Class Aids Clarksburg Radio Plan

Public service programs, made by members of the Speech 431 class, are now being played over station WPDJ in Clarksburg. These programs were chosen by the station from tapes sent to them by West Virginia University and colleges all over the state.

The Clarksburg station sent letters to the various schools requesting a number of five-minute programs that would be of interest to the people around the Clarksburg area. It was understood that the best tapes would be aired at the rate of six a week.

Stephen Buell, assistant professor of speech, received the letter and informed his class of the station's request. The class decided to make this a class project and each student interviewed professors, students, and other campus figures in the college radio station.

The interviews varied according to the person interviewed. For example, Coach Jule Rivlin discussed basketball, Jane Hobson discussed her music career, and many students commented on "University-status" for Marshall.

The tapes were finished and sent to WPDJ. Professor Buell received a reply immediately which stated that the tapes received from this college were far superior to any received.

The programs are now being played over the station and last week there were still twenty-eight programs left to be presented.

Students Will See Spain For Credit

By JOHNNY HINES
Managing Editor

Students will have the opportunity to travel and study in Spain this summer, it has been announced by Professor Juan C. Fors, chairman of the Spanish department.

The courses, entitled 407 — Spanish Civilization in Spain, and 307 — Spanish Language Study in Spain, will be given during the second session of the summer term. They will carry three hours of credit, applicable towards a major in Spanish or as electives toward graduation requirements. With the cooperation of American Automobile Association, the students will study and travel in Spain for five weeks.

Spanish 407 will not require a knowledge of Spanish and will be conducted in English, said Fors. It will cover all aspects of Spanish civilization and will take advantage of the opportunity available in Spain to study Spanish art at the Prado Museum in Madrid, Roman architecture at the aqueduct of Segovia, modern Spanish church architecture at the Sagrada Familia Cathedral in Barcelona; and Arabic architecture in Granada.

Mrs. Juan C. Fors, holds the Master of Fine Arts degree from Yale University and is an artist. She will lecture the group on art forms and the architectural sights of the tour, and will act as chaperon for the young women.

Spanish 307 will require a knowledge of Spanish. This requirement can be satisfied by successful completion of Spanish 204 or a proficiency test. Designed for students who wish to increase their fluency in Spanish, skillfully handling of idiomatic expressions through conversation will be stressed. This course will be conducted strictly in Spanish.

The groups of students will leave New York aboard the S. S. United States and will dock in Le Havre, France. After a brief stay in Paris, they will fly to Barcelona and the Balearic Islands. From there, the tour will visit Seville, Segovia, Burgos, Cordoba, Madrid, Avila, Granada, and will take a holiday in the Cantabrian Coast at the resort town of San Sebastian on the Bay of Biscay. On the way back to Paris, they will visit the castles of the Loire Valley in France and will return home by jet.

Professor Fors plans to take around 15 students to Spain at a cost to each of $1,248. Applicants must apply directly to Professor Fors.

Mr. Fors, who was born in Spain, has been head of the college Spanish department for 23 years.

Prof 'Prisoner In 'Pool' Room

John L. Stender, associate professor of English, likes the swimming pool — but . . .

While on his lunch hour recently Professor Stender was looking over the new building and stepped inside the door to the pool. Someone closed the door.

The door stuck. It took 35 minutes to get someone on the phone and have them come over and let him out.

Professor Stender said, "My only regret is that I didn't have my swimming trunks with me."

Wildt, Carter May Get Nod As Starters

Dick Wildt and Phil Carter may get starting assignments against St. Francis of Pennsylvania when action begins at 8:15 p. m. tomorrow night in the Field House.

Coach Jule Rivlin pointed out that big Bob Burgess still is troubled by an old ankle injury and may miss part of the action.

Carter, whose leg was injured in an early season game at Western Michigan, will be ready to go against St. Francis, even though the cut was partially reopened in action against Western Kentucky Monday night.

Rivlin said the leg was nearly healed and that he was hoping to give the 6-7 Clarksburg sophomore a starting assignment.

St. Francis has a 5-11 record for the season.

"But they've been developing fast," Rivlin noted. "And they always play their best against us."

The Big Green, after winning three straight, was dumped hard last Monday by the Hilltoppers, 100-77. But the team had been playing inspired ball — beating Bowling Green, Morris Harvey and the Western Michigan Bronco.

While Western Kentucky out-hustled the Marshall team, a let-down had been expected.

Placement Office Gives Opportunities To Grads

The January graduates of 1961 found that the placement office provided good assistance in gaining employment.

In the Arts and Science College little more than half of the 30 graduates were registered with the office. Those who registered early have all been placed in such companies as the International Harvester Co., Owens-Illinois, CPA Firms, American Cyanamid Co. and the Novamont Corporation in Neal, W. Va.

Nine out of the eleven engineer graduates who registered with the office are now employed many firms as International Nickel Co., State Road Commission, U. S. Forest Service and the Novamont Corporation. The only geology graduate that registered with the office is now awaiting a reply from the U. S. Navy Hydrographic Office.

In the education field, some 50 graduates were registered with the office and all but one has been employed.

The company that employed the most graduates was the Novamont Corporation. They employ three Marshall graduates who are as follows: Elgia Edward, engineer; Tom Leighty, chemist; and Syrus Fletcher, business manager.

The outlook for May graduates is very good, according to Robert Alexander, director of the placement office. The engineering, chemistry, and accounting majors can be taken care of and teachers can always be placed. However, if a student wants to be on the list for interviews, register with the office as soon as possible.

Those who registered early have all been placed in such companies as the International Harvester Co., Owens-Illinois, CPA Firms, American Cyanamid Co. and the Novamont Corporation in Neal, W. Va.

Nine out of the eleven engineer graduates who registered with the office are now employed many firms as International Nickel Co., State Road Commission, U. S. Forest Service and the Novamont Corporation.

The only geology graduate that registered with the office is now awaiting a reply from the U. S. Navy Hydrographic Office.

In the education field, some 50 graduates were registered with the office and all but one has been employed.

The company that employed the most graduates was the Novamont Corporation. They employ three Marshall graduates who are as follows: Elgia Edward, engineer; Tom Leighty, chemist; and Syrus Fletcher, business manager.

The outlook for May graduates is very good, according to Robert Alexander, director of the placement office. The engineering, chemistry, and accounting majors can be taken care of and teachers can always be placed. However, if a student wants to be on the list for interviews, register with the office as soon as possible.
