Vol. 65

HUNTINGTON, W. VA. Wednesday, November 3, 1965

No. 20

Judy Pettit Is Marshall Queen

ALL HAIL THE QUEEN! Judy Pettit, Dunbar senior has been elected Miss Marshall for this year in an election that apparently had some very close results. Miss Pettit is presently doing her student teaching at Huntington High School. Miss Marshall is majoring in physical education and speech. She is a member of Women's Recreation Association, Student National Education Association, and the Physical Education Majors Club on campus. Miss Pettit will perform her first official function at 7:30 p.m. today when she and her attendants will be guests of honor at a pep rally on the Intramural field.

Amendment, War Policy Approved

Judy Pettit is Miss Marshall for 1965-66. Miss Pettit along with six attendents will reign over Homecoming festivities this weekend. And there's another first for Marshall. For the first time in history, there will be two junior attendents. Jim Thompson, Homecoming coordinator announced that Jarren Houstén, Gouverner, N. Y., and Marla Tout, Wellsburg, will share the honor of junior attendant. Thompson didn't elaborate on the reason, but it was apparent that the choice was the result of a tie vote.

Sophomore attendant will be Janet Cole, Ravenswood. Freshman attendant to Miss Pettit is Susie Pahl, Parkersburg.

The Williamson Branch has picked Linda Saunders as its representative. Logan has chosen Peggy Marrs for its attendant.

The amendment to the Constitution was overwhelming voted in by the student body. The vote was 1251 for the amendment to 297 against. On the Viet Nam War policy referendum, students voted 1352 in favor of the present policy, 144 against, and 187 undecided.

With the passing of the amendment comes the end to the legality question in the Student Court.

The amendment makes it legal for a justice to serve on the Inter-fraternity. It was illegal under the unrevised article.

queens, plus an attendant from each of the Logan and Williamson Branches will participate in all the 1965 Homecoming festivities which will begin Friday.

Wednesday the Student Union was the scene of much activity with heavy campaigning and voting.

During the campaign period, the candidates were taken to the various sorority and fraternity houses as well as the dormitories and participated in the annual "Meet your candidates pageant" during the Wednesday night mix last week.

A special session of the Senate was then called for Friday to approve the amendment so it could be included on the Homecoming ballot.

The amendment as it appeared on the ballot read as follows:

"Minor judicial power shall be vested in the Freshman Court, Men's Dormitory Council, Women's Dormitory Council, and the judicial boards of the following organizations: Inter-fraternity Council, Pan Hellenic Council, and Independent Student's Association."

Hike Favors Viet Policy

Group Walks 40 Long Miles

It was conceived in the minds of two or three Marshall students, and before it was all over, seven students, a Congressman, and a Medal of Honor winner had joined in a 40 mile march to demonstrate support for the administration's policy in Viet Nam.

The "40 Miles For LBJ" by the students received state and national attention. The seven Marshall students participating in the entire march were: Tom Busbee, Huntington junior; John Astle, Barboursville senior; Ron Thompson, Huntington junior; Warren "Skip" Lutz, Huntington senior; Jim Adkins, Salt Rock senior; Harry Fisher, Beckley junior; and Jim Thornburg, Barboursville senior.

The march itself began at 4 a.m. Saturday at the western city limits of St. Albans. The plan called for walking 40 miles from St. Albans to the Cabell County Court house in Huntington. Estimated time of arrival was to be 6 p.m. Saturday.

According to the marchers, the first half of the march was the fastest. The group walked in cadence on U. S. Route 60, carrying a bag containing the petition signed by Marshall students that support the present policy in Viet Nam.

By 9 a.m. Saturday, the troop had reached Milton, over half-way to Huntington. The group stopped in Milton for breakfast and nearly two hours of rest before continuing.

One waitress in a restaurant was amazed by the task the men had undertaken. "You mean you're doing this because you want to?" she said.

Meanwhile, Dale Lowther, St. Marys senior, was coordinating the march in Huntington on Saturday morning. Lowther contacted Fourth District Congressman Ken Hechler about 11 a.m. Saturday. It was then that Hechler decided to march with the troop for a time.

Hechler and Lowther joined the group about 1 p.m., about 13 miles from their destination. And, while members of the press drove his car, Hechler marched with the group.

According to Thompson, this seemed to put new life in the marchers who were beginning to feel the effects of the march. Lutz had been "blessed" with a blister on his heel, the size of a silver dollar. Other marchers had various aches and pains attribut-

THESE MU STUDENTS synchronize their watches and prepare to leave St. Albans on a 40-mile march to Huntington's courthouse last Saturday. The seven students, all either veterans or reservists, carried with them a petition signed by over 1500 Marshall students supporting the policy of the U. S. in Viet Nam. Left to right are: John Astle, Barboursville senior; Tom Busbee, Huntington senior; Ron Thompson, Hurricane junior; Jim Adkins, Salt Rock junior; Skip Lutz, Huntington senior; Harry Fisher, Beckley junior; and Jim Thornburg, Barboursville senior.

AFTER 14 HOURS of walking, the "vets" are shown at the city limits of Huntington, presenting the petition to Herschel "Woody" Williams, a marine veteran and Congressional Medal of Honor winner (right). Williams then presented the petition to Congressman Ken Hechler (holding sign), who will present it to President Johnson.

The pace of the march slowed in the late afternoon. The hikers stopped frequently as they neared the city limits of Huntington. Then, about 10 miles from their destination, a medal of honor winner joined their march.

Hershel W. "Woody" Williams, who won a medal of honor for heroic action on Iwo Jima in 1945, met the group at the intersection of State Route 10 and U. S. 60 to march with them to the courthouse.

Earlier in the day, the marchers had walked in double time. Now as the march was reaching its finish, there continued to be more frequent stops.

As the group neared town, David Frost, Huntington junior, provided them with two signs which read "Vets For Viet Policy."

It was after the group got the signs that one of the most amusing things on the whole trip occurred. As the group passed a shop near Huntington, a teenager came running from the premises. The marchers were on the opposite side of the road from the shop. The youngster could not read the signs, but evidently thought the group was about to begin a picket of his parents' shop.

"Well, I guess that's the end of the shop," he said, flinging his hands in disgust. It was then explained to him that the group was not picketing the shop but was rather marching from St. Albans to Huntington. With a very relieved expression, the young boy said, "Well, good luck."

The marchers had their trip planned perfectly. The group reached the courthouse just as the clock chimed six times.

After a brief ceremony, the group went their separate ways to reflect, to sleep, and to cure tired and blistered feet.

Senate Defeats Viet Resolution

The whole Viet Nam issue spilled over into the senate last Wednesday as Freshman Senator Gregg Terry offered a resolution to support the administration policy and "challenge as unwise the cause charted by such organizations as Students For A Democratic Society."

The two-pronged resolution was defeated by the body in a roll call vote. It was the general agreement of the senate that the long resolution was too ambiguous. Many of the senators expressed the hope that Terry would rewrite the resolution and submit it at the meeting tonight.

Debate on the resolution began at 7:30 and lasted for more than an hour. In addition to speeches by the senators, two representatives of SDS joined in to defend the organization's stand on the matter.

Richard Diehl, Huntington senior, and Danie Stewart a former student and senator, asked for the defeat of the resolution on the grounds that the resolution was written without knowledge of the full story in Viet Nam.

Diehl told the senate, "Ask yourself, 'Do I have enough information to make a decision on the war?'" He continued by saying that, "Because it's a war, it doesn't make it right, and if we think that way, there's something wrong with our society."

Commenting upon the SDS organization of which he is a member, Diehl said that it is the "new left and not just a group of four-year beatniks."

"We can't talk about the war in Viet Nam," Diehl said, "because we don't know anything about it."

Senator Terry was next to speak for his resolution. Terry called Diehl's position "a martyred position." He said that SDS-sponsored protests "undermine the morale of our troops in Viet Nam." He said that "if the SDS is an example of the new left, I hope it stays in left field."

Senator Bill Wooten was next to speak on the matter. He claimed that the resolution was too broad and tended to condemn too many things. "If we pass it," Wooten said, "we are hypocrites."

Senator Oakie Doak, new freshman senator, then spoke in support of the resolution. "Why doesn't the senate make a positive decision?"

Senior Senator Mark Howells told the senate that "we're not here to judge. No matter how wrong somebody is, they have the right to speak." Howells said that the SDS should not be condemned for saying what it believes. One statement in Terry's resolution claimed that SDS is weakening the moral fiber of students. To this, Howells replied, "College students have the mental capacity to weigh the issues."

calling Terry's measure "couched in glorious terms of emotionalism. It appeals to the authoritarianism that people mistake for Americanism."

After more debate a roll call vote was taken with more than half the senate voting against the resolution. It was then that Senator Howells asked the Election Committee to place a referendum on Monday's ballot calling for student opinion on the matter.

According to leaders in the senate, there may be a shorter resolution before the senate tonight dealing with the Viet Nam policy.

Dr. Toole Dies; At MU 38 Years

Dr. Horace Gresham Toole, former professor and chairman of the University history department, died last Wednesday in a Huntington hospital. The body was cremated following funeral services Saturday at the Steele Funeral Home in Huntington.

Peter Nero Slated For Artist Series

By SHERRY ALLEN
Staff Reporter

The first student Artist Series of the season opens Nov. 16 at the Keith-Albee Theatre with a concert by Peter Nero, world famous pianist.

Nero has a classical background with a natural affinity for "pop" and jazz, which gives him a following from all fields.

He feels that there are an infinite number of ways to play a song. For example, if the structure of a number lends itself to Mozart, he plays it with that feeling, giving a current tune a new sound.

This year he will appear at over 100 colleges and universities in addition to 100 more scheduled shows. Recently, he has appeared on a Jonathan Winters spectacular, the Perry Como Show, and Hullabaloo.

It has been said that "when Nero the emperor played, only Rome burned; but when Nero the pianist plays the audiences of the world are set afire."

He has been playing since the age of four, when he began picking out melodies on a xylophone. By the time he was 14, he was the recipient of numerous awards and had made symphony hall appearances in addition to being the possessor of a scholarship to the Juilliard School of Music.

His distinctive style — neither jazz, pop, nor classical, but instead, pure Nero — has spread his fame throughout the world, and he has given concerts in 13 foreign countries.

He recently made his debut as both an actor and composer of film scores in MGM's "Sunday in New York."

Tickets for the performance at 8:30 p.m. Nov. 16 are available to all full-time students. They will be distributed to students presenting activity cards in the rear hall of Old Main tomorrow and Friday, 8 a.m.-3 p.m.

TO AWARD SCHOLARSHIP

D-Rho D-Theta, honorary engineering fraternity, will award a scholarship second semester for engineering students who have completed one full semester with a 2.0 average or better. Applications may be obtained in the office of Samuel T. Stinson, associate professor of engineering, and must be completed and returned to his office in the Main Annex by Nov. 12.

What's A Bombo? See It Tomorrow

The Convocation will return to the world of music tomorrow when the "Folkloristas de Ramon" present a show of song and rhythm of the folk music of Latin America.

The "Folkloristas de Ramon," Raul and Maria de Ramon accompany themselves on an extensive collection of Latin American instruments.

Dorms' Theme Is TV Commercials

Under the theme "Advertising Marshall," the women's dorms have chosen their themes.

West Hall and Prichard Hall took their themes from television commercials. West Hall paraphrased the commercial slogan, "Come Alive, You're in the Pepsi Generation." It will read, "Come Alive, You're in the Marshall Generation." Paraphrasing "It's Easy When You Know Your Score," Prichard Halls sign will read, "Alums and Students Agree: It's Easy When You Know Your Score."

No sign can be over eight feet in height and the depth cannot exceed one foot. All signs must be up for viewing by 5 p.m. Friday.

There is the "charango," an Andean ukelele made from an armadillo's shell and strummed with fluttering fingers; the "guitarrron," a 25-stringed Chilean guitar, a tiple, a banduria, and bombo, among others.

This is their first North American tour. It opened at Dartmouth College and will cover much of the east coast and midwest in the U. S.

Born near Santa Cruz, the heart-land of Latin American music, the couple have always been around people who have had a flair for a good tune. They themselves do not change the old songs when they sing them.

A professor at Brooklyn College said, "When artists of this calibre approach the gathering of old instruments, songs and legend with the verve of these two, their efforts are invaluable. Their efforts directed to making honest and pure presentations of these songs are enhanced by their charming artistry."

The program begins at 11 a.m. tomorrow in Old Main Auditorium. All students are invited to attend.

TO INITIATE

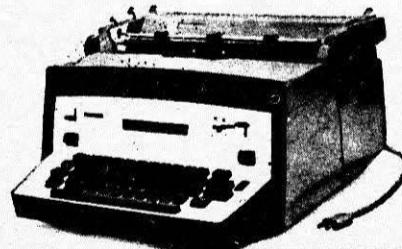

Alpha Lambda Delta, freshmen women's scholastic honorary, will initiate pledges tomorrow at 4 p.m. at the Honors House. Eighteen sophomores and one junior will be initiated. Dr. Louise Price Hoy, assistant professor of classical languages, will be initiated as an honorary member.

ALEX SANSOSTI, MU's Senior Quarterback

Play Of Sansosti, Jackson Bright Spots In MU Loss

By HARRY FISHER
Sports Editor

The performance of quarterback Alex Sansosti and the return to form of tailback Mickey Jackson were among the bright spots in Marshall's heartbreaking 17-14 loss to Western Michigan last Saturday.

Sansosti passed 16 times and completed eight for 74 yards. The new Herd quarterback came through on key third down plays and directed the team well in leading Marshall to two second half touchdowns.

Jackson, who did not start the game, gained 69 yards in 17 carries and scored both Marshall touchdowns. The two scores hiked his point total to 72 for the year and put him back in the race for national scoring honors.

CLUB TO MEET

The Philosophy Club will meet tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. in the Honors House. The meeting will concern the war in Viet Nam. All students and faculty members are invited to attend the meeting.

In losing Marshall kept pace with West Virginia University, Texas and Duke who have now lost three in a row after winning their first four. West Virginia was beaten by Kentucky 28-8, Texas lost to SMU 31-14 and Georgia Tech defeated Duke 35-23.

After a first half in which the wind played a big part in keeping Marshall pinned deep in their own territory, the Herd offense came to life in the third period. Marshall took over on the Bronco 48 and drove for the score in 12 plays with Jackson going over from 10 yards out.

The Herd got the ball back a moment later when linebacker Tom Good caused a Bronco fumble which tackle Dave Arritt recovered on the Western 37. Marshall drove to the eight but was held on downs.

Marshall was back pounding on the door at the end of the third period and went on to score on a 43 yard drive that ended with Jackson smashing over from the one.

With time running out Western got the ball after a Herd punt. Then a series of crippling penalties gave Dale Livingston, the Bronco's great kicker a chance for his third field goal of the day. His kick gave Western its second straight win by the margin of a field goal.

"The boys played well enough to win," said Marshall head coach Charlie Snyder after the game. "I thought that Alex (Sansosti) did a real fine job out there," he added.

Fullback Andy Socha, Marshall's Mr. Consistent, took over the team rushing lead from Jackson by gaining 86 yards in 22 carries.

Elsewhere in the Mid-American Conference Miami took over the league lead with a 23-7 trouncing of Bowling Green, defending champions and previously unbeaten in conference play.

Kent State was surprised for the second week in a row this time by Toledo 7-3, while Ohio University lost its seventh game in a row at the hands of Dayton.

Harriers Grab Second Victory

Marshall's cross country team won its second meet of the year over West Virginia State Saturday.

State's Earl Brown finished first, but Herd runners finished second, third, fifth, seventh and ninth to give Marshall a 26-29 win. The Marshall harriers finished in the following order: Gary Prater, second; Earl Jackson, third; Tom Walker, fifth; Jim Lowe, seventh and Steve Mays, ninth.

Next week the Marshall cross country team will end the season when they journey to Kalamazoo, Mich. to compete in the Mid-American Conference meet. The course there will be six miles instead of the regular four.

Intramural Rule Undergoes Change

The Intramural Board has voted a change in intramural touch football rules.

The rule, which is effective immediately, states that dorm teams can recruit from both independents and dorms and that fraternities can only draw from fraternity members.

This rule was enacted to eliminate confusion as to who is eligible for the various organization teams.

Dr. Robert Dollgener, director of intramurals and professor of Physical Education, has announced the events and dates for the upcoming intramural swimming competition.

The events that make up intramural swimming are: 25-yard free style; 50-yard free style; 50-yard backstroke; 50-yard breaststroke; 50-yard butterfly; individual medley; and a team medley. Each person can enter two events.

TICKETS ON SALE

Tickets will be on sale for $1 each tomorrow and Friday in the rear hall of Old Main for the community Artist Series featuring the Czech Philharmonic. The orchestra will present a concert at the Keith-Albee Theatre next Monday 8:30 p.m.
