Plans For Greek Week Are Focused On More Than Just Social Aspect

By CATHY IMBROGNO
Teacher's College Journalist

Exchange dinners, fireside chats, and Greek Olympics mark some of the exciting, different events of this year's Greek Week, announced by the Greek Week Commission for April 2-5.

The week of Greek emphasis has too often concentrated upon purely the social aspects, according to Nancy Hodges and Carl Bragg, co-commissioners of the planning group. For this reason, activities of a more serious nature, which will portray the Greek system have been planned for the week.

Festivities will commence on Thursday, April 2, with the exchange dinners. Each serving fraternity or sorority house will host nine members of the other serving houses, plus five guests from those houses which do not serve dinner. Sororities will serve dinner at 5 p.m.—fraternities, at 5:15 p.m.

The theme of the Greek Week games, this year, will take on the flavor of the summer olympics.

Ninety men — 10 from each fraternity — will highlight the opening of the games with the olympic marathon. Mount Olympus, in this case, however, from which the ceremonial torch will be run, will be the state capitol in Charleston, where Governor W. W. Barron will perform the lighting ceremonies. When the marathon runner arrives at the sight of the Greek olympic games he will light the "eternal flame" at the west end of the intramural field.

The torch-bearing marathon from Charleston to Huntington will be organized in much the same fashion as the basketball relay run in the opposite direction by Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity last winter and it is hoped that this marathon will receive the same publicity. It is known that regional papers and the Associated Press will cover the event.

Entry fee in the Olympics will be $5 per organization and 25 cents for each entrant. The proceeds will go to the Huntington State Mental Hospital. The number of entrants in the events will be limited to 25 for fraternities and 15 for sororities.

Festivities will begin promptly at 2 p. m. April 4 with a parade around the intramural field, led by the band and in which each organization will be represented with their national flag.

Since the games will take place when the political hopefuls are in the heat of their campaign for the West Virginia Primary, Senator Barry Goldwater and Governor Nelson Rockefeller have been invited to attend and act as honorary judges of the contest.

Events in the Greek Week Olympics will be divided between the girls and the boys. Events for the girls will include: a tricycle race, the catching of a greased pig, 50 yard dash, softball throw, and a tug of war.

Events for the boys are: bicycle race, drum race, skid race, wheelbarrow race, 100 yard dash, football throw, and a tug of war.

Points for both the girls and boys will be five for first place, three for second, and one for third place in each event.

Trophies will be awarded to the winning fraternity and sorority.

On Sunday, the participating organizations will go in a body to six city churches, and, in addition, all Catholic students will organize and attend St. Joseph's Catholic church in a body.

A mass Greek horde will invade the Police Farm Sunday afternoon for their annual picnic. Soft drinks and potato chips will be provided, and co-ed intramural games will spotlight the activities.

An added attraction of a poster party for all Greek pledge classes will be held March 22, at 2:30 p.m., at the KA and Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity houses. With emphasis on all-Greek tournament, sociality, and seriousness, this year's Greek Week promises to be the best ever!

JOURNALISTS VISIT

Staff members of the West Virginia State College student newspaper, Yellow Jacket, are visiting the Marshall Journalism Department today.

The group will meet the editors of the Parthenon and study the management of the paper.

Nelson Accepts Top Fellowship

Bruce Nelson, Huntington graduate student who was awarded a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship last week, has gained a two-year National Science Foundation Fellowship valued at $13,000.

One of the stipulations of a Woodrow Wilson award is that a student who wins an NSF fellowship must turn down the Woodrow Wilson prize. Nelson has already done this.

A mathematics major, he plans to enroll at the University of Colorado next fall to work toward his master's degree. Under the NSF Fellowship, he is given living allowances and other financial help which will amount to about $8,000 during the two-year life of the grant. The University of Colorado will receive an additional $5,000 during this period.

The NSF Fellowship is renewable upon application if academic achievement warrants this action.

The Woodrow Wilson award to Nelson marked the third consecutive year that Marshall students have been so honored. He is the seventh Marshall student to win this fellowship in the past eight years.

Deadline Set For Noon Thursday, March 26th

Students who wish to run for a Student Government position in the upcoming general election on April 8 may begin filing as candidates at 8 a.m. Monday in the Student Government Office in the west end of the Student Union.

The last date which a prospective candidate may file is noon next Thursday.

Students who file will be required to pay a filing fee—the amount of which will be determined by whatever Student Government position they are going to run for.

For instance, the filing fee of a presidential hopeful will be $5, and those students who file for student body vice president, class president or for student senator are to pay $4, $3 and $2, respectively.

Election day this year will, as usual, fall on a Wednesday. The polling place will be the same—downstairs in the Student Union.

Voting machines are expected to be used again, even though Student Body President Kenny Gainer, Charleston senior, expressed some concern at a senate session not too long ago on whether or not the machines will be available for the campus with the busy schedule of state primaries coming up.

But whether the campus election will be by ballot or by machine, the polls are expected to be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on April 8.

However, a lot will happen before then.

For instance, on April 1, all those who have filed during the four filing days next week are required to attend a parliamentary lecture in the Student Government Office.

There will be another lecture on April 2, but the first one will be the only one requiring mandatory attendance.

The time of both of these lectures is 4 p.m., and their purpose is an explanation of the rules and regulations concerning the election, plus the process of parliamentary procedure and the rules of the senate.

Every person who wishes to run for office must not be on social or academic probation, and he, or she, must be a full-time student. He must also have an overall academic average of at least 2.0.

Each candidate is required to submit to the Student Government Office an account of his campaign expenses with receipts and estimate of donations by 4 p.m. on election day. Failure to submit this form will constitute immediate disqualification.

A candidate for senator or for class president will not be permitted to spend more than $25 for his campaign—including donations.

No campaigning, electioneering, posters or signs will be allowed within 30 feet of the Student Union. Also, no tape recorders, phonographs, radios or sound amplification devices of any kind are permitted on campus on election day, that is, if these devices are for the purpose of campaigning.

No defacing of state property, such as pasting, marking with paint or chalk, or tacking or nailing of campaign materials on trees or buildings will be allowed.

The posting of campaign material will not be permitted inside of campus buildings except the dormitories.

If a candidate is found guilty

Greek Caucus Picks Carroll

Mike Carroll, Nitro junior senator, was chosen as the Greek candidate for vice president of the student body to run in the April 8 general election.

Carroll was picked at a Greek political caucus held Tuesday evening at the Alpha Xi Delta sorority house.

In a caucus last week, Francis Fabi, Monaca, Pa., junior senator, was chosen by the Greeks to be their student body presidential candidate.

Carroll was picked over one other vice presidential candidate contender, Art Fornari, Wellsburg junior.

Another vice presidential nominee, Hobert Raikes, Logan junior senator, officially dropped out of contention.

Cottrill was defeated by Fabi in the Greek caucus last week as the Greek nominee for student body president.

of property destruction he will be summoned before the Student Court for punishment.

Each candidate will be held responsible for the complete disposal of all campaign materials bearing his name by 8 a.m. on the day following the election.

Also, students will not be allowed to loiter or campaign in or about the polls. However, if the weather is bad on April 8, each candidate will be permitted inside the Student Union for not more than one hour for campaigning purposes.

After the parliamentary lectures, those students who are running for a Student Government post for the first time, and who have not as yet taken the Student Government examination, must then do so.

A passing grade of 70 per cent will be required before a student can continue in the race. All those persons who have previously been a member of the senate will be exempt from these lectures—and from the test.

Posters will be limited to eight for each candidate, with a maximum size of 10 feet by five feet. However, the presidential and the vice presidential candidates will be limited to 16 signs each.

A poster which has the first name of a candidate on one sign and the last name on another poster will be counted as two separate posters. Last October, it was the size of a certain sign that caused quite a ruckus. Hobby Spaulding of Huntington, who was elected to the presidency of the freshman class in this election, placed two signs of the maximum size side by side, but the two read as one sign. Thus, the controversy. Was this

Men's Dormitory Gains Gal Friday

The office in the New Men's Residence Hall has been brightened up by the addition of a student assistant.

She is Miss Tootie Taylor, Barboursville junior. Miss Taylor is a transfer student from West Virginia University and has been hired to perform secretarial duties in the dorm office.

This is a 'first' for the men's dorm, and, if successful, it will become a permanent arrangement. According to Mr. Robert Puthoff, director of the New Men's Residence Hall, "the amount of secretarial work to be done in the office is very great at times, and the presence of a capable secretary has remedied this problem."

Teacher Accreditation Team Visits On Campus

NCATE Team Wraps Up Study; Board's Final Report Due August 1

By PATRICIA MORRISON
Teacher's College Journalist

A committee of nine men from the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education finished a study of Marshall on Wednesday. The committee, which arrived on Sunday, started their study with a tour of the campus. They also attended a dinner held for them in the main dining hall on Sunday.

Members of the committee are Rr. Ralph W. Cherry, Chairman, University of Virginia; Dr. Harris L. Dante, Kent State University; Dr. Homer Pittard, Middle Tennessee State College; Dr. Gene Santavicca, Miami University; Dr. Tom K. Savage, Austin Peay State College; Mr. Walter K. Snyder, Assistant Superintendent of Kanawha County Schools; Dr. Otto H. Spilker, Western Carolina College; Dr. William H. Tarwater, University of Virginia; Mr. Clarence M. Young, Supervisor, Teacher Preparation Study, State Department of Education.

While on campus, the committee was split into groups of two or individually interviewed students, observed in classes, and talked with faculty members in charge of special programs. The graduate school program and physical facilities were also reviewed by the committee.

The report of this committee will be submitted to a nineteen member board in Washington, D. C. for final decision. The decision of this board, which will be made known about August 1, will be that of either full accreditation, provisional accreditation, or referring of action until the following year. During that year Marshall would be given the opportunity to correct the faults found by the board.

4-Days Set Next Week For Candidates To File

At any rate, all campaign material will most likely not be allowed to go up on campus until 2 p.m. April 5, the Sunday before election. That has been the practice in recent years.

For example, not only will the students be picking their student body president, vice president and student senators, but they will also vote either yea or nay on the incorporation of the Civil Service System in the Executive Branch of the Student Government, plus an amendment which, if passed, would raise the academic requirements of future presidents and vice presidents of the student body.

And the student body can, if it wishes, kill both of these issues.

Regarding the Civil Service System proposal, it is designed to create more participation in student government work.

Under this system, a new committee, the Civil Service Committee, will be established and placed under the jurisdiction of the Student Government Affairs Commission.

All Student Government appointments will be on a merit basis under this new system, and each member of the campus government will be regularly evaluated by his immediate superior. These evaluations—or "grades"—will be kept in a secret file which will be in the possession of the coordinator of the Civil Service Committee.

Under this new system, too, the titles of the student body president's five cabinet secretaries will be changed to commissioners, and all of the various and numerous working bureaucratic bodies under them will be known as committees, such as the Civil Service Committee.

These committees will be revamped so that no one commissioner will be overloaded. This action also insures the theory that the appropriate committees will be under their appropriate commissioners.

The Parliamentary Affairs Committee has completed its monumental task of revamping the Student Government Manual in an effort to eliminate ambiguity and confusion. This action goes hand-in-hand with the initiation of the Civil Service System.

The other item which will be on the slate in the upcoming election, besides the Civil Service System and the list of the candidates, will be an amendment which, if passed by the student voters, will make it mandatory that all future candidates for the presidency and the vice presidency of the student body have an academic average of at least 2.5.

This particular amendment should seem familiar to campus voters since they voted upon it—and passed it—in the election of the Homecoming queens last Nov. 4.

But a lot has happened to it since then.

First of all, it was ruled null and void by the Student Court after charges were brought by Butch Jones, Huntington senior, who claimed election irregularities in the polling place.

In the court proceedings, Tom Young, St. Marys junior, the student prosecutor, immediately pleaded guilty to the charges. Hence, the court's nullification of it.

If this amendment passes it will not become effective until the general election next year, since it only affects those people who will be seeking the offices of student body president or vice president.

3 MU Debaters Set For Contest

Three Marshall debaters will participate in the Province of the Lakes Debate Tournament, Monday and Tuesday, at Grove City College, Grove City, Pa.

John Cross, Pt. Pleasant junior; Danie Stewart, Salt Rock sophomore, and Randal Jarrell, Pt. Pleasant freshman, will take part in the contest. Cross will speak in the extemporaneous classification; Stewart will speak in the oratory class, and Jarrell will speak in the after-dinner class. Approximately 25 schools will participate.

Most MU Students In Splendid Health

The health of the average Marshall student is excellent, according to Dr. T. Craig McKee, university physician.

Dr. McKee estimates that he examines about 50 students per day but added that their ailments are generally of minor nature.

The most common illness is simply the common cold, Dr. McKee said. He attributed the rise in the number of cold patients to a decline in the use of flu shots, which he said, "will generally aid in lessening the effects of colds."

He also cleared up a common misapprehension on the part of some students. "Any patient that we can't handle here in the clinic is taken to the Cabell Huntington Hospital for more adequate treatment," he said.

The clinic is open to all Marshall students and to students at the Marshall Lab School, who also pay a medical fee. Faculty members do not have use of these medical facilities.

Coed's Summers Sound Like Tale In Storybook

A horseback riding, spelunking coed from South Charleston prowls caves during her spare time from classes in the winter and instructs riding during the summer months.

Nancy Bob Wright is a senior majoring in English and Biology. Upon graduation Nancy Bob hopes to teach in Wayne County.

Nancy says that she has a natural love of the outdoors and has been interested in horses since she was eight years old.

During the summer of 1961 she worked in the Sierra Nevada Mountains. While there, she tumbled down a bank and rolled over a rattlesnake. The snake struck at her boot just before Nancy Bob killed it with a rock. This summer she bought and trained a two and a half year old colt which is now being used in California to hunt mountain lions.

Last summer she was in charge of the riding program for 300 girls on a ranch in the San Bernadino Mountains. She was on a horse eight hours a day.

The San Bernadino Mountains are close to Death Valley Desert and by looking across the mountains, Nancy Bob could see heat lightning in the desert. While there she killed one of about 14 rattlesnakes which were killed in this area during the summer. During a freak thunderstorm, she was standing four feet away from a wrangler who was hit by lightning. He later recovered from the resulting burns and shock.

Activities of the camp at which she taught included overnights and gymkhanos, a game played on horseback. On overnights a group of twelve people travel about ten miles over rugged trails. Some of these trails drop off on one side about 100 feet and are about three feet wide.

High in the San Bernadino Mountains the riders can literally ride through the clouds because of the high elevation.

The attire of a rider consists of a pair of cowboy boots, a riding jacket, and a pair of levis.

Nancy is a member of the National Speleological Society. Her goals are to go into the horse business, probably in Colorado, and to go mountain climbing in the Alps.

English Program Slated By Institute

Letters are now being sent out to all English teachers in public and parochial schools in the six counties surrounding Marshall to announce the English Institute, according to A. Mervin Tyson, chairman of the English Department. Dr. Tyson said that the public is also invited.

Meetings of the institute will be held in the Science Hall Auditorium from 7:30-9:00 p.m. on April 2, 9, 16, and 30. During the meetings there will be an exhibit of books and teaching aids, lectures on the plays of Shakespeare, and a social hour afterwards.

Speakers for the institute will be: Richard Corvin, Department of English, West Virginia State College; Marvin O. Mitchell, professor of English, Marshall; Stephen J. Laut, S. J., chairman of the English Department, Wheeling College; Curtis Baxter, associate professor of English, Marshall; Howard Barnett, chairman of the English Department, Morris Harvey College; Jack R. Brown, professor of English, Marshall; Ronald G. Rollins, associate professor of English, Marshall, and Stephen Spender, British poet. There will be two speakers at each meeting.

Summer Sociology Course Cancelled

The Sociology Department has announced a change in its summer schedule for the 1964 summer term. Dr. James T. Richardson, professor of sociology and head of the Sociology Department, has said that the summer counseling workshop, usually held for three weeks in the summer term, will not be held this year.

For the past few years, this course has been open to teachers and anyone else who needs to make up hours in this department. Visitors from the different fields of counselling came in to talk to the group. These visitors included doctors, ministers, industrial counsellors, F.B.I. agents, rehabilitation representatives, and housewives. The course has been dropped for this term, but it may be reinstated in the curriculum in later terms under a different name.

Guerillas, Guard Train Together

Counter-Guerilla Platoon of the ROTC joined Company A of the 16th Special Forces (Airborne), West Virginia National Guard, on a training mission in the area recently.

The Marshall group also helped gather information for S-2 (Intelligence) use in future operations.

The platoon members were divided into three groups. Each team surveyed probable military targets in the area of Barboursville and Martha, W. Va.

FIELD TRIP SET

The annual Engineering Society field trip will be held next Monday. Twenty students will tour such plants as Dayton Rubber, Delco Moraine, Frigidaire, and National Cash Register Co. Students will be accompanied by Prof. Stanley Eaton and Instructor George Mendenhall. The society makes a trip every year to some industrial city within 200 miles. It is a requirement for graduation for all engineering majors and is made at their own expense.

ROTC RIFLE TEAM

ROTC Rifle Team will go to Morgantown tomorrow to participate in the National Rifle Association Sectional Championship Tournament.

Chevrolet will go to any length to make you happy

Things have changed a lot since a Chevy was only a Chevy. Especially your ideas of what you want a Chevy to be.

So now you have the Jet-smooth Chevrolet—17½ feet of pure luxury, bumper to bumper. The size makes it a luxury car. But not the price.

Or you can choose the thrifty Chevy II, a 15¼-foot family car with all kinds of passenger and luggage space.

This year, your choice might be the new 16-foot-plus Chevelle, sized to fit nicely between Chevrolet and Chevy II (and between parking meters, with five whole feet left over).

Then, too, there's the sporty 15-foot Corvair, so right for so many people (you girls, in particular) that we've never touched an inch of it. And finally, Corvette—still 14½ feet and still too much for any true sports-car lover to say no to.

The long and short of it is, you don't have to go to any length to find exactly the kind of car you want. Just see the five different lines of cars at your Chevrolet dealer's.

TWL Members To Fly By Jet

Due to further negotiations the TWL group will now travel to Europe via jet.

Dr. Walter H. Perl, project director, said that arrangements had been made with Lufthansa to obtain a Boeing 720 jet for the TWL project.

The rate will now be a flat $300 for the roundtrip from New York to Frankfurt and return.

New departure and return dates have also been obtained. Departure will be from New York June 2 from Kennedy Airport in the late afternoon and arrival in Frankfurt will be 6 hours later. The return trip will leave Frankfurt August 30 and arrive at Kennedy Airport the same day.

The new dates will make it possible for all graduating seniors to have 48 hours to get to New York and the return will have all back in time for fall commitments.

All participants are urged to complete their vaccinations, secure their passports and complete their job applications.

Weekly orientation sessions will be under the direction of Dr. Perl and will be held each Wednesday from 8-9 p.m. in the Science Hall Auditorium. Parents and friends of the members are invited to visit these meetings.

In May, special meetings will be held for the parents of the travelers in connection with the dean of men and dean of women. Congressman Ken Hechler will address this special meeting.

QUESTION: The Greek caucus system was changed this year. The Parthenon asked this question of four members of Greek organizations: "Do you think the IFC and the Panhellenic did a good job handling the caucus?"

Ted Wiley, Lewisburg senior:

"Yes. They worked long and hard to set up rules. Parliamentary procedure was enforced from what I understand."

Nancy Harmon, Huntington sophomore:

"I felt that since it was sponsored by Greeks it should come under their jurisdiction. The caucus provided fair representation for the Greeks."

Jim Madison, Huntington freshman:

"I think they did a fair job although I'm not entirely in favor of a caucus. I would rather see a ballot box."

New Carpet Adds To Dorm Activity

The new carpet on the first and second floors of Prichard Hall seems to have added more to the dormitory than just its beauty. It seems to cause quite a bit of amusement as well as peace and quiet.

The girls themselves seem to be "shocked" with the new carpet, as they will drag their feet over it and build up the electricity in their bodies and then touch a door knob or someone passing by.

Also, the carpet has added a 'homely' touch to the dormitory, as the girls like to go out in the hall to stretch their legs while studying.

Along with studying in the halls, the girls like to do exercises also, as everyone knows how physical fitness is stressed in America.

So it seems that all sorts of activities and contests take place on first and second floors due to the new carpet. Wonder when the third and fourth floors will be so fortunate?

The Sports Corner

Tomorrow the track team heads to Granville, Ohio, to participate in the Walter Livingston Relays at Denison College. With the beginning of the thinclad sport, a few oddities come to mind that occurred in last year's meet and in some of the meets that followed.

At Denison, the participants in the 440-yard relay had a few moments of jubilation when it was believed, by them, that they had set a new record for the event. The runner that was believed to be the last one for the Big Green came across the finish line after two laps and his teammates thought a new mark had been set. Unfortunately, this particular relay was a three-lap race and the last lap had to be made up. It was a happy, even though brief moment.

Some of the participants were disqualified in one race for elbowing their opponents while going around a turn. On another occasion, one Big Green runner was a top threat in the 100-yard dash but he was disqualified because he jumped the gun too many times.

Against West Virginia State, on MU's course, one of the helpers that set up the hurdles placed two hurdles together in one lane. It can be imagined how confused the runner was when he came upon the double obstacle, but he finished the race and did not register any strenuous complaint.

Against the same squad, the Big Green was out to prove that it was better than the Yellow Jackets had given them credit for. In the mile race, Chappy Walker had been taunted by his opponent even before the meet took place. The State miler had said that he would win hands down. What happened? Walker won going away. In the 100-yard dash, Jack Mahone had been told by the state sprinters that they would let him have third place. Apparently what they meant was that they would let him have two first place ribbons because Mahone proceeded to win the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Against Toledo, a record was believed to have been set in the 220-yard dash by a Big Green runner only to find out that the 220 track was 10 yards short.

And then there's the classic example of the discus thrower. The man hurling the sphere started his wind-up while the crowd stood watching anxiously. But instead of throwing the discus into the specified zone, he threw it directly into the crowd. Instead of watching a possible good throw the spectators had to run for their lives.

Getting back to the Livingston Relays, this meet will be a warm-up for the MU thinclads and, according to Coach Charlie Kautz, it will be the fourth or fifth meet for some of the other teams.

Some of these other teams have had very impressive records in the past and they are not expected to be any exception this season. Some of the other teams that are expected to enter are: University of Michigan, Southern Illinois, Ohio State, Cincinnati, along with the six other Mid-American Conference schools.

Since Coach Kautz will only be taking eight participants along on this trip, it will hardly be a test of what he has to look forward to this season. Those making the trip are Bob Bloom, Jack Mahone, Art Miller, Everett Vance, George Hicks, Richard Turner, Jim Odum and John Bentley.

"Some of the top competitors in the country will be there," Kautz said.

"We haven't been able to time the boys yet. Whenever we try it it either rains or gets cold and we have to postpone it," he remarked.

The big factor that could hinder the team's overall chances this season is that the team doesn't have enough depth in the individual areas.

"If we had the boys we had when I started," Coach Kautz said, "we would have a good strong track team. We just haven't been able to hang on to them. Bloom should come through for us in the broad jump and then he will join Miller in the hurdles. They should do O. K. there. Mahone's the only one that can really get down and dig out in the dashes and this is another area where we are hurting."

The coach added:
"Bentley is back in the pole vault event and we don't expect anyone to push him again this year. What he needs most is good competition."
Bentley still holds the state high school record of 11 feet, 6 1/2 inches.

On paper it looks like the track team could have a good season, but like the coach pointed out, it could go the other way depending on whether or not the various participants meet expectations.

All in all, the various factors mentioned lead to Kautz's statement on the team's chances this season:

"No predictions."

Tincher, Lambert Expected To Aid Problems On MU Baseball Squad

By RICHARD EDWARDS
Sports Writer

Larry Tincher and Bob Lambert are two returning pitchers from last season's MU baseball team that won eight and lost 14 games.

Tincher is considered the team's No. 1 starter, according to baseball coach Alvis Brown.

"Lambert will also be counted on to carry a great deal of the pitching load, although he will have to overcome a control problem that hampered his effectiveness last year," Brown said.

Tincher, an all-stater in 1961 from East Bank, had a 2-3 won-lost record last season, with an earned-run-average of 4.63 per game.

Lambert, also an all-stater in 1961 at Logan, is a left hander that saw limited action last season. Bob appeared in seven games — pitching 19 2/3 innings — with an earned-run-average of 9.81 per game; his won-lost record was 1-2. Most of Bob's pitching was done in relief.

Tincher, a 6'-1", 196 pound, right hander was the best sophomore hurler on the squad last season. The most noteworthy performance that Larry had last year was his 3-0 shutout against Morris Harvey — it was the team's only shutout victory.

He has been asked to come to several professional baseball try-out camps since his high school days, among the teams interested in Larry are: the Detroit Tigers, the Pittsburgh Pirates, and the San Francisco Giants.

Lambert has been scouted by these professional baseball teams: the Washington Senators, the Detroit Tigers, and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Both boys are considered control pitchers, by Brown, with Tincher possessing a real good fast ball.

Lambert is a junior, majoring in Physical Education and Speech, in Teacher's College.

Tincher is also a junior, in Teacher's College, majoring in Physical Education and Social Studies.

Both pitchers consider "Marshall a real fine school with a good scholastic rating," according to Lambert. Tincher's remark concerning MU was the same as Bob's.

Concerning this year's team Tincher remarked, "We have a lot of potential, but we need more outside practice before any predictions can be made."

Lambert said, when asked about the team, "We should have a real good team this season."

SAE On Top In Intramurals

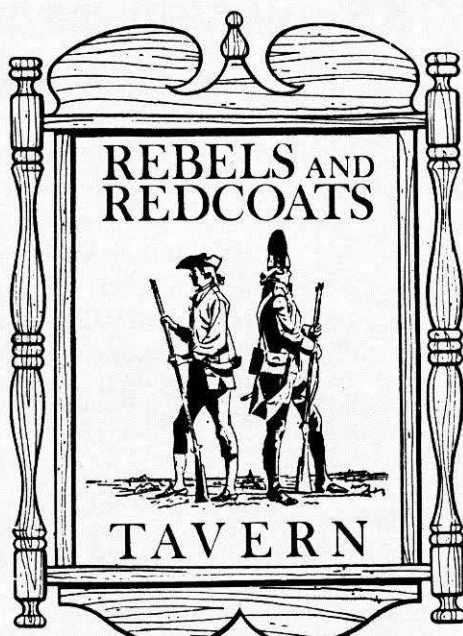

The intramural standings have been released and show Sigma Alpha Epsilon holding down top spot with 104 points.

This is a change over the previously announced standings since SAE has dropped SPE from first to second. In third place, Pi Kappa Alpha has 70 points. The Beavers moved to fourth spot with 73 points, followed closely by Tau Kappa Epsilon with 70 markers. Other team totals are: ZBT, 36 points; LXA, 28 points; KA, 28 points; New Men's Residence, 25 points, and Jokers with 21 points.

An intramural board meeting will be held this Monday at 3:15 p.m. in Room 223, Gullickson Hall. At this meeting there will be discussions concerning activities for the remainder of the year and next year, along with rules and policies for next year. All team managers should be there or send a representative.

The sign-up sheet for water polo will be posted Monday in the Student Union. It will be taken down Thursday at noon.

SAGE SAYINGS

By KAY SAGE and SAM STANLEY

Did you see that they have banned the selling of cigarettes at state universities in Kansas? We wonder what the authorities at Kansas hope to accomplish? If a student wishes to smoke, he's going to find a place to buy cigarettes, on campus or off.

Maybe the next move is to ban smoking altogether in the Kansas schools. Can you imagine this happening at Marshall. The smokers would dash out of class, find a dark corner or a wide tree to hide behind, and then steal a quick smoke. And wouldn't the campus cops go wild trying to track down the culprits who leave their cigarette butts behind the Old Beech Tree? Anyway, the smoke-filled rest rooms, like we had in high school, would certainly return.

Freshman Sen. Sam Samworth has organized fraternity pledge classes to check student ID's at Wednesday night mixes. This was started last week, but still quite a few "hoopies" managed to slip inside. This was done by MU students taking in the youngsters as guests. It's an almost impossible situation, unless the high school kids get the hint that they're not wanted.

Here and there:

Congratulations to the Delta Zetas, Alpha Sigma Phi's and Company D of ROTC for winning the Red Cross blood donor awards . . . If you didn't take in "Mrs. McThing at Old Main last night, you missed a real treat . . . It's another great job by the University Theatre . . . It seems the clocks around campus are getting worse . . . Someone with authority should order all the campus timepieces synchronized with Western Union time . . . Even some of the teachers are mixed up . . . One said the other day, "I don't know when the bell is going to ring," so I wish someone would tell me when the hour is up."

Student government conference delegates from six schools in the Mid-American Conference are on campus this week end to join in discussion on the government, the student court and mutual problems . . . The conference will be held on our campus once every seven years. . . We'd like to say hello and welcome all these student leaders to Marshall.

We're excited about Marshall being represented on the General Electric College Bowl . . . The nominees will soon be named and practice on two local shows before the eventful half hour on June 7.

The trip board in the Union is finally being put to use . . . Check it, for you may be able to find a ride to Florida for Easter . . . And speaking of Easter in Florida, it looks like Marshall will again be well represented at Daytona Beach. Last year Marshall had more students than almost any other school in the nation spending their Easter vacation at this Florida resort town.

Last year the Daytona Beach town officials rolled out the welcome mat to the college students with supervised dances, beach games and even Peter, Paul and Mary were contracted by the town to perform for the vacation students . . . But this spring we hear the town may try to discourage the influx of college students . . . We'll have to wait and see what happens.

The Greeks will still be celebrating when the Eastern break is over with Greek Week, April 2-5. The Greek games this year are supposed to be a colossal affair and a real treat for both participants and spectators . . . We even hear someone may carry a torch from Charleston to Huntington to give the affair a blazing start.

Special Library Table To Display New Books

By PAT BLAIR
Feature Writer

A new idea has been improvised by librarian Harold W. Apel and the library staff. A special table has been reserved on the second floor of the library to display new books that the library receives.

Apel explained that, "In the past there has been some criticism because we have not allowed the students to inspect new books and novels that are received by the library. So we decided to place these books out for the faculty and students to browse through."

"There is a wide field of subjects that should interest everyone. There are books on botany, geology, autobiographies, art and many other subjects. If a faculty member or student wants a book, all he or she has to do is place their name on a piece of paper and place it in the book. At the end of the week the library will send them a notice that the book is ready to be released," Apel said.

The books will be interchanged every week. This will allow a greater quantity and variety of books to be displayed.

"Since the intent of the project is to supply new reading and reference material to students and faculty I urge interested persons to inspect the books of the table," he concluded.
