President Outlines Salary Increase Policy

Part Of $182,270 Will Be Used To Fill Several New Positions

By TOM FOSTER
Managing Editor

The $182,270 increase for salaries at Marshall will not provide a straight 10 per cent across-the-board increase to teaching and non-teaching personnel at Marshall, President Stewart H. Smith said this week.

In other developments, Marshall will have to wait until after the May term of Circuit Court to complete plans for the former Kroger Co. supermarket property at 19th Street and Fifth Avenue.

Dr. Smith also said no word has been received from the U. S. Housing and Home Finance Agency on the $1,150,000 loan application to build a new men's dormitory and dining hall.

"The 10 per cent increase in personal service funds will be used to provide increments to the teaching and non-teaching staffs, but salaries for new positions will have to come from these increased funds," President Smith said.

Two new instructor positions must be set up in the Nursing Education Department and also custodial positions for the new Health and Physical Education Building beginning Jan. 1, 1961.

President Smith said, "A number of new positions both in the teaching and non-teaching categories have been requested by department chairmen, deans and other administrative personnel. These requests will be screened carefully and will be held to a minimum."

Marshall received a $32,000 appropriation to make possible the purchase of the former Kroger Co. store which was going to be turned into the Engineering Department upon purchase of the property. A hearing will be held in the May term of Circuit Court to determine the value of the building and lot which has been set at $131,625 by Circuit Court condemnation commissioners. "We will wait until the issue is settled before going any further with our plans," Dr. Smith said.

Several departments have asked for space in the present Engineering Building.

The $98,000 to equip a new men's dormitory and dining hall was considered an important step by Dr. Smith toward getting the requested loan from the U. S. Housing and Home Finance Agency.

He said that the $11,300 increase for repairs and alterations, the $31,102 increase on current expenses and the $57,500 for equipment granted by the Legislature will be used on a backlog of needs with essential needs being moved up to the top of the list.

In The Lane, Snow Is Glistening!

A PICTURESQUE WONDERLAND greeted students after a weekend of snow which blanketed the campus. That which is beautiful before the eye proves treacherous under feet as students enter the student union. (See story on Page 4).

Honor System Rapped By Student Spokesman

By RALPH TURNER
Staff Reporter

"The Honor System will serve no function except for possibly a large negative splash against the college," said Steve Jacobson, Huntington senior.

Jacobson appeared before the Student Senate in opposition of the proposed Honor System. "I'm representing about 40 students in Business Administration who believe the Honor System will do more harm than good. I have lived under the Honor System for five years and I don't believe Marshall is ready for it.

"Does Marshall have the caliber of students to abide by it? We don't think so. There is cheating on campus now. If a person will cheat—he will cheat. While the Honor System might serve a worthwhile purpose in the minds of you (the Student Senate), the senate represents a small fraction of the Student Body—not all of the students, as it is supposed to. I know it, you know it. We believe there are more worthwhile things on campus to which attention should be focused. The Honor System is very successful at West Point. But there is no comparison between West Point and Marshall."

A question posed by Jacobson was, "What is the purpose of the Honor System?" Student Body President John Karickhoff of Spencer, said, "to alleviate the cheating problem." Karickhoff declared, "There are good answers to any of the questions asked by Jacobson."

Senior Senator Bobby Nelson of Whitesville, said, "I'm very glad to see a student take enough interest to speak up for his ideals. More students should come before the senate and express their opinions. The meetings are open to all students. How else are we suppose to know what the students want if they don't express themselves?"

Other senators expressed desire for the Student Body to attend senate meetings and speak on what they believe.

NEDROW SPE PRESIDENT

Richard Nedrow, Weirton junior was elected President of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity for the coming year.

Don Martin, South Charleston junior was elected Vice President.

Ewing Opposes Honor System

Steve Ewing, freshman class president from Charleston, is opposed to the proposed honor system although, in his opinion the Student Senate favors it.

Citing five reasons for his opposition to an honor system, Ewing contended first "That the students here are the friendliest anywhere but that an honor system would turn friend against friend, thus loosening the bonds of trust and causing students to float apart from one another."

Secondly, he declared, "An honor system should be based on a student's moral willingness to do one's own work, not because of fear of punishment."

His third criticism was aimed at the student's family and church background stating that moral character should not have to be developed in the classroom.

Ewing also said that he knows of no desire on the part of students or faculty, whom he has conferred with, for an honor system.

VETS NEED RUMMAGE

The Veteran's Club will have a rummage sale tomorrow and Friday at a location on 16th Street between Eighth and Ninth Avenues. The sale will help to finance the club's second All-Campus Talent Show.

Anyone having rummage to contribute to the sale is asked to contact the Veteran's Clerk in the Registrar's office today.

President Praises Local Legislators

In discussing the final version of the college's 1960-61 budget, President Stewart H. Smith made the following statement:

"In view of the many financial problems facing this year's Legislature, I feel that Marshall College has fared quite well. I am grateful to the members of our State Legislature and particularly to those from Cabell and Wayne Counties who worked diligently to secure additional funds for the college.

The help given by the Board of Directors of the Huntington Chamber of Commerce, numerous alumni and friends, and the excellent support of our local newspapers, television and radio stations all are genuinely appreciated."

$30 Given By Seniors To Scholarship Fund

The Class of 1960 Scholarship Committee has made two direct mail contacts to all seniors who expect to graduate in 1960. Already $39.96 has been received toward the scholarship fund.

Howard Sutherland, Matewan senior president and chairman of the committee, announced recently that "it is hoped that enough money is received through contributions to sponsor one or more freshmen who show high academic standards and who shows a need for the scholarship".

350 Expected To Attend UHSP; Baldwin, Stone Top Speakers

By VIRGINIA WISE
Staff Reporter

Three hundred and fifty high school students from West Virginia are expected to attend the United High School Press of West Virginia meeting here Feb. 26 and 27.

This meeting will mark the 25th anniversary of the organization.

Also meeting with UHSP will be the West Virginia Journalism Teachers Association and the United High School Yearbook Association.

UHSP was organized by the Marshall Journalism Department under the direction of W. Page Pitt in February, 1927. Professor Pitt, head of the department of journalism, is executive secretary of UHSP. He has been active in and for West Virginia mass communications since 1919.

Members of UHSP are representatives of state high school newspaper staffs.

The Journalism Teachers Association was organized by the Marshall Department of journalism in February, 1931. Members are advisers of high school yearbooks and newspapers.

The High School Yearbook Association was also organized by the college department of journalism in March, 1952.

Hanson W. Baldwin, military editor of the New York Times, will speak Feb. 26 in Old Main Auditorium.

Speakers on Saturday will include W. Page Pitt, chairman of the journalism department; Virginia Lee, associate professor of journalism and convention regis-

Also Don Hatfield, assistant sports editor, Huntington Advertiser; Ron Hutchison, sports editor of The Parthenon; Maurice Kaplan, chief of the photography department, Huntington Publishing Company; Charley Leith, college photographer; Pete Wilson, advertising manager, Huntington Publishing Company; Tom Lowe, business manager for The Parthenon; Otis Linger Jr., American Yearbook Company representative; Judy Pullen, editor of the college yearbook, Chief Justice.

At a luncheon Saturday, Raymond Brewster, editor of the Herald-Dispatch, board member of the State Board of Education, and president of the West Virginia Press Association, will be master of ceremonies. Invocation will be given by Dr. Stewart H. Smith, college president. Professor Pitt will introduce the principal speaker, Marvin Stone.

Mr. Stone is a graduate of the Marshall journalism department, formerly Far East bureau chief for International News Service, Pentagon adviser on missile news releases, and author.

Speech Closes 1960 Life Week

State Adjutant General Charles R. Fox, World War II veteran, will speak before the closing convocation audience today in Old Main auditorium beginning at noon as a finale to the 1960 Life Planning Week.

In connection with this year's theme—"Camouflage," Gen. Fox will speak on the topic, "Camouflage of Activity." He is a member of the board of directors of the Board of Church Extension and Home Missions of the Church of God in Anderson, Ind.

This convocation closes out the religious-week's activities which was highlighted with a Sunday night banquet, and several convocations, seminars, and classroom talks.

Dr. Edmund A. Steimle spoke before a captivated audience Sunday evening at the Life Planning Week banquet. Dr. Steimle, professor of Homiletics at the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Philadelphia, Pa., later spoke before the faculty on the subject, "The Camouflage of Intellectualism."

"The Camouflage of Leadership" was discussed Monday by Rabbi Albert Goldman and student leaders Tom Ross and Suzanne Tamplin at a seminar conducted at 4 p.m.

Dr. Lee Moorehead, pastor of the Indianaola Methodist Church in Columbus, O., spoke on "The Camouflage of Angonsticism" Monday evening in Old Main auditorium.

A convocation in Old Main auditorium at 11 a.m. Tuesday featured the Rev. Charles Albright, director of the Youngstown USAR School at Youngstown, O., as the principal speaker. The Rev. Albright spoke on "The Camouflage of Indifference," while Mike O'Kane served as student chairman.

"The Camouflage of Indifference" was also discussed by John Hammock at a seminar in North Parlor of Old Main Tuesday afternoon. Rule Johnson and Lula Mays served as student chairmen.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Dear Sir:

If a student does not belong to a Greek organization, the subject of social life might as well not be on his calendar. There is none! The open bids sent out by the Greeks are hardly enough to accommodate the majority of the Student Body of Marshall College.

Should it be necessary for a student—in order to occupy his weekends—to sit for hours in a beer parlor? It shouldn't be! The college should provide some sort of activity so that the many students wouldn't be forced to do this.

Another thing that drives many students off the campus is the fact that often the Union is closed to students so that outsiders can hold activities in it. One example is the high school students holding dances there. There are plenty of places in town where they could hold their dances, so that the Union could be open for the college students.

After all, the Union is for the college and should be open for the students' use at any time.

Judy Asbury
Logan, Soph.

Dear sir:

I am delighted the Marshall students are planning to adopt the Honor System.

I lived very happily under it many years ago at Vassar College.

Having been a member of the Marshall faculty for many years, I am still interested in all the good things which come to them.

Lucy E. Pritchard
Emeritus Chairman of the
Dept. of Classical Languages

THREE WHO PASSED IN THE NIGHT

Last year, as everyone knows, 1,210,614 undergraduates dropped out of college. 256,080 flunked; 309,656 got married; 375,621 ran out of money; and 309,254 found jobs. As you have, of course, observed, this accounts for only 1,210,611 out of 1,210,614. What happened to the other three?

Well sir, to find the answer, I recently completed a tour of American campuses where I interviewed 40 million students and sold several subscriptions to The Open Road for Boys, and it pleases me to report that I can now account for those three elusive undergraduates.

The first was an LSU junior named Fred Gaugin. He was extremely popular, always ready with a smile, fond of folk dancing and pralines, and last semester his Chi Psi brothers unanimously elected him treasurer of the fraternity. This proved an error. Gaugin, alas, promptly absconded with the money and went to Tahiti to paint. The fraternity is bending every effort to extradite Gaugin, but Tahiti, alas, is currently observing the feast of Dipthong, the Sun-God, a five-year ceremony during which all the islanders wear masks, so nobody, alas, can say for certain which one is Gaugin.

Nobody can say for certain which one is Gaugin.

The second missing undergraduate is William Cullen Sigafoos, Oregon State freshman, who went one day last fall to a disreputable vendor named A. M. Sashweight to buy a pack of Marlboros. Mr. Sashweight did not have any Marlboros because Marlboros are only sold by reputable vendors. However, he told Sigafoos that he had another brand which was just as good, and Sigafoos, being but an innocent freshman, believed him.

Well sir, you and I know there is no other brand as good as Marlboros. That fine filter, that flavorful flavor, that pleasure, that joy, that fulfillment—are Marlboro's and Marlboro's alone. All of this was quickly apparent to young Sigafoos and he flew into a terrible rage. "As good as Marlboros indeed!" he shrieked, kicking his roommate furiously. "I am going right back to that mendacious Mr. Sashweight and give him a thrashing he won't soon forget!" With that he seized his lacrosse bat and rushed out.

Mr. Sashweight heard him coming and started running. Now Mr. Sashweight, before he became a disreputable vendor, had taken numerous prizes as a cross-country runner, and he thought he would soon outdistance young Sigafoos. But he reckoned without Sigafoos's stick-to-itiveness. At last report the two of them had passed Cleveland. When they reach the Atlantic Seaboard, bad Mr. Sashweight will get his lumps from Sigafoos, you may be sure, and I, for one, am glad.

The third missing undergraduate, also named Sigafoos, is a Bennington sophomore named Celeste Sigafoos and, ironically, she never intended to leave college at all. She was merely going home for Christmas on the Natchez, Mobile, and Boise Railroad, and during the night, alas, her upper berth slammed shut on her. Being a Bennington girl, she naturally did not wish to make an unseemly outcry, so she just kept silent. The next morning, alas, the railroad went bankrupt, and Miss Sigafoos today is lying forgotten on a siding near Valparaiso, Indiana. Fortunately she has plenty of Marlboros with her.

And how about the rest of you? Do you have plenty of Marlboros? Or if you like mildness but you don't like filters, plenty of Philip Morris? Hmm? Do you?

Bob 'Comes Of Age'; Likely Pro Prospect?

By KEITH WALTERS
Sports Writer

Professional basketball scouts take heed! Robert A. J. Burgess, better known as Bob Burgess to Marshall fans and "Big Bob" to his teammates, appears to be one of the best pro basketball prospects in state college circles.

The 215-pound, 6-8 sophomore is progressing rapidly toward stardom in Marshall College circles. The likeable young man from Sharples, W. Va., is making his presence felt in the lineup by averaging around 15 points a game and pulling down approximately 20 rebounds per game.

Third of a Series

The 20-year-old Big Green center has been considerably larger and taller than most other players as long as he can remember. Burgess started playing the sport at the age of 11 when he competed in the midget basketball program. He also played junior high ball and three years of varsity at Sharples, gaining a starting position in his sophomore year.

During his senior year in high school, he averaged approximately 23 points a game under the guidance of Coach George Klipa, himself a Marshall grad. This past summer, Bob played in the Huntington Summer Basketball League.

When asked if he would like to play professionally, Burgess modestly replied, "Oh, yes, if I had a chance."

Relating some of the disadvantages of owning a 6-8 frame, Burgess said that a specially made seven-foot bed was awaiting him at Hodges Hall when he enrolled at Marshall.

Bob has found some trouble in finding clothes that will fit his frame. He wears a size 14 shoe and sometimes has a hard time finding a size large enough. Relating one of his experiences, Burgess said that last Tuesday he went to downtown Huntington to purchase a shirt. When the salesman found that Bob had a 38-inch arm length, he gave up in dismay.

Burgess has selected physical education as his major and social studies as his minor. He plans to teach and coach after graduation from college.

Bob feels that his best offensive effort this season came against highly-touted Western Kentucky, which Marshall defeated, 100-97. He added that "everybody played a good game" that night.

In rebounding, he found Howard Jolliff of Ohio University and Smith of VPI the toughest he has faced under the backboards.

"Timing and position are the main requirements for rebounding," Burgess relates. He added that Marshall's success, this season should be credited to "overall teamwork" and "no individuality."

Whatever happens to the Big Green in the following two years will depend greatly upon the rebounding, scoring, and leadership of Bob Burgess, a young man destined for a big future on the basketball court.

600 Students Due For Science Fair

By KEITH MARKINS
Staff Reporter

About 600 junior and senior high school students from schools in 21 counties of the tri-state area are expected to compete for honors in the sixth annual Marshall College Regional Science Fair, according to Dr. Donald D. Cox, chairman of the Science Department and director of the 1960 event.

The Science Fair, which will take place April 1-2 at the Huntington Field House, is a collection of exhibits designed to show a biological, chemical, engineering, mathematical, or physical principals, a laboratory, or an industrial development.

The fair, sponsored by the Rail Community Relations Group, composed of membership from the B&O, C&O, and N&W railroads in co-operation with the college, will have the exhibits on display for the public between 7:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. on April 1, and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. April 2.

Students will be competing in three different classes. The senior division, consisting of students enrolled in grades nine through 12, will feature exhibits in biological, chemistry, physics (includes mathematical and engineering sciences), and earth sciences. The junior division will include exhibits in biological and physical science. A third division will feature group exhibits which will consist of students from either of the first two divisions.

Grand prize winners of the senior division will receive an all-expense paid trip to the National Science Fair in Indianapolis May 11-14, and will compete for national honors. Also, the teachers of grand prize winners will accompany the students with all expenses paid. In addition, the Railroad Community Committee will award a $50 U.S. Savings Bond to any teacher who has a student winning a first place award in the regional fair, provided, however, that the exhibit was previously displayed at a local fair sponsored by the Railroad Community Committee.

Dr. Cox said about 50 tri-state science teachers attended a Science Fair Workshop conducted in the science auditorium last Saturday and discussed Science Fair problems and possible solutions.

Slides were shown of past exhibits and the teachers were guests at a luncheon given by the Railroad Community Committee.

Dr. Cox said there is only one change in the national rules and regulations from last year's rules. Exhibits cannot exceed 48 inches in width and 30 inches in depth. Last year the exhibits were limited to 48 inches in width and 36 inches in depth.

Dr. Cox gave the following account of plans for the activity of the exhibitors: On April 1st from 8 a.m. to noon students will set up their exhibits and then leave while the judging takes place.

A regular program has been planned for the rest of the day. Educational films will be shown in the auditorium, local plants will be toured with transportation furnished, along with tours of the campus. Shuttle bus service will be provided to transport the students between the college and the Field House.

The student government hospitality committee will have a mix in the Student Union Friday night (April 1) with refreshments furnished by the Science Fair Committee. The awards will be presented at 7:30 p.m. April 1.

ISA's Sweetheart Crowned At Dance

The Independent Students' Association celebrated the Valentine season with its annual Sweetheart's Ball. Music was furnished by the Joe Chapman Orchestra.

Fraternities Plan 'Rush' Clinic

A "rush" clinic for all prospective fraternity rushees will be conducted at 3 p. m., Feb. 22, in the Science Auditorium, according to John Morton, Highcoal senior and chairman of the Interfraternity Council.

All men intending to rush must attend the clinic, Morton said, because a list will be made.

For the first time there will be no limitation for rushing any of the seven Greek organizations. In the past, only 20 were accepted the first semester and 30 the second.

Smokers will be held later in the month, and the dates will be announced later. Pledging will be on Saturday, March 5, Morton said.

The chairman said IFC eased the limitation ruling so that no prospective member would be hesitant when faced with the prospect of competing with others to gain admission to any fraternity.

Morton said emphasis will be placed by IFC on "Going Greek."

The same general rushing rules will apply this year as before. The silence rule, which has fallen by the wayside, will be strictly enforced this year, Morton said. It will be in effect from 8 a.m., March 3, to 12 noon, March 5.

Snowfall Turns Campus Into Winter Wonderland

By NANCY BLAKE
Staff Reporter

The Eskimos had nothing on the students at Marshall College this week.

Many students went home for the weekend, and were unable to return for Monday classes.

The offices of the Dean of Teachers College and the Dean of Arts and Sciences reported that they received many calls from students who were "snow-bound." Some of the calls come from as far as North Carolina.

The ballgame, Marshall vs. Toledo, was an hour late getting started Saturday night. Not the players, but the officials had trouble getting through snowy weather. Despite the bad roads and cold weather, the fans still came out to the game.

Thomas A. Bolyard, superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, said that "two men worked all day Sunday clearing the walks from the dormitories to the dining hall." They used salt, hand shovels and a tractor. The tractor "conked out" and it was impossible to receive a part to repair it before Monday morning.

The crew started to work at 6:30 a.m. Monday. Like many of the students, the crew was nine men short. According to Bolyard, the men were "snow-bound."

Appointee

DEAN PETERS, Twilight junior, has been appointed 1960 homecoming coordinator. He is a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity and served as coordinator of academic committees at leadership camp. Student Body president Karickhoff made the appointment and it was ratified by the senate.

Be perspicacious!

Not this: a student who studies drowsily no matter how much sleep he gets.

This! Perspicacious... sharp! NoDoz keeps you awake and alert—safely!

If you find studying sometimes soporific (and who doesn't?) the word to remember is NoDoz®. NoDoz alerts you with a safe and accurate amount of caffeine—the same refreshing stimulant in coffee and tea. Yet non-habit-forming NoDoz is faster, handier, more reliable. So to keep perspicacious during study and exams—and while driving, too—always keep NoDoz in proximity.

The safe stay awake tablet—available everywhere. Another fine product of Grove Laboratories.
