VOL. 59

HUNTINGTON, W. VA.

THURSDAY, JUNE 16, 1960

NO. 65

2,200 May Be Reached First Term

Registration for the first session of summer school was 2196, a gain of 182 students over the 2114 registered last year. This marks a gain of over 8½ percent over last summer's registration, according to Luther E. Bledsoe, director of admissions.

Mr. Bledsoe reported that this summer's registration was "rougher" than last summer's because "so many youngsters enrolled as freshmen and we hadn't received their high school transcripts." He went on to say that the delay was in the fact that there was no proof of their graduation and this has to be received before they can be admitted.

The total thus far is 17 short of the record summer school enrollment.

Although the enrollment appears to be down somewhat this summer, it is an increase over the 1959 first term enrollment of 2,000.

Looking back over summer school registrations for preceding years, Bledsoe said, "The general trend in summer attendance here is toward larger and larger enrollments."

Bledsoe pointed out two factors that have brought about larger summer attendance. In past years he said summer sessions were predominately composed of teachers, but now more and more of the regular college students are going to school year round. Students seem to be getting out of the habit of the nine month school year.

Also, he said "more high school graduates are beginning their college work in summer rather than waiting until the fall semester."

As yet, no statistical breakdown of this semester's enrollment has been completed. The number of each man and each woman enrolled in the various colleges has not been completed and will not be complete for some time.

Laidley Operating At Full Capacity

Laidley Hall is operating at full capacity this summer. Men are rooming on the north end and women on the south end of the dormitory. There are also seven children staying with their mothers.

The custom of permitting children to stay at Laidley Hall began four years ago because mothers who wished to attend the Science Institute found it impossible to leave their children at home so the Deans granted permission for parents to bring them. The youngsters enjoy playing the games which are available.

Two added conveniences make Laidley Hall a more pleasant place in which to stay. A coffee urn supplied by Science Institute members helps students fight off drowsiness and new inner spring mattresses induce sleep.

'Practice Makes Perfect'

THE LASALLE STRING QUARTET rehearses for one of their concerts. The Quartet will appear at 8:15 tonight in Old Main Auditorium on the first program of the Summer Concert Series.

Trip Board Makes Traveling A Convenience For Students

Going someplace? What are your travel plans this summer?

The "Trip Board" in the fountain area of the Student Union may help you get on your way whether you're going home, visiting, or vacationing, according to Don Morris, manager of the Student Union.

Mr. Morris explains that travel is limited to West Virginia. Request cards are provided for a driver or a rider.

If you're a driver looking for passengers, you fill out a pink slip.

If you're a passenger looking for a ride, fill out a green slip.

You obtain the blank slips from a box at the bottom of the board. After filling out the slip, providing the proper information, hang it on a hook nearest to the destination desired.

The driver and the passenger are fully responsible for contacting each other, student union officials emphasize.

Mr. Morris explained that many students do not know how to operate the board, and if they will follow instructions, he is sure that it will solve most of the students' transportation problems.

Chemistry Teacher Here For Institute

By CLICK SMITH
Staff Reporter

Dr. Aubrey Clark, chemistry teacher at Randolph Macon Academy in Front Royal, Va., is attending the National Science Institute.

Dr. Clark, a former dentist, began his teaching career when a spinal injury caused him to leave his profession. He received his B.S. degree from V.M.I. in 1936 and his D.D.S. from the Medical College of Virginia in 1940.

Dr. Clark in commenting about Marshall remarked that the instructors on the graduate level are as good or better than the ones he had at M.C.V. He said, "I especially like the cafeteria and find the food to be quite good."

Dr. Clark, who is living in Laidley Hall while attending the institute, is married, and is staying there while his wife visits in Colorado.

BOOKSTORE OPENS 8

The Bookstore will be open during the summer from 8 a.m. until 4:15 p.m. on Monday through Friday and from 8 until 11:30 a.m. on Saturday, according to Percy Galloway, Manager.

The Library will be open from 7:30 a.m. until 8:30 p.m. on Monday through Thursday, and from 7:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

NEED A JOB

The Placement Office offers various opportunities for employment during the summer months, according to Robert Alexander, director of placement. Information may be obtained concerning employment from 8 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. during the week. Bulletins are published every two weeks and posted. Applications may be obtained at the office. Part and full time jobs are available.

Shots Available Now At Clinic

By RUTH ESHENAU
Staff Reporter

Typhoid, tetanus-diphtheria, and smallpox vaccinations are being offered free of charge by the Medical Clinic. Polio shots, dispensed through the National Polio Foundation, cost $1.00 each. The money collected goes to the Foundation. Further research indicates that greater protection is provided by four polio shots than by three.

The Medical Clinic is located at 1712 Fifth Avenue. Dr. Charles H. Hagan, M.D., is on duty from 9:00-12:00 a.m. Monday through Friday, and from 10:00 to 11:30 a.m. on Saturday.

Mrs. Mary Summers, the clinic nurse, is on duty from 9:00-12:00 a.m. and 1:00-3:45 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 9:00 to 11:30 a.m. on Saturday.

Dr. Hagan will make calls at any time in the dormitory or home of a student for a "reasonable cause."

In case of an injury, the doctor can X-Ray the long bones. A more powerful x-ray machine is needed for the head and trunk.

ROTC men and prospective teachers are now receiving physical examinations. Student fees terminate upon the day of graduation so if a physical examination is desired for a job application it must be obtained before graduation.

SENATE CHAPLAIN SELECTED

Rule Johnson, Ironton, Ohio, junior, has been selected to serve as chaplain of the Student Senate for the 1960-61 session.

Alternate chaplain is Janet Steele, Sarah Ann sophomore.

Concert Is Free To All Students

The LaSalle String Quartet will appear on the first program of the Summer Concert Series at 8:15 tonight in Old Main Auditorium. There is no admission charge for the program.

The Quartet was founded in June 1949, when the four musicians graduated as a group from the Juilliard School of Music in New York. Along with their diplomas, they had a contract to Colorado College in Colorado Springs where they spent the next four years as quartet-in-residence.

The Quartet gave concerts during these years in Colorado as well as on tour throughout the Midwest and East. While appearing in Cincinnati on one of these tours, the Quartet was asked by the former College of Music to become its quartet-in-residence.

The LaSalle made their official New York debut in the winter of 1955 with a concert at Town Hall along with appearances at the Library of Congress in Washington, Yale University and the Harvard Club Association in Boston.

They have appeared in Cincinnati in the usual series of chamber music subscription concerts at the College-Conservatory as well as in evening performances in private homes, and in informal lecture-recitals for students and the public. They have also performed in the city's elementary, public, private and parochial schools.

The Quartet made their first international concert tour in 1954 after they had been asked by The International Society for Contemporary Music to perform in their festival in Haifa, Israel. Since that time the Quartet has made two other international tours and they are planning a fourth tour during February and March of 1961.

The program to be presented tonight will include the following selections: Quartet in C Major, Op. 74 No. 1 by Haydn; Quartet No. 2 (1959) by Elliott Carter; and Quartet in F Major by Ravel.

Harold L. Willey, Dean of Men, recently announced campus rules for parking. The parking places by Old Main and in the fire lane are for college guests and Building and Grounds only.

Untrained Men Often Wanted

By EDWARD MARTIN
Student Journalist

Teachers without college degrees can get jobs easier than teachers with college degrees in many counties in W. Va., according to one of the 153 men studying to be teachers here. Edward Crews, Beckley senior, preparing to be a Biology Teacher commented that untrained teachers are preferred over trained teachers in many areas of W. Va. because the pay scale for untrained teachers is lower and more of them can be hired on the limited budget that these areas are compelled to run on.

Many of the men enrolled in teacher training do not intend to teach in W. Va. because they feel that the pay is inadequate to support a family as they would like, the teaching facilities are unsatisfactory, and the state's population is too apathetic to give the schools the moral and financial support they need.

James Barrett, Beckley senior, studying to be a music teacher pointed out that in many schools in W. Va. there are no provisions at all for teaching music and most of the schools where music facilities are provided emphasize "teaching a few majorettes to dance to a couple of simple marches played by a carelessly organized band at football games."

As to what is necessary to improve W. Va.'s education system, it was unanimously agreed among those students interviewed that higher wages for teachers are necessary and more money needs to be spent on buildings and equipment. Richard Milton, Dunbar senior, majoring in Elementary Education, commented that the economic problem facing the W. Va. school system is actually a state wide problem stemming from overpopulation, lack of industrialization and disinterested legislature.

Thirty Additional Scholarships Awarded Incoming Freshmen

Thirty additional scholarships have been awarded to incoming freshman, making a total thus far of 89, according to Harold L. Willey, dean of men.

New recipients from the Huntington area are: Sandra Lynn Barnett, INCO scholarship; Henry Wesley Garbee, Patricia Marilyn Meadows, Donna Ruth Bias, and Elizabeth R. Tweel, General Board of Education scholarships.

Other recipients are: Patricia Ann Austin, Cedar Grove; Marilyn Jeanette Black, Mount Gay; Paul Ray Handley, Pliny; Constance Sue Lockhart, Clay; and Quentin T. Wilson, Bartley, C. W. Benedum scholarships.

Mary Lacy Copenhaver, South Charleston, Fred Flesham scholarship; Lewanda F. Sanders, Ranger, Student Government scholarship; Glenn Douglas Childers, Lavalette; Gerald Edward Damron, Prichard; Edward Allen Warner, Red House, INCO scholarships.

English 100 For Upperclassmen Marshall Provides Some; But Teacher Need Grows

By SONIA MURAD
Staff Reporter

Both reward (A section) and remedial (bonehead) classes may be offered by the English Department for upperclassmen by next September if plans now being considered by the English faculty can be completed.

Professor A. M. Tyson, Chairman of the Department, explained that only freshmen are presently provided with English 100 for remedial work and A sections for the superior students. According to the two new plans under consideration, junior and senior students would also have the opportunity to take remedial or advanced English courses.

Before these plans could be put into effect, a way of determining the students' needs must be found. One suggestion is for further placement testing of upperclassmen, perhaps in the form of a theme. Another is that reports made by the teachers who have had the students be used to determine the inferior or superior ones. These reports would not be limited to English teachers. A final suggestion was the possibility of a program of consultation in the English Department for juniors and seniors. Professor Tyson said that he did not feel English majors who had reached their junior year should need remedial work.

When asked if he felt there should be any differences in the English courses offered in the Teacher's College and those in Arts and Sciences, Professor Tyson said that there was little need for differences because many in the College of Arts and Sciences plan to teach. He added that a greater emphasis on speech and writing may be made for Arts and Sciences majors while grammar is especially important to those planning to teach English. Professor Tyson feels the study of foreign languages an aid in studying English grammar.

Tom Harwood Is New Psychologist

Tom Harwood, Huntington graduate student in the psychology department, has been employed by the Cabell County Board of Education as a full time psychologist.

By WILLIAM CALDERWOOD
Staff Reporter

West Virginia is in critical need of teachers to fill positions in the teaching of science, mathematics, English, elementary education, languages, and physical education.

D. Banks Wilburn, dean of the Teacher's College, said, "There are many positions open, but there are not enough candidates to fill them. In many of these fields, there has been a need for more teachers since before World War II.

"Many students who are studying education will never teach. A great number of them use education as an avenue to other fields."

Last year, with 327 vacancies in English, there were only 24 candidates available to fill these positions from Marshall.

In all languages, only seven candidates were available to fill these positions.

The greatest need was in mathematics. Marshall had no candidates to fill the 299 positions available. Only four women were qualified to fill 123 positions in women's physical education.

Twenty science candidates were available to fill 237 openings in science teaching. The field with the largest vacancies was elementary education with 1,853. Only 46 candidates were available.

According to Robert Alexander, placement director, in his annual report, "The outlook for 1960 in elementary education shows unlimited opportunities. There is a brisk demand for young men in this field. Also, we have noticed an increasing demand for men to teach physical education in the elementary grades."

Mr. Alexander said there also was a need for men in administrative positions. Last year there were only four candidates for 50 administrative positions, 19 of which were for elementary principals. Some 3,809 vacancies existed in all teaching fields in the state.

Last semester, 33 teachers were graduated from Marshall. "Industry is attracting many teachers from the state. A great many of these teachers are in the field of physical science," said Dr. Paul Musgrave, professor of education.

For this semester, there are no students doing practice teaching in physical science. Approximately four will practice teach in biology, one in general science, and two in biology and general science.

Twelve ROTC Cadets Attend Weekend Camp

"Be Prepared" may be the motto of 12 ROTC Cadets who went to Camp Arrowhead over the week-end for some practical experience in bivouac.

Bivouac originally meant a night watch by a whole army under arms. But today it is used to mean a temporary encampment in the open field. The use of bivouacs permits an army to remain closely concentrated for all emergencies.

According to Sgt. Harry W. Jones, Instructor in Military Science and Tactics, the field trip was to acquaint the cadets with the sort of training they will receive while attending a six week camp at Fort Knox, Kentucky, later on this month.

The weather was beautiful for swimming and fishing, however, this was not a pleasure trip.

Classes were taught beginning at 7:30 a.m. and usually ending approximately at 2:30 a.m.

Classes were taught in physical training, combat formations, map reading including compass work. There was also a compass course at night. They were also taught how to erect tents and tie certain knots.

The Cadets made sure there was no "surprise attack" by the enemy because they ran a night patrol.

Sgt. Jones said the men were taught to listen to briefings, because something, maybe just one word, might be said that is very important. He also said he felt the Cadets will go to Fort Knox a much better prepared group.

A little fishing and swimming was also accomplished in their leisure time.

New IBM Equipment Recently Installed In Registrar's Office

A new IBM system was recently installed in the Registrar's Office, according to Luther E. Bledsoe, Registrar.

The office has been using IBM for several years through a service bureau in Huntington, but recently this bureau moved to Cincinnati.

"There are definite advantages in having our own IBM here on campus," Mr. Bledsoe said. "The office can use them whenever they are needed and can do a lot more with the machine at no added expense. As a result of this convenience, the office is changing over to an almost completely IBM system."

Posting on student permanent records will be done in the future by IBM and will be completed more quickly. Student writing at registration will be reduced to the filling out of one Azograph form.

A certain amount of class cards will be filled out in advance for the sections of each department. The academic dean of the individual departments will determine the number of class cards.

Students will pick up class cards corresponding to the classes approved by their advisor and put these cards in a packet with the Azograph form. The material will then be placed in a machine and the student's name and number transferred from the form to the cards. This will eliminate errors students might make while filling out a number of class cards. Also the student's name will correspond to the one on the official record.

Mr. Bledsoe said they hope to hold registration in the new men's physical education and health building by the second term of next year. He explained that this will supply much needed room for the registration procedure.
