1,000 Seek To Enter Marshall

1960 Artist Series Set

The Marshall College Artist Series will mark its 25th season opening Oct. 24. The programs scheduled this fall are mostly musical with one Pulitzer Prize-winning play.

Boris Goldousky, directing the Grand Opera Theater, will present Mozart's opera, "Don Giovanni," in English on Oct. 24.

The Broadway play "J. B." will be presented Nov. 1, directed by Elia Kazan. He has directed such famous motion pictures as "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn", "East of Eden" and "Street Car Named Desire." The author of "J. B.", Archibald MacLeish, has twice won the Pulitzer Prize for poetry.

"L'Enfance De Christ" will be the special presentation of the Little Orchestra Society of New York Dec. 6. The production is directed by Thomas Scherman and features soloists Hugh Thompson and Irene Jordan of the Metropolitan Opera.

Artist Series members will be treated to the Philadelphia Orchestra, recognized as the world's leading symphony orchestra, on Jan. 16. Conductor Eugene Ormanny will begin his 23rd season with the group.

French pianist Philippe Entremont will return on the Artist Series program Feb. 14. He appeared here last fall with the National Symphony.

Concluding the 25th Anniversary season will be the National Ballet of Canada on April 10. The company of 75 will be on its 5th annual tour of the U. S. and will feature dancers David Adams and Lois Smith.

Curtain Going Up Tonight On 'The Heiress'

THE COLLEGE THEATRE will present "The Heiress" in Old Main Auditorium today through Friday at 8:15 p.m. The play takes place in New York in the 1850's and is the story of a shy young girl who falls in love with a fortune hunter. Leading roles are shared by Betsy Rucker, Huntington sophomore, as Catherine Sloper; Joe Hughes, Moundsville freshman, as Morris Townsend; and William Kearns, instructor of speech, as Dr. Austin Sloper.

Pro Football Coach Critical Of Athletic Facilities Here

By RON HUTCHISON
Sports Editor

"Unless Marshall improves its athletic program and provides adequate facilities it will have a tough time recruiting good football material" commented Ed Ulinski, assistant football coach of the Cleveland Browns and former Marshall grid star.

Clarifying this statement, Ulinski said, "I mean not only in football but in other sports. Right now I don't think that the program is on a par with some other schools in the MAC."

Asked if he would ever consider taking a coaching position at Marshall under the present set-up, Coach Ulinski replied, "No, not unless a complete rebuilding program was established. If a rebuilding program is established then Marshall has a chance of improving its athletic situation, but if it doesn't then it will not get good football players. And good material is essential, because it takes more than a good coach. And I consider Coach Snyder a very capable and good coach. He has a very good coaching background."

The Cleveland coach, who visited the campus Monday, explained, "Nowadays college players expect a great deal—such as off-season jobs and full scholarships. The coaches have to pamper the players in order to get them to play. If a player violates training he can get away with it, but in the pros we fine them. This hits them where they live."

"If I were a player looking over Marshall as a college prospect and was told that the players had to ride a bus to St. Clouds Commons for practice, I wouldn't consider it. The situation is awful, the team should practice on the campus."

As for the MAC, Ulinski said, "Some of the schools in the MAC are too hard for Marshall to compete with, such as Miami and Ohio U. These schools have larger programs for athletics than Marshall."

Turning to professional football, Ulinski, who has been with the Cleveland organization as both a player and coach, said, "Pro ball is becoming more scientific and more intricate each year."

"When we start training we look for players who can learn. The first thing we do in training camp is give the players an IQ test. If a player can't learn then we don't want him.

"In the pro league we stress repetition of play patterns because a player should know the fundamentals when he finishes college ball. In fact, I think college ball is harder because you have to really work hard to get the fundamentals of the game. When I played at Marshall under Cam Henderson we often practiced three times a day. He worked us hard but I appreciated it later when I was playing pro football."

Getting back to college football, Ulinski emphasized the need

Crimp Seen In Housing

By TOM FOSTER
Managing Editor

More than 1,000 applications for entrance to Marshall for the 1960-61 school year have been received by the Registrar's Office, according to Registrar Luther Bledsoe.

Mr. Bledsoe said, "This is a record number of applications for so early in the year."

A heavy influx of inquiries also has been coming into the registrar's office everyday and they are having a difficult time getting the information out to the applicants.

Mr. Bledsoe said that this record number of applications does not necessarily mean a new enrollment record because some of these applicants will not be able to get housing.

He added that the dormitory situation is critical.

There are now 415 women living on campus in three dormitories. Freshman dormitory has the largest occupancy with 200, followed by Laidley Hall with 151 and College Hall with 64.

One-hundred and sixty men reside in Hodges Hall, the only men's dormitory on campus.

Mrs. Lillian H. Buskirk, Dean of Women, said, "It is a little too early to figure out a solution to the housing problem; sometimes cancellations will take care of the waiting list."

There are now 50 women on the waiting list for rooms in the three dormitories for next year.

The only men's dormitory on campus, Hodges Hall, has a waiting list of 223 and is growing steadily everyday, according to Phyllis Woody, secretary to the dean of men.

Men who are residing in Hodges Hall must pay their deposits by March 31 if they are

WHO WENT TO THE PROM—AND WHY

"Hello," said the voice on the telephone. "This is Werther Sigafos. I sit next to you in psych. I'm kind of dumpy and I always wear a sweat shirt."

"I'm afraid I don't remember you," said Anna Livia Plurabelle.

"I'm the one whose lecture notes you've been borrowing for two years," said Werther.

"Oh, yes!" said Anna Livia. "What do you wish, Walter?"

"Werther," said Werther. "What I wish is to take you to the Junior Prom next April."

"But this is November 27, Westnor," said Anna Livia.

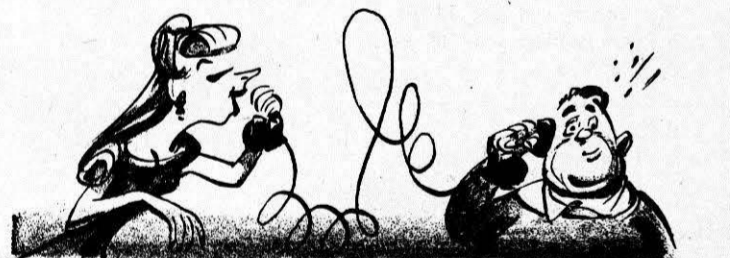

"Werther," said Werther. "Yes, I know, but you are so round and beautiful that I was afraid you might have a date already."

"As a matter of fact I do, Wingate," said Anna Livia.

"Werther," said Werther "Oh, drat!"

Anna Livia did not really have a date, but she was expecting to be asked by Stewart Stalwart, athletic and BMOC, handsome as Apollo, smooth as ivory, wearer of faultless tweeds, smoker of Marlboro cigarettes which even without his other achievements would stamp him as a man with know-how, with a pleasure-oriented palate. If you think flavor went out when filters came in, try a Marlboro. This one brims with zest and zip and the good, mild taste so dear to those who smoke for the pure joy of it. Get yourself a pack of Marlboros and listen to your friends say, "There, by George, goes a smoker who knows a hawk from a handsaw."

But I digress. Anna Livia waited and waited for Stewart Stalwart to ask her, but two days before the Prom, to everybody's amazement, he asked Rose-of-Sharon Schwartz, a non-descript girl with pavement-colored hair and a briefcase.

"I have decided to accept your invitation..."

Anna Livia immediately phoned Werther Sigafos. "My Prom date has come down with a dread virus," she said, "and I have decided to accept your invitation, Waldrop."

"Werther," said Werther. "Oh, goody ganders!"

The next day Anna Livia received a phone call from Stewart Stalwart. "My Prom date has come down with a dread virus," he said. "Will you go with me?"

"Certainly," she said and promptly phoned Werther and said, "I have come down with a dread virus and cannot go to the Prom with you, Whipstitch."

"Werther," said Werther. "Oh, mice and rats!"

So Anna Livia went to the Prom with Stewart and who do you think they ran into? Rose-of-Sharon with Werther, that's who!

Stewart had felt obliged to ask Rose-of-Sharon because she always did his homework, but she had weaseled out because she really wanted to go with Werther with whom she felt a great oneness because they were both so dumpy. He fell wildly in love with her at the Prom, and today they are married and run a very successful five-minute auto wash in New Bern, N. C.

Anna Livia and Stewart are happy, too. They are still juniors and have not missed a prom in sixteen years. © 1960 Max Shulman

April Brings Showers, Baseball Tech Initial Foe On 27-Game Card

First base and the catcher's position have been tabbed as weak spots on the 1960 edition of the Big Green baseball team which opens its season schedule with a double-header against West Virginia Tech April 1.

Coached by Bill Chambers, the diamondmen will probably be lacking depth and experience at the two positions based on the 35 tryouts for the varsity baseball team.

This season will mark the first time the Big Green will have played games under the lights in several seasons.

Twelve Mid-American Conference games have been scheduled among a 27-game baseball card. Last season the Big Green compiled a won-lost record of 12-10.

IRC TO MEET

The International Relations Club will hold a meeting at 11:00 Thursday in Room 203 of Old Main.

Daniel Puerto and Julius Carabia, Marshall's two Cuban students, will be the principal speakers and will speak concerning Castro.

Josephs Says League Foes Top Golfers

Ohio University and Western Michigan were singled out last week by Dr. Mike Josephs, varsity golf coach, as the teams to beat in the MAC golf conference.

Dr. Josephs said that OU would probably be one of the strongest contenders for the MAC crown which the Bobcats won last year. "OU has all five men returning," Josephs commented.

He added however, that Western Michigan, which finished second last season, would be a strong contender, along with the Marshall squad which placed third in the 1959 Spring tournament played at Oxford, O.

Josephs, who is in his first year as varsity golf coach, believes that the Big Green golfers will comprise a "very good team" this season.

Richard Burger, Keith Meade and Phillip Boyer are all returning lettermen for the Big Green. Josephs singled out Boyer and Jim Ward as "very good golfers."

Josephs predicted that the Big Green will do "as well as last year" when the golfers posted a season record of 23 wins, six losses and one tie.

Marshall this season scheduled only 10 games due to the curbing of athletic expenditures. The Mid-American Conference tourney will be played May 21-22 at Ohio University.

COURSE CANCELLED

The Marshall College first aid course which was to be held March 21-25, under the direction of associate professor Miss Louise McDonough, has been cancelled. A future date has not been set.

RECORD SET

Following Jule Rivlin's spectacular 50 perfect shots in 50 tries, Lou Mott and Corky Layman, both of the VM, looped in 49 of 50 shots in the intramural basketball foul shooting contest.

Larry Williams and John Preece, Independents; John Griffin of the VM; and Jack Perkins of the Sig Ep scored 46 of 50 tries.

Dick Wildt totaled 45 of 50 for the VM, and Jerry May of the SAE, and John Milhoan of VM had 44 of 50. Hanger Forest, Independent, racked up 43 of 50. Ken Echols of the KA, and Larry Payne of ROTC had 42 of 50 perfect shots.

Intramural Titles Won In Bowling, Ping-Pong

By BILL TOW
Sports Writer

Intramural sports reached into the grab bag and came up with some new champions and a new record.

The record came as Jule Rivlin, head basketball coach, scored 50 foul shots out of 50 tries, making him the first person to do so in 30 years of intramurals. Five others in past history have shot 49 but none, except Rivlin, had put 50 through the hoops.

Several new champions emerged in the bowling tournament and restricted ping pong singles.

Tom McGrath of ROTC won first place in individual bowling, scoring a total of 1636 pins. Second was Gary Poling of the All-Stars with 1501 pins. Charles Webb and Hartford Conn, both of the All-Stars, followed with 1497 and 1468 pins to win medals as did Jim Campbell of the Cavaliers, who finished with 1,450 pins.

Winners of the bowling league all-star team plaque were Charles Webb, Gary Poling, Ivan Grose, Hartford Conn and Sonny Staples.

The new restricted single ping pong champion is Curtis Ro's who downed Bill McCaffery 21-17, 21-14, 21-10.

PRACTICE POSTPONED

Spring football practice was postponed Monday, which was originally set as the initial day of workouts, because of field conditions.

Coach Charlie Snyder said Monday that his gridgers would probably begin workouts Tuesday if the gridiron is in playing condition.

However, he added that the two-hour workouts will be determined on a "day-to-day basis" if the same playing conditions exist.

'Open Door' Established By New Election Plan

The door is open. Walk in, unaffiliates. Campus elections April 13 will test the newly-devised semi-proportional representation system. The system is intended to provide an open door for equal representation in the Student Government among Greeks, unaffiliates and independents.

The new system grew out of the feeling on the part of the Student Government that the students desire more equal representation in the government among Greek and non-Greek campus factions.

The government as a whole is to be congratulated on its effort in the interest of the students. Particular praise should go to Student Body President John Karickhoff; Committee Chairman L. D. Egnor, Huntington junior senator; and the senate committee members: Bill Wortham, Huntington junior; Bobby Nelson, Whitesville senior; Charlotte Dudderar, Huntington senior; and Steve Ewing, Charleston freshman.

As the new system is devised, it will be possible for unaffiliates to gain, through a show of strength, a much greater share of the elected positions in the government.

Whether or not the unaffiliate majority on campus will take advantage of this opportunity depends upon their interest and the availability of a number of qualified unaffiliate candidates.

This year, as in the past, the Student Government has been criticized because of the overwhelming predominance of Greeks in the government.

The government has been rapped as being "unrepresentative," "self-interested," "the results of a Greek popularity poll," etc. Unaffiliated students have charged that the government is not interested in their welfare, and that "something should be done about it."

That "something" seems to present itself in the form of the upcoming election. If the unaffiliates want to change the complexion of the government they can easily do so by taking an active part in this year's election. If they don't, and the makeup of the government remains as it is at present, the unaffiliates will have no one to blame but themselves.

We suggest that if the unaffiliate majority is really "fed up" with the present character of the government, it should certainly begin now to plan for the election and encourage qualified unaffiliate students to run for office.
