Ensemble's 1st Concert Set Sunday

By BETTE BURNETT
Staff Reporter

A new musical organization in the tri-state area, called the Huntington Wind Ensemble, will present its premier concert at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in Old Main auditorium.

The ensemble was formed by Wilbur Pursley, assistant professor of music, as a medium for performing wind numbers and as an outlet for university musicians and professional musicians in the tri-state area.

40 ARE MEMBERS

The ensemble began rehearsals in November at the Music Building. The ensemble includes 40 musicians, three from Huntington High and 18 from Marshall University.

Professor Pursley explained that The Wind Ensemble is a band in its basic organization but that "it calls for more individuality on the part of the musician."

Some of the outstanding works to be featured at the concert are by Ralph Vaughan Williams, Vincent Persichetti and John Philip Sousa. There will also be featured selections from the Broadway musical "Music Man."

DONATIONS ACCEPTED

This is the first in a series of Scholarship Concerts sponsored by the Music Department. These concerts are open to the public without charge. However, donations will be accepted. All money received will be used for the Music Department's Scholarship Fund.

Someone Removed Plaque From Gym

Vandals were at work on the Marshall campus again during the weekend, C. S. Szekely, superintendent of Buildings and Grounds noted Monday.

A bronze plaque bearing the name of the old gymnasium was removed from its place and hung on a fence behind the laboratory school where it was found Monday by Robert D. Bailey, Charleston senior.

The plaque is being replaced in its original position.

HIROKO ISHIHARA

... She'll Help 'Exchange'

'Exchange' Program Set Between Japan And MU

By LELIA MOORE
Feature Writer

A Marshall graduate, a Japanese professor, and a Japanese student at Marshall are the links leading to an "exchange" program.

With Hiroko Ishihara, the only Japanese student on campus, as a translator, Prof. Atsushi Fijiyama will communicate with Carl Miller, associate professor of business administration. Professor Miller will send textbooks, magazines, and other related data in the field of marketing to Waseda University.

The story had its beginning when Morris C. Shawkey, son of a former Marshall president and a Marshall graduate now representing an American business firm in Yokohama, Japan, wrote to Prof. W. Page Pitt, chairman of the Department of Journalism. The letter told of the interest Professor Fijiyama had in marketing, a course being started at Waseda. It was suggested that a counterpart at Marshall forward materials to him.

Mr. Shawkey wrote, "I believe you have a student at Marshall from Japan. If she receives only half the amount of hospitality in Huntington that I have receive in Yokohama, she will be a very happy girl, and I hope she is."

The next letter from Mr. Shawkey was written in Japanese and Hiroko Ishihara interpreted it as saying that the staff of Waseda University was happy about the exchange. "I am coming to Huntington soon. If there is a Japanese student at your University, I would be happy to bring anything she needs from Japan."

Miss Ishihara, a Fulbright Exchange student majoring in speech, answered the letter from Mr. Shawkey and requested that he bring her some materials on radio and television in Japan that she could use in a course that she is taking.

Miss Ishihara is a graduate of Aoyama Gakuin University, Tokyo. She has been in the United States for 17 months. Part of that time she attended Penn State University.

Asked what she thought of the hospitality she has received here, Miss Ishihara said that Marshall is a friendly school and students seem to take an interest in others.

In addition to the exchange of textbooks and materials, Marshall students may also communicate with students at Waseda University. The number of students should be limited, said Professor Miller, as Miss Ishihara will not have time to translate numerous letters. Those interested should contact Professor Miller.

Testimonial Dinner Is Slated Monday To Laud Brewster

Raymond Brewster, executive vice president of Huntington Publishing Co., will be honored with a testimonial dinner at 7 p.m. Monday, at the Hotel Frederick.

Tickets are now on sale at the Journalism Department and at the Office of Adult Education at a cost of $5 per person.

A committee has planned the event to commemorate his 21 years of "unselfish service to education, plus his many contributions to our community that have merited city, county, and statewide recognition."

Mr. John Goodno, ticket committee chairman, said that some inquiry had been made as to whether women may attend. He said that women are urged to attend.

March 12-18 Is Set For Greek Week

'Take Off To Future' Will Be Theme; Fireside Chats To Open Activities

"Greeks Take off to the Future" will be the theme for the 1962 Greek Week festivities March 12-18, according to Junior Jones, Huntington junior and Greek Week coordinator.

The sorority-fraternity fireside chats at the sorority houses begin the week's activities Monday from 9 to 11 p.m. The groups will be paired off in this order; Sigma Sigma Sigma and Sigma Phi Epsilon; Alpha Chi Omega and Alpha Sigma Phi; Sigma Kappa and Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Delta Zeta and Kappa Alpha; Alpha Xi Delta and Pi Kappa Alpha, Alpha Sigma Alpha and Lambda Chi Alpha.

The fireside chat speakers are Dean David Kirk, dean of men, Robert P. Alexander, Director of Placement, Dr. Alex Darbes, Professor of psychology, Mr. Edward C. Glasgow, instructor in English, Dr. Herschel Heath, professor of history, and Mrs. Louise T. Kirby, instructor in English.

Tuesday afternoon the Greeks will paint the bleachers on the intramural field as their Greek Week project, and Tuesday evening exchange dinners between sororities and fraternities are scheduled.

On Wednesday, faculty and administration will be invited to dinner at the various sorority and fraternity houses.

An "invite your neighbor" exchange dinner is planned for Thursday night, with co-recreation following, from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Progressive parties at the sorority and fraternity houses are scheduled from 7-12 p.m. Friday.

The Greek Week parade will be at 11 a.m. Saturday, but positions have not been chosen yet. The dance from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., Saturday will be at Riverside Club in Chesapeake, Ohio. Tickets will be $2 per couple.

Greek Week king and queen will be chosen at the dance. Music will be provided by the Continentals.

On Sunday morning the Greeks will attend church together in this order; Sigma Kappa and Lambda Chi Alpha; Alpha Chi Omega and Alpha Sigma Phi; Alpha Xi Delta and Pi Kappa Alpha; Delta Zeta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Alpha Sigma Alpha and Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Sigma Sigma Sigma and Kappa Alpha.

A picnic from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the Police Farm, with intramurals and Greek games will climax the week's activities.

MU's 'Birthday' Program Ready

A special anniversary Convocation will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow in Old Main Auditorium. The convocation will mark the first anniversary of Marshall University status.

The program, sponsored by ODK, Fagus, and Pi Kappa Delta honoraries, will be a faculty-student forum.

Dr. Charles H. Moffat, professor of history, will speak on Marshall's major accomplishments in the last 15 years and what programs are under way at present.

Dr. Boyd R. Keenan, assistant professor of political science, will outline what the role of the university in the Twentieth Century should be.

Joyce Rohr, Huntington junior, will give an evaluation of how well Marshall measures up to the ideal standard from the student point of view.

Walt Cosby, White Sulphur Springs junior, will point out the responsibilities, both of student and faculty member, in trying to attain this goal.

'Not My Day' -- Bergen Evans; Lost Coat, Hat And Luggage

"It's just not my day," were the final words of Dr. Bergen Evans, nationally-known TV personality and Northwestern University English professor, as he left Huntington following the Thursday Convocation.

After speaking on "The Responsibilities of Being Intelligent," Dr. Evans hurried to his downtown hotel, got to the seventh floor, and discovered that he didn't have his room key. He left his overcoat and hat in the corridor, hurried down to the desk for his key, and when he returned to his room the coat and hat were missing.

Because he was due to catch a plane in a few minutes, he notified the desk of the "theft" and was whisked off to the airport, arriving just before the scheduled departure time only to discover that the plane was four hours late.

With plenty of time on his hands, Dr. Evans called the hotel to find out if his coat and hat had been found. They had. The professor had gotten off on the wrong floor, left his coat and hat outside, and return to the sixth floor after obtaining the key.

The coat and hat were rushed out to him in the airport limousine.

Then the opportunity developed to board another flight. Dr. Evans hurriedly had his suitcase weighed, then picked up the wrong luggage. He was out of the terminal building before the error was discovered.

Did He Catch That One?

PARTHENON REPORTER Bonnie Nelson, Huntington junior, thought she foxed the machine with that fib, but Dr. Kenneth Loemker, professor of psychology, could tell when the Psychometer registered a real whopper.

Be Careful!

Lie Detector Will Tell Fibs

By BONNIE JEAN NELSON
Staff Reporter

What purpose does a "lie detector" serve on a university campus? There is a similar machine—the Psychometer—in Marshall's Psychology Department.

Dr. Kenneth K. Loemker, professor of psychology, said that while the term "lie detector" is inaccurate, there are certain changes in bodily functions when a person is under emotional strain. These changes cannot be controlled by the individual.

"The Psychometer which measures the galvanic skin response or electrical resistance of the skin is used in the classroom laboratory for demonstration purposes in courses which attend emotional behavior and the psychological factors of certain changes in bodily functions. Lies, or anything about which the individual is upset, would cause some of these changes."

The machine has been in the department about 15 years. At the time it was purchased it cost about $300.

"This machine should not be confused with the Polygraph machines used by law enforcement agencies. The name Polygraph tells us that the machine records changes in several bodily functions. Our machine indicates changes in one—sweating in a person's hands. When upset one often finds the hands clammy or sweating. These changes are shown on our machine.

"Of course," Dr. Loemker added, "if a person is a chronic or psychopathic liar, there is no reason to feel that he would be disturbed by questions. In a case like that, the skill of the questioner would be of prime importance."

Asked if people ever wanted him to use the machine for legal or personal proof, he said yes.

"One would be surprised at the number of such requests I have had. These have been refused because the tests would not be sufficiently accurate for any public or private use. Our machine wasn't intended to be that delicate a discriminator. Also, no one in the department is qualified to give such tests."

Such being the case, students can tell their little white lies and just hope they don't get caught.

Fee Allocation Report Tonight

A Senate committee studying the student activity fee is scheduled to deliver its report at tonight's Senate session.

The report was scheduled for last week but last minute suggestions to the committee forced the postponement.

The group is expected to outline a major reapportionment of the fee. Such a move would be in line with a recent Senate resolution.

The Senate measure stated the fee should be recognized as a direct benefit to each individual student and "as a means by which the individual student gains directly more value than he would if the activity fee were not paid."

Formal recommendations to the committee included an increase in the Student Union fee, and increase in the Chief Justice allocation, and the addition of a speech activities fee. This speech activities fee would help to cover the costs of the annual spring musical.

During its study the committee compared the Marshall student activity fee with that at other state colleges and universities. With a fee of $21 a semester or $42 a year, Marshall ranked below the state average of $45 per year.

Cagers End Road Trip At Kent Tonight

By JERRY REED
Sports Writer

Marshall's Big Green cagers are now left with the fate of ending their third straight season with a losing record after bowing to Morehead and VMI in the last week.

Monday night (after the Parthenon's press time), the Big Green sought to avenge the earlier loss handed to them by the Eagles as they traveled to Morehead, Ky. for the return clash.

Tonight Coach Jule Rivlin's charges continue on their road trip as they swing over to Kent State University for a Mid-American Conference contest. So far Kent State has won only one conference game this season. Last month the Big Green downed the Kent hoopsters by a decisive margin at the Memorial Field House and are hoping to come out on top again tonight.

BOWS 76 TO 65

Last Saturday night at Bluefield, Marshall was defeated by VMI as the Keydets rolled to a 76-65 triumph.

In this non-conference tangle the Big Green, led by Mickey Sydenstricker's 24 points, staged a rally with 5:00 remaining in the game but couldn't quite come up with the necessary combination for victory.

In the first half the lead changed hands 11 times along with two ties but VMI had too much strength for the Big Green as it came up with a four-point advantage at the half way mark.

The three contests this week complete the Marshall schedule and its record stands at 8-12 after the VMI game.

Study in Guadalajara, Mexico

It's 'Fore' Time

GOLF COACH Neal B. (Whitey) Wilson (left) and his two co-captains for the coming season, Jim Ward (middle) and Pete Byer, are set to take to the greens in what could turn out to be one of the finest campaigns in recent years. Byer and Ward both went to the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament last spring and are regarded as two of the best golfers in the Mid-American Conference.

Freshman-Varsity Basketball Banquet Scheduled March 6

The annual freshman-varsity basketball banquet will be held next Tuesday, March 6, at 6:30 p.m. at the OnZed Clubhouse.

Ohio University basketball coach Jim Snyder has been obtained as the main speaker and Jim Thacker, sports director of WSAZ television station, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Snyder is one of the most successful coaches in the Mid-American Conference and is widely known as a fine after dinner speaker. The Bobcat mentor is in his 13th season at the Athens, Ohio, institution and was an outstanding football and basketball player there prior to his graduation in 1941. Snyder's teams captured the conference cage title in 1960 and again in 1961 and his team this year was in the running for the crown until the final part of the season.

The dinner is sponsored by the university Stag Club. Tickets may be purchased from members of the club or at the university Athletic Department offices.

Revised Swimming Hours Announced

New swimming pool hours have been announced by Frederick A. Fitch, professor of physical education.
