Transferees Due Break On Honors

A recommendation of the Academic Standards and Planning Committee asking that the required number of hours for transfer students to graduate with honors be lowered to 72 hours, has been approved by the administration.

In a letter to former Student Body President, Gary McMillan, President Stewart H. Smith reported that he had approved the recommendation which was: "That the presently existing requirement of 96 hours of work required on this campus for transfer students for graduation honors be reduced to 72 hours, effective with the Spring Commencement, 1964."

The initial recommendation for lowering the requirements for transfer students came as a result of a motion passed by the Student Senate approximately two months ago. The Senate sent the recommendation to the administration, which referred it to the Academic Standards and Planning Committee.

In discussing the motion, the Senate felt that there would be many more students who would begin their education at some other institution, such as a junior college, and transfer to Marshall. These students should be able to have the distinction of graduating from a university with honors, the Senate felt.

Senior Sen. Al Baker of Oak Hill, presented the original motion to the Senate and told the senators that he had investigated the number of hours that other universities require for transfer students to graduate with honors and found that the number is considerably lower than the number required by Marshall.

For High School Biology Teachers

$7,520 Grant To Foundation

By DAVID ECHOLS
Teachers College Journalist

The National Science Foundation has granted the Marshall Foundation, Inc., the sum of $7,520 for support of an "In-Service Institute in Biological Science Curriculum Study (BSCS) in Biology for Secondary School Biology Teachers.

The Institute will be directed by Harold E. Ward, associate professor of science, and conducted by Dr. Donald Cox, director and chairman of Science Department.

The program is designed to acquaint area biology teachers with the history, philosophy and rationale of BSCS, to present them with some approaches to teaching the new biology, and in some degree to improve the background of the teachers so that they may develop the confidence necessary to institute a BSCS biology program in their schools.

The In-Service Institute will be held on alternate Saturdays at Marshall beginning Sept. 3, 1963, and ending May 23, 1964.

Toole Steps Down As History Head

Dr. Herschel Heath Will Take Position; Change To Be Effective Immediately

By LARRY ASCOUGH
Editor-In-Chief

Dr. H. Gresham Toole, chairman of the History Department since 1946, has submitted his resignation as chairman effective immediately and will be succeeded by Dr. Herschel Heath, professor of history.

Dr. Toole, who began his career at Marshall in 1925, will continue as professor of history and will retire at the close of the second summer term.

Dr. Heath came to Marshall in 1947 after teaching at the University of Wichita, Lanier College in Beaumont, Tex., Bethel College, McKenzie, Tenn., and Dakota Wesleyan University, Mitchell, S. D. He also taught at Ashland Junior College, Idaho State College, and was a field director for the American Red Cross.

The new department chairman received his A.B. at the University of Wichita and his M.A. and

Toole

Heath

Ph. D. at Clark University. He received several fellowships and scholarships as an undergraduate and as a graduate student.

Dr. Heath is a member of the American Historical Association, the Mississippi Valley Historical Association and Phi Alpha Theta, national historical society. He is married and has two children.

During his career at Marshall, Dr. Toole has provided leadership in many fields. Among the various boards and committees on which he has served are the Athletic Board, the Scholarship Committee, Honorary Degrees Committee, and the Faculty Salary Committee.

Dr. Toole received his A.B. at DePauw, his M.A. at the University of Chicago and a Ph. D. at the University of Pennsylvania. He taught at an Indiana high school and was a graduate instructor at the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Toole has received various academic honors, fellowships and scholarships and has had various articles published. He is a member of the American Historical Association, the Mississippi Valley Historical Association and the West Virginia Historical Association. He is married and has two children.

Letter To Editor

Dear Editor:

Voting in the Student Government elections is a privilege and a right given to all fulltime students of Marshall University. Why, then, is this privilege and right only exercised by a few? This is evident by checking the results of the recent election where only 1,425 out of over 4,000 eligible voters voted. This gives a voting percentage of about 35.5% of those eligible voting. True, the voting percentage of the national government is terrible—around 60%—for its 40 million voters. If the national government is able to get 60% of 40 million people out to vote, why can't Marshall University students get more than 1,425—out of 4,000—out to vote? Was that extra 10 minutes of sleep, that 10 minutes with your boy or girl friend, or that 10 minutes playing cards important enough to give up YOUR "freedom" to express your views at the polls? I think not.

This kind of thing happens all the time. Those who do not exercise their privilege and right to vote are those who do the most griping when government goes opposite their views. Do these non-voting people really have the right to feel that they are not receiving equal representation? Again my answer must be an emphatic NO!

Some people have the "I don't care" attitude and others have the idea that "my vote is cancelled by someone else, so why should I vote?" As was seen in the results of this last election, this is not true. For example, three of the senior senator candidates were separated by only one vote each. So you see your vote IS important.

Marshall students, beware! If you don't put into practice those thing sthat you have learned in this institution of higher learning, what are you going to do with your rights and privileges after you leave this intellectual community? The hard and sad truth is that your rights and privileges will lie dormant and unused throughout a lifetime.

Lettermen To Perform April 24

SIGMA PHI EPSILON fraternity will present the Lettermen, Capitol recording artists, on April 24 at 8:15 p.m. in the Keith-Albee Theater. Shown above are the Lettermen: Jim Pike, Bob Engemann, and Tony Butala. Tickets will be available in the Student Union or at downtown stores.

Sig Eps Plan April Concert; Lettermen Slated To Perform

Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity will present the Lettermen on April 24 at the Keith-Albee Theater in the second annual concert sponsored by the fraternity. The concert will be at 8:15 p.m.

Tickets will be available in the Student Union and in downtown stores. Tickets are available now by mail. Prices of the tickets are $2.50, $2.25, and $1.75.

The vocal group consists of Tony Butala, Jim Pike and Bob Engemann. All three singers have performed in other singing groups before forming their present trio.

The group tries to fill the entertainment gap by giving the public, adults, as well as the younger set, what they want to hear.

They sing old, standard ballads in combination with today's new instrumentation. In addition to ballads, the Lettermen also perform folk songs.

The group, whose records have sold in the millions, love their work to the point where it is not actually work at all. When they're not on stage singing, they can usually be found off in a corner singing for their own enjoyment.

Contrary to most vocal groups, the boys all have the same range and interchange their parts, singing the melody line, top or bottom. All three members of the group do solo work while performing.

RUTH E. FULLER
... Gains $2,000 Stipend

Ruth Fuller Is Awarded Graduate Assistantship

Ruth E. Fuller, Huntington senior with majors in English and French, has accepted a graduate assistantship in comparative literature at the University of Maryland, College Park, Md., starting in September. The assistantship includes a nine-month stipend of $2,000 and remission of all fees, and is renewable for a second year of graduate study.

In her first year, Miss Fuller will assist in the grading of compositions and will carry a full load of graduate courses. In her second year, she will teach two university classes. She is planning for a career of university teaching in comparative literature.

Miss Fuller's overall average is 3.67. For two semesters she has been a member of the Interdisciplinary Honors Seminar and is completing her second semester reading for honors in English. In the latter, she is reading in comparative literature under the supervision of Dr. Ronald G. Rollins, assistant professor of English.

In addition to the Maryland assistantship, Miss Fuller also received an offer of the Taft Scholarship and the University Tuition Scholarship, both in English, at the University of Cincinnati.

Besides maintaining a high academic average, Miss Fuller has been active in various phases of campus life. She appeared in "Annie Get Your Gun" and "South Pacific," played the lead role of Liza Doolittle in "Pygmalion," and will be in the forthcoming musical, "Brigadoon." She has been a member of the cheerleading squad for four years. She has participated on the debate team for two years, and served as coordinator of Parents' Weekend in 1962.

In her sorority, Alpha Xi Delta, she has been membership, homecoming, and scholarship chairman and has edited the sorority newspaper, Gamma Beta.

She is a member of the following honoraries: Pi Kappa Delta, debate; Pi Sigma Alpha, political science, and Sigma Tau Delta, English. Also, she is a past member of Alpha Lambda Delta, and will be initiated in Pi Delta Phi, French honorary, this spring.

2 Skin Diving Students Find Hobby Interesting

By SANDY O'SHEA
Feature Editor

A popular sport with at least two Marshall students is that of skin diving.

Al Baker, Oak Hill senior and Jim Johnson, Huntington senior are enthusiastic about this sport, and both feel that "anyone else who tries it will also be fascinated".

"I dive for the thrill of it," said Johnson. "When you're skin diving it takes less effort to breathe than it does normally and when underwater, one has a sense of weightlessness. You can just put your hand out and travel a great distance," he said. "And I enjoy exploring things underwater." Baker said that exploring under water is "like being in another world where everything stops and it's real peaceful."

Johnson took up skin diving six years ago and explained that the initial equipment cost is expensive. He owns a U.S. Diver's Scuba Outfit with a 70 cubic foot tank. "The tank holds enough air for one hour depending on depth and activity," he commented. Tanks are filled each time before use at air reduction centers and this usually costs from one to three dollars. "I know one time we went clear to Columbus just to get air," he said.

Baker began diving in a pool as a result of a skin-diving class at the YMCA in Washington, and since then he has done most of his diving in other pools or in the Potomac River.

Johnson has dived in both the Ohio River and the Atlantic Ocean and his greatest depth was 65 feet. "In the Ohio River if you get a few miles down from a city it is real clear, but other times you can't see your hand in front of you," he commented.

"The only danger in skin-diving," said Johnson, "is panic or faulty equipment." Baker cautions that it is safer to dive in pairs. Johnson recalled that one time he located a motor under water, went up to get a hook, started back down and discovered that his tank was empty. "I had no air in my lungs, my tanks was empty, and there was 30 feet of water above me. I got up out of there as fast as I could!", he exclaimed. Baker had a similar experience. "All you can do is head for the surface," he remarked. "If you panic you're gone."

Debate Tryouts

"What should be United States policy in dealing with Cuba?" will be the question debated by teams from Ohio University and Marshall in a Senatorial debate on the campus on Friday afternoon, May 10.

The debate will be the closing feature of the High School Conference in which students from area high schools will meet to discuss the United States-Cuba problem.

In the debate Marshall debaters will criticize and the Ohio University speakers will defend Kennedy Administration policies on Cuba.

"Positions on the Marshall team are open to all students," according to Prof. B. W. Hope, Marshall's director of debate. "Any student interested in taking part in this debate should see me for details."

Amory To Appear At Forum Tuesday

By DAVID PEYTON
Staff Reporter

America's foremost social historian, Cleveland Amory, will speak at the last Community Forum of the season next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Old Main Auditorium.

Mr. Amory was born in 1917 in Nahant, Mass. His father, Robert Amory, is vice president of a large textile mill and his brother, Robert Amory, Jr., is deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Mr. Amory attended Harvard University, where he devoted much time to the Harvard Crimson, of which he was president during his senior year. Following his graduation in 1939, he served a short term on the Nashua (New Hampshire) Telegraph, after which he became a member of the Saturday Evening Post staff in the capacity of "Postscripts" page editor.

When war came, he saw service in Washington as a lieutenant in the Military Intelligence Division of the General Staff. After his discharge, he went to Arizona where he spent a year and a half, first as a reporter for the Arizona Star in Tucson and later as managing editor in Prescott.

1st Book Best Seller

Mr. Amory's first book, entitled "The Proper Bostonians," appeared in 1947 and remained on the best-seller lists for eight months. His second book, "Home Town," was his first venture into fiction, and proved to be another best seller in 1950. The author continued his witty dissection of society in his third book, "The Last Resort," which is an account of the various playgrounds of the rich.

Ironically enough, Mr. Amory is almost equally well-known for a book he did not write—the Dutchess of Windsor's memoirs. On giving up the job of writing the memoirs, he made the now famous observation, "You cannot make the Duchess of Windsor into Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm."

Newest Book Cited

Mr. Amory's newest major work to date is "Who Killed Society?"—a book which bears the subtitle: "From THE Mrs. Astor to Bessie Wallis Warfield Spencer Simpson Windsor."

In between books, Mr. Amory has written articles for various magazines including Life, Harper's, and Reader's Digest. His newspaper work is widely syndicated in this country.

His chief hobbies are book collecting and chess and, though he leads an active social life, Mr. Amory himself is name-conscious only to the extent that he hopes that most of the thousands of names he mentions in his book are correct. "However," he recently said, "it should be borne in mind that, in dealing with society, married names are subject to change without notice."

ELECTED SENATOR

Mike Ferrell, Chesapeake, Ohio, junior, was elected senior senator in the student government election. His name was inadvertently omitted from The Parthenon. Ferrell polled 152 votes.

Concert Tonight

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY Concert Band, under its director, Wilbur Pursley, will conduct its annual spring concert in Old Main Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. today. Program will include solos by flutist Sue Trent, Baileysville sophomore, and trombonist Ray Ross, Russell, Ky., freshman. Also scheduled is a series of marches including: "Two Marches from Revolutionary America," arranged by R. F. Goldman, and "The Military Symphony" by Gossec. The program will end with a selection from "The Music Man" by Willson.

MU Coeds Attend Regional Session

The Western Region Future Homemakers recently had a meeting at Ripley High School and nearby Cedar Lakes. Miss Martha Lee Blankenship, Marshall Lab School instructor, was region adviser.

Students who attended were Nancy Wells, Janice Caldwell, Mary Sue Hamb, Nancy Baldwin, Patty Bartlett and Linda Alleman. Miss Ruby Neely and Miss Louise Burnette, faculty members, accompanied the coeds.

HOW TO GET EDUCATED ALTHOUGH ATTENDING COLLEGE

In your quest for a college degree, are you becoming a narrow specialist, or are you being educated in the broad, classical sense of the word?

This question is being asked today by many serious observers—including my barber, my roofer, and my little dog Spot—and it would be well to seek an answer.

Are we becoming experts only in the confined area of our majors, or does our knowledge range far and wide? Do we, for example, know who fought in the Battle of Jenkins' Ear, or Kant's epistemology, or Planck's constant, or Valsalva's maneuver, or what Wordsworth was doing ten miles above Tintern Abbey?

If we do not, we are turning, alas, into specialists. How then can we broaden our vistas, lengthen our horizons—become, in short, educated?

Well sir, the first thing we must do is throw away our curricula. Tomorrow, instead of going to the same old classes, let us try something new. Let us not think of college as a rigid discipline, but as a kind of vast academic smorgasbord, with all kinds of tempting intellectual tidbits to savor. Let's start sampling tomorrow.

We will begin the day with a stimulating seminar in Hittite artifacts. Then we will go over to marine biology and spend a happy hour with the sea slugs. Then we will open our pores by drilling a spell with the ROTC. Then we'll go over to journalism and tear out the front page. Then we'll go to the medical school and autograph some casts. Then we'll go to home economics and have lunch.

And between classes we'll smoke Marlboro Cigarettes. This, let me emphasize, is not an added fillip to the broadening of our education. This is an essential. To learn to live fully and well is an important part of education, and Marlboros are an important part of living fully and well. What a sense of completeness you will get from Marlboro's fine tobaccos, from Marlboro's pure filter! What flavor Marlboro delivers! Through that immaculate filter comes flavor in full measure, flavor without stint or compromise, flavor that wrinkled care derides, flavor holding both its sides. This triumph of the tobaccoist's art comes to you in soft pack or Flip-Top box and can be lighted with match, lighter, candle, Welsbach mantle, or by rubbing two small Indians together.

When we have embarked on this new regimen—or, more accurately, lack of regimen—we will soon be cultured as all get out. When strangers accost us on the street and say, "What was Wordsworth doing ten miles above Tintern Abbey, hey?" we will no longer slink away in silent abashment. We will reply loud and clear:

"As any truly educated person knows, Wordsworth, Shelley, and Keats used to go to the Widdicombe Fair every year for the poetry-writing contests and three-legged races, both of which they enjoyed lyrically. Well sir, imagine their chagrin when they arrived at the Fair in 1776 and learned that Oliver Cromwell, uneasy because Guy Fawkes had just invented the spinning jenny, had cancelled all public gatherings, including the Widdicombe Fair and Liverpool. Shelley was so upset that he drowned himself in a butt of malmsey. Keats went to London and became Charlotte Bronte. Wordsworth ran blindly into the forest until he collapsed in a heap ten miles above Tintern Abbey. There he lay for several years, sobbing and kicking his little fat legs. At length, peace returned to him. He looked around, noted the beauty of the forest, and was so moved that he wrote Joyce Kilmer's immortal Trees... And that, smart-apple, is what Wordsworth was doing ten miles above Tintern Abbey."

Golfers Defeat Spring Valley, Lose To OSU

By JERRY REED
Sports Editor

In the second week of action the MU golf squad split two matches, losing to Ohio State and downing the Spring Valley Country Club All-Stars.

Against Ohio State Saturday the MU team went down to defeat by a score of 19-8. The two teams played 36 holes, 18 in the morning and 18 in the afternoon on the par 72 course.

OSU's Jim Brown led his squad with a par 72 in the morning's action as he teamed with Russ Jimeson (81) to defeat Harry Hoffer (74) and Chip Woodring (79). Dick Stillwagon (81) and John Timmons (78) won over Dave Whipkey (75) and Dave Herndon (78) of MU; Bob Rosko (81) and Randy Thrasher (77) of OSU defeated George Somich (78) and Bill Spensky (79) to round out the morning action.

In the afternoon round Brown (70) defeated Hoffer (73); Jimeson (76) and Woodring (76) tied; Stillwagon (73) and Whipkey (73) tied; Rosko (77) and Somich (77) tied; Timmons (76) defeated Herndon (80); and Thrasher (78) defeated Spensky (81).

This was the first time since 1954 that the MU golf team has met a Big Ten team.

The varsity defeated Spring Valley's number one and number two teams and the MU frosh also defeated the number two squad.

Hoffer, Woodring and Spensky won both of their matches and the big match possibly was between Chip Woodring and MU coach Buddy Graham as Woodring took all three points to win over Graham.

For the frosh Larry May and Bill Connelly won their matches while Joe Feaganes and Joe Terrell Jr. tied in their contests.

The two victories on the Toledo diamond gives Marshall a 2-1 overall record and a 2-0 record in the Mid-American Conference.

In Friday's game the Big Green collected 10 hits to defeat the Rockets in a 13-11 squeaker. Dale Lynd was the winning pitcher as he hurled four and two-thirds innings, giving up three hits, two runs and striking out seven batters.

Third baseman Charlie Brown was the leading hitter for Marshall as he collected a home run and a triple in four trips to the plate.

Catcher Zeke Myers and left-fielder Mike Cunningham drove in two runs apiece in the winning effort.

Marshall pounded out a 24-16 slugfest victory in Saturday's game. Collecting 21 hits, which included three homers and a triple, the Big Green held a 12-4 lead going into the bottom half of the fourth inning. At this point the Rockets exploded for eight runs to tie the score at 12 apiece.

Marshall, leaving little to be desired in the way of power, rallied for three runs in the top of the fifth to again take the lead at 15-12. Toledo, not to be denied, in the last of the fifth knocked Marshall's pitcher, Jim Freeman, out of the box and again led 16-15.

From there the Big Green walloped the Rocket pitchers for nine runs and Bob Lambert, who relieved Freeman in the fifth, got credit for the win.

For Marshall Rusty Wamsley was the hitting hero as he banged out three hits, including a homer, and drove in six runs.

Myers followed Wamsley in hitting role as he rapped out four hits and drove in five runs. Brown also had four hits.

First baseman Tony Holbrook and Cunningham supplied the power for the Big Green as each drove long home runs out of the park.

The game was marred by a total of 13 errors, seven by Marshall and six by Toledo.

Alumni Bows; Snyder Pleased

Varsity Avenges Loss, 20-0

"We were happy to win!" That was Coach Charlie Snyder's comment after his charges had taken a 20-0 decision in last Friday night's second annual Varsity-Alumni grid contest.

"Our boys hustled and hit pretty hard", the coach commented on his team's performance at the game played on the Ceredo-Kenova High School field. He explained that the gridders made their share of mistakes, too. "However", he said, "we hope to iron them out by next season."

When asked about the quarterback position, left vacant by graduating record-breaker Bob Hamlin, Snyder said he was pleased with all the performances given at that post. "I can't commit myself as yet," he explained. "They all looked good."

Coach Snyder was also happy to avenge last year's 13-12 loss to the old timers. "We were better prepared than last year," he commented. "Of course their (the Alumni) condition might have had something to do with it, but our boys are older and a lot of them remembered last year's game."

Throughout the entire game all-conference end Jim Cure was covered by two or three defenders. Snyder explained that this was to be expected, but that opponents couldn't afford to put too many men on the rangy wingman. "If they do, it will open up more offensive possibilities."

Snyder said that the team had "a long way to go" before next season. We're not polished yet. After all, we've only been out here a week," he added.

In reference to the Alumni game, Snyder said, "It's worth more than three intrasquad scrimmages because it gives our players a chance to play under game condition pressure against a good team."

Speaking of the Mid-American Conference ruling that all teams will meet each other annually beginning next season through 1970, the coach said, "Our schedule will naturally be rougher. However, we're in the conference and we want to play them all."

Tournament Work Lauded By Eison

Dr. Stewart H. Smith, president of Marshall University, and members of the Athletic Department have been congratulated for their work during the 1963 State Basketball Tournament held at Memorial Field House in late March.

Gordon Eison, executive secretary of the Secondary Schools Activities Commission, thanked them in a letter to Dr. Smith.

Mr. Eison said, "The Board is happy with the way the tournament is handled in Huntington and has voted unanimously to return it there in 1966."

Charleston has been awarded the state tournament for 1965 and will alternate with Morgantown and Huntington in hosting the tournament.

Marshall's Past Is Portrayed In Exhibits At Student Union

Golfers, Baseball Team Face Full Holiday Card

By PAT BLAIR
Feature Writer

Do you know what significance the trophies and pictures in the ballroom of the Student Union have to Marshall's past? Do you know what the Marshall athletic greats are doing today? These questions when answered will depict the tradition that has been Marshall's through the past years.

In the west wing of the Student Union hang three pictures of athletic greats of the past. The latest of these pictures is of Hal Greer, one of the best basketball players ever to play in a Big Green uniform.

Greer is now a starter for the Syracuse Nationals, a professional team in the National Basketball Association.

Beside his picture are two pictures of Marshall football stars, Norm Willey and Frank "Gunner" Gatski. Willey, who was an outstanding end for Marshall, played for the Philadelphia Eagles from 1950 to 1958 and is now coaching high school basketball at Pennville, N. J. Harold L. Willey, who is an associate professor of Education here, is the brother of Norm Willey.

Gatski was a center for the late Thundering Herd from 1938 to 1942. After graduation he played for the Cleveland Browns from 1946 to 1956, the Detroit Lions from 1956 to 1957, and is now coaching football at Pruntytown Correctional Institute.

Student Union are numerous fraternity and sorority plaques which designate the Greeks' contributions to Marshall in past years.

Moving from the fountain room the style of tradition changes. On the south wall of the ballroom is a bronze plaque commemorating General and Mrs. James L. Caldwell for their meritorious work in acquiring funds for the construction of the Student Union. On the same wall is a portrait of Dr. James E. Allen honoring him for his work when he was president of Marshall College from 1935 to 1940.

Over the fireplace on the east wall, according to Professor Joseph S. Jablonski, chairman of the Art Department, "is a mural of 19th century Italian origin, donated to Marshall by the Olgeby Estate 25 years ago. It was given to be placed on display as a commemorating token of the Olgeby estate."

The buffalo head on the same wall was donated to Marshall by the Onized Club of Owens Illinois plant of Huntington. The head symbolizes the previous nickname of the university which was the Thundering Herd.

Directly below the buffalo is the trophy case which contains trophies of the championships and tournaments Marshall has won during the past years.

In the case is the trophy presented to the basketball team of 1948, coached by the late Cam Henderson, for winning the Los Angeles Invitational Tournament. The trophy Marshall won for capturing the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball tourney in Kansas City is also on display in the trophy case. This 1947 championship has been said by many to be the greatest feat in athletics that Marshall has ever accomplished.

These are just a sample of MU's tradition. If you've missed them, stop in the Student Union and see them yourself.

While most students are preparing to go home for Easter and a short vacation the spring sports schedule is a busy one for the golf and baseball squads over the holidays.

The golf team travels to Ohio University tomorrow for a return match. In the first meeting of the year OU won over the Big Green by the narrow margin of 14½ to 12½.

On Saturday the Big Green visit Bloomington, Ind., to compete in the Indiana Invitational. The MU team will meet Ohio State, Michigan State, Purdue, Iowa and Indiana, all from the Big Ten Conference. Other teams that will compete are Notre Dame, University of Tennessee, University of Kentucky, University of Louisville, and Mid-American Conference foe Ohio University.

On April 18, 19, and 20 the Big Green will hit the golf circuit, meeting Miami of Ohio, Cincinnati, and University of Dayton, respectively, all away from home.

The baseball team will travel to Morehead tomorrow to take on the Eagles after having completed a scheduled doubleheader against Rio Grande yesterday.

Three home matches greet the Big Green nine over the holidays as Mid-American Conference foe Miami University comes here for two days of action on April 12 and 13 and on April 16 the baseballers will host Morris Harvey to end their "vacation."

1. With graduation coming up, looks like we'll have to start thinking about the future.

My philosophy is to live from day to day.

2. That's fine when you have no responsibilities. But chances are you'll have a wife to think about soon.

I may just decide to lead the bachelor life.

3. Hardly likely, since 93 per cent of all men and women get married.

Is that so?

4. Yes, indeed. What's more, you'll have children to consider.

Maybe we won't have any.

5. I doubt that — after all, 90 per cent of the women who get married today have children. And, on the average, they have all their children before they're 27.

All my life I've shirked responsibility. Have a ball, enjoy yourself — that's my motto. Now, in two minutes, you've given me a wife and who knows how many children to take care of. What should I do? Where do I begin?

6. First relax. Then look into some good insurance... like Living Insurance from Equitable. It gives the kind of protection every family should have. Helps you save for the future, too. And don't worry — your chances for a happy family-life are very good.

I should never have roomed with a statistics major.

Greeks Honor Swede, Fuller And Herrema

Otto "Swede" Gullickson, professor of physical education, Bob Herrema, Rochester, N. Y., senior, and Ruth Fuller, Huntington senior, all won awards during Greek Week activities last week.

Professor Gullickson received an "outstanding service award" from Nina Hatfield, Charleston junior and co-ordinator of the Greek Week Commission, at a Friday night Greek Week banquet. He received a silver cup for being the faculty member who has shown the most interest in the Greek system.

Herrema and Miss Fuller received the Outstanding Greek Man and Outstanding Greek Woman awards respectively. The awards were given on the basis of outstanding leadership on campus and in the individual social organization. Herrema is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon and Miss Fuller is an Alpha Xi Delta.

In addition to the banquet, activities included a dance Saturday night, church services Sunday and a picnic Sunday afternoon. Saturday afternoon, the Greeks participated in the annual Easter Lily sale, sponsored by the Cabell County Society for Crippled Children, in downtown Huntington.

According to Miss Dorothy Jean Schroeder, chairman of the society, the participants collected more than $1,000. She explained that trophies would be given next year for the man and woman who sold the most lilies.
