NO. 57

Signs Of Parents' Weekend

Marshall To Receive $39,000 Study Grant

A government grant of $39,000 will be given to Marshall College for conducting a small business study in Raleigh, Boone, and Logan counties.

Announcement of the grant was made by Rep. John M. Slack Jr. (D-W. Va.). He said the survey may provide a pattern for new jobs in depressed areas in West Virginia and other states.

The study, which may require two to three years, will deal with the question: "How small business can revitalize three depressed coal counties in West Virginia."

Directing that study will be Professor Paul D. Stewart of the Political Science department.

Slack said he understands personnel of Morris Harvey, West Virginia State, Beckley College and others will be asked to cooperate in the study.

The Marshall group was organized at Mr. Slack's suggestion to make the study with Small Business Administration funds. He said that Marshall was selected because it is the largest tax-supported college in southern West Virginia, and maintains extension activities in the three counties.

Mr. Slack also said that the study will be designed to seek out potential business activities and new jobs for this mountainous coal area.

Stais Will Leave For Post In East

James Stais, assistant professor of Spanish, has resigned his position at Marshall to accept a teaching position at the University of Massachusetts, according to President Stewart H. Smith.

He will leave Marshall at the end of this school term.

Mrs. Gladys Stais, instructor in Spanish, has turned in her resignation effective the end of this school term. She will go to Massachusetts with Mr. Stais, but will not resume her teaching.

Campus Costs Are Going Up

Board rates and room rates for students living in the Freshman Women's dormitory and Hodges Hall will be increased along with cafeteria meal tickets in September as a result of action by the State Board of Education.

The board rates go from $180 to $198 per semester. This increase will only apply to those students purchasing meal tickets. However, William W. Spotts, director of food services, said students purchasing meal tickets will pay less in the long run than those paying cash. "This increase will cost students buying meal tickets about five cents more on the meal," Mr. Spotts said.

Room rates go from $80 to $90 per semester at Hodges Hall and from $95 to $100 at the Freshman Women's dormitory.

President Stewart H. Smith said the rates were not raised in College Hall and Laidley Hall because they were increased last year.

According to President Smith the increases are necessary because of the increased costs of employing personnel and increased costs of utilities and repairs.

STYLES TO BE SHOWN

A Style Show with students modeling garments made in class will be the featured program at a Home Economics Club meeting Tuesday, May 7, in Room 114 of Northcott Hall.

Jo Ellen Jack, Exchange Junior, will be in charge of the program.

Mountaineers, Big Green To Compete Athletically?

Tentative Plans Are Made For Parents Visit

Tentative plans for Parents' Weekend, May 6-8, have been set up by the Parents' Weekend Commission. They include: registration, displays by most college departments, a musical program by the orchestra, a maypole dance, dinners, a message by President Stewart H. Smith, Vets' Club Talent show, a campus-wide church service, a campus-wide dance, and the Mothers Day Sing.

L. D. Egnor, Huntington junior, and coordinator of Parents' Weekend Commission, says "much effort has gone into establishing contacts between parents, students, and faculty, by the use of Parthenon articles, newsletters, billboards placed over the state, and notes sent to the faculty."

"As with so many other endeavors of the Student Government, the success or failure of Parents' Weekend has fallen directly on the shoulders of the Student Body," Egnor said.

In order to send out the last communication to parents, student volunteers are needed to write the addresses on gummed stickers for the envelopes. Any persons or groups interested in helping should report to the Office of Development and Alumni Affairs.

Present Absence Policy To Remain

The recommendations of the Faculty Council in regard to the policy of student absences from class was discussed at a faculty meeting held Tuesday.

At the request of President Stewart H. Smith, the Council made a study of student absences from classes. The Council agreed that the present absence policy as carried in the current college catalog is satisfactory and that all members of the faculty should enforce it.

Fire Lane Parking Out, But Kroger Lot Opened

Enforcement of a no parking regulation covering the campus fire lane, and creation of new parking facilities were announced this week by Dr. Harold Willey, dean of men.

The state fire marshal has instructed the college that the fire lane, running from College Avenue at the Student Union to 16th Street, must be kept open. To enforce this, a city patrolman will be duty as a special officer on those nights when special events are held. These would include dances, Forums and other events. If cars are left in the fire lane, they will be towed away, Dean Willey said.

However, new off-street parking facilities for 75 cars now are available at the Engineering Building parking lot (Kroger building). It is open to students

Lengthy Talk, But 'No Comment' By University Sports Director

By RON HUTCHISON

Will Marshall and West Virginia University ever meet again in athletic competition?

A recent article in the West Virginia University student newspaper, Daily Athenaeum, caught the eye of this reporter earlier this week.

Honor System Block Looms

By BRUCE GRUBER
Staff Reporter

A motion recommending complete stoppage of any Student Government work on the honor system unless a petition signed by one-third student body demands further sponsorship of it, will be presented tonight by Steve Ewing, new sophomore senator from Charleston.

Ewing gave four reasons for his proposal. They are: 1. That initiative for promoting an honor system was demonstrated by the Student Body President and the Student Senate, not by the students.

2. That no desire for the system has appeared on campus.

3. That as a state school and, most importantly, as a friendly school an honor system doesn't belong here. An honor system belongs at military institutions, according to Ewing.

4. A graduate of an honor school receives a statement on his certificate that he is honorable and since this may not be the case in actuality, it is hypocrisy.

If Ewing's motion were passed, an executive veto could be used, according to Student Body President Bill Wortham from Huntington.

The Council recommended, however, that the paragraph which leaves the control of class attendance with the members of the faculty be eliminated from the policy.

The story concerned the possibility of Marshall and the University engaging in athletic competition. The story was based on a university student's letter to Neal Wilson, Marshall's acting athletic director. Wilson expressed a desire on Marshall's part to schedule the University in any athletic program.

So, figuring that turnabout is fair play, I called Robert Brown, university athletic director. I asked him what the chances were for scheduling athletic teams and his lengthy comment was "No Comment." But before he got to "No comment", I asked Brown what problems might block such an arrangement. He answered, "At this stage, conference affiliations and scheduling problems prevent us from making a definite commitment."

I then asked him if he felt the University prestige would be hurt by playing Marshall. To this he replied, "I don't think that would help WVU or Marshall, do you?" I answered, "Yes, I think it would help Marshall." This brought a loud silence.

Questioned if there is even a remote possibility of scheduling Marshall in minor sports, Brown said, "I am not in a position to say." But when he was reminded that WVU scheduled such teams as Marietta and West Virginia Wesleyan, Brown said, "But they're close to Morgantown."

The West Virginia athletic director then added, "There is always a possibility that we might play Marshall, but under what conditions, when and where are still problems, especially the when."

Speaking of a portion of the story in the Daily Athenaeum, in which Brown was quoted as saying that the University might as well play league foes rather than travel to Huntington, he said, "We have to fulfill our conference obligations as I am sure Marshall must."

It's not because Marshall is too far away because WVU travelled to Norman, Okla., to play the Sooners in football. But Brown quickly commented, "Yes, but we got $77,000 from that game."

When asked if there is a chance that Marshall might be scheduled in maybe five years, Brown commented, "I couldn't say. We might even be in another conference. A lot of things can happen in five years. Our football schedule is completed through 1966."

Quoting Marshall's Wilson as saying, "We would be happy to play the university in Huntington, Morgantown, or at a neutral site chosen by West Virginia," Brown said, "No comment."

Survey Indicates Favorable Student Insurance Interest

A recent survey of campus interest toward health and accident insurance coverage resulted in a favorable reaction according to Vern Scandola, new senior class president from Weirton.

Out of 726 students, 401 definitely were willing to accept insurance coverage, Scandola said. Three hundred and sixty-three students already are covered.

Concerning overall sentiment for or against an insurance plan, 470 students expressed interest for a plan. The balance (232) students disclosed disinterest in any insurance plan.

Dealing with the amount per month which students would prefer, 247 students selected $2.00 a month. 231 students showed preference for a monthly fee of $1.00. Fifty cents a month was favored by 227 students.

Further work on the insurance plan is now in the hands of the Student Conduct and Welfare Committee. After consideration of the questionnaire survey, the Committee will invite insurance companies from the Huntington area to present their plans.

Ernest Cole, Business Administration instructor and an expert on insurance affairs will assist the committee.

MOFFAT TO SPEAK

Dr. Charles H. Moffat, professor of history, will speak to the faculty and cadet corps of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y. August 20. He will lecture on historical subjects.

Dr. Moffat lectured April 26 at the Commanding Generals Conference in Washington, D. C. He has also lectured in Charleston, Ft. Gordon, Ga., and at W. Va. State College.

Bates Named City Planning Director

John Bates, Huntington graduate student, was appointed Monday as the city's first planning director. The announcement of the appointment was made by City Manager Robert M. Hoisington.

Bates' duties will include the administration of the new zoning, subdivision control and thoroughfare ordinances being prepared by the city planning commission headed by Dr. A. E. McCaskey, recently appointed dean of the College of Applied Sciences. He will work closely with the traffic, fire and police departments, updating and studying parking and capital improvements.

Bates received his bachelor's degree in 1953 and is working toward a master's degree in geography. He previously taught school in Jackson County, O., and Cabell County until entering the

EUROPE MADE SIMPLE: No. 1

Summer vacation is just around the corner, and naturally all of you are going to Europe. Perhaps I can offer a handy tip or two. (I must confess I have never been to Europe myself, but I eat a lot of Scotch broth and French dressing, so I am not entirely without qualification.)

First let me say that no trip to Europe is complete without a visit to England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, France, Germany, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Lichtenstein, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Luxembourg, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Finland, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Russia, Greece, Yugoslavia, Albania, Crete, Sardinia, Sicily, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Lapland, and Andorra.

Let us take up these countries in order. First, England.

The capital of England is London—or Liverpool, as it is sometimes called. There are many interesting things to see in London—chiefly, the changing of the guards. The guards are changed daily. The old ones are thrown away.

Perhaps I can offer a handy tip or two

Another "must" while in London is a visit to Buckingham Palace. Frequently in the afternoons Her Majesty the Queen comes out on the balcony of the palace and waves to her loyal subjects below. The loyal subjects wave back at the Queen. However, they only continue to wave as long as Her Majesty is waving. This of course is the origin of wave lengths from which we have derived numerous benefits including radio, television and the A&P Gypsies.

Be sure also when you are in London to visit the palace of the Duke of Marlborough. Marlborough is spelled Marlborough, but pronounced Marlboro. English spelling is very quaint but terribly disorganized. The late George Bernard Shaw, author of Jo's Boys, fought all his life to simplify English spelling. He once asked a friend, "What does g-h-o-t-i spell?" The friend pondered a bit and replied, "Goatee." Shaw sniggered. "Pshaw," said Shaw. "G-h-o-t-i does not spell goatee. It spells fish. Gh as in enough, o as in women, ti as in motion."

It must be remembered, however, that Shaw was a vegetarian—which, all in all, was probably a good thing. As Disraeli once remarked to Guy Fawkes, "If Shaw were not a vegetarian, no lamb chop in London would be safe."

But I digress. We were speaking of the palace of the Duke of Marlborough—or Marlboro, as it is called in the United States. It is called Marlboro by every smoker who knows flavor did not go out when filters came in. Be sure-you are well supplied with Marlboros when you make your trip abroad. After a long, tiring day of sightseeing, there is nothing so welcome as a fine, flavorful Marlboro and a foot bath with hot Epsom salts.

Epsom salts can be obtained in England at Epsom Downs. Kensington salts can be obtained at Kensington Gardens, Albert salts can be obtained at Albert Hall, Hyde salts can be obtained at Hyde Park, and the crown jewels can be obtained at the Tower of London.

Well sir, now you know all you need to know about England. Next week we will visit the Land of the Midnight Sun—France.

Ambiguous Question Provokes A Question

While taking a test to see how observant Marshall students are, a bewildered junior ran across one puzzling question: "How many columns are there in the Parthenon?" After pondering the question for a few minutes, he turned to the questioner and asked very seriously: "Do you mean the college newspaper or the building?"

Bob Morris Tells Resignation Story

By RON HUTCHISON
Sports Editor

The man credited with putting life back into the Marshall athletic program, Robert Morris, called "pressure or the demands of the job" as the prime factors in his decision to leave Marshall.

He resigned last week as athletic director, effective June 30. Morris has been on leave of absence since February because of ill health.

Morris said, "My health is not serious, but it is to such a degree that I could not be in the office every day. The job as athletic director is one that demands being on the job every day for long hours or the office goes to pot."

He went on to explain the facts surrounding his resignation. "I was told," he said, "that if I couldn't continue on a full time basis then I should resign."

Morris said he feels the athletic department's money problem could be eased if the college or the state would pay a larger portion of the athletic staff salaries. "After all, they are college employees. Last year we had to pay about $25,000 in salaries from the athletic fund."

He continued, "This money could have been spent for equipment or other things that were needed." Morris then pointed out that the athletic department's office staff had a difficult time coping with the work load. This caused a hardship on the athletic director. "The book work kept me tied down to the office and I didn't have a chance to meet the Marshall supporters. We needed more office help."

Morris then pondered Marshall's athletic future. "We won't have any national champions, but the teams are improving. We have good football, basketball and baseball coaches, and that's a good start."

As for the weak point in Marshall's program, Morris said, "Money is the main factor. We have to get money from somewhere because Marshall is so small TV hurts our gate receipts." He quickly added, "I do think that the athletic program is now on a healthy and progressive basis."

Reflecting on his most outstanding achievement during his tenure as athletic director, Morris said, "I guess it would be the fact teams that formerly wouldn't play us will now schedule our teams." He continued, "You might say that I consider any good-will that I have established for Marshall as my outstanding achievement."

Marshall Posts Track Victory Over Concord

Malcolm Price was outstanding in Marshall's 1960 track debut as he clocked a 9.8 time in the 100-yard dash in a meet against Concord College. The Big Green collected a dual meet victory of 76-71 over Concord by taking nine first places.

Credit for the Big Green win may be given to Price, veteran Dick Gaston, and Dixon Edwards who worked together to instigate the success. The individual high scorer for the meet was Edwards with 13 points, followed by Gaston with 12 1/4, and Price with 11 points.

Price's wins included the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard events. Ryan collected a win in the 440-yard event. Gaston dominated the hurdles as he collected wins in the 220 low hurdles and 120 high hurdles.

Edwards took first place in the shot put and broad jump events, Reed won the discus throw, and Therill took first position in the high jump competition.

Baseball Team Split 2 Tilts With Bowling Green Squad

Marshall split a doubleheader with Bowling Green over the weekend, losing the first game, 7-5, and capturing the second tussle, 4-3, on a home run hit by Tex Williams.

An eighth inning rally in the first game Friday provided the visiting Falcons with the two-run win. The Falcons put together four runs in the fourth and three in the eighth to capture the victory.

In its second game with Bowling Green on Saturday, Marshall rallied in the ninth inning to come from behind a 3-1 deficit and capture a 4-3 victory.

Tex Williams turned the tide for the Big Green in the ninth with a towering 330-foot homer over the right field fence with two men on base.

Majher was credited with the victory, giving up three runs on seven hits, while striking out eight and walking none.

The Big Green battled W. Va. Tech yesterday at Montgomery, and will now get a two-day rest until the team faces Toledo Friday. Marshall's record prior to Tuesday's tussle stood at seven wins and eight losses.

The Big Green on April 16-18 dropped two tussles and won one in the Camp LeJeune tournament. It lost to the Marines, 8-3, dropped a 7-6 decision to Wake Forest in 10 innings and defeated Tech, 5-0.

Virginia Tech romped to a 32-8 victory over the Big Green April 14 at Blacksburg, Va.

On April 12 the Big Green copped a doubleheader from Concord College at Athens. In this twin-bill, Marshall cracked 24 hits, including three home runs and garnered 13-1 and 6-3 wins.
