The above items will be passed on next month, Dr. Smith said.

Big Pep Rally Slated Tonight

The Robe, men's leadership honorary, will hold a pep rally and bonfire on the intramural field at 7:30 tonight, according to George Wooten, Hollidaysburg, Pennsylvania, senior, president of the Robe.

President Stewart H. Smith and Otto "Swede" Gullickson, professor of physical education, will be the speakers, and the football team and cheerleaders also will participate.

New freshmen will be guests of honor at the Marshall-V. M. I. football game tomorrow night.

The freshmen will report to their guides at the field and sit in the middle section as a group.

During half-time ceremonies the Robe and the freshmen will have their annual tug-of-war. If the freshmen win they can give up their beanies and name tags, but if they lose they must wear them an extra week.

400 Women Expected To Take Part As Formal Rush Begins Tomorrow

By PATTY POLISKEY
Managing Editor

Nearly 400 women are expected to participate in formal rush this fall which officially begins tomorrow when rushees are required to sign the rush cards between 1 and 4 p. m. across from the Dean of Women's Office. A rush fee of $2.00 must accompany the registration.

Women cannot rush during the formal period—which includes the Panhellenic Tea, open houses, first and second invitation parties—unless they sign the cards tomorrow. Provisions have been made, however, to accommodate those who cannot be there at that time. They may have a friend register for them.

When they register, they will receive an invitation to the annual Panhellenic Tea which is scheduled from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday in the Student Union. Each of the six national sororities on campus will have representatives present at the tea.

During this first week of classes, the sororities have entertained rushees with coke parties.

Monday night from 6 to 8 p. m. all sororities will have an open house. Rushees are urged to visit all of the sororities at this time. No invitations are issued for the open houses but anyone who has signed for formal rush may visit the houses.

All of the parties after the open house are by invitation only. Panhellenic will supply the invitations and have a station set up across from the Dean of Women's office from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. Tuesday. Rushees must pick up their invitations then and each invitation must be accepted or rejected in writing immediately. The answers are to be placed in the respective sorority box in the Dean of Men's office in Old Main 110. The answers go in the box below the sorority name.

Registrar Says Final Figures Should Be More Than 4,300

Marshall enrollment has soared well past the previous high of 4,055 set last year, Registrar Luther E. Bledsoe said.

The exact figure will not be known for a few days, but the registrar believes it will exceed 4,300. The incoming freshman class of more than 1,400, plus transfer students, has resulted in the record signup, Mr. Bledsoe pointed out.

This is the largest number of new students in Marshall's history.

If housing had been available, enrollment would have gone over the 4,500 mark, administrative officials believe. Dormitory space for men and women was filled weeks ago and, in fact, an off-campus dormitory has been started up in an apartment building to help meet the demand.

The record enrollment has been reflected in long lines waiting in dean's offices and at the bookstore. Student Union and cafeteria have been swamped at rush-hour times. A sea of freshman beanies have been hobbing across the campus. All of these are signs that Marshall is growing rapidly.

In fact, some officials already are concerned with next year's freshmen enrollment—and what it will mean in terms of available space. Classrooms are crowded, many sections are filled, and students have experienced difficulty in enrolling in some of the general courses which are required for graduation. In almost all cases, teaching loads have gone up.

All of these factors add up to "university" growing pains. Marshall obtained university status early this year and, since that time, enrollment applications have poured into the registrar's office.

On the bright side, however, was the smoothness of registration this Fall, except for the fee-paying line. Most students who have gone through previous registration felt that this semester's signup was one of the smoothest.

Plan Group Named For Big Event

The Homecoming Commission for the coming year was appointed and ratified this summer at the Marshall University Leadership Camp.

This commission, which is responsible for the development of homecoming events, has set up Sept. 20 as the deadline for submitting themes for the floats in the parade and the individual house decorations.

The commission also secured Ralph Flanagan and his orchestra to provide the music for this year's dance, which will take place in Huntington's Memorial Field House on Oct. 21 from 9 p. m.-1 a. m.

Members of the commission are: Bob Herrema, Rochester, N. Y., junior, co-ordinator; Tom Dunfee, Huntington junior, and Stuart Thomas, Hurricane junior, co-chairmen of the Tickets Committee; Barbara Shinn, Mt. Lakes, N. J. junior, secretary, and Patty Poliskey, St. Albans senior, publicity chairman.

George Wooten, Hollidaysburg, Pa., senior, is the parade marshal. Mary Bernard, St. Albans junior, is in charge of judges and trophies, and Tom Sutton, Weirton junior, heads the Dance Committee. Rosalie Sodd, Charleston senior, is the Queen's chairman, and John Sayre, director of Development and Alumni Affairs, is the administrative coordinator for the event.

Seniors Need Class Senator

Seniors interested in serving as a class senator should contact Frank Dent, Charleton senior and class president.

Dent explained that a vacancy was created when Carolyn Meade, Hamlin senior, did not return to school. According to last year's Student Government changes, the alternate senator will move up to fill the regular position.

That leaves the alternate seat vacant—to be filled by class president's appointment.

Dent said that he would like to interview seniors interested in the job. The senator must have at least a two point average and possess leadership ability and preferably have had some Student Government experience, whether in high school or at Marshall.

The senior class president can be contacted at JA 2-9514 or through the Student Government office.

The final appointment must be ratified by the Senate.

By BONNIE JEAN NELSON
Society Editor

Miss JoAnn Odum, newly-crowned Miss U. S. A., will be officially honored by the city and the University during the half-time of the V. M. I. football game tomorrow night.

In addition to being presented a key to the city, she will be named honorary mayor of the city and Sheriff Harold Frankel will swear her in as honorary deputy sheriff.

Miss Odum, 19-year-old Huntington freshman, will represent the United States in the Miss World contest to be held Nov. 9 in London, England. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Odum, 200 Parkland Drive, she was named Miss U. S. A. at a beauty contest at Carnegie Hall in New York City on Aug. 26.

The green-eyed brunette was chosen from among 34 young women from across the nation who competed in the finals. In London she will compete for a $7,000 cash prize, a trip to Paris and a screen test. While in London, JoAnn will be a guest of the lord mayor and the House of Commons.

Winning beauty contests is routine for Miss Odum, but she states that each one is a very exciting challenge. In 1958 she was named Miss Armed Forces, and 1960, and was voted "Miss Con- was at one time picked as the "Typical American Girl" by the

Placement Director At Parley

Robert P. Alexander, Marshall University Placement Director, attended the 12th annual meeting of the Mid-West College Placement Association at Mackinac Island, Michigan this week.

The theme of the meeting was "Architects of the Future." Some 250 colleges and universities and 600 major industries were represented at the meeting.

On his return trip today, Alexander will install a Marshall alumni chapter in Detroit, Michigan. Detroit's alumni group will be the 14th activated during the past year. Other active chapters outside West Virginia are located in Central Ohio (Columbus), North Carolina, Washington, D.C., and the Greater New York area. Additional chapters are being organized in Indiana, and in the Dayton, Ohio, area.

P.S.: She's Shapely 36-24-36

WINNER OF numerous beauty contests, Miss JoAnn Odum is five feet, seven inches tall, weighs 125 pounds and measures a shapely 36-24-36. The beauty said, "It's hard to express my happiness at being able to represent this great nation of ours. My country means a good deal to me, and this is a great honor."

THIS MARSHALL COED said she was a little sorry she'll have to miss the fall semester in order to compete in the "Miss World" contest, but added, "It's worth it." As America's representative in the "Miss World" pageant, Miss Odum will compete for a $7,000 cash prize, a trip to Paris and a screen test.

Afghanistan Visitor Sees Audio-Visual Program Here

Gulrahman, a member of the staff of Kaabuel University in Afghanistan, was a recent visitor to the campus for the purpose of studying Marshall's audio-visual aid program.

Gulrahman is in the United States under a State Department grant to view the audio-visual aid centers in West Virginia, Virginia, Ohio and Washington, D. C. He is connected with the audio-visual program in his home university and Columbia University's Teachers College in New York City.

Walter C. Felty, audio-visual program director at Marshall, was Gulrahman's host during his stay on campus. The only other school in West Virginia which Gulrahman visited was West Virginia State College at Institute. Mr. Felty added that Marshall has by far the most advanced audio-visual aid program in the state.

Gulrahman was directed to West Virginia by a correspondence acquaintanceship with Lawrence Jordan, director of the audio-visual program at W. Va. State.

Theatre Tryouts Due Next Week

Casting for roles in the University Theatre's first production of the year will be held Wednesday and Thursday at 3 p. m. and 7 p. m. in Old Main Auditorium.

The play, "The Firebrand," by Edwin Justus Mayer, is a romantic comedy based on the life of the Italian "Don Juan," Benvenuto Cellini, a sculptor, artist, and lothario of the Renaissance. It takes place in the year 1513, and the costumes will reflect the color of that era.

Ten men and six women are needed to fill the roles of the play, according to the director, Clayton R. Page, assistant professor of speech. All full-time students are eligible to try out for the play.

Presentation dates for the production are Nov. 8, 9 and 10. Admission will be by Student Activity card.

Negroes Begin Fraternity Here

Kappa Alpha Psi, a national Negro fraternity, is forming a chapter on the Marshall campus.

Dixon Edwards, Morgantown senior, stated that the group had not received a full charter, and that it would probably be several months before all plans could be completed.

The Marshall chapter presently has 20 members. Atwood Luter, Bogalusa, La., senior, is president of the fraternity; Henry Parrish, Huntington sophomore, is vice-president, and Dixon Edwards is treasurer.

Neal B. Wilson, director of athletics, is adviser to the group.

Kirk Is Named Dean Of Men

David Kirk, a 1958 Marshall graduate has been appointed dean of men. He replaces Dr. Harold Willey who has taken a position as Associate Professor of Education.

Dean Kirk was graduated from Marshall with an A. B. degree in philosophy. He attended Duke University graduate school where he studied for the ministry. He is now an ordained minister in the Methodist church, but prefers to be called Mr. or Dean, rather than Reverend.

A resident of Huntington, Dean Kirk married the former Mary Ann Thompson of Charleston.

While at Marshall, Dean Kirk was a member of the varsity basketball team, president of his junior class, president of the student body, and was named to "Who's Who In American Universities and Colleges" for two years.

Leadership Camp Proposes Many Ideas

By TOM ROSS
Student Body
Vice President

The success of the 1961 Leadership Camp, held last month at Cedar Lakes, is to be seen in the concrete proposals made by discussion groups at the camp. President Smith, speaking at dinner on the opening night of camp, stressed the need for a few definite recommendations from the camp. He pointed out that a small number of concrete proposals is superior to a large number which would have less chance of being carried out. The camp's discussion groups followed his advice, returning the recommendations discussed below.

That more faculty members obtain their doctors degree, was recommended by the committee discussing "Marshall and its Future." This group also recommended the Miss Marshall be given more prestige. They suggested that candidates for Miss Marshall appear in a student assembly so that they might be elected on the basis of poise and talent as well as beauty and popularity. That Marshall have more and better intellectual discussion groups to build an inquiring scholarly spirit on campus, was also proposed by this group.

Later hours for upperclass dormitory girls was recommended by the student activities discussion group. They suggested 11 o'clock permission on weekdays and 12:30 permission on weekends. This committee also proposed increased use of visual aids in classes.

The freshman orientation discussion group advised that freshman placement tests be given in W. Va. high schools during the spring of the students' senior year. This would avoid the strain placed upon the administration by the handling of such tests in the summer. It would also eliminate the necessity of having freshmen take the tests on the first hectic day of Orientation Week.

The group discussing school spirit and alumni relations was especially enthusiastic. They returned such ideas as the purchasing of a buffalo costume so that some student could play Marco at the football games. They planned a special emphasis for each football game, such as Miss USA Day, Buddy Day, Robe sweatshirt day, Parents' day and others. Members of this group called themselves the "Spiriter" and will carry out their ideas themselves.

One discussion group outlined standards for selecting judges for such events as Homecoming and the Mothers' Day Sing.

The publications discussion group voted eight to four that the Parthenon should lead the campus rather than have the campus lead the Parthenon. By this, the group meant that the Parthenon should take initiative in attacking student apathy toward important issues on campus and elsewhere. Mr. William Francois, assistant professor of Journalism, was present at this discussion to explain the policies, difficulties and future plans of the Parthenon.

The discussion group handling religion on campus attempted to define the religious need of the student. They felt that the student needed aid in formulating his beliefs through worship, work, study and fellowship. They proposed activities in the Campus Christian Center to meet these needs.

Dr. Charles Moffatt, professor of History, delivered a moving oration of "A Time for Greatness." Several prominent alumni were present: W. Russell Sayre, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lanham, and Mr. and Mrs. W. King Parsons, parents of Nancy Parsons, Ripley senior and coordinator of Leadership Camp. The Jackson County Alumni Association held a watermelon feed for the campers, providing an opportunity for campers, faculty and administration to become acquainted with various alumni.

One shortcoming of Leadership Camp, I feel, was the lack of informed persons to serve as resource leaders in discussion groups. For instance, the publications group discussed Et Cetera without having anyone present who was familiar with the work of publishing it. The "Marshall and its Future" group discussed housing for basketball tournaments, without consulting anyone who had worked with this.

Unguarded Moments At Leadership Camp

ALL WORK AND no play would be dull. In between brainstorming sessions at Leadership Camp (Aug. 30-Sept. 1) some fun was sandwiched in—such as this card game. The players are (left to right) Rosie Sadd, Charleston senior; Nancy Parsons, Ripley senior and co-ordinator of Leadership Camp Commission; Susan Hall, Millstone junior; Dave Ballard, Ashland, Ky., senior, and Donna Darbes, Huntington sophomore.

Green Will Face V. M. I. Tomorrow

Snyder Tells Team's Weak, Strong Points

By ROGER HUTCHISON
Sports Editor

Marshall's Big Green will kick off the 1961 football season tomorrow at 8 p. m. at Fairfield Stadium against V. M. I., a formidable foe of past years. Marshall has not met V. M. I. since 1959, when the Big Green took a sound beating from the men of Virginia.

According to Head Coach Charlie Snyder, "V. M. I. has a good team, excellent speed and backfield with a returning half-back, John Traynum, who ran two touchdowns against Marshall in 1959."

Looking to his own team, Coach Snyder said, "We will have a fast team, tackle to tackle, and a fast backfield."

"We will not have a heavy team," said Snyder, "but you can't have both weight and speed. The line will average a little over 200 pounds and the backfield about 180 pounds."

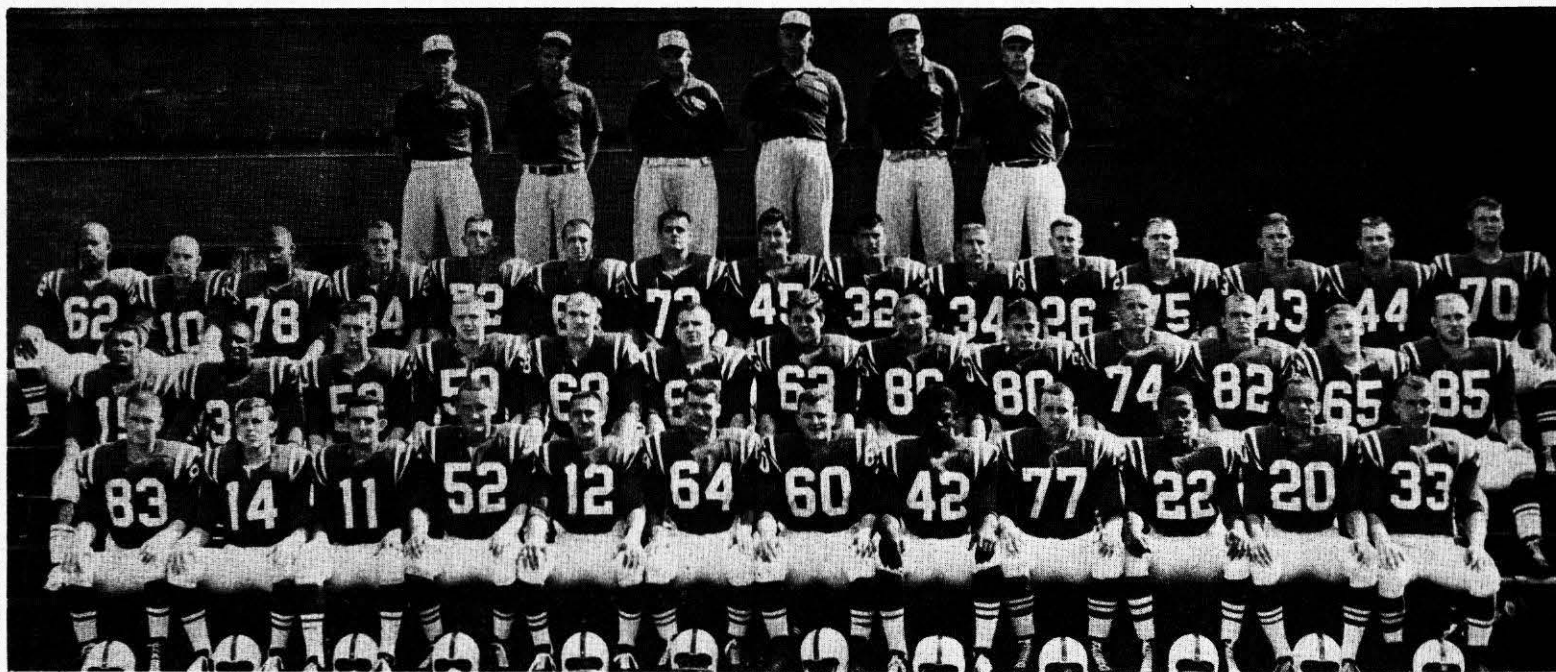

According to the coach there are three factors to consider in the outlook for the 1961 season. As he said before, "It's what's up front that counts." Referring to the Big Green line, Coach Snyder said that five of last season's starting linemen will not be around when the season gets under way. Replacements for these departed regulars will be one of the problems this season.

Two switches in personnel may aid the situation in the line, Snyder hopes. Malcolm Price, a former halfback, has been switched to an end, and Dennis Skeens, an end for the past two seasons, has been switched to tackle. Sophomores Mike Hicks and Doug Long are expected to help the front line, but lack experience.

"Injuries, said Snyder," are another handicap to consider and is the schedule. "Injuries can cut down on the depth of the team and depth is a problem now."

The backfield is intact from last year and a regular end and center are returning to the lineup this season. There are eight returning lettermen to the backfield, headed by last season starters Ralph May and Dixon Edwards.

The line-up for tomorrow's team is tentative according to Coach Snyder, but may be as follows: Ends — Bill Nardo and Jim Yoho; Tackles — Robert Maxwell and Dennis Skeens; Guards — Clyde Pierce, Roger Jefferson or Jim Keatley; Center — co-captain Rucker Wickline; quarterback — Ralph May; left-half — Millard Fleming or Richard Thomas; right-half — Jasper Wright or Harper Hill, and full-back — Dixon Edwards or Gary Zickefoose.

Intramural Sports Program Slated

"Intramurals for the fall semester are now being organized," says Otto A. "Swede" Gullickson, professor of physical education.

Touch football teams already have been set up but soccer, speedball, volleyball, and cageball are on the docket for later this season. Lists will be posted in the Student Union for the various sports.

Students, either singly or representing their organizations, may be included by entering their names on these lists.

Other sports slated for this fall include: horse shoe singles, tennis singles, ping-pong singles and doubles, carome and pocket billiards, croquet singles, one wall and four wall handball singles, cribbage, and bridge partners.
