, and the publicity director is Charles Dinkins.

Following the high school tournament this Saturday will be a match between Marshall and Morehead State Teachers College which will begin at 3 p.m.

Marshall will be out to make a strong finish this season as their record now stands at two wins and seven losses. They have only two matches to go following this weekend's encounter with Morehead and would like to finish strong before preparing for the Mid-American Conference Championships. This years championships will also be held at Gullickson Hall.

This is the first championship of any kind Marshall has fielded in the MAC.

The tournament will be held this March 5-6 and will sponsor a strong group of teams which will be headed by the co-favorites Kent State, and Miami University. This tournament along with the Region IV Tournament and Marshall's other home match should prove to be quite an exciting event and very entertaining for those wrestling enthusiasts of Huntington in the next few weeks.

Dr. Frey Will Speak At Christian Center

Dr. George W. Frey, professor of Old Testament and registrar at the Union Theological Seminary in Dayton, Ohio, will be the guest speaker at the Campus Christian Center during the 11 a.m. service Sunday.

"The Christian Superlative" is the title of his sermon. The scripture will be taken from Corinthians 7:13.

Mr. Frey will arrive at the Christian Center around 3 p.m. Saturday. Any student wishing to speak with him concerning furthering his education at the seminary may do so by contacting the Christian Center for an appointment. The Union Theological Seminary is sponsored by the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

He received his A.B. degree from Albright College in Reading, Pa.; his B.D. degree from the Union Theological Seminary; his S.T.M. degree from the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Gettysburg, Pa.; and his Ph.D. from Drue University. His post-doctoral studies were done at the Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md., Dropsie College in Philadelphia, Pa., and the American Schools of Oriental Research in Jerusalem, Jordan.

Mr. Frey is an ordained minister in the Evangelical United Brethren Church. He was a pastor for 10 years in York, Pa., and fills supply pulpits in the leading denominations in the United States. He frequently speaks at summer minister's conferences and Bible Study conventions.

The Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis; the American Academy of Religion; the American Association of Hebrew professors; the Palestine Exploration Society (British), and the American schools of Oriental Research Corporation are the professional societies of which Mr. Frey is a member.

In the summer of 1956, he traveled and studied in the leading museums of Great Britain and

Poets On Campus Can Enter Contest

All students are invited to submit manuscripts for consideration to the annual anthology of college poetry.

"This is the first spring anthology in 15 years," reports the National Poetry Press, sponsor of the competition.

Each effort must be typed on a separate sheet and the student's name, home address, and college must be typed or printed on each entry. Shorter poems will be given more favorable consideration due to limited space.

Entries should be sent to the National Poetry Press, 3210 Selby Ave., Los Angeles 34, Calif. The closing date for submitting poetry is April 10.

Europe. During the academic year of 1960-61, he traveled, studied and observed archaeological research in the Middle East, especially Palestine, including both Jordan and Israel.

He contributes regularly to church and professional periodicals.

The Sunday evening encounter group will be held at 6:30 following the weekly dinner at 6 p.m. The price of the dinner is 40 cents per person.

The encounter discussion this week is entitled, "The Church in the World." This will be a student-campus pastor panel which will discuss the theme of the Eighth Quadrennial National Methodist Student Movement Conference which was recently held in Lincoln, Neb.

All interested persons are invited to attend.

33 Percent Of Teacher Grads Go Elsewhere

What happens to Teachers College students after they graduate from Marshall?

According to a report being submitted to the Department of Certification in Charleston on teacher supply and demand by the National Education Association, 33 per cent of the graduates went out of state to find jobs.

In 1964, 305 men and women graduated from Teachers College and 265 started teaching with full certificate. This statistic shows that 40 did not enter the teaching field.

Of these 165 graduates, 39 were out-of-state residents leaving a total of 226 graduates available to teach in state schools.

It is also noted that only 56 men, or 21 per cent of the graduates included in the 265, actually started teaching. The other 209 were women who began teaching.

'65 Graduating Class Sets Up Special Fund

The graduating class of '65 has established a fund to give each member an opportunity to help perpetuate the recognition of their class. Each member is invited to participate financially in the fund before leaving campus as a graduate.

The fund will be perpetuated through annual participation in the MU Alumni Giving Program. When the members of the class graduate and become alumni, they will be invited to participate financially in the annual giving fund. Automatically half of the gifts will be placed in the class fund.

The annual use of the fund will be devoted to either student loans, scholarships or graduate assistantships.

Representatives of the class will decide the criteria by which recipients of the class fund awards will be selected. The University Student Aid Executive Committee will make the selections based upon the class' criteria.

There have been 32 January graduates and one May graduate that have contributed to the fund already.

These include Linda Sue Hall, Irma Oliverio, E. Linda Ranson, Pete Shaffron Jr., Mary Pat Pugh, Marty Ingram, Robert Gray Jr., Mary Lee Daugherty, Terrence Childers, Gerald Miller, Hugh Treuthat, Mrs. Pauline Kimberling, Donna June Lambert, Bonnie Binford, Kenneth Lindner, Carolyn Smith.

Randy Bowles, Larry Weese, Jerry B. Thornton, Gary Michael Satterfield, Allen Drown, Rebecca McDaniel, James Joy, Peggy Tucker, George R. Long, Arthur Fornari, Frances Whelan, Hazel Hall, Betty Fornari, Pamela Morlock, Diane Desaix, and Mrs. Vera B. Pelsis.

High School Journalists Due March 5-6 For UHSP

More than 400 high school newspaper and yearbook staff members will attend the 30th annual United High School Press and the 12th annual United High School Yearbook Association March 5-6 on campus.

Highlights of the two-day sessions will include a March 6 luncheon, sponsored by Huntington Publishing Co., on the theme, "How Can We Improve the National Image of West Virginia?"; individual critiques for scholastic publications, and a judging contest.

Activities scheduled March 6 include: Yearbook seminars, newspaper makeup and headline writing, newspaper advertising problems, sports writers' panel, general news reporting, news photography, the noon luncheon at the Hotel Prichard, business sessions, a buffet supper, and the Marshall-Bowling Green basketball game.

Prof. W. Page Pitt, chairman of the Journalism Department which sponsors these annual meetings, founded UHSP in 1927. William Francois, assistant professor of journalism, is program director aided by Jack Behrens, assistant professor of journalism, and Mrs. Judy Casto, department assistant.

Journalism students, now employed on the Herald-Dispatch and Advertiser, will help at various seminars and panel discussions. They are: Keith Walters, Huntington junior, and Jerry Reed, St. Albans senior, sports writers, and Brenda Faulkner, Huntington junior, Herald-Advertiser TV editor.

Kay Sage, Bluefield senior and editor of The Parthenon, will welcome delegates March 6.

Other journalism majors and the Fourth Estate, women's journalism honorary, will assist in preparations. Carolyn McDonel, Norton, Va., junior, is president ## of Fourth Estate and managing editor of The Parthenon.

High schools already entered in the judging contest include: Cedar Grove, Wayne, St. Albans, Wellsburg, East Bank, Herbert Hoover, Ravenswood, Mullens, Charleston High, Nitro, Ceredo-Kenova, Nicholas County, Williamson, Buffalo of Putnam, Princeton and Pineville.

Yearbook entries have been received from Big Creen, Van, Cedar Grove, Huntington High, Buffalo of Wayne, East Bank, Nicholas County, Buffalo of Putnam, Ceredo-Kenova, Magnolia at New Martinsville, and Pt. Pleasant.

President Stewart H. Smith will present awards to selected publications on March 6.
