MARSHALL COLLEGE STUDENT NEWSPAPER

VOL. 59

HUNTINGTON, W. VA.

NO. 32

It's In The Bag, Fellows!

A MARSHALL COLLEGE psychologist may have come up with a system for checking a gal's personality. For example, Besty Roberts (left) carries a bucket-bag, the contents of which are shown below. She may be the "middle-of-the-road" type of personality. The shoulder-bag type, in this case Ann Burns, Huntington senior, may be the flamboyant type (note contents). And the third type is the clutch-bag, used by Suzanne Rothgeb, Pt. Pleasant senior. This type of bag may indicate self-sufficiency, self-reliance. (Photos by College Photographer Charlie Leith.)

Purses May Give Clue To Coed's Personality Traits---Dr. Darbes

By MARY ANN YEAGER
Staff Reporter

Should a man about to marry look at the purse she carries?

That was the question put to three psychologists at Marshall College. Two of them said: Disregard the purse or handbag the coed may be carrying. A third psychologist said the handbag may indicate personality.

Dr. Kenneth K. Loemker, professor of psychology, and Dr. Mary Lyon, assistant professor of psychology, said handbags carry no gauge to one's personality.

But Dr. Alex Darbes, associate professor of psychology and director of the Psychology Clinic, disagreed.

"The handbag is a symbol of femininity," he said. "Certain types of handbags may be indicative of a type of individual."

Do you carry a clutch bag?

"The girl who uses a clutch bag may be well-organized, self-sufficient and reliant," Dr. Darbes told The Parthenon. "She may prove to be very efficient . . . intellectual. She may even be a scientist. In her day's travels she will require only a minimum of accessories, which she files neatly into a small clutch bag."

But what about the coed who uses a shoulder bag?

"She may be less organized and more dependant on many things. She is often the outgoing, flamboyant type of girl. Among this type may be found musicians, artists and those in the public eye. This girl doesn't want to clutch her handbag, nor carry it on her arm, so she lets it dangle from her shoulder. Its contents may consist of a surprisingly large number of items, some of which may be unusual. Among them, one may find programs from plays or musicals, cancelled travel tickets, notebooks with numerous items recorded, candy bars and mints, various types of make-up and pills. She hordes many small items within this bag; things she is reluctant to throw away."

And what about the bucket-bag girl?

She may be classed as "the middle-of-the-road" type. "She can always find room in this handbag to carry any items that she might need. She is not too dependent, neither is she too independent. She is the average type of girl who will never be too demanding nor too compromising."

Theories Put To Test; Results Are Surprising

The Parthenon put Dr. Alex Darbes' theories to the test this week.

Dr. Darbes, associate professor of psychology, said it may be possible to predict a girl's personality by the kind of handbag she carries.

So a reporter picked three coeds at random, each with the type of handbag discussed by Dr. Darbes.

And surprisingly, the three agreed generally with the analysis made by the director of the Psychology Clinic.

Betsy Roberts, Beckley freshman, prefers the bucket-bag and agreed with Dr. Darbes that she may be a "middle-of-the-roader." Like the other two coeds, Miss Roberts agreed to let a Parthenon photographer record the contents of her purse (shown in the bottom picture, left).

Suzanne Rothgeb, Pt. Pleasant senior, likes the clutch-bag with its minimum of items. Such a person seems to have the characteristics of self-sufficiency, according to the psychologist.

Ann Burns, Huntington senior, likes the shoulder-bag but it's not known whether she agrees with the "flamboyant" label. But she does like outdoor sports, such as water skiing and ice skating.

Contents of her shoulder-bag provide an eye-opener. There were 29 different items and some duplicated three or four times.

In another survey made by The Parthenon, it seems that the bucket-bag is the most popular among Marshall coeds.

RICHARD SHUMATE
... Signs Contract

Shumate Signs To Record For Disc Company

Richard Shumate, Glen Rogers sophomore, recently signed a five year contract with Cool Recording Company of Harrison, New Jersey.

Mr. Shumate will make his first recording in New Jersey during the summer. He plans to use one of his own arrangements and compositions or one of his father's.

He has been playing the guitar most of his life and plays mostly country music. He has written several songs and hopes to make records of them.

This will be Shumate's first attempt at recording, but he has appeared several times on radio and television. He was signed to record by Jim Small, national talent scout, when he auditioned in Man, West Virginia.

Mr. Shumate, a Physical Education and Social Studies major would like to be a professional singer. "I feel that this opportunity to record with Cool Recording Company will help me in my future career as a singer," he said.

Coast Guard Sets Dates For Exams

Entrance examinations for the U.S. Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., will be held Feb. 23 in Charleston and Feb. 24 in Clarksburg.

Applications for the examination must be turned in to the Coast Guard office in Washington no later than Jan. 10. Applications for the test are available at the Huntington Post Office.

Any male between the ages of 17 and 21 with a high school diploma and the courses required by the Coast Guard can apply.

Required courses are: One unit of plane geometry, three units of English and nine optional credits.

Awareness Group To Sponsor Sale

The State Awareness Commission has scheduled a rummage sale next Tuesday and Wednesday at the Huntington Mattress Company at 825 Sixteenth Street. The purpose of the project is to raise funds with which to operate

Members of the Commission and the various committees plan to go on a door-to-door canvas tomorrow afternoon to collect rummage.

Faculty members and members of the student body who wish to donate rummage can contact Bill Wortman, Huntington junior and chairman of the State Awareness Commission.

Poll of 7 Classes Taken On Proposed Honor System Plan

By TOM FOSTER
Assistant Managing Editor

When members of the Administrative Cabinet voted last Oct. 21 to support a student honor system there were two major requirements which had to be met before it could be instituted on an experimental basis in one or two college departments.

One of these requirements was that 75 per cent of the students in those departments must vote in favor of the program. Another requirement was that department faculty approve the installation of the program.

Since the October 21 vote, a poll of seven classes, in which 153 students participated, it was found that 70 were in favor of the honor system, 59 were against the honor system and 24 remained indifferent.

The poll takers did not know if any of the classes fell under one of the two proposed college departments in which the honor system was to be tried experimentally.

If the poll were to be used as the basis for the seventy-five per cent favor, the honor system would not become a reality at Marshall. For the 70 who were in favor of the honor system constituted only a little more than 45 per cent of the total.

Library's Final Examination Files To Remain Closed To Students

With the approach of semester examinations, the question has been raised as to whether or not the library will have its files of past final examinations open for the perusal of students.

According to Mr. Harold W.

Apel, librarian, the files will not be open. He said that the library does not have sufficient personnel to do the physical preparation work necessary to bring the files up to date—or actually circulate the exams after they have been prepared.

Mr. Apel also pointed out that the library's files contain only those examinations submitted by the College of Arts and Sciences.

Also, the exams that the library has from the College of Arts and Sciences are not up to date, and originally only represented three semester's exams.

Final exams were made available to students during the 1957-58 school year, but the practice proved to be impractical due to the burden placed on the library staff, and the fact that the files did not cover all courses of the college.

Mr. Apel said that the library would like to provide the exam service, but that it is not feasible at this time. In the event that the service were to be initiated in the future, Mr. Apel expressed the opinion that the files should contain exams from all courses of the college. In addition, he feels that the service should be officially sanctioned by the college.

Big Increase Noted In Job Placement

Substantial increases were noted in job placements in corresponding periods of 1958 and 1959, according to Robert P. Alexander, director of placement.

In the period running from July through December in both years, there were 304 part-time jobs filled in 1959, compared with 184 the previous year. This represents an increase of 66 per cent, Mr. Alexander said.

In full time positions, the 1959 figure is 30 in the business and industrial fields, compared with 12 the year before, an increase of 150 per cent, according to the director.

A whopping increase of 189 per cent was noted in full-time teaching placements last year when 161 positions were filled. The 1958 total was 56, he added.

Purse Theories Tested, Results Are Surprising

Out of 37 coeds interviewed, only six made favorable comment on other types of pocket-books.

Barbara Mathis, Oceana freshman, carries a slim narrow bag of soft leather. "It's a new style that just came out this season and I like it for a change", said Barbara.

Jane Simms, Clendennin freshman, prefers a shoulder-bag. Jane states that her preference for this type of bag stems from its size, which enables her to carry a lot of items, and the fact that it is convenient.

Sandra Whitenach, Welch freshman, likes the dressmaker bag, which is a medium-sized bag suspended from a metal chain. Sandra remarked, "It's dressy enough to go with most anything, yet tailored enough to blend well with my school clothes".

Rosalee Cooper, Huntington senior, says, "At present, I am using an Italian Imported bag" (A large leather bag with two handles and a bucket fastner). "I like it because it is roomy and will take a lot of rough wear."

Sharon Stanley, Parkersburg sophomore, carries a large tote bag of tan leather. Sharon says, "I carry lots of my school supplies in it and sometimes I even pack my dress shoes. I just like a large, roomy handbag."

Nancy Williams, Beckley freshman, says, "I like the clutch-bag. It's small, compact and it stacks neatly on my books."

Kay Merrit, Belle freshman, says, "I like the bucket-bag best of all. It is neat looking and will hold everything I ever need to carry."

ROTC's Secretary Receives Award

FOR THE THIRD STRAIGHT YEAR, Mrs. Dorothy W. Pinson, secretary of the ROTC, has received an award for outstanding and sustained service from the department of Army. Presentation of the certificate is being made by President Stewart Smith.

Republicans Pick New Officers; Treacy Temporary President

Jim Treacy, Huntington freshman, was elected temporary president at an organizational meeting of the Young Republicans Club.

Other officers include Juliet Willman, Huntington freshman, secretary; Neal Fisher, Camden, N. J., freshman, treasurer; Patsy Dailey, Huntington freshman, membership chairman; and Kathy Haddad, Chesapeake, Ohio, freshman, publicity chairman. The advisor is Mr. Richard A. Steele, assistant professor in political science.

A membership meeting will be held at 4:00 p.m. Tuesday upstairs in the Student Union. All interested students, both liberal and conservative, are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served afterwards.

The Young Republicans Club is a social as well as business organization. Since this is a year in which state and national officers will be elected, the members will have the opportunity to gain actual practical experience in politics.

Big Green To Encounter Strong Kent Flashes

Strengthened by the return of two previously ineligible players, Kent State will be the next foe for Coach Jule Rivlin's conference leading hoopsters. The game is scheduled for tomorrow night at the Fieldhouse.

The Kent returnees, Wallace and Estes, are expected to give the Flashes added experience and height. Last year's top defensive club in the MAC, Kent employs a controlled fast break offense led by Wallace. An all-conference forward last season, Wallace will give Kent the experience their fast break has lacked in the first games of this season.

Termed as "one of the three favorites in the conference," by Marshall Coach Rivlin, the Flashes have a team of seven veterans and seven sophomores. Their starting lineup averages 6 feet 4.

Rivlin called Kent "a very good team" and added "the addition of Wallace and Estes will really help them." He emphasized, "It's just like Kent is starting their season over. They're better than their 2-4 record shows."

Marshall will have had five days to recuperate from the 86-78 overtime loss to St. Francis. Rivlin blamed poor shooting as a main reason for the loss to the Frankies. He said that after viewing movies of the game he thought the cool shooting plus poor offensive rebounding hurt the Big Green offense.

Now 5-3 for the season, Marshall, one of the nation's hottest-shooting clubs, hit only 38% of its field goal tries in the St. Francis game. It was the fourth win for the Frankies in seven games with Marshall. Three of these wins have been in overtime games.

In the Kent game, Marshall will be facing the MAC's second leading scorer in Charley Boykin. Boykin, a junior, is averaging 23 points per game. Kent's Chet Thomas is also among the league leaders with a 16 point average.

Marshall has three players in the league scoring race. Captain John Milhoan, sporting a 21.4 average, is the fourth leading scorer. Fast break engineer Lou Mott is in fifth position with 17.4 points per game. Averaging 13 markers per game, Herm Conner is tied for fifteenth position.

Center Bob Burgess is tied for the league lead in rebounding. He paces the rebounders with 15 per game. Milhoan also leads the foul shooters with a 90% overage.

After Kent, Marshall will travel to Charleston to battle VPI. Set for the Civic Center Monday, the game will be one of the toughest for the Big Green. Coach Rivlin commented on VPI musing, "we know they're tough and they're great".

Ticket sales for the VPI game have been moving well, according to Ray Cumberledge, Athletic Department Publicity Director. It is anticipated that as many as 1,000 rooters may make the trek to the capital city. Some attempts are being made to organize a caravan of fans for the journey to Charleston. Marshall followers are hoping for a repeat of the 85-80 Big Green win over the Gobblers earlier this year at Logan.

CONSTRUCTION DELAYED

Construction of the Campus Christian Center is being delayed while support is being added to the foundation, according to Rev. Lander Beal, College religious Counsellor.

Construction of the foundation hit a snag when a stream bed interfered with the building of the foundation. Plans for resuming construction are indefinite.

The steel beam, to be used as a support, will be installed by next week.

Big Green To Take Greeley's Advice?

Western Cage Trip Possible

The possibility that Marshall's basketball team may make a trip to the West Coast came to light earlier this week.

Appearing in "The Charleston Gazette" under the byline of its sports editor, A. L. "Shorty" Hardman, the story gave the first inkling of the western tour. Big Green Coach Jule Rivlin said this week that "nothing definite" had been decided concerning the trip. He added that such a trip was in the planning stages and would have to be approved by the Athletic Board of the college.

Rivlin said that if the trip does materialize, it could conceivably include games with Seattle, Portland and Pepperdine. Each of these teams have or will have played in Huntington during the last season or during the current campaign. He added that the Big Green had been invited to open the season in Los Angeles against Pepperdine.

Such a western trek could be an expensive undertaking. Hardman reported in the same article that West Virginia University's football trip to play Southern California in November had cost $13,516.52. This was according to figures obtained at the state auditor's office. He also reported that the WVU basketball team had drawn $15,000 expense money for its recent trip to California for a tournament.

Hardman, in his column, said: "Marshall College turned down a proposition which would have pitted the Big Green against West Virginia Wesleyan, West Virginia Tech and Morris Harvey in a holiday tournament last month at the Civic Center."

"It wasn't because Jule Rivlin's lads were scared of their state rivals and it wasn't because they have any policy against playing state foes."

"But the tournament idea was passed up because Rivlin was working on a trip to the far west which would have given his squad a four-game sojourn through California."

"And to prove that they have no qualms about playing another state college team, the Thundering Herd may renew relations with Wesleyan next season. The game might be played here (Charleston) too. "At least Rivlin and Morris (Athletic Director Robert Morris) want to court the state legislature just as much as WVU. And they feel that Marshall ought to appear here during the legislature each season just as WVU is doing."

"For this reason Governor Underwood has been invited (and will accept) along with many members of the legislature to come to the Big Green's game with Virginia Tech here Jan. 11."

"This one may be a sellout. At least, it promises to be the best basketball game to be played here in some time."

WAA PARTY PLANNED

Woman's Athletic Association will have a pizza party at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 12 in the women's little gym. Initiation of new members will be observed at that time. Letters and pins will also be given to members who have thus far earned enough points in team and individual sports.

LUCKY STRIKE presents

Dear Dr. Frood:

BAFFLING BLOT FAILS TO FAZE FROOD!

(see below)

Dear Dr. Frood: Every night for the past two weeks I've dreamt that I am being pursued by a beautiful girl in a Bikini who wants one of my Luckies. Just as she catches me, I wake up. How can I prevent this? Puzzled

Dear Puzzled: Go to bed a few minutes earlier.

Dear Dr. Frood: I am the ugliest guy on campus. My face looks like 90 miles of bad road. When I go to a party someone always steals my date. I worry about this. Can you help me? Loveless

Dear Loveless: Take heart. Any girl who would go out with you isn't worth worrying about.

Dear Dr. Frood: I think this ink blot looks just like rabbit ears. My friends say I'm nuts. What think? Bugs

Dear Bugs: It's your friends who are nuts. Those are clearly rabbit ears. And the long shape extending down is the rabbit's trunk.

Dear Dr. Frood: I have invited three girls to the dance this Saturday. How do I get out of this mess? Upha Creek

Dear Mr. Creek: Tell two of them to dance with each other until you cut in.

Dear Dr. Frood: I have been dating one girl but I am so good-looking and so popular that I have decided to spread myself around a little more. What should I do about this girl? Dashing

Dear Dashing: Tell her the good news.

Dear Dr. Frood: My roommate always wears my clothes. What should I do? Put Upon

Dear Put Upon: Cover yourself and stay indoors.

Dr. Frood, Ph.T.T.

Dear Dr. Frood: My mother and my brother don't like my boy friend, but my father and my sister do. His father and two brothers don't like me, but his mother and his other brother do. What should I do? Miss Muddle

Dear Miss Muddle: Tell your father to talk to your mother and tell your sister to talk to your brother. Then tell your boy friend's mother to talk to his father and tell his brother to talk to his brothers. If that doesn't work, then talk to your mother and brother yourself. Maybe they know something you don't know.

Ever Use Paper Bags, Onions To Cure Cold?

By STRAT DOUTHAT
Staff Reporter

Even though doctors disagree, Marshall students are using everything from onions to paper bags to cure their colds.

Dr. C. H. Hagan, Clinic Director, says, "The medical profession has found no cure for the common cold and the best remedy I can offer is sympathy and kleenex."

Richard Jackson, recent Marshall graduate, disagrees. Richard says, "Squeezing raw onions and drinking the juice will knock out a cold every time."

Asafetida is advocated by Hurley Blankenship, Mullens senior. Hurley says, "asafetida is a wild growing herb with cold killing powers. When worn around the neck in a pouch, it will prevent a cold." Miss Virginia Lee, Associate Professor of Journalism, begs to disagree, "I went to grade school with a boy who wore an asafetida bag around his neck and it still makes me shiver to remember how bad it smelled."

Paggy Bryan, Indiana senior, puts her head in a paper bag and inhales the steam from boiling Vick's Salve. While Peggy is inhaling her Vick's Salve, Danilee Cordea, Huntington senior, uses a more conventional remedy. Danilee takes cold pills in the daytime and imbibes a concoction of hot water, whiskey and black pepper in the evening. Fortunately she has few colds.

Some other remedies offered are: mustard plasters, onion poultices and good ole Castor Oil.

It seems that home cold remedies are universal. Don Kwon, Seoul Korea junior, says a popular Korean cure is hot soup with lots of pepper and off to bed, which incidentally is on the floor. Andrew Charney, Huntington junior and recently from Hungary, says aspirin and rest were used in the old country.

While student, doctor, baker, and candlestick maker, praise their various remedies, Jerry Harlow, Huntington junior, best sums it up. Jerry says about a cold, "The only thing you can do it try to outlive it."

Professor Appears As Guest Soloist

Mrs. Robert Shepherd, associate professor of voice, appeared as featured soloist in performance of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of

Mrs. Shepherd, better known as Jane Hobson, had appeared three times previously with the orchestra.

The concert, given on the University of Minnesota campus, included the 250-voice U of M chorus. The 4,800-seat auditorium was filled to capacity.

Mrs. Shepherd has a weekly radio music program, Jane Hobson's "Let's Listen to Music," on WSAZ at 9:05 p.m. on Mondays.

EXAM PERIOD NOTED

Final examination for students in Freshman Orientation 100 will be given at regular classroom sessions during the week of Jan. 11-16, rather than the following week.

CAM HENDERSON
... Hall of Famer

Plaque Bought; Honors Coach

Sufficient funds have been received to pay for the plaque honoring former Marshall coach, Cam Henderson, in the West Virginia Hall of Fame.

Since state funds cannot be used to finance such issues, letters were sent to former Henderson athletes for contributions. Over $100 of the needed $340 to place the plaque in the Hall of Fame headquarters at the Civic Center in Charleston was received as a result of the letters. The Huntington Elks Lodge No. 313, of which Cam was an active member before his death in 1956, has offered to pay the balance. Any further contributions that are received from alumni or other interested persons will be used for a plaque in the local field house.

Cam was coach at Marshall for approximately 18 years, coaching both football and basketball. He is the only sports personality from Marshall to be voted into the Hall of Fame.

Alpha Lambda Delta Tea Planned Sunday

Alpha Lambda Delta, scholastic fraternity for freshmen women, will sponsor a tea from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday in the North Parlor of Old Main.

Lucille Holswade, Huntington sophomore, and president of Alpha Lambda Delta, announced that invitations have been issued to freshmen women who had high academic averages in high school. The purpose of the tea is to acquaint the freshmen with Alpha Lambda Delta, which should be an incentive to make them strive for high grades in college.

Five sophomore women were recently initiated into Alpha Lambda Delta, in a formal initiation held in North Parlor. They are: Barbara Fox, Gilbert; Caroline Langfitt, Dunbar; Santalee Musci, Charleston; Rebecca Roberts, Huntington; and Nancy Wood, Moundsville. These initiates are hold-over pledges from last year.

KDP TO MEET

John Gunter, Marshall senior and honor system co-ordinator, will discuss the "Proposed Honor System at Marshall" at a meeting of Kappa Delta Pi, education honorary, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in North Parlor of Old Main.

INTERVIEW DATES SET

Robert Alexander, placement director, has announced the following job interviews:

Jan. 13—United States Department of Agriculture will accept interviews from all business fields.

Jan. 15—Superintendent of Kanawha County Schools.

Stern Warning Faces Guilty Line Breaker

A decision of guilty was the finding of the Student Court in the second line-breaking violation.

The case centered around the testimony of the defendant, Stephanie Shelly, Hinton sophomore. She stated that she had assumed a position in line without her mealbook and after returning with the mealbook re-assumed her position in line. Defense Attorney L. D. Egnor, Huntington junior, emphasized the fact that there is no provision in the rules governing the cafeteria monitor system for an extenuating circumstance of this sort.

Egnor also commented in his summation that a precedent had been set in the last line-breaking case which resulted in a decision of innocent. He was referring to a student's assuming a position in line but without any intent of violating the rules.

The first offense involves a stern warning to the violator.

Student Senate Revises Rules Covering Orientation Program

The Student Senate recently revised the Freshman Orientation Commission rules in the Student Government Manual. The purpose of the Commission is to orient freshmen to their student government and to encourage them to take an active part.

At the beginning of the fall term, a representative from the Student Senate meets with the orientation classes and discusses the policies and operation of the Student Government.

The amendments are as follows: (1) The instructors of the orientation classes are to be informed by letter when possible, of the activities. (2) The members of the steering committee must be appointed by the coordinator, Linda Patton, Huntington junior, and approved by the Senate before the end of the spring term. (3) All visual aids that must be prepared should be made during the summer. (4) During the fall semester, Orientation class presentation should be given before the Freshman Elections which are held the first week in October. This will help the students to be prepared to vote. (5) Since many of the Orientation classes meet at 11 a.m. Tuesday, these classes could be combined into two mass assemblies, one-half in Old Main Auditorium and one-half in Science Auditorium. This will eliminate the need for a great number of speakers and visual aids.

A later amendment was added to number 5 stating that the classes are to meet in the auditoriums on the days that the members of Student Senate will present the materials. The regular meeting place will be continued the next week.

These amendments were approved and passed by the Senate November 18, 1959 and will be in effect next term.

LUTHERANS TO MEET

The Lutheran Student Association will meet at 5:30 p.m. Sunday for a dinner-meeting at St. Paul's Lutheran Church at 721 12th Avenue.

State Official Visits Campus

DR. HENRY L. ASH, state commissioner of finance and administration and secretary of the Board of Public Works, visited Marshall for the first time last Monday. President Smith showed him the present facilities of Marshall.
