Student President Advises Freshmen

Dear Freshmen:

If we should walk from the Russian sector into the American sector of Berlin, we would immediately notice the tremendous change. This is analogous to a student making the transition from high school and home life to that of college and campus life.

We, as college students, need to recognize this transition and its importance. Depending upon our own personalities, this change may be slight or of great magnitude and how we meet this change will determine the extent of our success in our future fields of endeavor. It is of paramount importance that we learn to adjust to college situations—both academic and social.

We shall be confronted with many decisions. Some of the many questions we shall have to answer are:

1. How would we arrange our academic schedules?
2. How may we best use our leisure time?
3. With how many campus organizations should we be associated?

We are adults. We have the ability to make these decisions correctly but it will be the responsibility of the individual to arrive at the decision that is most applicable to his or her situation. However, we are all in a state of learning. Do not feel ashamed to seek the advice of upperclassmen. Remember the old adage, "Two heads are better than one."

Now, may I on behalf of the entire student body, extend to you a most cordial welcome to Marshall University. I feel confident that you, as future leaders, will make the most of your higher education.

Best of luck to the Class of 1966.

Welcome Is Given By President Smith

To the class of 1966:

As you begin your college career, you should have a clear understanding of why you want a college education. College really is the beginning of your life's work. During the coming four years, you will have the opportunity to build those habits and ideals that will lay the foundation for a happy, successful and satisfying life.

Your chief aim should be to develop your mind. Well-trained minds are in great demand today. Never before have business, industry and government competed so strongly for learned people. It is up to you to find the proper balance between scholarship and college activities. Participation in campus activities has its values and rewards but you must not sacrifice your studies for them.

Success in college as in all other activities comes slowly. It comes to those who do each days work well and who use their talents and abilities to the fullest extent. Competition in college is greater than it was in high school. To secure good grades, to win a position on an athletic team, to excel in any of the various student activities requires hard work, common sense and good character.

Your future is in your hands. We have fine facilities and an excellent faculty but they cannot educate you. You must educate yourself.

I extend each of you a most cordial welcome and hope that your college days will be filled with the greatest possible satisfaction and success.

Cordially Yours,
STEWART H. SMITH
President

Student Union Facilities Outlined By Don Morris

By RUTH SUTHERLAND
News Editor

The Student Union has many facilities available for students, according to Don Morris, manager.

Each week the Union is open from 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday; 7:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Wednesday; and 7:30 until midnight, Friday and Saturday. It is closed on Sunday, Mr. Morris said.

For recreation students may participate in billiards and table tennis. Material necessary for cribbage, checkers, chess, or card games may be checked out. There is no cost and no time limit is set.

A music room is located on the second floor to be used by students for their listening pleasure of classical and symphonic music, Mr. Morris said.

Meeting rooms on the second floor may be reserved in the manager's office for the purpose of studying or group meetings.

A juke box is on the main floor. Dancing is allowed at any time.

The building houses the office of the Student Government in the west wing on the first floor and the Chief Justice (yearbook) office on the second floor.

Short-order service is offered in the restaurant. Breakfasts of all types, and luncheon and evening snacks are served. Sandwiches, but no full evening meals, are available.

Mr. Morris said the prices are lower than anywhere else in order to give students the most for their money. "We have always maintained that policy", he added.

"During the fall and winter terms we will have approximately 25 movies on Friday nights when they won't interfere with other activities", Mr. Morris reported.

Among the movies to be shown are "Bus Stop," "The Sun Also Rises," "Where the Boys Are," "The Hustler," "Return to Peyton Place," "No Time for Sergeants," "The Asphalt Jungle," "Journey to the Center of the Earth," "Geisha Boy," and "April Love."

Starting time is 8 p.m. However, later in the winter when darkness falls earlier, the movies may begin at 7:30.

Student mixes are held on Wednesday and Saturday nights.

Ralph May, Chapmanville senior, who is now finishing his work at Marshall, is the new assistant manager. He was a co-captain and quarterback for the Big Green last year.

Financial Aids Are Available

Many scholarships and loans are available for freshmen and all students. There are six general types of scholarships and many different types of loans. This aid is available to any student who shows a definite need for financial help.

Applications for loans or scholarships may be made to the dean of men. Consideration will be given each applicant according to the rules of the college and specifications of the loan or scholarship grant involved. Loan funds and scholarship grants are usually administered by the Student Aid Committee, which consists of the dean of men, dean of women and three faculty members.

As of Aug. 9, 503 students had applied for scholarships. Of those applicants, 365 were awarded help. A release from the dean of men's office states that "a total of 138 applications for scholarships were rejected because of lack of grades, lack of need, insufficient funds, or insufficient credentials."

The office also reported that the total amount of loans and scholarships granted is still indefinite because they are not sure of the total amount of money received, scholarships and loans accepted or rejected.

Although many of the scholarships and loans have restrictions on them, there are other funds for almost any situation including fellowships, grants and student assistants' jobs.

80 Honor Students Now Enrolled For 1966 Class

As of August 8, some 80 freshman honor students have been admitted to Marshall, according to Luther E. Bledsoe, registrar and director of admissions.

The Parthenon Serves Challenge To All Frosh

On behalf of The Parthenon, your campus newspaper, welcome Class of 1966. We extend to you a hearty welcome and hope that the next four years spent here will be enjoyable ones for you.

What you accomplish and enjoy here is your own choice. Academic and social achievements are both important but you must learn how to balance them. Always remember that your first goal is an education—that's why you are here.

Now in its second year as a university, Marshall is expanding and growing as it has done for 125 years. It has an additional campus, new buildings and dormitories on the drawing boards, and most important, an excellent faculty.

Marshall offers many different fields of interest for students. There are honoraries for students who study hard and maintain outstanding academic averages. Freshman honoraries include Alpha Lambda Delta for women and Phi Eta Sigma for men.

Marshall has a beautiful student chapel which is the center of campus religious activity. The chapel is open throughout the day for students of all faiths.

The University's cultural programs are among the most outstanding in the country. The Artists Series, Convocations and Forums always feature top personalities and performers. The 1962-63 cultural calendar promises to be one of the best assembled by Curtis Baxter, manager of the Artists Series, since its origin.

For students interested in social life, Marshall has eight national fraternities and six national sororities as well as independent social organizations.

There are also many other extracurricular activities. Almost every academic department has a club or honorary in its field. There are other outlets such as the University Theater, the Choral Union or the three different choirs, the debate team and the University marching band. Marshall also has one of the few educational radio stations in this area. And we must never forget Student Government, which gives each student a voice in his college life.

As you can see Marshall University has a lot to offer. And you, as a hard working, well-rounded student, have a lot to offer Marshall University.

Help the University and the University will help you. Let's see how much you both can grow by 1966. GOOD LUCK!

Editor-in-Chief

Marshall's Famous Old Main

THE OLDEST BUILDING ON campus is the Old Main which houses most administration facilities. Many classrooms and departments as well as the bookstore and post office are in the building. One section of the structure was built about 1870. Other parts of the building were completed in 1896, 1898, 1899 and 1907. When the front entrance was dedicated on the latter date, it contained 52 electric lights, 50 gas lights and was said to be, "Easily the finest in the state."

Freshmen May Be Commissioned Officers

By GARY KEARNS
Sports Editor

Freshmen who wish to become commissioned officers in the United States Army when they receive their degree at the end of four years of college may do so by taking the ROTC program offered here.

A student must enter ROTC in his first semester unless he has his secondary training in high school or some other type of school, such as a military academy.

A person who has had prior military service may be eligible for an advanced course in ROTC.

If a student comes under any of these classifications, his case will be considered individually by the Department of Military Science and Tactics to see what requirements are needed for his commission.

Military science and tactics is an elective and enrollment in either the basic or advanced course is voluntary.

However, when either course has been entered upon by the student, completion of two academic years of instruction becomes a prerequisite for graduation unless the student—with the approval of the dean of the college in which he is enrolled and the professor of military science and tactics—is relieved of this obligation by the college under regulations prescribed by the Department of the Army.

Students desiring to enroll must meet the following requirements: He must be a citizen of the United States, between the ages of 14 and 23, and be regularly in college. He must be examined and found physically qualified.

Applicants for enrollment who have a record of conviction by any civil court or by any type of military court martial, for other than a minor traffic violation, are not eligible for enrollment in the ROTC without specific approval of the Department of the Army. Request for such a waiver must be made through the professor of Military Science and Tactics.

These requirements apply to those students entering the basic course. Information for the advanced students may be found in the 1961-1962 general catalog on page I-30.

The objective of the military science course of instruction is to produce junior officers—leaders who by their education, training and inherent qualities are suitable for continued development as officers in the United States Army.

This program provides a basic military education in conjunction with other attributes essential to an officer of the United States Army.

The program consists of two parts, the basic course and the advanced course, each of which extends throughout two academic years with an attendance at a summer training camp included in the advanced course.

In the basic course the student covers studies in the basic and general phases of military training. If the student remains in good academic standing his ROTC studies will defer him from active military service period.

In the basic course—the freshman and sophomore years—the ROTC student will study such topics as "Army and ROTC organization", "Weapons and Marksmanship", "American Military History", "Fundamentals of Leadership", "Drill", "Command", "Map and Aerial Photography Reading", "Small Units Tactics" and "The Role of the United States Army in National Security".

The ROTC member follows the advanced curriculum in his junior and senior years. During the summer between the junior and senior years the student is able to apply his classroom teaching to actual field situations during a six-week summer camp. This year's group went to Indiantown Gap, Pa., near Harrisburg.

During the summer camp the cadet is paid by the Federal Government. In these final two years the student is paid approximately $650. This covers such items as clothing, subsistence and summer camp. In a sense this is a government scholarship.

Flight instruction is also authorized for cadets in the Advanced Course, and is available at approximately 65 colleges and universities.

Under this plan, the Army pays for flight training at approved civilian flying schools, under instructors certified by the Federal Aviation Agency. There are 70 hours of training, half on the ground, half in the air. Completion of this training may qualify the student to take the examination for a FAA private pilot's license.

An ROTC man who takes this training must agree to serve three years on active duty after graduation. He first attends a branch school—then reports for nine months of advanced Army Aviation flight training. The remainder of the officer's active duty tour is spent on flying status.

Several interest groups exist with the ROTC program. The Pershing Rifles drill team participates in many parades, special ceremonies an invitational drill meets. There is also a rifle team and the Drum and Bugle Corps. The Scabbard and Blade the Pistol Team and the Counterguerrilla Platoon. The Scabbard and Blade is a social organization to which candidates are elected by the group's members.

Each year several social functions are held by the ROTC, the highlighting event being the Annual Military Ball, usually held in February.

Freshmen Beware! Obey All Rules

By JOE HUGHES

Teachers College Journalist

You have probably heard a great deal about the rigors of Freshman Week at many colleges and universities. Although there is no policy of "hazing and bracing" at Marshall as at some military schools, there are certain rules you as freshmen must observe or suffer the bitter consequences.

Freshman rules are governed by a group of upperclassmen known as Freshman Rule Enforcers. These rulers have been chosen by the Freshmen Activities Commission. You may recognize the enforcers by their name tags with green and white ribbons and by the fiendish glint in their eyes.

If an enforcer catches you violating a Freshman rule, he will give you a ticket. You must then submit yourself to the mercies of the Freshman Court. This is folly, however. Last year the court convicted 100% of its cases.

Freshman rules go into effect on Monday, September 17. On that day and until at least Saturday, September 29, you must wear your caps and name tags, and carry your handbooks and schedules at all times during the day from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. and to all Freshman Activities.

Keep in mind, however, that Freshman men must not wear their beanies in classrooms or other buildings on campus. You are not allowed to wear any article of clothing that pertains to any school other than Marshall University.

You must walk on the walk-ways only. You shall not cut campus at any time. You are required to speak to all persons you see on campus (including Charlie the newsboy).

You must be able to sing or recite upon request at any time the "Alma Mater", the school song, "We Are the Sons of Marshall", the year in which Marshall was founded, the name of the president and vice president of the student body, the names of the dean of men and dean of women, the name of your own academic dean, your own academic adviser, and the last name of Charlie the newsboy.

Freshmen may not sit in the booths by the windows or in the new booths in the Student Union. No matter where you sit in the Union, upon the request of an upperclassman, you must relinquish your seat.

You are urged to attend all home football games and all Pep Rallies, and are encouraged to join the Greenbackers.

There are two exceptions to the Freshman rules. First, veterans must observe all rules except the purchasing and wearing of beanies. Secondly, Charlie the newsboy, although a perennial Freshman, is exempted from all Freshman rules.

Full-Time And Part-Time Jobs May Be Found Through Office

By JOE JOHNSON
Staff Reporter

Students seeking employment for the winter months are advised to check with the Placement Office beforehand, according to Robert P. Alexander, director of placement. His office is located in room 114 in Old Main.

Although the major responsibility of the Placement Office is to secure full-time employment for graduating seniors and alumni, it can locate work for any student who finds it necessary to earn extra money.

Freshmen in search of part-time jobs are to go to the Placement Office and fill out application blanks listing possible working hours and previous work experience. This will make the task of finding employment much simpler.

Mr. Alexander said that a good percentage of the part-time jobs will be available to students early in the fall and, because of this, they may be compelled to stand in line.

Once the lines have thinned out, students will receive more personal attention, he said. He added that these long lines should not discourage the freshmen.

After the student submits his application, he will have an appointment for an interview set up with the employer.

Last year over 1000 students found part-time employment through the Placement Office. The major areas of employment were clerking in stores, secretarial work, general office help, student assistants, child care, pall bearers in funerals, tutoring in music, mathematics, chemistry, and working in a greenhouse.

These are only a few of the many jobs that can be found through the Placement Bureau, Alexander said.

Mr. Alexander is asking all freshmen and upperclassmen who desire to work on a part-time basis during the summer months to check with the Placement Office in November and December, preferably before Christmas.

If this procedure is followed, students can almost be guaranteed employment after the winter term.

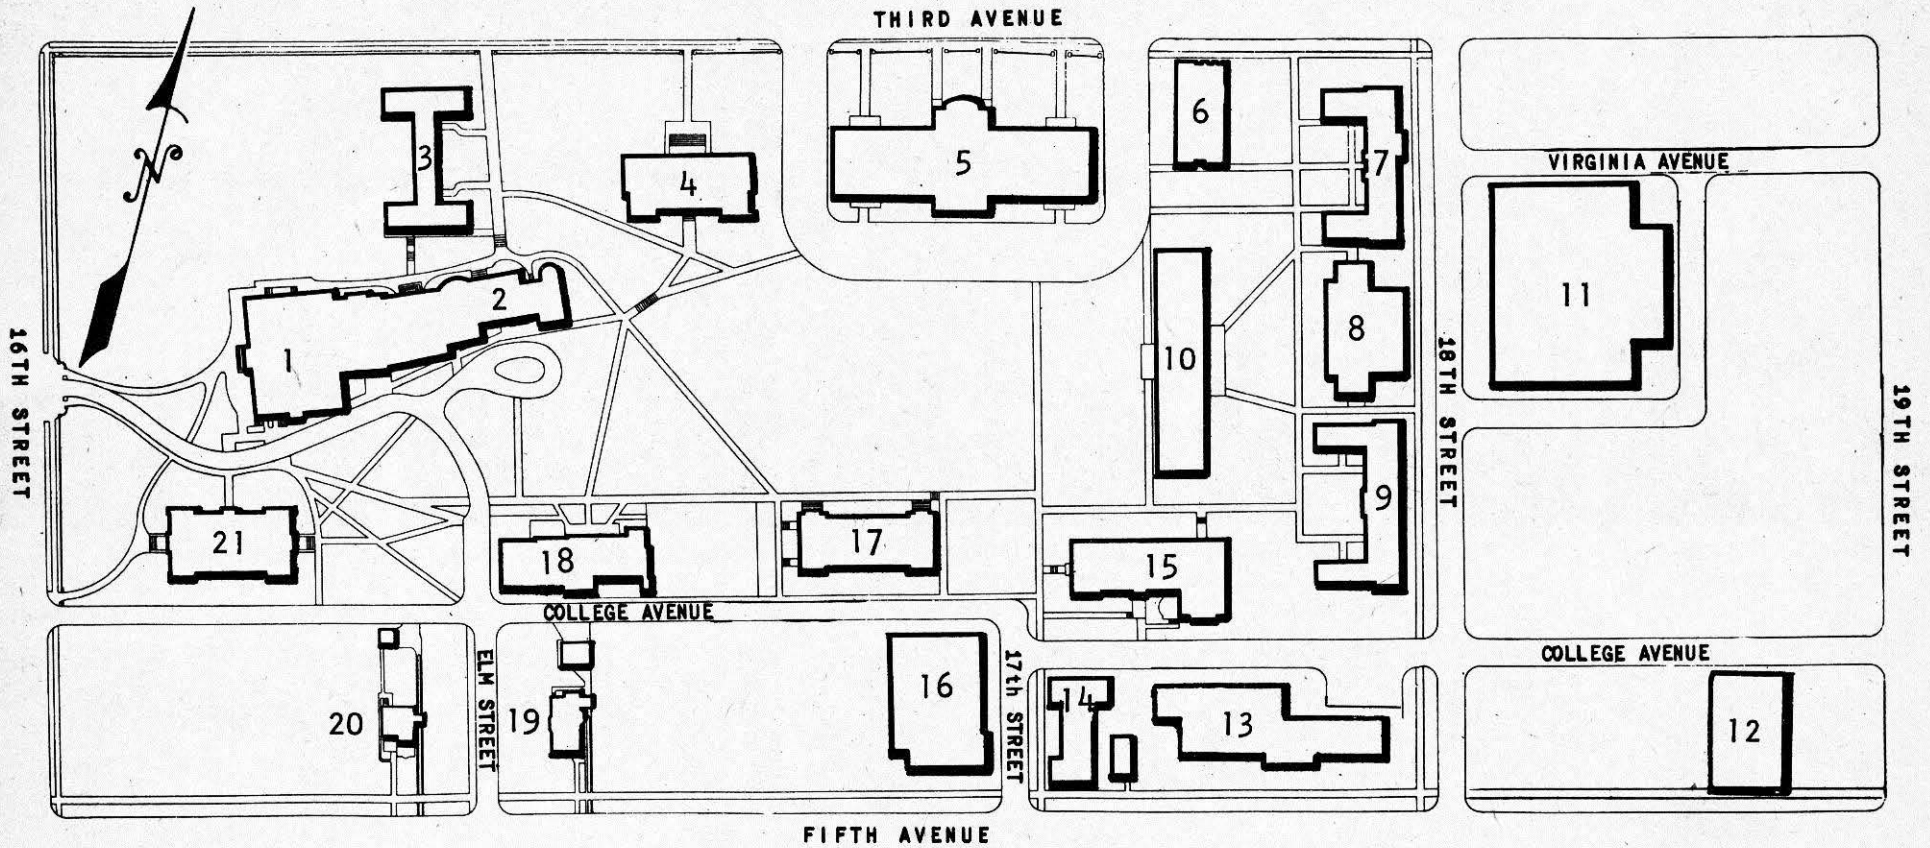

The placement facilities of the University were consolidated and the Placement Office was formed in 1958. Since then, placement totals have soared.

Mr. Alexander reports that employers generally select students on the following factors: academic record, leadership in extracurricular activities, personality, work experience, martial status, and military status.

Students Welcomed & Encouraged To Use CCF Facilities -- Rev. Beal

Where All May Tread

BOLD GEOMETRICAL DESIGNS contrast one another in the main chapel area of the Campus Christian Center. The Center, completed in 1960, is the seat of the campus' religious activities, which includes the Campus Christian Fellowship. The Christian Center is also nondenominational, welcoming all races, faiths and creeds. The Rev. Lander Beal officiates as the campus pastor.

To The Freshman Class:

The Campus Christian Center is a new building on campus and possibly unknown to many students as to its facilities and uses.

Each student is welcome and encouraged to use these facilities, to participate in the programs of the Campus Christian Fellowship and to call upon and become acquainted with our three campus pastors.

The Campus Christian Fellowship is an integral part of the total ministry of the Church. Its task is to proclaim the Gospel of Jesus Christ in the academic community.

Its mission here is to present the truth of the Christian Faith amid conflicting view points on the campus, to witness to the redeeming work of Jesus Christ and to help students, faculty and administration recognize their responsibility under God.

CCF'S PURPOSE EXPLAINED

The purpose of the Campus Christian Fellowship ministry is to develop an inclusive, consciously Christian fellowship where all persons are welcomed and where each may come to a deeper commitment to Christ.

The purpose is not to provide a program, but to build it.

STUDENTS ARE TRAINED

During the college year, students are trained primarily in the disciplines of thinking and ideas; the Campus Christian Fellowship program which best serves college students is that which helps to integrate the ideas of these disciplines into a whole in order to develop the individual to his fullest possible stature.

This program deals with an exchange and stimulation of ideas through discussion, study and experience. The program primarily consists of that which students believe ought to be done and are willing to plan, promote and carry out.

INCLUDES VARIETY

The program includes a wide variety of interests and discussion groups, forums, large-scale projects and services to the campus and community.

The Campus Christian Fellowship Senate is the student governing body for the total campus program. The senate members are composed of the presidents of each college denominational fellowship and three officers from the Campus Christian Fellowship.

The senate meets four times a year. The meetings are always open for any member of the Fellowship to attend, speak on any question before the senate and may make motions.

I am looking forward to meeting each of you and sharing together our love and concern for knowledge and our Christian Faith.

Sincerely,
Rev. Lander Beal

Green Athletic Teams Will Utilize New Facilities For Second Year

By RALPH MAY
Assistant Sports Editor

Former Big Green Quarterback
This fall will be the start of the second year for the use of the new athletic facilities.

Last year Marshall received a complete new physical education building and outdoor field for intramurals and football practice. This will mark the second consecutive year that the football team will be able to practice on campus.

The building contains separate locker rooms for each sport and the physical education classes.

Marshall will play a ten game schedule in football and the home games will be played at Fairfield Stadium.

Press Day was the day before practice began Sept. 1. Newsmen from all over the state were invited for a get-together session. Pictures were taken and the sportswriters acquainted themselves with the football team.

The football team will continue its practice through Sept. 15, when it opens its season against Findlay College of Ohio. Findlay College and Butler University are the new teams that the Big Green will face this year.

The team is coached by Head Coach Charlie Snyder, who is assisted by Forrest (Spike) Underwood, Olen Jones, Alvis Brown, and Ed Prelaz.

The freshman football team will be coached by Charlie Kautz and assisted by Bill Zban. Student assistants will be Bill Nardo and Harper Hill.

The basketball team will be able to practice in the new P. E. building for the second year. The team formerly had to go off campus to Memorial Field House. The team will be coached by Jule Rivlin and assisted by Dr. Mike Josephs.

The wrestling team will be coached by Ed Prelaz and will be looking for its second consecutive winning season. Wrestling has become a popular sport on campus. The matches are held in the Physical Education Building.

Marshall is attempting to field a swimming team for the first time this year. There is a regulation pool in the new Physical Education Building.

The track team will again, for the second straight year, hold a few meets on the school campus. The larger meets will be held at Fairfield Stadium.

There was increased interest in track last year because the students could see the meets. Fans formerly had to travel to Fairfield Stadium in order to see the track meets.

There have been no schedules released for spring sports as yet.

The baseball team will be coached by Alvis Brown and its games will be played at St. Cloud's Commons.

There will also be a golf and tennis team which will round out the spring sports activities.

Bookstore Handles Class Supplies

By FREDERICK C. WILBURN
Teachers College Journalist

The Marshall University Bookstore, located in the south west of the basement of Old Main, offers you, the student, a place to buy all of your school supplies and books.

The bookstore is managed by Percy Galloway, who advises freshmen to buy all their books as soon as their schedules are approved to avoid the rush which always develops at the beginning of each semester.

The establishment has a complete selection of text books required for your classes as well as paper back and hard back novels. In addition to books, the store sells engineering, art and other school supplies.

One of the main features of the bookstore is the Marshall University sweat shirts and jackets offered for sale. Marshall stationery is available to give that collegiate look to the "need more dough" letters sent back home. Postage stamps may also be purchased there.

The bookstore also purchases used books when the semester ends.

Perhaps some time in the dim future you will be wondering where you can buy a senior class ring, or a cap and gown. The Bookstore is the place where you can buy all your school and graduating supplies.
