Senior Day For Wayne Group Set

Marshall will be the host to several Wayne County High Schools tomorrow when over 200 seniors from these schools will be on campus for the Wayne County Senior Day.

The program will begin at 10 a.m. when the students will report to the science hall auditorium for an address of welcome from President Smith. Following the address, a panel discussion will be held to give the seniors an opportunity to ask questions about the academic, social, and private life of a Marshall student. The academic deans, social deans, and Luther Bledsoe, Registrar and Director of Admissions, will be on the panel.

After the panel discussion, the students will be taken on a tour of the campus. They will be divided into interest groups and each group will spend the largest amount of time in its specific interest. The guides for the tour have been selected by the Hospitality Committee.

Following the tour, a luncheon will be given in the cafeteria for the visiting seniors, ending the program.

This senior day program was made up by members of the Hospitality Committee of the Student Government, with the help of Dr. Hess of the Education Dept. and Mr. Bledsoe.

CCF Sponsors Parley April 29

The Campus Christian Fellowship will sponsor a conference on the ministry Saturday, April 29. The purpose of the conference is to let interested students get acquainted with visiting seminary professors.

Dr. Andrew R. Bird, Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church and chairman of the board of Union Theological School, Richmond, Va., will speak on "What Does It Mean To Be Called To The Ministry". Dr. Ralph Wilburn, Dean of College of the Bible, will speak on "Would I Make A Good Minister?"

The theological schools to be represented are: Methodist of Ohio, Colgate Rochester, Duke, Northern Baptist, College of the Bible, Union of Richmond and Vanderbilt.

Registration and information concerning the conference may be obtained from the Campus Christian Center.

Deadline Extended For Caps, Gowns

Percy Galloway, manager of the bookstore, has announced that seniors who have not placed orders for caps and gowns should do so immediately. The deadline was April 21, but if orders are placed at once, the shipments will be made.

Galloway also stated that those students wishing to sell their textbooks can do so during final week.

THESE ANCIENT GREEKS went modern, and pulled their way to the first place trophy for the best fraternity float in the Greek Week parade. These valiant members of Alpha Sigma Phi guided their winning chariot through the streets of downtown Huntington Saturday.

Two Reign As Queens In Greek Week Climax

Greek Week activities were concluded this past weekend with a dance Friday, a parade, field day Sunday, and a picnic Sunday.

The dance was held in the Hotel Frederick Ballroom with music furnished by the Blue Notes. Brenda Keys, Kopperston sophomore, and Barbara Shinn, Mt. Lakes, N.J. sophomore, tied for Greek Week Queen and Junior Jones, Huntington sophomore, was chosen King. Miss Keys represented Alpha Chi Omega; Miss Shinn, Sigma Sigma Sigma; Mr. Jones, Sigma Alpha Epsilon. The king and queens were crowned at intermission.

The parade downtown was composed of sorority and fraternity floats. Prizes were awarded to the sorority and fraternity having the best floats. In the sorority division Alpha Chi Omega placed first, Alpha Sigma Alpha second and Sigma Kappa third. In the fraternity division Alpha Sigma Phi placed first, Pi Kappa Alpha second and Sigma Alpha Epsilon third.

St. Clouds Common was the scene of the annual field day which was held Sunday. Each sorority joined with a fraternity to form teams which competed in a chariot race, sack race, wheelbarrow race, and other relay races. The chariot race was won and Pi Kappa Alpha won a trophy by Pi Kappa Alpha. Sigma Kappa for the most points accumulated during the field day.

Saturday evening was highlighted with a party hop at the fraternity houses.

Each organization attended church as a group Sunday morning.

The final event of Greek Week was a picnic at St. Clouds Common.

Students Get On-The-Job Training

Radio - TV Work Valuable Training

By BOB SMITH
Feature Writer

There's nothing quite like practical experience. Those are the sentiments of Stephen D. Buell, associate professor of speech, concerning students who work part-time in radio and television.

In past years, the number of students in local radio work, all at one time, were so high that with a little capital, they could have almost opened their own station.

The opportunities in all phases of the broadcasting industry are as available now as they ever have been, according to Professor Buell. The number of students on campus who are working this year, however, is considerably reduced from the past two or three years.

Professor Buell added that as a result of changes in management and cutting down of staffs this year, he has not been able to recommend as many students for jobs, but he did say that students who are already working help a great deal in getting others a job. As far as part-time work is concerned, he recommended that it would be better if jobs were limited to juniors and seniors.

Professor Buell made it clear that there is no substitute for actual experience in radio and TV while in college. This training would definitely help the student obtain a better position after graduation. If one goes through college without this experience, the student feels that he is stepping down when the first job is offered to him, Professor Buell said.

In a short time, however, the problem of student experience might be solved, when Marshall

New Government Starts Functioning

Tom Ross Conducts Senate Meeting; Andrews Elected As Speaker Pro-Tem

By DOROTHY LOCKE
Staff Reporter

The new student administration is already taking steps to put its platform into effect, according to Nancy Wood, Moundsville junior and new student body president.

Tom Ross, Wheeling junior and new student body vice president, and Miss Wood were sworn in and conducted their first Senate meeting last Wednesday night.

The methods of selecting students for Who's Who was referred to the Academic Affairs Committee for study. Plans for a Book-of-the-Semester Commission will be discussed at tonight's meeting. Other items mentioned in the platform will be referred to the proper committees for study, Miss Wood said.

John Andrews, Clendenin junior, was elected speaker pro-tem and Fred Charles, Huntington freshman, was elected sergeant-at-arms by the new Senate. The alternate senators, Becky Roberts, Huntington junior; Lois Brown, Huntington sophomore; and Fred Charles, Huntington freshman, were appointed as a special committee to select a chaplain. Miss Brown was also reappointed to the Student Union Activities Committee.

L. D. Egnor, out-going vice president, said that this senate had been an excellent one in accomplishments. One deficiency, he said, was the lack of mental gymnastics. According to Egnor, there was not enough disagreement this year, which is one real benefit from Senate. He also made three suggestions:

1. Class presidencies should be done away with because they have become too easily stepping-stones to higher things.

2. The percentage of students needed to ratify amendments to the constitution (15%) is too low, giving an unfair advantage to the amendments.

3. There should be a thorough study of the election system as a whole.

ROBERT BLEDSOE
... To Study In Florida

Bledsoe Gains Graduate Post

Robert Bledsoe, Webster Springs senior, recently received appointment as a graduate assistant at the University of Florida. Bledsoe, a political science major, will receive $1,700 plus tuition. He will do teaching and serve as an assistant in the political science department while working on his master's degree.

Mr. Bledsoe, whose minor is French, plays an active part in several campus activities. He is a senior senator, vice-president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, vice-president of Scabbard and Blade, a member of Who's Who, Pi Sigma Alpha, Pi Delta Phi, and the International Relations Club.

After receiving his master's degree, Bledsoe plans to serve two years in the Army.

thinking about becoming a salesman at this station when he graduates. Practical experience is important in his book, especially in radio work.

WSAZ-TV boasts a floor manager by the name of Mike Campbell, a Kenova senior at Marshall. Mike has worked at WSAZ for a little over a year but does not plan to stay in the profession. He'll be entering seminary next fall to prepare for the ministry.

Other students working at local stations are Moundsville sophomore Joe Hughes, a part-time announcer for WSAZ radio, Leda Lewis, a part-time student and the assistant production chief at WSAZ; Huntington senior Bob Smith, a part-time announcer for WCMI radio in Ashland, Ky. and part-time student Bob Martin, manager and announcer for WKEE radio.

'Annie Get Your Gun' Technical Staff Picked

The technical staff for the campus production of "Annie Get Your Gun" to be presented May 10-13 has been announced.

Heading the sound and special effects committee is Jerry Ashworth, Huntington junior, chairman. Other members of the committee are Kathy Haddad, Chesapeake, Ohio sophomore and Alice Wilkinson, Coalwood junior.

The stage crew consists of Jim Yoho, Cameron junior; Bill Nardo, New Cumberland junior; Larry Browning, Huntington senior and Walt Leonhart, Huntington senior.

Student tickets for the "Annie Get Your Gun" production are now on sale in the bookstore. Faculty and staff tickets will also be sold in the bookstore. These tickets all cost $1 for general admission.

Tickets for the general public cost $1.75. Reserve seats cost $2.50 for everyone.

The May 13 production will be for parents only. John M.

Sayre, director of development and alumni affairs, will soon be sending out cards for parents' reservations. He says the reservations for parents will be made on a first come, first served basis. Eight hundred seats will be available for this production.

Working on lights will be Atwood Luter, Bogalusa, La. sophomore and Richard Thurston, Salisbury, Md., junior, with faculty advisor, A. C. Ranson. The choreographer is Rick Chapman of the Joandric Dance Theatre. Assistants to the directors for the production are Mike Youngblood, Rowlesburg junior; Elizabeth Holdt, Huntington junior and Bonne Barnett, Huntington junior.

The make-up committee consists of Agnes L. Porter, faculty advisor, Phyllis Wright, Huntington sophomore, student chairman; and other committee members are Larry Browning, Huntington senior; Mike Youngblood, Rowlesburg junior; Jim Stone, Logan freshman; Mary Jo Kidd, Parkersburg sophomore; Margaret Durkin, Huntington freshman and Yvette Stickman, Clarksburg sophomore. The make-up will be donated by the Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio.

7 Ask English Assistantships

The English Department has received seven applications for graduate assistantships in English, Dr. A. Mervin Tyson, department chairman, said.

The department received applications from students at Xavier University, Penn State University, and Anderson College in Anderson, Ind.

A graduate assistantship allows the student to study English and other related subjects while teaching one three-hour class in freshman English during each of the two semesters of the program.

The stipends available for the assistantships range from $550 to $1,100. Tuition is omitted. The amount of the stipend is determined on the basis of the student's academic qualifications and teaching experience.

Psychology Senior Gets $2,550 Grant

Richard G. Ratliff, a Huntington senior majoring in psychology, has been awarded a $2,550 traineeship by Vanderbilt University.

The traineeship is for his first year of study at Vanderbilt and is sponsored by the United States Public Health Service. It was made available after various examinations given by the health service.

Ratliff will continue his study of psychology at Vanderbilt.

Special Convocation Tomorrow To Decide Oratory Contest

A special convocation to decide Marshall's entrant in the state oratorical contest will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow in Old Main Auditorium.

The League of Women Voters will give $50 in prize money to the three speakers who will appear. The first place winner will receive $25, second place $15, and the third place entrant will receive $10.

The three finalists who will speak on the topic "Challenges for Americans" are: Knute Aarsand, Huntington senior; Rule Johnson, Ironton, Ohio, junior; and Tom Ross, Wheeling junior.

Contest judges will be Mrs. Hite Compton, Huntington High School; Charles Lawall, consulting engineer and former president of West Virginia University; and Wendell Reynolds, Huntington Advertiser.

NAVAL TEAM HERE TODAY

The Naval officer procurement team from Ashland, Ky., will be on campus until 4:30 p.m. today. They will administer the officer qualification test to seniors for the Naval Officers Candidate School.

Spring Football Training Ends This Week

Green Closes Out Spring Practice

THE '61 FOOTBALL team had their last spring practice session earlier this week. An intra-squad game was played Saturday night at the Vinson Memorial Stadium. The team will resume activities early next fall.

Snyder Pleased With Action; Several Boys 'Looked Good'

By JIM DUFFIELD
Assistant Sports Editor

Reviewing the Green-White game Saturday night at Vinson Memorial Field, Coach Snyder said he was very pleased with the action and had a great outlook for next year's team.

This was the annual intra-squad game played between the players of next year's football team. The "Green" team defeated the "Whites," 13-12. The "White" team, composed mainly of freshmen made many mistakes, but the "Greens" had their share too.

Ralph May, returning quarterback, did a fine job of running the "Green" offense.

Dixon Edwards and Ralph May seem like sure starters for next year's squad. Harold Viers, a sophomore, looked good and could be in the lineup.

Zeke Myers, another sophomore, looked good as he ran from halfback on the "Green" squad. He showed a lot of talent when he intercepted a "White" pass on the "Green" 30-yard line.

Gary Zickefoose and Millard Fleming scored touchdowns for the "Green" and Jim Keatley's talented toe kicked the winning extra point.

The intra-squad game climaxed the annual football clinic at the University.

Beta Nu Team Wins Tourney In Intermurals

By ROGER HUTCHISON
Sports Editor

Marshall's Beta Nu chapter of TKE played host to seven other TKE chapters, from various other schools, in an intermural basketball tournament last weekend. Beta Nu No. 1 of Marshall also won the tournament by defeating Ohio State University, 37 to 35.

There were nine teams entered, two of them from Marshall—Beta Nu Chapter, Numbers 1 and 2. Other teams were Ohio University, Omicron Chapter; Morris Harvey College, Phi Sigma Phi Chapter; Ohio University, Alpha Beta Chapter; Bowling Green University, Zeta Delta Chapter; Akron University, Beta Rho Chapter; West Virginia University, Rho Chapter, and Fairmont State, Theta Delta Chapter.

Marshall's Beta Nu No. 1 team roster listed Jerry Morrison, Don Smith, Rod Smith, Tom Dingess, Fred Withrow, Tom Riggs, Charles Rogers, Fred Garner, Jim Harbour, Bo Warner, Al Strigle and Bud Spencer.

Marshall's Chapter of the TKE also listed three men on the TKE Tournament All-Star team: Don Smith, Rod Smith and Jerry Morrison.

Winding up the intramural action on the campus last week, four games were played in softball. KA No. 1 lost to LXA No. 1, 6 to 7; TKE No. 1 beat SAE No. 1, 20 to 8; TKE No. 2 fell victim to SAE No. 1 by a score of 14 to 13, and Faculty rolled over PKA No. 1, 7 to 3.

Ohio Wesleyan Whips Marshall Tennis Team

Marshall's tennis team bowed to the hands of Ohio Wesleyan, 7-2, last Friday at Delaware, Ohio.

The Green won only two matches, a singles and a doubles. Jack Fors won 6-2, 2-6 and 6-3 for the singles victory and he teamed up with Bill Harper in the doubles to win 3-6, 6-1 and 6-4.

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: A little learning can be a dangerous thing—especially in a multiple-choice exam.

DEAR DR. FROOD: I have calculated that if the population explosion continues at its present rate, there will be a person for every square foot of earth by the year 2088. What do you think of that?

Statistics Major

DEAR STATISTICS: Well, one thing's sure, that will finish off the hula-hoopers—once and for all.

DEAR DR. FROOD: I have been training our college mascot, a goat. He has learned how to open a pack of Luckies, take out a cigarette, light up and smoke. Do you think I can get him on a TV show?

Animal Husbandry Major

DEAR ANIMAL: I'm afraid not. To make TV nowadays, you've got to have an act that's really different. After all, there are millions of Lucky smokers.

DEAR DR. FROOD: I am a full professor—and yet I stay awake nights worrying about my ability to teach today's bright young college students. They ask questions I can't answer. They write essays I don't understand. They use complicated words that I've never heard before. How can I possibly hope to win the respect of students who are more learned than I am?

Professor

DEAR PROFESSOR: I always maintain that nothing impresses a troublesome student like the sharp slap of a ruler across his outstretched palm.

DEAR DR. FROOD: You can tell your readers for me that college is a waste of time. My friends who didn't go to college are making good money now. And me, with my new diploma? I'm making peanuts!

Angry Grad

DEAR ANGRY: Yes, but how many of your friends can do what you can do—instantly satisfy that overpowering craving for a peanut.

DEAR DR. FROOD: Could you give a word of advice to a poor girl who, after four years at college, has failed to get herself invited on a single date?

Miss Miserable

DEAR MISS: Mask?

THE RECRUITERS ARE COMING! THE RECRUITERS ARE COMING! And here's Frood to tell you just how to handle them: These representatives of big business are, on the whole, alert fellows. They may be aware that college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular. Let them know that you know what's up—offer them a Lucky, then tap your cranium knowingly. Remember—today's Lucky smoker could be tomorrow's Chairman of the Board.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!

Scientific Lecture For Seniors Slated By Air Force Officer

T. Sgt. Vernon Y. Thacker of the United States Air Force Recruiting Office in Huntington will give a scientific lecture tomorrow at 11 a.m. in the Science Hall Auditorium on Officer's Training School.

According to Sgt. Thacker, the Air Force is in need of people qualified in the fields of mathematics, language, engineering, chemistry, physics, geology, zoology, medicine, and international relations.

The lecture is for male and female seniors but any interested person is welcome.

Upon completion of the 90 day Officer's Training Course, the individual will receive a commission in the Air Force

A ROBE BY ANY OTHER NAME

As Commencement Day draws near, the question on everyone's lips is: "How did the different disciplines come to be marked by academic robes with hoods of different colors?" Everybody—but everybody—is asking it. I mean I haven't been able to walk ten feet on any campus in America without somebody grabs my elbow and says, "How did the different disciplines come to be marked by academic robes with hoods of different colors, hey?"

This, I must say, is not the usual question asked by collegians who grab my elbow. Usually they say, "Hey, Shorty, got a Marlboro?" And this is right and proper. After all, are they not collegians, and, therefore, the nation's leaders in intelligence and discernment? And do not intelligence and discernment demand the tastiest in tobacco flavor and smoking pleasure? And does not Marlboro deliver a flavor that is uniquely mellow, a selectrate filter that is easy drawing, a pack that is soft, a box that is hard? You know it!

But I digress. Back to the colored hoods of academic robes. A doctor of philosophy wears blue, a doctor of medicine wears green, a master of arts wears white, a doctor of humanities wears crimson, a master of library science wears lemon yellow. Why? Why, for example, should a master of library science wear lemon yellow?

Well sir, to answer this vexing question, we must go back to March 29, 1844. On that date the first public library in the United States was established by Ulric Sigafoos. All of Mr. Sigafoos's neighbors were of course wildly grateful—all, that is, except Wrex Todhunter.

Mr. Todhunter had hated Mr. Sigafoos since 1822 when both men had wooed the beautiful Melanie Zitt and Melanie had chosen Mr. Sigafoos because she was mad for dancing and Mr. Sigafoos knew all the latest steps, like the Missouri Compromise Mambo, the Shay's Rebellion Schottische, and the James K. Polk Polka, while Mr. Todhunter, alas, could not dance at all owing to a wound he had received at the Battle of New Orleans. (He was struck by a falling praline.)

Consumed with jealousy at the success of Mr. Sigafoos's library, Mr. Todhunter resolved to open a competing library. This he did, but he lured not a single patron away from Mr. Sigafoos. "What has Mr. Sigafoos got that I haven't got?" Mr. Todhunter kept asking himself, and finally the answer came to him: books.

So Mr. Todhunter stocked his library with lots of dandy books and soon he was doing more business than his hated rival. But Mr. Sigafoos struck back. To regain his clientele, he began serving tea free of charge at his library every afternoon. Thereupon, Mr. Todhunter, not to be outdone, began serving tea with sugar. Thereupon, Mr. Sigafoos began serving tea with sugar and cream. Thereupon, Mr. Todhunter began serving tea with sugar and cream and lemon.

This, of course, clinched the victory for Mr. Todhunter because he had the only lemon tree in town—in fact, in the entire state of North Dakota—and since that day lemon yellow has of course been the color on the academic robes of library science.

(Incidentally, the defeated Mr. Sigafoos packed up his library and moved to California where, alas, he failed once more. There were, to be sure, plenty of lemons to serve with his tea, but, alas, there was no cream because the cow was not introduced to California until 1931 by John Wayne.)

Vacation Assignments, Necessary? Differing Views Taken On Subject

By BOB SMITH
Feature Writer

A subject dear to the hearts of many Marshall students is whether or not professors should give assignments over vacations.

From a random poll of students and professors conducted on campus, two differing opinions were voiced. A majority of the students interviewed, seemed to think that holiday assignments were asking a little too much.

Ted Milby, Chester senior, felt that usually too many distracting things that were going on over the holidays keep him from studying. He mentioned that it's hard to get back into the swing of things after a vacation ends.

Tom Foster, Barboursville senior, answered the question without hesitation, "My view is cloudy man, like I can't see it." He went on to say that as far as reading is concerned he doesn't mind, but particular assignments to be finished on the first day back from vacation is "for the birds."

Janet Steele, Charleston sophomore, doesn't believe assignments should be given over the holidays. She said a vacation should be strictly a vacation.

For the most part, professors who were interviewed, felt that doing homework over a vacation period wasn't placing too much of a burden on the student.

Professor Paul D. Stewart, chairman of the Political Science Department, said "A holiday is no reason for not giving regular assignments. It would be no extra hardship on the part of the student." He did say, however, that he avoids giving tests soon after a vacation.

Dr. A. Mervin Tysson, chairman of the English Department, agrees that "Intellectual thinking must go on even if the calendar says there is a vacation." He said that most of his classes are expected to have studies completed after returning to school.
