Wortham Against Honor System

The Parthenon

MARSHALL COLLEGE STUDENT NEWSPAPER

VOL. 59 HUNTINGTON, W. VA. FRIDAY, APRIL 22, 1960 NO. 56

Student Body President Tells Reason For Stand

By RALPH TURNER
Staff Reporter

"I am against the Honor System," declared newly-elected Student Body President Bill Wortham of Huntington.

Wortham, who took office Wednesday said: "I believe the Honor System will not work on the Marshall campus. This is why I am against the establishment of the plan at Marshall."

While a junior senator this year, he was an initial factor in getting the Honor Commission appropriation of $300 cut to $150. At that time he expressed belief that the money might be spent foolishly by the Honor Commission.

The Honor Commission was a temporary commission which ended when Wortham took office. He said a new commission will be formed in the near future if for no other reason than to seek student opinion on the Honor System.

The new president said, "I feel the survival of the Honor System at Marshall has some hope. However, I believe the majority of the Student Body is against it."

"Money could be spent very foolishly on the Honor System through propaganda trying to push the plan over. However, if a program was presented through which money could be spent wisely, benefitting the students, and the majority of student will indicated a desire for it, I would work for it."

Wortham said his first major step as president would be to make executive appointments. "I don't believe any other major issues will come up this semester. These appointments will take the entirety of this semester."

Four unaffiliates (U) and 11 affiliates (A) won regular Student Government positions in last week's general election. Three alternate senator seats were filled by affiliates. Eleven hundred and fifty-eight students voted.

New class presidents are: senior, Vern Scandola, Weirton (A); junior, Tom Ross, Wheeling (A); sophomore, Bill Harman, Huntington (A).

Senior senatorial victors are Jean Battlo, Kimball (U); Bob Bledsoe, Webster Springs (A); Jeanee Pitts, Huntington (A); and alternate senator Ruth Ann Teets, Gassaway (A).

Winners of junior senate seats are Marvin Bobes, Wheeling (U); Carolyn Meade, Hamlin (A); Nancy Parsons, Ripley (A); and alternate Betsy Daniel, Huntington (A). Bobes received the highest number of votes and will be holdover senator, a two-year term.

New sophomore senators are Steve Ewing, Charleston (U); Janet Steele, Logan (U); Brenda Keys, Kopperston (A); Lois Brown, Huntington (A); and alternate Barbara Shinn, Mountain Lakes, New Jersey (A). Ewing is the holdover senator.

Holdover senators who will remain in office are: senior, Jeanie Windsor, Huntington (A); juniors, Frank Dent, Charleston (A) and Mary Chafin, Huntington (A).

Jim Bailes, Clay junior, also claims a senatorial seat for runner up to the Student Body President.

Two Seniors Get Academic Prizes

A Huntington senior has received a scholarship to study abroad and a Parkersburg senior a fellowship to continue his chemistry studies at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Gloria Brothers has been awarded a Fulbright Scholarship to study contemporary French literature at the University of Rennes, France, during the next academic year.

Poll Results Show Kennedy Favorite

Preliminary results in a poll being conducted by The Parthenon this week appear to indicate that Marshall students favor Senator John Kennedy Dem. (Mass.) over Senator Hubert Humphrey Dem. (Minn.) as the 1960 Democratic presidential candidate.

Out of 274 students interviewed, 195 chose Kennedy to 79 for Humphrey. Both candidates are now running in the West Virginia primary.

The results of the poll thus far would indicate that in a primary election conducted on the Marshall campus, Senator Kennedy would win hands down.

Barnett Gets Grant

Dr. Martin D. Barnett, assistant professor of chemistry, is the recipient of a $2,000 research corporation grant from the Frederick Gardner Cottrel fund.

The grant is a contribution to the academic and scientific program of the college.

Bob Morris Resigns

Athletic Director Robert Morris has resigned effective June 30. College President Stewart H. Smith announced Wednesday.

A successor will be named in several months.

Neal "Whitey" Wilson, acting athletic director, will continue in his present position until June 30.

Mr. Morris, praised by Dr. Smith for "contributing much to the development of the college's athletic program," has been ill for several months and gave that reason in his letter of resignation.

Russell Lester Tice Jr., has been awarded a National Science Foundation Fellowship to study chemistry at the graduate school of UCLA.

Miss Brothers was recommended last fall by the faculty committee to the West Virginia Board of Education. The board selects several students from West Virginia and sends their applications to the Institution of International Education in New York. The applicants are screened and recommended to the State Department in Washington.

Miss Brothers will leave from New York in mid-September.

At Marshall, she is a member and past president of Alpha Xi Delta social sorority, an honor student, president of Pi Delta Phi honorary, a member of Psi Chi, Alpha Lambda Delta, Fagus and a cheerleader. She is a major in psychology and French in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Tice has received only one B since he enrolled here in September, 1956. He is eligible to graduate Summa Cum Laude (with highest honors) in May.

The foundation award pays $1,800 plus $500 for each dependent and traveling expenses.

During his freshman year, Tice was pledged to Phi Eta Sigma, highest honorary society in West Virginia for freshmen. He was elected historian of the group. For two years he played intramural basketball and was selected for the All-Intramural team one year. He is a member and past treasurer of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

Tice is married and he and his wife have one child.

He plans to work toward a doctor of philosophy degree in chemistry and then enter college teaching.

New Student Body President

JOHN KARICKHOFF, SPENCER senior, (right) out-going Student Body president, hands over the keys of the student government office to newly-elected student body president, Bill Wortham, Huntington junior. Karickhoff said, "I have certainly enjoyed serving as president and I have profited from it. I wish Bill and L.D. much success in office."

Russian Course Slated; TV Airing Considered

A beginning Russian course will be offered at Marshall this fall with Dr. Richard Steele, assistant professor of political science, as instructor.

No prerequisite will be required and the course will be offered at 11 a.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Dr. Steele, born in China, received his primary and secondary education there with Russian as his native language.

While not officially confirmed, it is believed likely that the language course will be offered in co-operation with WHTN-TV. Students in the course would be transported to the TV station for classroom participation and the program would be video taped for replay the next morning.

Those in the viewing audience could, if the plan is approved, receive a certificate of completion if they passed the final examination. They would not, however, receive academic credit.

It is expected that the course would be limited to 25 students who would receive credit.

Students who had 10 a.m. classes on the three days the course is offered would be able to enroll and have enough time to take the bus to the TV studio. However, those with noon classes would not be able to enroll.

UNION CLOSED TONIGHT

The Student Union will be closed with the exception of the television and game rooms Friday due to a private dance.

There will be a free mix at the Union Saturday at 7:30.

McCaskey Will Head New College

... Gains New Post

Dr. A. E. McCaskey Jr., professor of engineering and chairman of the engineering department, will become dean of the newly established College of Applied Sciences on Sept. 1.

The appointment was approved by the State Board of Education at a meeting at Charleston last week.

Dr. McCaskey came to Marshall in 1936 as assistant professor of engineering. He had been a structural engineer with the Truscon Steel Co. of Youngstown, Ohio before coming to Marshall.

He received his B.S.C.E. and M.S.C.E. at West Virginia University and his Ph. D. from the University of Wisconsin.

From 1942-46 Dr. McCaskey served in the U.S. Army Corp of Engineers starting as a First Lieutenant and achieving the rank of Lieutenant Colonel upon his discharge. During his tour he was decorated with the Legion of Merit and the Medal for Military Merit.

He is the founder of D-Rho D-Theta at Marshall and is a member of Sigma Xi and an honorary member of Chi Beta Phi.

Dr. McCaskey has been listed in Who's Who in Engineering, Who's Who in the East, and American Men of Science. He also is a member of the Scabbard and Blade.

He belongs to the American Society of Engineers, the West Virginia Society of Professional Engineers, Huntington Engineers Club and American Waterworks Association.

He is now the President of the Huntington Planning and Zoning Commission.

The new college will embrace engineering, the Reserve Officers Training Corps, the new nursing education department, and the training program for laboratory technicians.

He is married and has one daughter, Ann McCaskey, a sophomore majoring in psychology.

An Editorial

Student Government Record

Congratulations to the new officers of the Student Government!!!

You won in a campaign that was unique for both the record number of candidates running for office, and for the relative sophistication of the candidates in their campaign techniques.

With the new semi-proportional representation system in effect, the unaffiliates did fairly well, winning four of the 15 positions open.

Despite the light turnout of voters for the election, the sheer number of candidates has indicated an unusual interest in the elections and the Student Government itself.

We hope that this enthusiasm will remain with you as you assume your new offices. We're sure it will.

We look forward to an increasingly active and dedicated government next year that will do much to promote the interests of the college through the Student Body. Your future task will demand much time and genuine interest.

Good luck.

With the new Student Government elected, now is the time to review the efforts of the past year's administration under Student Body President John Karickhoff and Vice President Ray Bane.

In their platform, they advocated four things: 1) university status 2) the Honor System 3) two-party system, and 4) equal representation in Student Government appointive positions.

As we see it, they've achieved about 50 per cent success in those four areas.

U-Status Helped

University status was not achieved, but the prospect looks more favorable now. The Student Government did about as much as it could under the particular circumstances through its letters to legislators and other state officials, and the student lobbyists. Also, the West Virginia Awareness Commission was created as one attempt to elevate Marshall's status in the state. The commission is now completing its first study.

Honor System Moves Slowly

The Honor System has not passed the discussion stage, and we doubt that it will this year, since the present commission ceases to exist as Karickhoff leaves office. The system now lies dormant until such time as the new government might revive it. We believe its lack of acceptance this year has been due to the Honor Commission which failed to "convert" the students to the system.

New Election Plan Devised

A two-party system was not installed this year either. However, we feel that the substitute semi-proportional system is a better alternative.

As long as the system remains in effect, unaffiliates will truly have an "open door" to the Student Government when and if they want to take advantage of it, without being forced into the government arbitrarily.

Few Unaffiliates Serve

Finally, Karickhoff and Bane promised more equal representation in the government's appointive positions. This has not been realized because too few unaffiliates applied for positions, and the government soon lapsed into the old habit of appointing Greeks. As a result, not many unaffiliates saw service with the government this year, particularly in the top appointive positions.

Karickhoff Strong President

On the other hand, Karickhoff has served with forcefulness and with integrity. He has been most conscientious in the execution of his duties and has won widespread respect. And, he has been able to control the Senate whenever he has felt it necessary. For example: his veto of a $5 raise in activity fees and subsequent passage of his recommended $2.50 increase.

Vice President Bane has served equally well as president of the Senate.

New Trend Started

In addition, the Karickhoff-Bane administration has seen the start of a new trend in Student Government that has made it appear more dedicated, more responsible, and more anxious to serve the entire Student Body, rather than any particular faction. The mere passage of the semi-proportional system and the initiation of "all-campus" dances in the Union are evidence to this effect.

We believe that this "new look" in Student Government has gone far to generate more interest in the government and its potential, and to partially erase ill-feeling between the unaffiliates and Greeks. The record number of candidates in this year's election and the relative mildness of the campaign seem to indicate the increased interest in the government and the easing of tensions between the two campus factions.

On the basis of this "new look" alone, we believe that Karickhoff, Bane and the entire Student Government merit a pat on the back and the praise of the Student Body. Considered from an ideal standpoint, this year's government has not been outstandingly successful. But, from a practical standpoint, it has done well.

Tra-la-la—so goes this nation's greatest nose-count, the 1960 Census. With a force of 160,000 enumerators on the job, more than 140 million Americans have already been accounted for. The task is expected to be completed by the end of the month.

Strangest setting for the census is in our newest state, Hawaii, whose population resembles a mammoth International Relations Club. LIFE, April 25, trails the enumerators from volcano to cane field as they take the census among Hawaii's heterogeneous population. The proud Hawaiians are as eager to be counted as the enumerators are to count them.

Giants Ride High Tide

Arriving back on the West coast, LIFE glimpses the new $15 million baseball park of the San Francisco Giants. As stylish as anything in the big leagues, the seaside stadium has even made provision for fans to ride their boats to the games.

But, the Giants have nothing on Marshall. Anytime the Big Green is playing at Inco Field you can paddle your canoe right up the old Guyan River to within a stone's throw of home plate. And the admission is much cheaper at Inco, too. Students are admitted merely upon showing an interest.

America's two newest entries, Transit I-B and Discoverer XI, have raised our satellite total to nine in orbit around the earth and two in deep space.

U. S. scientists hint that Russia's present space silence may indicate that she's planning something as spectacular as a rocket shot at Mars or a manned satellite.

LIFE examines our own latest efforts and brings us up to date on this aerial Science Fair.

By JOE WORKMAN
Feature Editor

Never a dull moment in Journalism 360!

If you should see a student "shinnying" up the old Beech tree, or peering at you from behind a bit of campus shrubbery, holding a camera, then chances are its one of our student shutterbugs enrolled in News Photography.

These students have ten picture assignments to complete per semester, and sometimes get involved in situations which you would expect to experience in few other class assignments.

For example, one group of photographers were working on a problem in distortion atop the roof of a downtown parking lot. In the process of focusing, they became so engrossed in their work that they almost walked off the edge of the roof.

Another student who attempted to get a slumming shot of a "wino" had difficulty in focusing his camera. After a few minutes concentrated effort he glanced up only to catch the back of his weaving subject, strolling down the alley with a just-finished wine bottle.

The News Photography class is taught by William E. Francois, Assistant Professor of journalism and veteran news photographer. Classes are held on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8 a.m. The two-hour credit class is open to all students unless there is too large an enrollment, in which case the class is opened only to journalism and advertising majors.

At present there are nine students enrolled. They receive instruction in the handling of twin lens reflex, speed graphic, and 35mm cameras. Actual use is limited to the twin lens reflex and speed graphic cameras.

Much of the news photographer's time is spent in the photography laboratory where he learns film processing by working on his own film. Professor Francois says our photography laboratory is one of the best equipped in the state.

According to the journalism faculty, news photography is essential to a journalism major. In his estimation of its value, Professor Francois said: "Any journalist needs to know about graphic arts. Without it he has two strikes against him to begin with."

Professor W. Page Pitt, journalism department chairman commented: "In modern day mass communications a knowledge of news photography is a must in every phase of communications from advertising to the editorial."

editor, and managing editor.

Ron attended West Virginia State for two years where he was a member of the Varsity W. Club, golf team, English honorary, French Club, and the Yellow-Jacket, the school paper.

He is a journalism major with a minor in sociology.

He will graduate in August.

His home address is 4623 Country Club Blvd., South Charleston, W. Va. Telephone PO 8-7797. His Huntington phone is JA 2-4024.

Judy O'Dell, Parkersburg senior, will graduate in May with an A.B. degree in journalism and minors in French, Spanish and English.

Judy is youth editor and works in the women's department of the Huntington Herald-Advertiser. She hopes to become a general reporter and feature writer, in which capacities she worked for three months on the Charleston Daily Mail. Judy is also interested in radio and television news writing.

She has served on The Parthenon Staff as feature editor, staff writer, and reporter.

Judy, who has been on the dean's list five semesters, is Vice President of the Fourth Estate and member of the Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatics honorary fraternity.

She now lives in Laidley Hall. Telephone JA 2-9491. After graduation she may be reached at 214 West Tenth Street, Parkersburg, W. Va. Telephone GA 2-2302.

With a major in Journalism and a minor in Mathematics, Burl Osborne, Ashland, Ky., senior, will graduate in May with an A.B. degree from Arts and Science College.

He has had professional experience working on the "Ashland Independent" as Staff Reporter and at his present job as Night Editor at WHTN television in Huntington.

Burl lives at Route 2, Box 116 B, Ashland, Ky. He is married to the former Louella Kirk.

After graduation he plans to remain in mass communications.

Keith Ray, South Charleston senior, will receive an A.B. degree in journalism in May with minors in English and Spanish.

Keith has maintained an overall 3.3 average which makes him eligible to graduate cum laude. He has served on The Parthenon Staff in the capacities of campus editor, news editor, managing editor, and staff reporter. Also he has been sports editor for the Chief Justice, layout editor for the Et Cetera and staff writer for the Campus Chimes. In ad-

Work Of Mentally Retarded Adults Will Be Shown Today

Students and faculty are invited to an open house from 2-4 p.m. today to see the accomplishments of mentally retarded adults.

The open house will be held at the First Presbyterian Church where work done by the students will be displayed.

Students from Education 118 are helping with the program sponsored by the Cabell County Council for the Retarded, according to Allen Blumberg, associate professor of education. Carolyn Baylous, Barbourville junior, is in charge of the program. Professor Blumberg is director.

This is the first time the program has been tried and the results have been "rather successful," Professor Blumberg said. The retarded adults are "developing motor dexterity, co-ordination, and learning to work with each other," he added.

The class of 10 meets from 1-4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and ultimate aim of the program is "to interest industry in subletting work to the mentally retarded so they can feel that they are doing something worthwhile," Professor Blumberg explained. "That's our ultimate goal."

Mrs. Barbara McWhorter, art teacher at Enslow Junior High School and graduate student at Marshall, is in charge of setting up program activities.

Morris To Attend Indiana Conference

W. Don Morris, manager of the Marshall College Shawkey Student Union, will represent the college April 24-27 at the annual Association of College Unions international conference at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind.

This year's conference theme, "The Union's part in the Education Program," reflects the purpose of college unions everywhere—to train students in citizenship, social responsibility, and democratic leadership.

The Association of College Unions is comprised of 375 member-institutions in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Puerto Rico, Australia, and the Philippines. Approximately 325 delegates are expected to attend the Bloomington conference.

SENIOR COUNSELING SET

The advanced counseling period for Teachers' College Students has been set and it is imperative that all seniors stop by the Dean's office and pick up a bulletin. The reason is that there has been a change in senior advisors. This pertains to those attending summer school and/or the 1960-61 fall semester.

This airplane is actually a flying classroom. The course taught in it is Air Navigation, under real conditions. The students are young men who have been selected as possible future leaders of the Aerospace Team. Graduation after 32 weeks of training will win each of the students the honored silver wings of an Air Force Navigator and an Officer's Commission.

For certain young men, this training can open the way to a bright career of executive potential. Right now the Air Force is scoring impressive technological advances in the fields of navigation, guidance and tracking, electronics and radar. And here is where its highly trained and experienced Navigators will be expected to take over command positions of increasing responsibility.

To qualify for Navigator training as an Aviation Cadet, you must be between 19 and 26½—single, healthy and intelligent. And you must want to build an exciting, interesting career in the Aerospace Age. If you think you measure up, we'd like to talk to you at the nearest Air Force Recruiting Office. ## CORVAIR BY CHEVROLET DRIVE IT! GET OUR DEAL!!!!

A pair of Corvairs recently recorded 27.03 and 26.21 miles per gallon in the 2,061.4-mile Mobilgas Economy Run. That's certified proof that Corvair skimps on gas costs. It saves other ways, too. Corvair is the only U. S. compact car that never needs antifreeze or costly radiator repairs. Come in and drive the compact car that outdoes them all.

Things Corvair gives you that America's other compact cars can't:

Practically flat floor . . . real foot room for the man in the middle. Fold-down rear seat gives 17.6 cu. ft. of extra storage space. Four-wheel independent suspension for a smoother, flatter ride. Rear-engine traction . . . that comes with the engine's weight bearing down on the rear wheels.

You probably realize already that the mileage figures Corvairs recorded in the Mobilgas Run are higher than the average driver can expect. But because the cars met every kind of driving condition—rugged mountain grades, long country straightaways, congested city traffic—those mileage figures prove Corvair's inherent ability to save. Operating costs take a nose dive the day you take delivery of a Corvair.

Coach Snyder Calls Drills Success

Marshall's spring football practice period has been termed by head coach Charlie Snyder as "successful from the standpoint that we made some definite progress."

Snyder said that he was "well pleased with the players performances in the intra-squad game." He went on to say that, "team defense is our overall problem, but offensively we are better than we have been in the past."

The Big Green's running and kicking phases were emphasized by Snyder as the areas of greatest team improvement. "Our passing game is still a question mark", the stocky coach added.

Coach Snyder listed the main problems faced by the Big Green as, "defense, eligibility, experience, schedule and depth." He added that with only five seniors on the 44 man squad the Big Green will be at a definite disadvantage in the experience department.

Emphasizing the standout performances of the Big Green quarterbacks, Ralph May, Bob Hamlin and John Griffin, Snyder said that their play was "better than expected." He went on to praise Larry Jarrett, Roger Jefferson and Bob Maxwell, all of whom made position changes during the spring drills.

Pointing out that defense is the key to a successful team, he said, "the best defensive team wins and last year we lost several times due to our defensive play." "Right now we are farther along than we were last year at this time," Coach Snyder commented.

Asked to comment on progress of his football program after one year's tenure as coach, Snyder said, "It takes time to build a winning team and we can in time build a good team. It's hard to get a program off the ground when you're not winning. A winning season could remedy our situation."

Coach Snyder continued, "Our past record keeps some boys from coming to Marshall. As for next season, I have no idea how we'll do but we're improving."

Lucky Strike's Dr. Frood declares:

Graduation is all a matter of degree

Dear Dr. Frood: I'm working my way through college. I have delivered newspapers, worked as an usher in the local movie theater and rolled bandages for the school infirmary. What can my college life possibly prepare me for?

Beaver

Dear Beaver: Publishing, motion pictures, medicine.

Dear Dr. Frood: I am about to graduate top girl in my class. I have decided to take up a career, rather than squander my intellectual achievements on bawling babies, dreary housework and a sloppy husband. Don't you think I have made the right decision?

Smart Gal

Dear Smart: I do, and I feel safe in saying that I make that statement on behalf of every man in America.

Dear Dr. Frood: What a mess I have made out of college! I am flunking out because I have been so lazy. I can't get a job because I have made such a poor record. I have no friends because I have no college spirit. What is there left for me?

Chastened

Dear Chastened: You can always serve as a horrible example.

Dear Dr. Frood: I was outraged to learn that a rich, spoiled senior is planning to give sports cars as graduation presents to all the friends he has made in college. Is there any action I should take?

Dean

Dear Dean: Give him a big smile, put your arm around his shoulders and say, "How're things, pal?"

Dear Dr. Frood: In the past four years, I feel that I have become a wiser and better man. How much do I owe to my college for this?

Grateful

Dear Grateful: Shhh! Somebody must have forgotten to send you the bill.

Dear Dr. Frood: The older generation claims college life is too soft. Just a lark. Well, I am finishing four years, and look! The day I enrolled in college, the photo-

Serious Student

Dear Serious: Just what we've said all along. Parties, parties, parties!

Dear Dr. Frood: Yesterday I visited my boy friend and I saw two Lucky Strikes burning in an ash tray. One had lipstick! Was I right in slapping him in the face and leaving the room?

Scorned

Dear Scorned: No. Why get jealous just because other girls smoke the same brand you do?

COLLEGE STUDENTS SMOKE MORE LUCKIES THAN ANY OTHER REGULAR!

When it comes to choosing their regular smoke, college students head right for fine tobacco. Result: Lucky Strike tops every other regular sold. Lucky's taste beats all the rest because L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco.
