Candidates' conduct a 'disgrace' Williams

Webb, Caro seek new presidential election

By Kevin Thompson

A new presidential election is being requested by Charles R. "Rusty" Webb, who finished second in last Wednesday's voting.

Joseph Caro, Webb's running mate, filed charges protesting the election results and requested a hearing on the matter before Student Court.

One of the complaints was that students could vote more than once.

"If any person is allowed to vote twice, regardless of who they voted for, this election has to be thrown out," Caro, Huntington sophomore, said.

Webb, Milton junior, said he would present witnesses who voted more than once.

The complaint said the election commissioners were partial and incompetent, and did not follow normal election rules. It accused Patrick Foose, Huntington junior and election commissioner, of wearing a Jennifer Fraley and Jim Fain button during the week before the election.

Student Body President Marc E. Williams, Huntington senior, said Fraley told him no one gave Foose a button.

"I think they (the election commissioners) did an excellent job considering the harassment they had to put up with," Williams said.

The complaint said the election commissioners did not comply with the election rules because campaigning allegedly took place in a polling place with a commissioner present, a sign was posted within 30 feet of a polling place exit and the commissioners conducted their search for illegal signs too soon after the election was open.

Webb and Caro also charged that normal election procedures were not followed by the commissioners. They said polls at University Heights were closed early; the ballot box at University Heights was closed by only one poll worker; the polls were reopened at University Heights two times; votes were taken over the phone; votes were cast and not put directly into the box or a sealed envelope; and votes were cast after tabulation had begun.

The complaint said Robert Bennett, head election commissioner, showed partiality against Webb and Caro by reminding Webb of an election violation hearing over the air during a WMUL call-in session.

According to the complaint, the election commission acted only on complaints filed against Webb and Caro.

"They (Webb and Caro) try to make like they are the only ones who had posters torn down," Williams said.

Williams said two Fraley - Fain workers saw Webb's sister and girlfriend tear down 35 Fraley - Fain posters outside the Women's Gym.

Webb could not be reached for comment.

Williams said, "I think that this paranoia that Webb and Caro have is just that, paranoia. Their conduct throughout the election has been a disgrace to the students."

Election results finalized

By Ruth Giachino

Official results of the Student Government Association elections were released Thursday.

Jennifer K. Fraley, Moorefield junior, and running mate James F. Fain, St. Albans sophomore, received 558 votes in the race for student body president and vice-president.

Charles R. "Rusty" Webb, Madison junior, and running mate Joe Caro, Huntington sophomore, received 486 votes.

Michael Harris, Huntington junior, and running mate Myra Taylor, Fayetteville sophomore, received 211 votes.

Fraley and Fain are scheduled to be sworn in at an inaugural dinner Thursday night in the Memorial Student Center Special Dining Room.

In the residence hall constituency, three seats were available.

Victoria L. Baker, Fayetteville sophomore, received 444 votes; Michael L. Queen, Clarksburg freshman, 441; Chris Swindell, Logan freshman, 386 votes; and Phillip Duba, Man freshman, 332 votes.

Two seats were available in the off-campus constituency.

Kyle "Kookie" Adams, Summersville junior, received 185 votes; Alma Wooley, Bishop, Va., junior, 105 votes; and Troy Acree, Pinch sophomore, 103 votes.

Three seats were available in the commuter constituency.

Bob Alexander, Huntington freshman, received 181 votes; David Hunt, Huntington junior, received 180 votes; Bruce Washington, Barboursville junior, 140 votes; and Randy Vance, Huntington freshman, 126 votes.

Elected senators are scheduled to be sworn in at the Student Senate meeting today.

Splendor in the grass?

Some say spring brings out the best in people. In this case, however, the warm weather brought Assistant Professor Robert Rowe's Art 217 class out onto the campus lawn. The students of the drawing class are attempting to sketch portraits of one another. Photo by Lee Hill

Student senator removed from seat

By Ruth Giachino

Michael McGuffy, Huntington sophomore, has been removed from his off-campus seat because of three consecutive Student Senate meeting absences.

"According to Student Senate rules, senator who misses three senate meetings is automatically removed," said Cindy Harless, Sissonville senior and chairman of the rule committee.

McGuffy said he did not think he was getting anything accomplished in Student Senate.

"Everyone up there is just trying to further their own political career," he said.

"A prime example of this is (Charles R.) 'Rusty' Webb (Madison junior). He votes as a Republican party member rather than for his constituency," McGuffy said.

McGuffy said Webb abstained when voting on a proposal in Student Senate protesting Reagan budget cuts.

Webb said he abstained because his figures on the budget cuts were inconsistent with figures Student Senate had.

"It is silly to think that the senators are in Student Senate just to further their political career," Webb said.

"They are just trying to start a war to try to discredit us because students are tired of being run by one interest group which McGuffy represents, ATO fraternity," Webb said.

McGuffy said he did not resign because he did not want to embarrass Student Senate.

He said he hopes the installment of new senators will better the group.

The vacated off-campus seat is open to all students within the constituency who have at least a 2.0 grade point average.

Applications are being accepted for the position in Memorial Student Center Room 2W29.

Health fair to be relevant for students

By Lisa McDonald

Let's get healthy.

This year the Marshall University Health Fair will focus on getting and staying healthy, according to Lauren R. McKeown, graduate assistant for health programs.

McKeown and Mary Jane Howard, Muenster, Texas special student, will be coordinating the health fair Wednesday in the Memorial Student Center Multi-Purpose Room.

The health fair will feature over forty campus and community organizations providing a variety of information through brochures, workshops, demonstrations and films, McKeown said.

"This year the fair is geared more toward the student," she said. "It is more relevant to their needs. Last year's was disease oriented and this year we are stressing getting healthy."

All activities begin at 10 a.m. with blood typing, blood pressure checks, blood sugar analysis, audiometer checks, urinalysis, sickle cell anemia testing, computer games and various films available continuously until 4 p.m.

At 10 a.m. the Red Cross will demonstrate cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR); Shirley Hykes, R.N., of Student Health, will present a workshop on "First-Aid and Self-Help;" and "See You," a film on human physiology, will be shown on instructional television.

Other events include the film "Herpes: A National Epidemic" at 10:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.; and 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., Biofeedback, presented by the Department of Psychology.

Tae Kwon Do Club will demonstrate martial arts at noon followed by another demonstration of CPR at 12:30 p.m.; then "Aerobics for All" will be presented by Gail DiSabatino and her exercise class at 1 p.m. At 2 p.m. the International Students will demonstrate Wok Cooking and the YMCA will present fitness and weight lifting programs at 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. respectively.

Workshops scheduled for the health fair include "First-Aid and Self-Help," 10-10:45; "The Latest in Contraceptive Technology," 11:30-12:15 p.m.; "Experiencing Yoga," 1:30-2:00 p.m.; "The Effects of Exercise on Female Physiology," 2:15-3 p.m.; "Hypnosis and Its Implications for Health," 3-3:45 p.m.; All Events are free to the public.

Greek Week events continue today

Competition is the name of the game as Greek Week and all the activities associated with it continue.

Greek Week, which is co-sponsored by the Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council, is a week-long schedule of fraternity and sorority competitions.

Greek Week began Monday with Pac Man and ping pong competitions, a faculty reception and a reception featuring Edward King of Peoria University who was to speak on "The Meaning of a Ritual."

A Foosball competition, an obstacle course run, a bicycle race and the finals of the Pac Man competition will head today's competitions.

The first rounds of the Foosball competition will begin at 3:30 p.m. at The Varsity. The obstacle course run for sororities will be at 5 p.m. on the Intramural Field. The fraternity bicycle race, which is a new event, will begin at 5 p.m. The Pac Man finals will be at 6 p.m. at the Double Dribble.

Wednesday's events will include quiz bowl, swimming, Foosball finals and the first heat of the chariot race.

Bowling, roller-skating, the second heat of chariot races and backgammon are scheduled for Thursday.

Roller-skating and chariot race finals will be Friday.

The week will end Saturday with Greek Games. The events will begin at 11 a.m. on the Intramural Field and will end with an awards party at the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity house at 4 p.m.

'Back on track,' but conference race over

By Randy Rorrer

After a five-game losing streak, the Herd baseball team seems to be back on the right track, winning four of its last five games.

Marshall now has a 10-13 overall record, 6-6 in the Southern Conference, and Coach Jack Cook said his team is finally playing like it is capable.

"When we play like we did against East Tennessee in the second game Saturday, we can beat just about anybody," Cook said.

The loss in the first game to East Tennessee State gave Marshall six losses in the conference and virtually eliminated the Herd in the conference race, because The Citadel is now 10-1.

Marshall has a week off from conference play this week, but still has four games scheduled on the road.

"We finally have a weekend off," Cook said. "It should help us give our pitching staff a rest and get them realigned."

Spearheading Marshall's turnaround is junior catcher/shortstop, Greg Hill, who has 10 hits in his last 22 at bats. Hill now leads the team in hitting with a .357 average.

Sophomore thirdbaseman, Todd Sager, is also tagging the ball as he is second in hitting with a .345 average. He also leads the team with 84 at-bats, 29 hits, 18 extra base hits, 12 doubles, six home runs and 25 runs batted in.

Sager had a five-game streak of extra base hits and a eight-game hitting streak after the East Tennessee games Saturday.

The win over East Tennessee left Cook nine games short of 300 career wins with 15 games left in the season.

"I was wanting to reach that goal this season," Cook said, "but now it is going to be tough to do it because we have some tough games ahead of us."

"We really have our work cut out for us," he said. "Right now our goals are to win 20 games and have a winning season."

MU golfers finish third in tourney

East Tennessee State won the 13th annual Marshall Invitational Golf Tournament last weekend at the Guyan Golf and Country Club with a score of 587.

East Tennessee became the second team to win the tournament three consecutive years. Ohio State was the first, winning the title from 1974-76.

The tournament was scheduled for 54-holes but was shortened to 36 after Friday's second round was cancelled due to inclement weather.

Marshall's A-team finished third with a total of 598, five shots behind second place Ohio State which had a 593.

Marshall's B-team finished in a tie for 13th place with a 643 total.

Stew Ingrahan of East Tennessee shot a 3-under-par 141 to win the individual honors.

Marshall's highest individual finishers were Greg Meade and Gary Rusnak who tied for fifth place, each with a 36-hole total of 146.

Women's track team places third at seventh annual invitational meet

By Jim Forbes

The Marshall Women's track team won three running events and placed second in six events to come in third place in the Marshall Invitational meet last Saturday.

Ohio Wesleyan placed first with 89 points, Louisville was second with 79, Marshall was third with 70, Berea College had 35 and Malone College followed with 9 points. This is only the second time Marshall has not won the invitational.

Su Conrad, Parkersburg junior, ran in all three of the winning events and individually won the 400 meter run with a time of 1:00.3. Conrad anchored the winning 880 sprint relay along with teammates Deanna Carter, Annette Davidson, and Janet Keith with a time of 1:53.3. The other first place event for Marshall was the Mile relay with the team of Conrad, Candy Patterson, Holly Baker, and Carter with a time of 4:11.3.

Kim Marshall placed second in the 400 meter with a time of 1:02.8 and the 440 relay with a time of 52.6. Risa Withrow placed second in the 400 meter hurdles with a time of 1:08.7. Janet Keith was second in the 100 meter with a time of 12.7 and also the 200 meter with a time of 26.6. In the field events Paula Boone was second in the discus with a throw of 117.4.

Coach Arlene Stooke said she felt that Saturday's meet was an improvement of time for the girls.

Louisville won 10 events, Ohio Wesleyan won four, Marshall three, and Berea College one.

Men's team fails to place in meet

By Shawn Holliday

Good Friday could have been better for the men's track team when it competed in the Dogwood Relays at Knoxville, Tenn.

"We didn't do real well," head coach Rod O'Donnell said. "We knew we weren't going to go down there and tear them up. But we didn't compete as well as I thought we should."

Although, the team failed to place in any events, O'Donnell said that Joe Sassler ran a 48.03 time in the invitational 400 meter dash "which is a good time considering he has been out for a while," he said. "Some of the people on the relay teams didn't do badly. I thought Kris Gibson did a good job and John Gonzales did a good job on the relay teams," O'Donnell said.

"There's no reason that we shouldn't have competed better than we did - it doesn't make any difference who the competition was," he said.

As an example of the competition,

O'Donnell named Wisconsin, Penn State, Clemson and Villanova as opponents in Marshall's heat of the 2-mile relay.

"We just didn't compete up to what we should have," O'Donnell said.

"We'll go one of two ways," he said. "The reason we got into this competition was to prepare us better for the (Southern) conference. We'll either see what we have to do and get it done or we'll back down and it won't have benefited us."

AWARE to educate with Ground Zero Week

By Lisa McDonald

If a nuclear bomb were dropped on downtown Huntington, what would you do?

Could you get away?

Is it a possibility, or just a lot of wild imagining?

Allies Waged Against Radioactive Environment (AWARE) is working to educate the public on the dangers of nuclear war, nuclear weapons and radioactive waste, Laurie R. McKeown, graduate student and AWARE member, said.

"We are doing mostly educational things now," she said. "We sponsor delegates to national conventions on the use of nuclear power and also plan programs of an educational nature here."

Ann J. Deutch, Huntington graduate student and AWARE member, said, "It is surprising the response we get from interested people on campus."

"Each meeting (held at 5 p.m. every Wednesday in Smith Hall Room 435) we have a few new people," she said. "There are at least 40 regulars at the meetings."

AWARE will be working with the community to sponsor Ground Zero Week in Huntington as part of a nationally designated effort to educate the public on the dangers of nuclear weapons, Deutch said.

Ground Zero Week will begin Saturday with a Marking Ceremony in downtown Huntington on the Ninth Street Plaza. This will consist of marking the location of a possible nuclear bomb target and explaining the effects it would have on the area, Thomas B.

Hougham, AWARE member and Cabell County school teacher, said.

"In the event of a nuclear bomb, everything within a one and a half mile radius would be totally vaporized. Only sturdy steel buildings would still be standing in a four mile radius. There would be fire storms as far as fifteen miles out and water and food would be contaminated as far as 65 miles away," Hougham said.

According to Hougham, the uranium enrichment plant in Portsmouth coupled with the industrialized Kanawha Valley, place Huntington well within the range of two likely targets in the event of nuclear war.

A debate will be sponsored by AWARE 2 p.m., April 21 in the Memorial Student Center on the issue of nuclear weapons.

A film festival in the Sundown Coffee

House is scheduled for April 22 from 5-9 p.m. The films include: "War Without Winner," "The Last Epidemic," "The War Game" and "Hiroshima."

Ground Zero Week will conclude April 24 with a Spring Peace Concert in the amphitheatre at Ritter Park. The concert will be from noon-10 p.m. Five area bands will be performing; The Audiomatiks, The Spread, The Jackals, Duck Bill and Platypi, and Moochi and the Slugs.

The cost of the concert is $2 and tickets are available from AWARE members or at the door.

"We are just hoping to break even," Deutch said. "This is not a money making project. It is a day to have fun and learn."

AWARE will send delegates to a state-wide convention on May 1 to discuss the use of nuclear weapons.

Alumni steering committee elects chairpersons

By George Washington

Seven students have been elected to fill positions for the Marshall University Alumni Steering Committee, according to Karen C. Thomas, alumni affairs director.

Kimberly A. Hendrick, Clay junior, was elected chairperson of the committee.

"She will have the task of coordinating the development of constitutional by-laws, logo, and also to convene and conduct the business of the steering committee," Thomas said.

Grandville Martin, Pittsburgh junior, will serve as the new coordinator of program and publication. "This committee will be responsible for the preparation and design of mailings, leaflets, brochures, and news releases in coordination with the university relations office," Thomas said.

Huntington junior Robert Abrams, elected project coordinator, will research projects for the purposes of the Student Alumni Association, Thomas said.

Keith M. Woodrum, Dawes senior, was elected program coordinator, responsible for "developing plans for program meetings, picnics and banquets," Thomas said.

Kathy L. McCallister and Mark Hayes, both Huntington seniors, will serve as the coordinators of Summer Outreach. "This committee will investigate possible avenues and make recommendations for 1982-83," Thomas said.
