Eight To Receive Honorary Degrees

By LARRY ASCOUGH
Editor-in-Chief

Eight West Virginia natives will receive honorary degrees at the June 2 Commencement ceremonies, according to President Stewart H. Smith.

The president said, "In keeping with the spirit and theme of our Centennial, we considered it most appropriate to honor several West Virginians who have distinguished themselves in their professions by conferring honorary degrees upon them at our June Commencement."

The recipients have been recommended by the Faculty Committee on Honorary Degrees and have been approved by President Smith and the West Virginia

Board of Education. They are:

(Biographical Sketches,

Metropolitan Opera soprano Phyllis Curtin, a native of Clarksburg, a Doctor of Music degree; David L. Francis of Huntington, president of the Princess Coal Co., Doctor of Laws; Marshall graduate John D. Maurice, editor of the Charleston Daily Mail, Doctor of Letters; Miles C. Stanley, president of the West Virginia Labor Federation, AFL-CIO, Doctor of Humanities; Dr. Festus P. Summers, professor of history at West Virginia University, Doctor of Literature; Marshall graduate Jim Comstock, editor of the West Virginia Hillbilly, Doctor of Letters; Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance, Commencement speaker and a native of Clarksburg, Doctor of Laws; and Robert B. Stewart, born in Matewan and now dean of the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy at Tufts University, a Doctor of Laws degree.

The graduating ceremonies this year have been titled "The Centennial Year Commencement" in honor of the West Virginia Centennial Year. In addition to Secretary Vance, the Baccalaureate speaker, The Rev. Joseph Duffey, is also a native West Virginian as well as a Marshall graduate.

Dr. Smith explained that the large number of honorary degree recipients was appropriate because of the Centennial year observance.

Ken Gainer, Charleston junior, was elected student body president in Wednesday's election defeating Frank Varacalli, Logan junior, 897 to 512.

In the second slot on the ticket was Marna Paulovicks, Wheeling junior, with 904 votes. Leo Grob, Wheeling junior, trailed with 413 votes.

The total vote for the election was 1425, not including a few absentee votes. This year's total is about 100 more than last year.

Claren Brooks, Arlington, Va. junior, who was unopposed for senior class president, polled 223 votes.

Senior Officers Listed

Mike Carroll, Nitro sophomore, was elected junior class president, defeating Dick Cottrill 221 to 187.

Junior class senators are Brenda Hubbard, Williamson, 149; Larry Dezio, Wheeling, 142; Larry LeMasters, Follansbee, 130; and Dean Thompson, Huntington, 127, alternate senator.

New sophomore president is Danie Stewart, Barboursville freshman, with 231 votes against 188 votes polled by Craig Westfall, Huntington freshman.

Sophomores Elect Five

Newly elected sophomore senators are Joan Fleckenstein, Huntington, 322; Jane McCaskey, Huntington, 248; David Cramp, Glenshaw, Pa., 166; Carolyn Fleming, Huntington, 177, and Vicki Massey, Beckley, 152, alternate senator.

The "Percentage Proportional Representation System" amendment was passed with 775 for and 263 against. The "Senior Senator" amendment passed 858 for and 197 against.

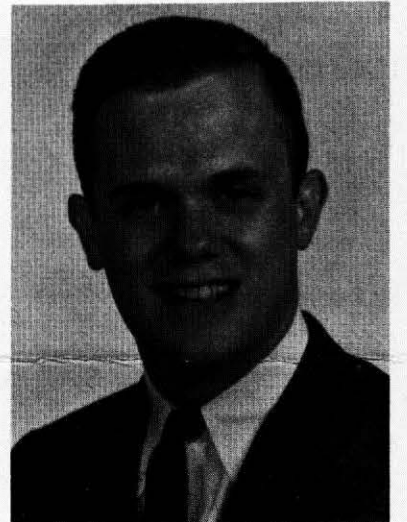

Other Votes Told

The votes for the unsuccessful candidates are:

Seniors—John Aliff, 106; Jim Garrett, 76; Joyce Hoke, 81; and Bonnie Meyers, 57.

Election Takes On Carnival Display; Large Turnout Of Voters Is Praised

By GARY KEARNS
Staff Reporter

A carnival, that's what it was like — a carnival!

Wednesday's student elections brought nearly all the elements of a midway to the campus. There were booths, refreshments, posters and signs, warm weather and lots of people.

As he gazed through the window of the Student Union on the milling scene outside, Wayne Stone, Huntington senior, was prompted to say, "It looks just like a graveyard on Memorial Day!"

Valerie Griffiths, Springfield, Ohio, junior said: "I'm new on campus, being a transfer student from Wittenberg College, and all this mass commotion and excitement is new to me. We had elections at Wittenberg, but nothing, nothing like this! However, I think all the numerous signs are so junky looking, being knocked over and just laying around. But the name tags are a good idea, and I'm glad to see so much interest and enthusiasm."

Several booths appeared on campus election day, particularly in the vicinity of the Student Union. Of these, the attention-getter was the Varacalli-Grob booth for Marshall Students' Party. Actually, this was not a booth at all, but a tent where students could get free refreshments and relax while listening to the strains of a guitar, strummed by Jim Kessinger, Beckley senior, and an accordion, squeezed by Frank Limauro, West Haven, Conn., sophomore.

Tuesday evening, students who eat in the University Dining Hall were surprised in line when they picked up their napkins, which were stamped, "GAINER AND PAULOVICKS."

The total number of students voting in Wednesday's election was 1,425. This compares to last year's 1,300. Two hundred and seven seniors voted, 322 juniors, 440 sophomores, and 456 freshmen.

Jennifer Nagle, Huntington freshman and poll workers' chairman for the election commission, said of the overall turnout up to 1:20 p.m. Wednesday:

"The turnout so far has been wonderful. I also think that the sophomore class should be quite proud of themselves for turning out so well, for usually it's the freshmen who swamp the polls."

What was most impressive about the election?

Becky Scaggs, Wayne freshman, said, "I was surprised at the interest. This is my first election experience at Marshall, and I've certainly enjoyed it — especially making signs."

Paige Taylor, Clarksburg freshman, said, "I liked the voting machines."

Bonnie Workman, Wayne freshman, said, "I was very impressed by some of the candidates' publicity."

Benny Williams, Huntington senior, said, "I've liked the interest created by the two parties, but I think the campus is unduly littered."

And Chris Adkins, Huntington freshman, commented, "I was most impressed by the enthusiasm shown by the students as far as equal representation is concerned."

MU Gets $10,000 In TV Equipment

C. Tom Garten, vice-president and general manager of WSAZ-TV, presented to President Stewart H. Smith this morning three pieces of television equipment valued at more than $10,000. The equipment, consisting of a television camera, a shader and a monitor, is called a television chain.

Dr. Stephen D. Buell, assistant professor of speech, said that the acquisition of the equipment will be instrumental in the future development of closed circuit television on campus.

QUESTION: Do you think the numerous signs on campus during the election influenced the choice of the voters?

Delehanty

Hamb

Chuck Delehanty, Huntington junior:

"What actually does influence the voting? I don't believe the qualifications for the offices are real and vital issues in determining students' votes. Because of this, the signs probably were an important factor."

Susie Hamb, Man senior:

"I definitely don't think they influence the outcome. Most people have their minds already made up and the election should be made on qualifications, not on the appearance or number of signs."

Bragg

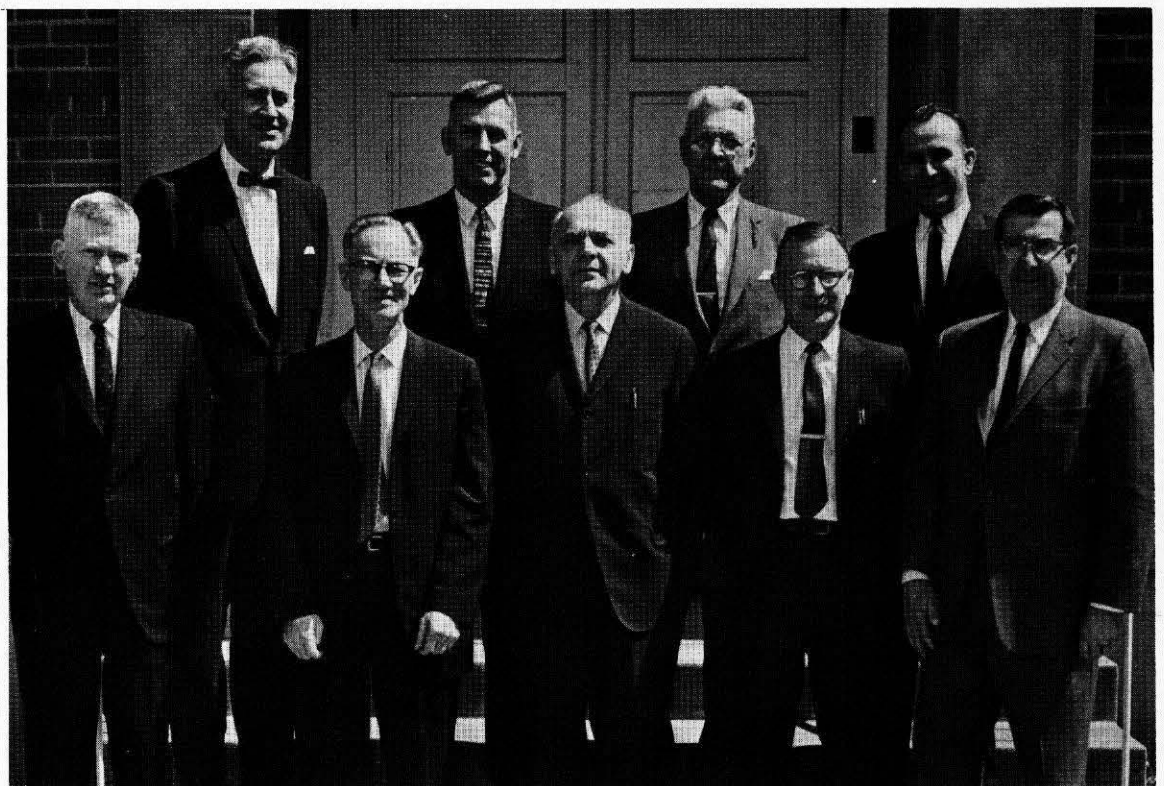

Alleman

Carl Bragg, Milton senior:

"No, I think they're absolutely ridiculous. There should be one sign per candidate out in front of the Union."

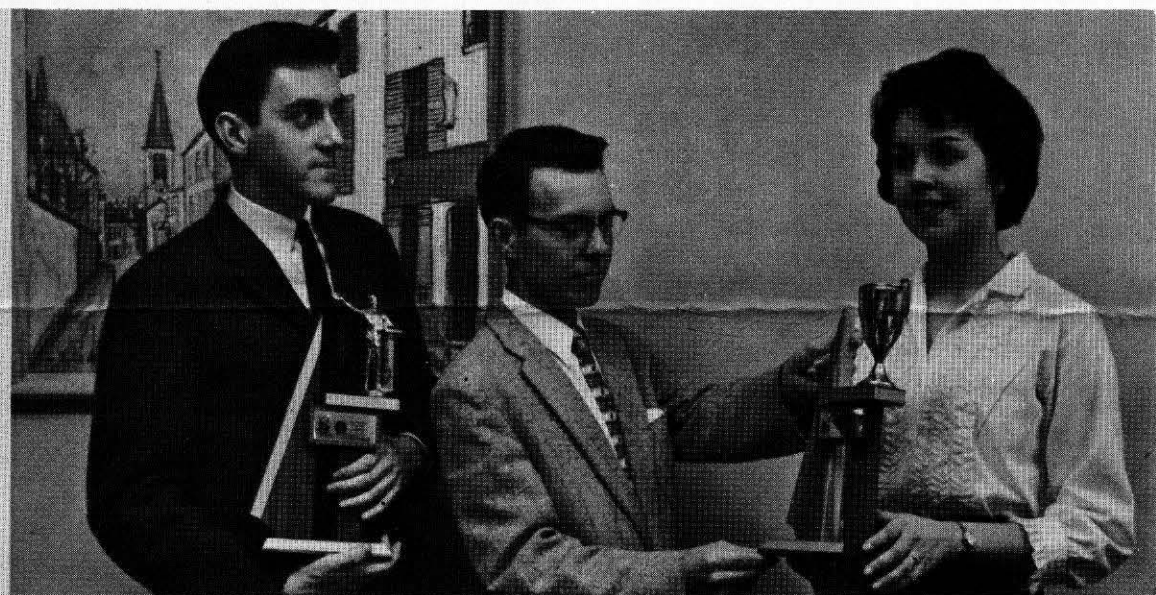

Linda Alleman, Parkersburg senior:

"I feel the signs didn't mean anything. Knowing a person is what matters. Posters don't show the personality of the person running."

West Virginia University Deans Visit Campus

Speech Winners Get Awards

WINNERS OF THE RECENT CENTENNIAL Oratory Contest receive their trophies from Harry D. Russell, instructor in speech. John Burke, Huntington sophomore, won the men's division and Lelia Moore, Dunmore senior, took first place in the women's division. The two received their awards on WSAZ-TV's "Good Morning Show". Mr. Russell reported that as many as 60 speeches were written in each division.

An Editorial--On Campaign Posters

TO BE FOUND among the sea of campaign posters erected earlier this week were several that seemed to be in poor taste. Just how far will some people go to attract attention? Certainly some of these candidates could have used a little more creative initiative — What do you think?

8 West Virginians To Be Honored

(Editor's Note: The following eight West Virginians have been chosen to receive honorary degrees at the June 2 Commencement exercises. They are Miss Phyllis Curtin, David L. Francis, John D. Maurice, Robert B. Stewart, Miles C. Stanley, Festus P. Summers, Jim Comstock, and Commencement speaker Cyrus R. Vance, Secretary of the Army.)

Phyllis Curtin

Clarksburg-born Phyllis Curtin, Metropolitan Opera soprano, is one of the most-in-demand singers in the world, whose career takes her yearly from one continent to the other. She was catapulted into fame overnight in 1954 with a performance of "Salome" during her debut season at the New York City Opera. Since that time, critics from coast-to-coast as well as worldwide have raved about her performances. From that "Salome" debut, she went on to 45 other leading roles in the lyric, dramatic and coloratura soprano repertoire and has sung more important modern operas than any other soprano now before the American public.

Miss Curtin, also a member of the Vienna State Opera, La Scala Opera and the Teatro Colon, is in great demand in the fields of television, radio and records. She has appeared on the "Telephone Hour," "The Voice of Firestone," and she has recorded for Columbia Records.

She is a top notch photographer, being married to well-known cameraman Gene Cook. They have one daughter.

David L. Francis

David L. Francis, Huntington resident and a former mayor and councilman, is president of Princess Coal Co. He received his B.A. at Yale University and an M.B.A. at Harvard University.

Mr. Francis is currently vice president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Washington, D.C., and is vice president and director of the Southern States Industrial Council. He also is a member of several other national management and industrial organizations.

Other governmental activities, in addition to his political past in Huntington, include advisory council member of the U.S. Outdoor Recreation Resources Review Commission. Mr. Francis also is a member of various state governmental councils and committees.

He is active as an executive in the Boy Scouts of America and in many local civic activities. He is a member of the Chi Psi fraternity, the Masons, and was a Navy lieutenant commander during World War II. His hobbies include tennis, fishing, hunting and farming.

John D. Maurice

Charleston Daily Mail editor John D. Maurice is a native of Vivian and graduated from Marshall magna cum laude. He majored in journalism at Marshall.

Mr. Maurice joined the Daily Mail staff in 1939 as a reporter and was elevated to editorial writer in 1942. His career was interrupted from 1943 to 1946 when he served as a lieutenant in the U.S. Navy. In 1950 he was named editor of the Daily Mail, a position he still holds.

Mr. Maurice has won the Sigma Delta Chi editorial writing competition and has been cited by the American Trucking Association for a prize-winning campaign.

He is married and has two daughters.

Robert B. Stewart

Robert B. Stewart, born in Matewan, has a long and impressive record in governmental activities, including the State Department affairs. Now, dean of the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy at Tufts University, he received his B.A. and M.A. at the University of Kentucky and M.A.L.D. at Tufts University. He obtained his Ph. D. at Harvard and last year received an honorary L.L.D. from the University of Kentucky.

Dr. Stewart was an assistant executive secretary at the San Francisco Conference that resulted in the founding of the United Nations. He has been Foreign Service Selections Board and a member of the State Department Executive Reserve.

He has published a book and various journal articles and is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Dr. Stewart is a member of the board of trustees at Belmont Hill School and on the board of directors of the Winchester Trust Company.

Miles C. Stanley

Miles C. Stanley, president of the West Virginia Labor Federation, AFL-CIO, has an extensive background in trade union activities. His career in the labor movement began when he was 17 and since that time he has served as an officer of many councils and committees including membership on the International Wage and Policy Committee of the United Steelworkers of America.

Mr. Stanley is currently chairman of the West Virginia Advisory Committee to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights and a member of the National Public Advisory Committee to the Area Redevelopment Administration. He is on the Labor-Management Advisory Committee to the U.S. Department of Labor and a member of the Governor's Committee on Manpower Utilization and the West Virginia Centennial Commission. He is state chairman of the U.S.O. and last year was appointed as an adviser to the U.S. Delegate to the Conference of the International Labor Organization in Geneva, Switzerland.

Mr. Stanley is also a member of the Board of Directors of various local organizations and institutions.

Festus P. Summers

Dr. Festus P. Summers, West Virginia University professor of history, served as chairman and head of that department for 16 years. He was formerly a professor at Morris Harvey College and served as a visiting professor at Concord College and Emory University.

Dr. Summers holds a diploma from Concord Normal School and degrees from West Virginia University and the University of Chicago. He is the author of a number of historical books and is now collaborating with Dr. Elizabeth Cometti, professor of history, on a new volume, "West Virginia History Told by Contemporaries."

He is a member of various historical associations and is past president of the West Virginia Historical Society. He also served as chairman of the West Virginia War History Commission from 1943 to 1949 and is a member of Rotary, Phi Beta Kappa, the American Military Institute, the Authors' League of America, and the West Virginia Centennial Commission.

Jim Comstock

Jim Comstock, editor and history enthusiast, is a graduate of Marshall University's Journalism Department. In fact, he claims he never left his hometown of Richwood except to get his college education and to serve with the Navy in World War II.

He is editor of the Nicholas County News Leader, a local weekly, and the West Virginia Hillbilly, a paper circulated throughout the state which has gained national recognition.

"I am abetted in my journalistic waywardness," Mr. Comstock says. "Readers, in some way or another, led me to such journalistic delinquency as to make my paper smell bad on a special occasion (the use of ramps in the ink for printing the newspapers), to write the 'Sexual Behavior of the Richwood Female' as a satire to stop Dr. Alfred Kinsey in his sneaking up on sex practices, to suggest that people could remove their own appendix, and to get into an altercation with the New Yorker Magazine."

Under his editorship, his newspapers have helped to build a community hospital.

Mr. Comstock is married to the former Julia Ola Stowers and is the father of a son and two daughters.

Cyrus R. Vance

Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance, the commencement speaker and a native of Clarksburg, is the eighth honorary degree recipient. He is a former general counsel for the Department of Defense, consulting counsel for the United States Senate Committees conducting hearings in the defense, space and missile fields, and partner in the law firm of Simpson, Thacher and Bartlett of New York City.

He received his B.A. at Yale University and graduated from the Yale Law School with honors. Secretary Vance is a member of various city, state and national bar associations and is a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers. He has been chairman of the Committee on Adjudication of Claims of the Administration Conference of the United States since its inception in 1961.

He is a member of the executive committee of the Yale Law School Association, a trustee of Kent School and a trustee of the Boys' Club of New York.

Secretary Vance is married and the father of five children. He plays squash and also enjoys golf, tennis, fishing, gardening and reading.

Spring Millinery Boasts Variety

THE BUCKET HAT with a deep crown is covered with pale orange dogwood blossoms and spring leaves and is modeled by Judy. These fashions are from Paris Hat Shop.

Spring Fashion Parade Stars Easter Bonnets

By JANICE RICHARDS
Fashion Editor

Once more the Easter season approaches, bringing with it the perennial tradition of the Easter bonnet. Just as grandma did in her day, so does today's young fashionable search for just the right hat to make her "the proudest lady in the Easter parade."

This search might present a problem when one begins to survey this spring's large millinery collection with its wide variety of styles, colors and fabrics. But in the end there's a bonnet for every parader. If one is diligent enough and skillful enough to maneuver herself through the rows and rows of hat racks, she is certain to find that "perfect" companion for her Easter outfit.

One of the most popular styles is the sailor hat, displaying a new treatment of an old favorite. It appears in everything from a natural straw with a narrow brim which is worn with casual wear to a dressy organdy with a wide pleated brim. Some of the other styles which are certain to be seen are cloches, toques, bumpers, beehives, rollers and veiled hats. Making its appearance this spring is the tiny hatlet called the baby doll pillbox. This is usually made of a small bunch of flowers and is held in place by hair combs just as was the original pillbox.

Fabrics play an important part and can be found in a wide range in the new collections. The crisp lines of straw, whether it be rough or smooth, draped by the soft folds of organdy, chiffon and silk, can most often be seen.

It just wouldn't be Easter unless lots and lots of flowers were used. This year is no exception. Either they adorn or entirely make up the hat. But in any case, the flowers look so real and so fresh that one can almost smell them.

Want to star in the Easter parade? Now is the time — hurry on down to the hat shops and get your contribution. Who knows, you may pick a winner.

Battle Group Drill Competition Set

By JOSEPH JOHNSON
Staff Reporter

Military commands will fill the air as the Battle Group holds a competitive drill meet on the Intramural field April 20.

The cadets will march forward with a rifle match beginning at 8 a.m. (five members on a team, and one team per company).

Promptly at 11:30 a.m., the cadets will group in the Military Science Department for a briefing before advancing on to the Intramural field at noon for competition.

The first competitive event will be an individual drill consisting of three individuals representing each company. Next in line is squad competition — one squad representing each company, 10 men in each squad. In addition to this there will be platoon competition — one squad will represent each company with 20 men in a platoon.

During the intermission, the Pershing Rifles Exhibition Platoon will stage an exhibition for the public. Finally, to climax the event, trophies will be given for first place winners and ribbons for first, second and third place winners.

In other drill competition, the Pershing Rifle Company will travel to Cincinnati for the Queen City Invitational Drill Meet today and tomorrow, sponsored by the University of Cincinnati. Cadet Capt. Thomas Mayberry, Parkersburg senior, will accompany the group.

3 Jobs Are Open On 1964 CJ Staff

Applications for the three top positions on the 1964 Chief Justice are still being accepted, according to Frank Spear, director of Information Service.

Any one wishing to apply for the positions of editor-in-chief, managing editor, or business manager may obtain the application forms in Old Main 112.

Qualifications for these positions are interest and enthusiasm plus any experience in publications.

We see where Coach Ellis Johnson stopped off in Charleston this week on his way to a speaking engagement in Williamson. This, of course, shows that the new coach is performing his functions as a recruiter in the best way he knows how and that is to get out and see these prospects.

He has already made 11 trips of this nature and he has 14 more planned before he calls a temporary halt to his activities on April 20.

Coach Johnson has indicated that his recruiting will end sometime this summer when he has signed five boys who are 6-6 or better.

"You've got to have the big boys to play with now and if MU failed to win games in the past it's because it didn't have teams comparable in size to the opposition," Johnson emphasized.

"If I can have five boys that are big enough and two of them come through for me, then I won't have any worries," he says.

To go with the big boys Johnson hopes to get, he will have 6-6 Bruce Belcher, 6-2 Walt Smittle, and 6-0 Forrest Newsome.

"They tell me Tom Langfitt, a 6-3 freshman from this past season, is an outstanding prospect for the varsity and that there are two or three others that may help us a lot," Johnson pointed out.

Coach Johnson calls the Mid-American Conference the fifth toughest conference in the country with the Big Ten, Missouri Valley, Southeastern, and the Atlantic Coast being better.

After having only one of 12 conference tilts this season, Johnson has 12 more of the same booked for next year and, in addition, the Big Green will possibly meet NCAA champs Loyola here, along with Morehead, Morris Harvey and Eastern Kentucky in home and home matches.

"The people interested in Marshall have been real wonderful to me since I took over and this shows they want to help," Coach Johnson remarked. "Of course this is a must in recruiting and recruiting is a big job," he added.

INTRAMURAL WINNERS HAVE WORK TO DO

The game for the DI's against the Morehead intramural winners has been announced as April 9 and looking at the record these fellows have a lot of work to do in order to bring some prestige back to MU that has been lost.

Since this series has been started, the intramural champs and the intramural all-stars have only been able to win two games, with one game going to the all-stars and one to the intramural winners.

In the first contest in the 1959-60 season, the Morehead all-stars rolled over MU 72-58 at Morehead. The second game was postponed because of snow.

In 1960-61, the all-stars lost again as the Morehead team eked out a 79-78 victory and later the Marshall team easily won 93-76 in the match between the intramural champs.

In last year's contests, Morehead won the intramural game, 79-65, but the MU all-stars squeaked by the all-star team from Morehead 70-67 here.

So MU has to win one game to even the series and win both to go ahead in what has proved to be an interesting series for both squads.

With this being "Swede's" last year it would be a great tribute to the instructor to go out on a winning note. With a team like the DI's had, they should give the Morehead squad a tough game and the all-stars are no dead beats on the courts either.

VARSITY-ALUMNI GAME TONIGHT

Tonight the varsity-alumni grid contest gets under way and this is a good chance for the students to see how the team is developing at this stage of spring practice sessions and what they can look forward to next year.

Coach Snyder has had 10 days of practice and, according to him, the squad is coming along very well" at this stage of the year."

He listed John Griffin as possible starting quarterback for tonight's game and this might indicate he might have solved his problem at that spot. But after talking to Coach Snyder during he past week his problem is far from solved. You never know what can happen between now and the start of next season.

A big feature of tonight's game should be between Jim Cure and Jim Swierczek. Swierczek held the pass receiving records for an MU player — up until this year that is. Cure broke these records this year as well as the MAC records for this department — and he was only a sophomore.

Swierczek said over radio, when interviewed at a basketball game this season, that he asked "Whitey" Wilson, athletic director, if Cure played in the alumni game last year. The reply was that he didn't start, since he was on about the third team. This shows what improvement has been made by Cure and it makes you wonder what other improvements will be made by this guy?

OU TOPS IN GOLF

It looks like Coach Buddy Graham wasn't kidding when he said Ohio University was the team to contend with in the MAC Golf race. OU defeated the MU golfers last Thursday in the first match of the season and, from the looks of things, it's going to be rough. Last year the golf team lost only one game on its march to the MAC championship. But no one has predicted a championship this season. Let's be optimistic. These fellows have the horses to do it.

Probable Grid Lineup Listed For Alumni Contest Tonight

By JERRY REED
Sports Editor

Coach Charlie Snyder has announced a possible starting lineup for tonight's encounter with the alumni that gets under way at the Ceredo-Kenova High School stadium at 8 p.m.

The possible starting linemen are: ends—Jim Perry and Jim Cure; tackles—Mike Hicks and Fred Anderson or Everett Vance; guards—Bill Winter and Richard Turner; and center — George Balak.

On the offensive backfield team will be John Griffin at quarterback, Jim Brown and Jabo Williams at halfbacks and Dave Boston will be running from the fullback spot.

On the defensive team will be Larry Coyer and Dick Fillmore as the deep men and Glenn Bell and Paul Turmond at the corner back positions.

Coach Snyder said that he was expecting the "same kind of game as last year" and this would indicate a rough one as the varsity was edged by the alumni 13-12 in the first game of this kind at MU.

"If you're not too old you still have that desire and we're expecting a rough night," Snyder said.

Four boys will definitely not be playing in this game as Dave Forinash has a neck injury; Al Rinehart, a broken thumb; Ralph White, a shoulder injury; and Mike Thompson, a knee injury.

Since Tuesday Snyder has had his squad polishing up on their plays for the game and he said that the team wouldn't scrimmage again until next week.

GRID COACH CHARLIE SNYDER
... Keeps Watchful Eye On Varsity

Ray Cumberledge, assistant athletic director, announced Wednesday that three more players have been added to the alumni squad that will be coached by Dr. Sam Clagg, chairman of the geography department.

Curtis Cagle, former all-conference halfback, Don Trimboli, and Bob Lester have agreed to play against the varsity.

Tickets for the game will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students. Marshall students will be admitted on their I. D. cards.

Busy Schedule Faces Netters

By DANNY BARBER
Sports Writer

A full slate of action is on the way for the Big Green net squad as it faces the possibility of three contests in four days.

After blasting Morris Harvey in the opener, the John Noble-coached netters will meet Cincinnati on Monday and have a return engagement with Morris Harvey on Tuesday. The third match is tentatively scheduled with West Liberty for tomorrow if arrangements can be made.

The Cincinnati and Morris Harvey matches will be the first home appearances for the team while the pending West Liberty contest would be an away match.

The same lineup which saw action in the Morris Harvey opener is likely to see duty on Monday and Tuesday. That includes Captain Bill Jefferson, Wayne Wookey, Bill Carroll, Jack Viehman, Dave Adkins and Jim Wellman.

After the Tuesday rematch with the Golden Eagles the team will take a break to observe the Easter holidays before getting back into action with two MAC foes, Ohio University's Bobcats and the Golden Flashes from Kent State on April 17 and April 20, respectively.

CAMPING RETREAT SET

The Women's Athletic Association will hold a camping retreat Saturday and Sunday at Camp Dekanawida, Salt Rock. The women will leave from the women's gymnasium at 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

They were Miss Hutchinson and Miss Steele, first team; and Miss Chance and Miss Peruzi, second team.

Baseball Team Loses In Opener; To Play Toledo Today, Tomorrow

By JOE DRAGOVICH

Getting outhit 17-10, Marshall made its baseball debut by going down to defeat at the hands of West Virginia Tech 10-4 Tuesday at the Tech homefield.

The Big Green carried a 4-0 lead into the home half of the fourth inning but an error by Marshall's Mike Cunningham and a base on balls opened the gates for the Yellowjackets. Tech scored three runs in the fourth inning, four in the fifth and three in the eighth to take the victory.

According to Coach Alvis Brown, "Tech hit us real well and they won." Brown also thought that Marshall was not quite ready for Tuesday's game because the fact the practice field at St. Cloud Commons has been under water and the team was not able to practice under game conditions.

Rusty Wamsley was the hitting hero for the Big Green, collecting a single, double and triple in four trips to the plate. Chuck Brown followed him with a single and double in four efforts.

For West Virginia Tech Markham was the stickman, collecting a double and three singles in five trips. Markham was followed by Kelley who pounded out a triple and two singles in four attempts.

Marshall's Jim Freeman was the losing pitcher. He pitched four and two-thirds innings while letting in seven runs, nine hits and giving up one base on balls. He struck out three batters.

Basham was the winner for Tech, pitching five and two-thirds innings and giving up no runs, four hits and one base on balls. He whiffed one man.

Marshall pushed across two runs in the first inning when Dennis Osborne singled and was pushed home on a triple by Rusty Wamsley. Wamsley then scored on a long double by Mickey Sydenstricker.

In the third inning a single by Brown, a free pass to Osborne, and a ringing double by Wamsley produced another run.

The Big Green scored its last run in the fourth inning when Joe Collins reached base on an error, stole second base and was finally driven in on a double by Brown.

Marshall travels to the Toledo campus for two games with the Rockets today and tomorrow to open the Mid-American Conference circuit.

Golfers, OSU Play Tomorrow

The Big Green golfers travel to Columbus tomorrow to play Ohio State University in their third match.

The Big Green split the first two matches as it lost to Ohio University and won over Kent

State in the first week of action.

The match that was scheduled against Morehead last Saturday was canceled. It is not known whether the match will be rescheduled or not.

Marshall To Host 1964 Swim Meet

Marshall University will host next year's second annual State Women's Intercollegiate Swimming and Diving Championships, scheduled for March 28.

The women's swim squad placed last in this year's three team event which was held last Saturday at West Virginia State.

However, Sally McGrath and Carol Smith, team coach, walked off with individual scoring honors. MU's other two swimmers were Nancy Byard and Mary Rachel Campbell.

Concord won the title with West Virginia State second and Marshall third. Marshall did not enter the diving competition.

Marshall's swimmers placed first in five out of nine individual events and second in one relay. Each swimmer is allowed to enter three events and since Marshall had only four competitors, it possibly cost the team some second and third places.

For experience, the swimmers entered the 200-yard freestyle relay and placed first, but the victory did not count in the team standings.

Women's Cage Squad Victor At Charleston

A Marshall women's basketball team won the Charleston Invitational tournament played last Friday and Saturday.

Nine teams competed in the YWCA-sponsored tournament, including West Virginia State. Other teams were from the Charleston area.

Five members of the team were all-tournament selections in a recent Women's Association meet. Laidley Hall won the W.A.A. tourney by beating Alpha Xi Delta in the finals.

Members of the all-tournament team were Beth Hutchison, Ruth Ware, Claren Brooks, Sue White, Virginia Politino and Pat Chance. All but Miss Brooks played in Charleston.

In 1894 a volunteer "Military Department" was organized at Marshall College, now University. Any male student might become a cadet by providing himself with a uniform and agreeing to attend the drills.

April 26 Dinner To Honor Seven Retiring On June 30

By FRAN ALLRED
Managing Editor

Seven retiring members of the university faculty and staff and four faculty members who have been with the university 25 years will be honored at a dinner April 26, according to President Stewart H. Smith.

Those retiring are Dr. H. Gresham Toole, professor of history and chairman of the department; Dr. Roy C. Woods, professor of education; Otto "Swede" Gullickson, professor of physical education; Dr. Lucy Whitsel, professor of classical languages and chairman of the department; Virginia E. Lee, associate professor of journalism; J. Donald Pollitt, associate professor of English, and Mrs. Helen J. Clayton, payroll clerk.

Those being honored for 25 years of service are Mrs. Martha Rummell, instructor in education; Dr. N. Bayard Green, professor of zoology; Mrs. Lillian H. Buskirk, dean of women, and Mrs. Carolyn Dwight, associate professor of business administration.

Dr. Whitsel received her Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin and has done postdoctorate study at the American Academy of Rome, University of Wisconsin, American School of Classical Studies in Athens, and the Vergilian School at Cumae, Italy. She has been at Marshall since 1929.

Professor Pollitt received his B. A. degree from Marshall, M. A. degree in English from Duke University, and an M. A. degree in history from Marshall. He is a member of Kappa Delta Pi education honorary and Phi Alpha Theta, Modern Language Association, West Virginia Historical Association, Mississippi Valley Historical Association and was defense coordinator for Marshall during World War II.

He came to Marshall in 1936 after teaching in public schools in Ohio and West Virginia.

Professor Lee received her B. A. degree from Ohio Wesleyan University and the M. A. degree from Marshall. She has done graduate work at the University of Wisconsin, University of Minnesota, and the University of Cincinnati.

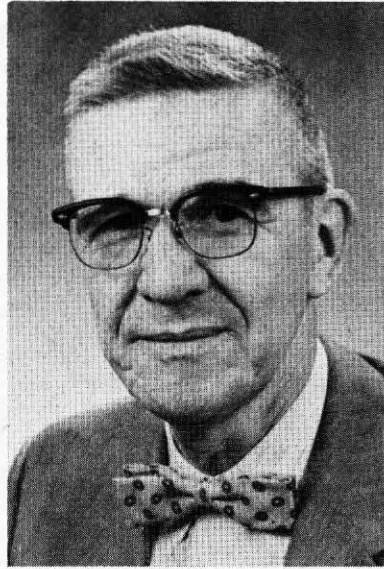

She has taught in public school in Huntington and has worked for newspapers in Huntington and Asheville, N. C. She is a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, women educators honorary, American Association of University Professors, American Association of University Women, and the Association for Education in Journalism.

Mrs. Helen Clayton obtained the B. S. degree from Marshall and has been here 20 years.

(Editor's note: Sketches on Professors Toole, Woods and Gullickson have appeared in previous editions of The Parthenon.)

Dr. Harold E. Walker, vice president of academic affairs, will speak on "Man's Greatest Achievement." Mrs. Carolyn Dwight is chairman of the Faculty Service Committee which is in charge of arrangements for the dinner.

Science Fair Starts Today

Approximately 325 junior and senior high school students from 20 counties in the tri-state area are expected to assemble today and tomorrow for the Marshall University Regional Science Fair to be held in the Mens' Health and Physical Education Building.

According to Harold E. Ward, associate professor of science and coordinator of the Science Fair, there will be about 175 exhibits from junior high school students and 150 exhibits from senior high school students.

Subject matter for exhibits in the senior division include biology, chemistry, physics, mathematics, engineering, and earth sciences. The classification of exhibits in the junior division include biological sciences and physical sciences.

Awards for the best exhibits will be given in both divisions. The two winners in the senior division will present their exhibits at the National Science Fair in Albuquerque, N. M., May 6-11.

Standards for judging will be creative ability, scientific thought, thoroughness, skill, clarity, and dramatic value. Judges will consist of Marshall University staff members, personnel from local hospitals, and representatives from local businesses and industries.

The exhibit will be open to the public today from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m. and tomorrow from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Awards will be announced tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. The fair is being financed by various local businesses and industries.

SERGEANT HONORED

Sfc. L. L. Rainey, an instructor in the Military Science Department, was awarded the Army Commendation Medal for meritorious service while serving as an assistant instructor since April, 1960. Sgt. Rainey was presented the medal in a ceremony last Friday.

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club will have a meeting Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the Men's Lounge of the Science Hall. Officers for the coming year will be elected and plans will be made for the trip to Toledo University.
