Shaw Named Dean Of Men

Dormitory Plans, Appointments And Promotions Go To Board

By LARRY ASCOUGH
Editor-in-Chief

Stanley A. Shaw, former assistant to the dean of men at Purdue University, has been appointed Dean of Men effective August 1, according to President Stewart H. Smith. President Smith planned to recommend Mr. Shaw to the State Board of Education yesterday in Charleston. Charles E. Kautz, freshman football coach and instructor in physical education, has been named Acting Dean of Men beginning Monday and continuing until Mr. Shaw assumes his duties.

The president also planned to ask the board to approve preliminary plans for the construction of a new six-story women's dormitory and grant permission to file a full application for a $650,000 HHFA loan. The sum of $600,000 will be supplied from the State Capital Improvement Fund for the dormitory which will cost $1,250,000.

Mr. Shaw, who obtained his M.A. at Purdue, has served two years in the Army and has also been traveling secretary for the Acacia fraternity. While at Purdue, Mr. Shaw worked with fraternities, off-campus housing, discipline, personal counseling, emergency loans and automobile regulations. He is married and has two children.

Also on the board agenda were a list of Marshall faculty appointments and several promotions that were to be considered for approval. All appointments and promotions, with the exception of the new dean of men, are effective Sept. 1.

The list includes: Walter E. Regula, as assistant professor of mathematics. Mr. Regula holds an M.A. degree from Kent State University and has taught for 25 years in Ohio Public schools. He also taught mathematics at Ohio State University; Dr. Herrol J. Skidmore, associate professor of engineering, received his Ph.D. from the University of Iowa. He has been an officer in the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers since 1932 and was formerly district engineer of the Huntington District; John A. Chisler, assistant professor of botany, taught general botany at Ohio State University. He has an M.S. degree from Ohio State.

Dr. B. W. Stehr, associate professor of business administration, received his Ed. D. at Colorado State University. He has been associate professor of business administration at the College of Guam; John J. Patton, associate professor of English, has been assistant professor of English at Albright College, Reading, Pa. He has an M.A. from the University of Pennsylvania; Dr. George Ward, associate professor of psychology, obtained his Ph.D. at Ohio State University. He has been associate professor of psychology at Fairmont State College.

Dr. Simon D. Perry, assistant professor of political science, has taught at the University of Tennessee and the University of Michigan. He received his Ph.D. degree from Michigan State University; and Harry D. Russell, instructor in speech, has an M.A. degree from Ohio State University and also taught there.

The new promotions affect two faculty members and two staff members. William R. Allen, formerly freshmen basketball coach and equipment manager, has been named instructor in health and physical education at the lab school. Prof. H. Nuzum, associate professor of education, has been made Director of Student Teaching in Secondary Education succeeding Prof. Paul N. Musgrave who retired.

Mrs. Vanna W. Hensley, formerly housemother at Alpha Xi Delta, social sorority, will assume hostess duties at University Hall. Richard D. Vass, accountant at Marshall, has been named Treasurer and Accountant.

2 Appointed V-Presidents By Board

By FRAN ALLRED
Managing Editor

The West Virginia Board of Education recently announced the appointment of two vice presidents for Marshall. Dr. Harold E. Walker of Ann Arbor, Mich., has been named vice president of academic affairs, and Joseph S. Soto of Charleston, an educator and former state tax commissioner, will be vice president of business and finance.

The appointments will be effective July 1, President Stewart H. Smith said.

Dr. Walker received his A.B. degree at Whittier (Calif.) College, with a major in philosophy. He received the B. D. degree from Hartford Theological Seminary and a Ph.D. degree from the University of Edinburgh in Scotland. He has completed a post-doctorate program at the Center for the Study of Higher Education at the University of Michigan, where his research project dealt with the office and function of vice president of academic affairs in American colleges and universities.

He has held pastorates in California, Massachusetts and Kansas, and has taught at Friends University and Whittier College. He has served an internship in the office of the vice president of academic affairs at Eastern Michigan University. He has lectured on many college campuses and has been conference leader at the International Youth Conferences in Holland, the British Isles and in the United States.

Mr. Soto was born in Fayette County and graduated from Clear Fork High School. He received an A.B. degree from Morris Harvey College. During the summers of 1958, 1959 and 1960 he attended the Institute of Organization Management at the University of North Carolina.

Mr. Soto taught school in Raleigh County and was an elementary school principal there. He has served as deputy inspector and supervisor of public offices of the state government, administrative assistant to the state tax commissioner, assistant state tax commissioner and state tax commissioner. Mr. Soto has been chairman of the West Virginia Sinking Fund Commission and business manager of the Charleston Chamber of Commerce.

President Smith Heads Meeting

President Stewart H. Smith will be the key speaker and consultant at the Tri-County Summer Educational Conference which will be held on the campus of Gettysburg College, Gettysburg, Pa. The theme of the conference, which will begin June 19, will be "The Non-Academic Oriented Student." The conference will end June 20.

President Smith is a graduate of Gettysburg College and serves on the board of directors.

'63 CJ Editors Announced; '62 Book Available

Shirley Campbell, Clendennin junior, has recently been named Editor-in-Chief of the 1963 Chief Justice. Reno Unger, Huntington senior, was named managing editor and Tom Sutton, Weirton senior, is the business manager.

Miss Campbell is a home economics major and was index and circulation editor on the 1962 CJ and was picture editor of the 1961 CJ. She was also editor of her high school yearbook. Her other activities include president of University Hall, Kappa Omicron Phi, SNEA, and Home Economics club.

Unger was co-sports editor of the 1962 CJ and assistant sports editor of the Parthenon. He was on the editorial staff for the Chicago Junior College newspaper and was bureau assistant for the Chicago picture division of United Press International. Sutton is succeeding himself again this year as business manager. He is an accounting major and is treasurer of Cavaliers, men's independent fraternity, Spanish Club and the 4-H Club.

The 1962 CJ will be distributed beginning today through Wednesday on the second floor of the Student Union. Students must have their identification cards and activity cards. Anyone wishing to buy a book may do so for $4.00.

Grads Hear Baccalaureate Message

BACCALAUREATE SERVICES OF THE 125th Commencement were held on campus near Northcott Hall May 27 at 10 a.m. The Rev. Chalmers Coe, pastor of the First Congregational Church at Columbus, Ohio, delivered the sermon. This was the first time in the history of the school that the exercises were held outside. Commencement exercises were to be conducted outside but were moved to the Keith-Albee Theater because of rain. A record 776 degrees were conferred at Commencement. Of these students, 54 graduated with honors.

Sorority Rush Procedures Changed For Fall Semester By Panhellenic

By EDIE ALEXANDER
Feature Writer

Panhellenic Council has made several changes in rushing procedures for the fall rush season, according to Marne Paulovicks, Panhellenic rush rule chairman.

There will be a period of informal rushing from Saturday, September 15, following Freshman week, to Tuesday, September 18. The sororities may invite potential rushees to church, bowling parties, house parties, etc., but all of these activities must be dutch treat. The rushees will not be permitted to stay overnight in sorority houses during this period.

Coke parties will be held from Wednesday, September 19, to Friday, September 21. There will be two parties at each house from 4 to 5 and 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. during these three days. Only 15 women may be at each party, and no formal written invitations may be issued. There will be no planned entertainment at these parties, and refreshments may not exceed 15 cents per rushee. In the past there have been five days of coke parties with only ten rushees attending each party.

Tea Begins Rush

Formal rush is officially underway with the Panhellenic tea Saturday, September 22. The tea will be from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Student Union, under the direction of Panhellenic representatives.

Rushees will sign the rush book at the tea, making them eligible for invitations to formal rush parties.

The open houses, or first parties, Sunday, September 23, will be different this year. In the past the rushees attended only the houses of their choice and stayed as long at one house as they wanted. They did not have an opportunity to see all the houses and meet all the members. This fall the rushees will be divided into groups and a Panhellenic member will accompany each group to the house. They will rotate from house to house so that every rushee will have an opportunity to visit every sorority. There will be two open house periods, from 1-4 and 6-9 p.m.

2nd Parties Slated

The second parties will be Monday and Tuesday following open houses. There will be three one-hour parties each night from 6-7, 7:30-8:30 and 9-10 p.m., instead of the two hour and a half parties used in past rush seasons.

Planned entertainment and favors will be allowed at the second parties.

There will be three third parties Wednesday and Thursday, September 26 and 27. Immediately following third parties silence begins. Affiliated women may not speak to rushees until Saturday at 12 p.m. when bids are issued.

Preference slips may be turned into the Dean of Women from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Friday following the third parties.

Rush Over Saturday

Saturday, Panhellenic representatives will deliver bids promptly at 12 noon and silence will end.

These rush changes make rush season shorter and by condensing it the rushees will not lose interest, and it will not be so time consuming for the sorority members.

The informal rush period, which is an entirely new program, will give rushees and sorority members an opportunity to get acquainted before the beginning of formal rush.

Six Vacancies Left For Historic Tour

Although over half of the reservations for the 29th annual New York Vacation Tour sponsored by Prof. W. Page Pitt, chairman of the Journalism Department, have been taken, six places have been reserved for Marshall summer session students on a first-come, first-served basis. Detailed itineraries of the educational vacation tour are available in the Journalism Department.

This year's expanded tour, leaving Huntington August 19 and returning August 26, will travel as far as Boston for conducted tours of historic New England. The group will go to New York in private air-conditioned motor coaches by way of Colonial Virginia, Washington D. C., Baltimore, Valley Forge, and Philadelphia, returning through the heart of the Pennsylvania Dutch country to the battlefield of Gettysburg.

"Oldtimers" to the tour, tristers who have been on the trip two to six times each, have registered early, completely filling the first section of the tour. Bookings are now being made made for the second section. The "Oldtimers" range from high school and college students through young professional and business people to retired couples. Tour sponsors explain that it is not a public tour and all those accepted for registration must have the recommendation of a Marshall student or faculty member. The sponsors reserve the right to refuse or cancel any reservation.

While in New York City, the group will have conducted tours of both Upper and Lower Manhattan, will visit the United Nations, the Statue of Liberty, Radio City, will see the Rockettes and Music Hall, will have a yacht cruise completely encircling Manhattan Island, will visit radio and television studios, and will have ample time for shopping and personal visiting.

They will be lodged at the Piccadilly Hotel.

In New England the group will stay at the Parker House in Boston. They will have a conducted tour over the route made famous by Paul Revere and the British troops, will see Lexington and Concord, Old North Church, the homes of Longfellow, Lowell, Emerson, Alcott, Hawthorn and Thoreau, such famous landmarks in literature as the House of the Seven Gables, Walden Pond, the House of the Village Blacksmith, and Wayside Inn.

The visitors will see the Mother Church (The First Church of Christ, Scientist), the Christian Science Publishing House, Boston University, Harvard University, Radcliffe College, and M.I.T. On the return they will visit the campus of Yale University.

A conducted sightseeing tour of the nation's capital will be made on the second day of the tour after a night spent at the Annapolis Hotel in Washington. In Philadelphia the group will visit Independence Hall, where they will see the Liberty Bell and other momentos of our nation's founding, and the Betsy Ross House.

The last night of the eight day tour will be spent in Lancaster in the land of the Amish, where they will have a Pennsylvania Dutch dinner and breakfast before a visit to the Gettysburg battlefield.

Complete details on the tour and registration are available from the department of journalism or the tour registrar, Virginia Daniel Pitt, 151 Edison Drive, telephone JACKSON 2-9092.

Letter To Editor

Dear Editor,

On the basis of my work at Marshall, I have been accepted for graduate study in theology by both Union Theological Seminary of New York City and Yale University Divinity School of New Haven, Connecticut. Both have offered me scholarships for my first year of graduate study. The scholarships pay $700 and $775 respectively. I have chosen to attend Union Theological Seminary, which is related to Columbia University, and will begin my studies there this coming September.

Once again let me congratulate you on your Lyceum series. I hope that it continues. The University of Chicago newspaper, the Maroon, consists largely of material similar in content and quality to your Lyceum.

Morley Meredith Set As First Series Guest

Morley Meredith, leading baritone of the grand opera, will appear on the first program of the Summer Concert Series June 19 at 8:15 in Old Main Auditorium according to Curtis Baxter, manager of the Artist Series program and director of Forums and Conventions.

Leadership Camp Set

Several changes in membership, discussion groups and purpose will be initiated at Leadership Camp this year, according to Donna Darbes, Huntington junior and coordinator.

The camp will be held August 29, 30 and 31 at Cedar Lakes near Ripley.

Members of the steering committee are Junior Jones, recreation, Carroll Kincaid, discussion groups, Julie Wiles, speakers, Shirley Campbell, secretary, Bertie Ann Humphreys, correspondence, and Dave Hammack, transportation.

Leadership Camp membership will be limited this year to eliminate meetings of campus organizations. The camp is, according to Miss Darbes, a meeting of leaders on campus to study Marshall as a whole, evaluate its government and purpose and make recommendations to the student government to carry out new ideas gained from the camp.

In the past the camp has been a meeting place for various committees and organizations, defeating the purpose of meeting to evaluate the workings of Marshall.

Dr. Hershel Heath of the history department will be the keynote speaker, leading discussions of the main theme of the camp which will be broken down into sub-topics for consideration by smaller discussion groups.

The topics will be concerned with problems such as the role of the student in school and in society, what areas of campus life should be stressed and the purpose of Marshall as a university. Panel discussions will follow each group meeting.

A re-evaluation by each student of his purpose as a student and ways of improving Marshall is the object of the group.

Student membership at camp will be limited to two representatives from each campus organization, several student government groups, and the steering committee. This will bring the total membership to approximately 120.

The reduction in attendance will allow for smaller discussion groups and a more personal relationship between faculty and students at camp.

Library Announces Book Regulations

Special regulations concerning library books on reserve have been announced by Mrs. Margaret Bobbitt, reference librarian. Books on open reserve may be checked out at 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday and are due at 9 a.m. the following day. Books on closed reserve may be checked out at 7:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday and will be due at 9 a.m. the following day.

All open and closed reserve books may be checked out for the week-end at 1:30 p.m. Friday and will be due at 9 a.m. Monday, Mrs. Bobbitt said.

ager of the Artist Series program and director of Forums and Conventions.

The second Summer Concert will be held July 24 presenting George Riabikoff, pianist.

Mr. Meredith has performed singing-acting roles for the New York City Center Opera, the Central City Opera and the American Opera Society, as well as with other companies.

While obtaining his pre-med degree at the University of Manitoba, he won special acclaim for his outstanding performances in the Glee Club's musical productions. As a result he was engaged by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to appear as a recitalist on his own weekly program.

Shortly after this he won the "Singing Stars of Tomorrow" on the Metropolitan Auditions of the Air.

Mr. Meredith has sung during the past two seasons as guest artist with Sir John Barbirolli and the New York Philharmonic.

He has appeared on television in the Ford Hour presentation of "Oedipus Rex" and "Die Meistersinger" both under the baton of Leonard Bernstein. With the NBC-TV Opera Company he portrayed the major role of Prince Andrey in the American premiere of Prokofiev's "War and Peace."

Music critics have hailed this young baritone as the "Canadian Nelson Eddy." Born in Winnipeg, he has appeared in solo recitals throughout Canada in a series sponsored by the Canadian Federation of Music Teachers' Association.

New Sorority Is Considered

The Panhellenic Council is investigating the possibility of inviting a new sorority to Marshall, according to Mrs. Lillian H. Euskirk, dean of women.

The need for more Greek organizations is more and more pressing with the growth of Marshall in the past few years. Because of the quota system which limits membership of social sororities, there are many interested women who are unable to pledge.

Only about 360 women on campus may be affiliated with sororities each year. Each sorority is limited to 20 pledges during first semester rush, and in second semester rush they are allowed to pledge only enough women to bring their membership up to 60.

The new sorority would not be invited to colonize until after the completion of the fall formal rush program.

Several sororities have been investigated, but the council has not made a definite decision yet.

English Exam Set For June

By JOAN FAVORITE
Teachers College Journalist

The Qualifying Examination in English Composition, required for graduation by all university students, will be given this summer, according to Prof. A. Mervin Tyson, chairman of the English Department.

Dates for two summer examinations are 9 a.m. Saturday, June 23 and Saturday, July 28, Professor Tyson said. He added that they will be given in the Science Auditorium. The same basic requirements as for previous examinations are in effect. This is the first time the examination is being offered in the summer.

Students are eligible to take the exam in the summer if they have acquired 68 or more semester hours at the end of the second semester 1961-62 in the Engineering program; if they have just attained junior status (58 or more semester hours) in other four year programs; and if they have just acquired 45 or more semester hours in a two-year program.

Professor Tyson emphasized, "Students previously declared exempt because they had more than 80 hours in the Engineering program or more than 70 hours in the other four year programs at the beginning of the first semester 1961-62, are not required to take the examination." Also exempt are students who had A or B in the "A" sections of English 101 or 102, and foreign students for whom English is not a native language.

Students who were assigned to take the examination previously and who did not do so may take it during the summer, Professor Tyson explained. Students who have failed the examination are required to complete the composition clinic before retaking it.

Those completing the clinic at the end of the second semester 1961-62 are eligible for the examination in the summer, Dr. Tyson said. No assignment lists will be prepared for the summer examination.

REGISTRATION CONTINUES

Late Registration will continue through today, tomorrow and Saturday. Registration will end at 11:30 a.m. on Saturday. Late registration fees must be paid by those registering late.

Centennial Commission Has Press Conference

By KEITH MARKINS
Feature Writer

The West Virginia Centennial Commission held its first statewide press conference at the Press Club in Charleston May 18. Three Marshall University students attended as representatives of WMUL, Marshall's educational radio station.

The WMUL representatives who attended were Jerry Ashworth, Huntington graduate student and WMUL general manager; John P. Killoran, Lewisburg graduate and past director of promotion and publicity; and Carolyn Reed, Huntington graduate student and director of promotion and publicity. Miss Reed will be handling centennial publicity for WMUL.

At the press conference Carl R. Sullivan, executive director of the West Virginia Centennial Commission, urged all news media to begin a concerted campaign to alert the citizens of the state to the giant task that lies ahead in preparing for the increased tourist trade in the centennial year.

Mr. Sullivan asked for editorializing on a state-wide basis dealing with the alarming shortage and inadequacy of some of the facilities for tourist accommodations during the centennial year.

In this same connection, the presidents of the West Virginia Restaurant Association, hotel and motel associations, and a representative of the Gasoline Dealers Association asked for radio, television and newspaper support in hammering these facts home.

Mr. Sullivan also presented the first progress report of the behind the scenes activities in connection with the forthcoming centennial celebration in 1963. A discussion period followed pertaining to the dissemination of news releases from the commission office.

It was stated by Mr. Sullivan that the centennial was not merely ly a "birthday party," but must serve for the creation of new attitudes and facilities in order to look to the next 100 years as well as the last 100. He named six objectives which his commission hopes the 1963 West Virginia Centennial will accomplish.

1. Increase pride in West Virginia by West Virginians.
2. Increase industrial and commercial development in West Virginia.
3. Increase the tourist business in the state.
4. Change the national image of West Virginia.
5. Solve the problems of sectionalism in our state.
6. Make some inroads into problems that exist in West Virginia.

An explanation was also given of the official centennial seal which shows a silhouette of the state with the radio-telescope located at Green Bank pictured in the foreground. The telescope is aimed at a star having the number 35 in it. This represents West Virginia as the 35th state and the 35th star in the American flag.

Golfers Ready For NCAA Tournament

Big Green Golfers Complete Season By Taking MAC Title

By RAY CUMBERLEDGE
Assistant Athletic Director

Marshall University's golf team will leave Friday morning for the NCAA golf tournament at Durham, N. C., climaxing the most successful golf season in Marshall's history.

Regardless of how well the Big Green golfers do in the NCAA, their record already this season will go down in the record books as the best ever at Marshall. A few of this season's record accomplishments are: a 20-1 season record (best in school's history); a 9-1 Mid American Conference record (best since Marshall entered the Conference); winning the Mid-American Conference championship (first in Marshall's history); and had top three men in Mid-American Conference tournament.

Sophomores Are Surprises

This year's fine record was brought about by many factors: 1. The steady play of veterans Jim Ward, Pete Byer and Harry Hoffer; 2. The surprising play of sophomores David Whipkey and Chip Woodring; 3. The improvement of sophomore Bill Spensky; and 4. the hard work, dedication and overall team depth.

The play of Ward, Byer and Hoffer really came as no surprise to those familiar with Marshall golf and golf throughout the state of West Virginia.

Ward, Quite A Name

Ward, a veteran of the Army, has made quite a name for himself in the Mid-American Conference and in West Virginia golf circles. Last year Jim finished fifth in the MAC (only four strokes behind teammate Byer, who was the Conference champion). He won the Forrest Hills Open, was runner-up in the Huntington Public Links Tournament, quarter-finalist in the West Virginia State Amateur, runner-up in W. Va. State Open and qualified for and played in the National Amateur Tournament in Pebble Beach, California. This year Ward tied for first place in the Mid-American Conference with teammate Pete Byer. Jim wound up the regular season with a 13-6-2 record. He plans to teach upon graduation from Marshall.

Byer No Stranger To Tourney

Byer, also an Army veteran, will be entering the NCAA Tournament no stranger to this event or to the tournament trail. Pete was a quarter-finalist in last year's NCAA event. He has participated in and won many tournaments in his golfing career. Among his outstanding golfing accomplishments are: winner of the state Caddy Tournament in 1952; winner of the State Junior Amateur Tournament in 1952 and 1953; winner of the 7th Corp. Tournament in Munich, Germany in 1956; winner of the 2nd Regimental Tournament in Germany in 1957; Medalist winner of the W. Va. Amateur in 1956; winner of the Maine Open in 1961; Mid-American Conference Champion in 1961; winner for East in NCAA East-West Tournament in 1961; quarter-finalist NCAA Tournament in 1961; and Co-Medalist in the Mid-American Conference in 1962. Pete plans to teach when he finishes at Marshall.

Hoffer Is Veteran Golfer

Although Harry Hoffer is only a sophomore on the Marshall squad, he is a veteran golfer. His father is a golf pro and Harry has spent all his life around or on the golf course.

Harry also is no stranger to the tournament trail. He won the State High School Tournament in 1958; the Huntington Public Links Tournament in 1959 and 1960; the Kanawha Valley Amateur Tournament in 1961; lost in semi-final round of W. Va. State Amateur to Ed Tutwiler, who won the Tournament. Harry wound up the regular season play with a fine 17-4 record. This is an especially good record for a sophomore.

Chip Woodring and David Whipkey were two big surprises on this year's Big Green squad.

Woodring Has 18-1-2 Record

Woodring wound up the regular season play with an 18-1-2 record. This too is a very fine record for a sophomore who met the very tough competition on the Marshall golf schedule. Marshall coach Neal B. "Whitey" Wilson, who recruited Woodring, knew he was a very good golfer, but thought he was at least a year away from reaching his potential. However, he came through like a veteran.

It was Woodring's three under par 66 that actually won the Mid-American Conference crown for the Big Green. Chip was the last Marshall golfer to come in off the course in the final round of play. Marshall was behind Ohio University, who was leading at the time, by two strokes. Woodring had to finish two strokes under par (par was 69) in order to assure the Big Green at least a tie for the Conference title. However, Chip was not going to be satisfied with a tie. He finished with a 66 (three strokes under par) to win the title for Marshall. His 66 was his lowest score of the year and it couldn't have come at a better time.

Whipkey Is Pleasant Surprise

David Whipkey was a very pleasant surprise on this season's Big Green squad. David is relatively new at the game of golf. He played his high school golf at Marshall High School, but he never really got serious about the game until last year, his freshman year at Marshall. He wound up the regular season play this year with a 15-6 record. If David continues to improve next year like he did this year, he will be giving someone a fight for one of the top positions on next year's Big Green squad.

Spensky Showed Improvement

Bill Spensky, the number six man on this year's Marshall squad showed vast improvement. Bill came to Marshall from the Weirton High School golf team. On several occasions this season it was Bill who came through with wins at his number six spot to win close matches for Marshall. With this year's experience under his belt and some tournament play this summer, he should be an even more improved golfer next season.

Homecoming Theme Oked

Marshall To Aid W.Va. Centennial

West Virginia Centennial has been approved by the senate as the 1962 Homecoming theme, according to Gary McMillan, student body president.

House decoration themes, floats, and other Homecoming activities will portray scenes from West Virginia history.

The Homecoming Commission and student government will be working with the West Virginia

Federation of Collegiate Student Councils and West Virginia University on ideas for themes. West Virginia University's Mountaineer Weekend will be based on the Centennial theme also.

The Alumni Association is considering holding a separate dance for alumni to eliminate the seating problem which has been of major concern to the Homecoming Commission for the past few years, according to John Sayre, development and alumni affairs.

Alumni would be able to attend either dance since many of them are affiliated with Greek organizations that sit as a body at the student dance.

The Alumni Association will not have a party before the dance this year, so the dance will be the only opportunity for all the alumni to meet during the weekend.

Summer Hours Set For Pool

Co-recreational swimming hours have been announced for the pool in the Men's Health and Physical Education Building for the summer term.

Student co-recreational swim will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. daily except Tuesday, when it will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. "The evening swim has been changed to Tuesday night so as not to conflict with the Wednesday night mixes and give the students a chance to enjoy both" according to Professor Fredric A. Fitch, pool director.

Faculty swimming period will be from 4 to 5 p.m. Monday and Thursday, and from 7 to 9 on Tuesday evenings.

The pool is located near the south east corner of the Men's Health and Physical Education Building across the hall from the athletic office and may be found easily by entering the building from the door in that corner and going up the stairs to the main floor.

The Parthenon Receives Award From Army

FRAN ALLRED, MANAGING EDITOR of The Parthenon, and William E. Francois, assistant professor of journalism and editorial counselor of The Parthenon, accept a certificate of appreciation from Lt. Col. Thomas Ariail, professor of military science and tactics and head of the ROTC department. The Parthenon was "cited for the meritorious patriotic civilian service it has exemplified in support of the United States Army Reserve Officer Training Corps program."

Parthenon Gets Citation From The U. S. Army

Marshall University's student newspaper, The Parthenon, has been awarded a certificate of appreciation by the Department of the Army.

The certificate, signed by the Secretary of the Army and the commander of the Second U.S. Army, was presented to the newspaper staff by Lt. Col. Thomas Ariail, professor of military science and tactics and head of the Marshall ROTC detachment.

The citation reads:

"The Parthenon . . . is cited for the meritorious patriotic civilian service it has exemplified in support of the United States Army Reserve Officers Training Corps program. The staff of The Parthenon has demonstrated wholehearted cooperation and assistance in publicizing the activities and events of the Cadet Brigade. As a result of their sincere efforts in this behalf, student interest and participation in the ROTC program have increased considerably. In addition, both the faculty and the student members of this newspaper's staff have unstintingly given their time and talents to promote a better understanding of the important contributions the ROTC makes toward the national defense posture of the United States. In so doing, the staff have materially assisted the United States Army in its efforts to inform and to encourage the best qualified college students to take part in the ROTC program. The outstanding support rendered by this news media to the attainment of the ROTC's objectives is worthy of especial recognition, and its achievements reflect great credit upon its management and staff as well as Marshall University."

Immediately following the brief ceremony, Prof. W. Page Pitt, chairman of the Journalism Department, presented a certificate of meritorious service to John Hines, The Parthenon's editor-in-chief during the 1961-62 academic year. Mr. Hines of Huntington is a full-time reporter on the staff of the Herald-Dispatch who graduated from Marshall May 27.

Student To Sing In State Drama

A Marshall University student will be singing with the "Honey in the Rock" chorus this summer when the play opens in Cliffside Amphitheatre, Grandview State Park, near Beckley.

Elwyn Nathaniel Reeves, Beckley junior, is returning to "Honey in the Rock" for the second season.

The 16-voice chorus will be directed by David Albaugh, music instructor at Concord College.

Reeves, a tenor, is a member of the Marshall Symphonic Choir.

"Honey in the Rock," Dr. Kermit Hunter's Civil War drama, will open on June 26 and run through September 2. Performances are given nightly at 8:15 except Mondays.

Fourteen Departments Will Offer Honors Courses Starting This Fall

By SANDY O'SHEA
Feature Writer

A total of 14 departments intend to offer honors courses of one type or another during the 1962-63 academic year.

These departments are: English, Philosophy, Economics, Psychology, Political Science, Education, Business Administration, Spanish, Mathematics, Physical Science, History, Military Science, Sociology and Speech. The latter three departments will offer entirely new honors courses for the first time this fall while the other departments previously have had honors courses in operation.

Dr. Charles H. Moffat, professor of history, has been named chairman of the departmental honors program. Professor Moffat stated that the honors program "will be one of the most complete in the state of West Virginia."

Students wishing to participate in the honors program must have a 3.3 overall academic average with a 3.5 average in their major field. However, the required academic averages do not automatically make the student eligible. Other qualifications such as character and deportment are also considered. The accepted procedure for entering an honors course is for the student to make known his eligibility to the chairman of the department. Upon recommendation of the department chairman, the student's name is submitted to the honors committee which consists of his academic dean and two faculty members. Their approval entitles the student to register for the honors courses in the department in which he has a major.

Honors courses must be taken in sequence and the two semesters of reading for honors entitles the student to eight hours of credit.

Dr. Lloyd Beck, professor of philosophy, who has been active in the honors program almost since its inception, says that the honors courses is a way of giving students recognition in their major field. "Enrolling in an honors course, says Professor Beck, "not only fills the student with a sense of pride and an appreciation for the privilege, but at the same time he feels a greater responsibility to do good work and usually does superior work in the honors course." Beck comments that "the greatest effect of this program on the undergraduate, aside from obtaining credit without class attendance, is a desire to do the sort of good work that gives him a sense of satisfaction—a satisfaction which he may not feel in the work of a regular class."

"The fact that the student is freed from class attendance and has more time for planning and carrying out the study program under the guidance of his advisor all adds up to my conviction of the basic value of this program even though it should be further studied, evaluated and improved."

This fall Marshall also will initiate its Interdisciplinary Honors Seminar under the direction of Dr. Ronald G. Rollins, assistant professor of English. "The seminar," says Professor Rollins, "is designed to fructify the minds and the imaginations of the exceptional students—the aristocracy of the mind at Marshall University."

Nineteen sophomores, juniors and seniors from the three undergraduate colleges have been selected to participate in the program. The students were selected on the basis of a 3.5 academic average or higher and certain other "vitalizing characteristics." The seminar will meet one night a week from 6:30 to 9 p.m. in the Student Christian Center and will offer 2 credit hours per semester.

Professor Beck, who is the first scheduled speaker, explains that the seminar will encourage talented students by giving them the opportunity to study and discuss together great and crucial ideas or problems that characterize our times.

"Freedom — Its Meaning" will be the topic examined during the seminar's first semester of operation. The key phrase for the first semester will be: "If we do not study freedom, we shall have no freedom to study". Different lectures will treat with the philosophical, artistic, historical, political, social, religious, economic and scientific aspects of freedom.

Professor Rollins commented that the seminar, "as a bold and imaginative endeavor, should indicate to interested people in our state and in neighboring states also, that Marshall University is working to distinguish itself as an institution increasingly concerned with academic excellence."

WMUL Resumes Broadcasts In Fall

WMUL-FM, Marshall University's radio station has now been broadcasting for six months. The first broadcast was on November 1, 1962, and the last broadcast was May 18, 1962. WMUL will resume broadcasting on October 1.

Last year's program schedule included: local and state news reports, interviews from students and faculty members, reports for public service organizations, music from all over the world, classical music, popular music, weekly news reports from Germany and a dramatic program.

Dr. Stephen Buell, faculty advisor for the radio station, said, "WMUL's programming will be greatly expanded next fall." Dr. Buell received his doctorate degree from Ohio State University in May.

Women In Unusual Fields At Marshall

By LELIA MOORE
Feature Writer

Marshall had several women in unusual fields last semester, including political science, pre-med and engineering, proving that these fields are not "strictly for the men."

Eight or ten women are majoring in political science, according to Dr. Paul D. Stewart, chairman of the Political Science Department. Dr. Stewart feels that few women go into actual law practice due to difficulty of getting a position, but many work in government or as law librarians. The teaching field is one that women political science majors should explore as few women professors teach in that area, said Dr. Stewart.

Among the several political science majors is Elizabeth (Betsy) Daniels, Huntington graduate, who was the first Marshall student to file for a state elective office. She won the primary election to run on the Republican ticket for the House of Delegates from Cabell County.

Diane McCormick, South Charleston junior, is majoring in political science and Russian and wants to go into government work. Miss McCormick, who received an award from Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honorary, for being the outstanding sophomore, feels that government is of high importance today and that political science is a "fascinating field."

Joyce Rohr, Huntington senior, plans to work in a government position this summer in Washington, D.C., with the possibility of a permanent position after graduation. Undecided yet, she may go to graduate school and then teach political science on the college level.

Miss Rohr's reason for choosing the political science field was primarily to study the social sciences with a liberal arts background.

Another political science major, Pamela Kay Adkins, a Huntington junior, plans to go into marketing and retailing.

Few women go into the engineering field, but Marshall did have one woman graduate in 1961. She is Mary Martha Baker, now employed in Milwaukee, Wis., as a civil engineer for a forestry service.

At the present, the engineering department has one woman taking courses. Judy Steahley, St. Albans sophomore, plans to do drafting for the State Road Commission this summer.

Women majoring in pre-med are perhaps more common, said Dr. Ralph M. Edeburn, professor of zoology. Two women, Marian Upchurch, of Huntington, and Ruth Wilkerson, St. Albans junior, have been accepted by medical schools this fall, and more women are preparing for entrance.

Marian Upchurch, who is classified as a special student at Marshall, has an unusual background for a pre-med student, one that would enable her to produce her own "Ben Casey" show. She is a graduate of Northwestern University, where she majored in radio and television. She attended Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., for two years where she received an associate of arts degree in speech, and attended Chicago University one year.

Miss Upchurch had no previous courses when she came to Marshall for the second summer term last year. Asked why she decided to go into medicine after studying speech, she said it was due partly to her background—her father is a doctor and she has done voluntary work in hospitals. Miss Upchurch will enter medical school at West Virginia University this fall.

Ruth Wilkerson has been accepted at the Medical College of Virginia, at Richmond. She is also being considered by Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.

Miss Wilkerson said she has always admired doctors for their knowledge, ability and demand for perfection, and would like these qualities to become a part of her life.

Opportunities for women in the geology field are also plentiful, according to Dr. Raymond E. Janssen, chairman of the Geology Department, but there are no women majors right now. Women may teach, work in museums or do research in laboratories. Many people think of geology as an "outdoor" subject and thus women seldom study this field, said Dr. Janssen.

Cadets Receive Army Commissions

Graduates Will Begin Training

Two May graduates, Ann Kellerman, Huntington, and Charles Anthony Russel, Springfield, Ohio, have been accepted by the Peace Corps for training and overseas assignments.

Miss Kellerman will begin a three-month training course June 21 at an undesignated university. Upon completion of the course she will serve as a teacher's aide in the Philippines. She majored in art and is a member of Kappa Pi, national art honorary.

Russell will serve as a secondary education teacher in Sierra Leone on Africa's Gold Coast. He will begin training June 16. He majored in English in Teachers College and is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha, social fraternity, and Omicron Delta Kappa, leadership honorary.

Teacher Gets Study Grant

Mrs. Ruth Sutherland, one of five state high school journalism teachers receiving fellowships for summer study from The Newspaper Fund of The Wall Street Journal, will study at Marshall this summer.

A teacher at Ceredo - Kenova High School, Mrs. Sutherland is the only teacher who will attend Marshall under this program this summer.

The awards were made to 465 high school and junior college teachers in the nation. This year's fellowship winners represent 49 states.

Placement Office Plans Career Day For Upperclassmen -- Alexander

Sponsoring a career day each year, similar to the Federal Career Day, is a plan for the future of Robert P. Alexander, director of placement.

Another plan is to hold group meetings with second semester juniors and graduating seniors early in the fall of the year to explain the operation of the office so that they may take advantage of it, according to Mr. Alexander.

He also hopes to offer a senior seminar without credit in which professional people in various fields would be invited to groom students for their job-hunting campaigns. A psychologist might be invited to administer tests, he explained, and a personnel worker to explain what is expected of an employee. These and other people might be invited to an open forum where the students might learn where he begins in his field of endeavor and what the steps are for advancement.

Mr. Alexander is now working to establish a West Virginia placement officers association through which all state colleges and universities may be brought together to discuss problems in the placement field.

About 75 per cent of the graduating seniors use the Placement Office, he says, and would encourage all graduating seniors to register with the Office, even if they have already secured employment. It is important, he says, for the office to have the student's faculty recommendations and grade record on file for future job possibilities. Cards are kept on alumni and referred to as letters come in asking for experienced and older personnel.

The placement office is as busy in the summer as in the winter, if not more so, Mr. Alexander says. The reason for this, he explained, is that there are graduates in July and August, and also May, graduates who are still seeking employment. These latter, he pointed out, are often good students who don't register at the office until late and employers' quotas are filled.

Mr. Alexander says a good academic record is important to employers. Extracurricular activities, particularly leadership in them, are also important, he says. He often asks a job-seeker, "What have you done, besides just joining?" Employers look for leadership, he says.

Nearly 2,000 students have obtained full-time employment through the Placement Office since it was organized by Mr. Alexander in 1958. About 2,500 have obtained part-time jobs. He expects that 1,000 will obtain employment in the 1961-62 school year. He estimates that half the graduates will leave the state for employment elsewhere.

Growth has been more rapid than in most placement offices, according to Mr. Alexander. The first year, he said, 800 students were interviewed, while in 1960-61 over 2,000 were interviewed. At the end of this year he expects about 2,600 to have been interviewed. Facilities, he said, are being taxed to capacity. The office handles over 15,000 pieces of correspondence and has about 12,000 vacancies reported in a year.

Psychological Exam Set For Saturday

The Ohio State Psychological Examination will be given in Room 206 of Old Main, Saturday beginning at 8 a.m. The test is required of all education majors and all students working in teacher education programs.

All students who are planning to go on to graduate school who have not taken this test are urged to do so on Saturday.

If a student does not do well during the coming summer and does not take the examination, the Graduate School cannot encourage the student to take additional graduate work.

On the other hand, if a student does not do well during the summer, but makes a high score on the examination, the Graduate School may give him another chance.

ALL CONCERTS FREE

All Summer Concert Series are free for students and open to the public, according to Curtis Baxter, manager of the Artist Series program and director of Forums and Convocations.

There will be two such programs this summer beginning Wednesday night at 8:15 in the Old Main Auditorium.
