Miss Chief Justice finalists declared

By SUE CASALI
Staff reporter

Six finalists for Miss Chief Justice have been announced by Lucy Crickenberger, Lewisburg senior, and coordinator of the contest.

The six finalists are Debby Chambers, Huntington junior; Tommie Denny, Nitro senior; Jocelynn McCall, Glen Ellyn, Ill., senior; Grace Moore, Buckeye junior; Jan Nielsen, Toms River, N.J. senior, and Helen Ziemnick, Mt. Hope senior.

Miss Chambers, sponsored by Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority, is captain of the M.U. cheerleaders and has been a cheerleader for three years. She is publicity chairman of Delta Omicron, women's music honorary, past president and vice president of Little Sisters of Minerva, rush chairman of Tri-Sigma, and was Sigma Alpha Epsilon Sweetheart for 1970. She was Miss Fraternal Order of Police 1970, and was a member of Panhellenic Council 1969-70.

Miss Denny, sponsored by Delta Zeta sorority, is a member of Fagus, senior women's honorary; Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary; Alpha Beta Alpha, library science honorary; and Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary. She is past corresponding and recording secretaries of Delta Zeta sorority, and was listed among Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. A news editor of the Parthenon, she is past editor-in-chief.

Miss McCall, nominated by Phi Mu sorority, is president of Panhellenic Council. She is house president of Phi Mu and secretary of Greek Council. Listed among Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, other activities include Student Government Affairs Commissioner, Council for Exceptional Children, secretary and membership director; past Phi Mu membership director, Impact secretary, and Student Senate secretary.

Miss Moore, nominated by South Hall, is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, South Hall Judicial Board, and will be an Impact guide this year. She was Alpha Sigma Phi Bowl Queen, and first runner up to the Lambda Chi Alpha Basketball Queen. A student Senator for two years, she was a member of rules committee and president pro tempore for one year. She is past president of Phi Mu sorority and a member of Acappella Choir for two years.

Miss Nielsen, nominated by Sigma Kappa sorority, is a member of Fagus and was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. She is past first vice president of Sigma Kappa and past president of the Association of Childhood Education International. She was a member of Modern Dance Club, Pershing Ruffles, and was model pledge of Sigma Kappa.

Miss Ziemnick, sponsored by Sigma Kappa sorority, is past second vice president and pledge trainer. She was fourth attendant to Miss Marshall last fall and has been a member of Alpha Kappa Delta, sociological society; Panhellenic Council, Chief Justice staff, and the Fireside Chats and Students for Higher Education committees of Student Government.

A panel of administrators will judge the finalists on appearance, poise, activities, honors, and academic average. Judges are Dr. Donald K. Carson, assistant to the president; Dr. Constantine W. Curris, director of student personnel programs;

Jeff Nemens, associate dean of students for activities and organizations, and Mary Louise Gallagher, associate dean of students for special programs.

Miss Chief Justice and two attendants will be crowned by Dr. Carson at the basketball game against St. Francis College on March 1.

Finals hearing set

Public hearings are to be set on the continuance of the present four day pre-examination study weekend and the current system of dropping classes two weeks before finals.

According to Sen. Joe Lazear, Pittsburgh junior, the Academic Planning and Standards Committee should investigate the possibilities of starting the study period on the Thursday and Friday before final week. Last semester the study period fell on Saturday, Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday.

Sen. John Womack, Nitro junior, moved that the current system of dropping classes until two weeks before finals be continued and public hearings set. The motion passed.

In other Senate business, Sen. Ray Wolfe, Moundsville sophomore, reminded the Senate of the February 23 Senate meeting at Prichard Hall to discuss ratification of the voluntary sign in-sign out motion with the dorm governments.

Nelson favored as speaker

Dr. Roland H. Nelson Jr., former MU president, leads the list of 1971 commencement speakers wanted by graduating seniors who participated in a Student Government survey.

According to Joe Lazear, Pittsburgh junior, Dr. Nelson was "without a doubt the head winner."

Lazear said he received 100 of the 300 questionnaires distributed. Results show about 90 per cent of the seniors surveyed prefer having graduation exercises on Sunday before final week; about 90 per cent wish to abolish the $10 absents fee; about 90 per cent prefer having graduation exercises at Fairfield Stadium; and about 66 per cent feel caps and gowns are necessary.

Survey results were taken to Commencement and Honorary Degrees Committee, but according to Lazear they did not have much time to consider the proposals. Another meeting between Senate and Commencement and Honorary Degrees Committee members is scheduled for Thursday.

MU lacking books, PhDs

"Marshall University has the largest library deficiency compared to all the West Virginia schools in relation to its size," reported Jerry Beasley, assistant to the Chancellor.

Mr. Beasley said that 80 per cent of the Budget Bill's equipment replenishment fund was for the purchasing of books whose average price per volume is $10.

"WVU is the only University in West Virginia that comes close to having the adequate number of books," according to the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

N.C.A. also recommended that "40 per cent of Marshall's faculty should have a Ph.D."

Because of the lack of Ph.D.'s and other deficiencies, Glenville State College, Shepherd College, Fairmont State College, and Bluefield State College have all been placed on public probation by the NCA.

Funds mount to $265,000

"The Marshall University Memorial Funds accumulated total is now $265,000," according to John Calles, director of development. He said that during the past week $2,355 had been contributed to the fund.

Water pollution discussion set

By SHARON BLADES
Staff reporter

Col. Maurice D. Roush, Huntington district engineer, and Maj. John R. Hill, deputy district engineer, both Huntington district, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will speak at the ENACT meeting 4-5:30 p.m. today in Smith Hall 154.

With the 1899 Refuse Act as their topic, the engineers will apply it to local use. By this act, a company or individual shall not dump any refuse into any navigable or tributary of a navigable stream, according to Blake Baughman, general attorney, Corps of Engineers.

Baughman defined refuse as almost any unnatural material whether it has an adverse effect or not.

Under the Refuse Act, a private citizen can present evidence of illegal dumping to the Corps of Engineers or the federal district attorney. Either proceedings start or the district attorney notifies the citizen he has insufficient grounds for action against the violator.

Under "qui tam," originally from English common law, a citizen can take court action in behalf of himself if the district attorney fails to meet these requirements.

Attorney and court costs, whether he wins or loses must be paid by the individual. Fines obtained from the violator upon his conviction are kept entirely by the originator of the suit.

However, Baughman explained, most district attorneys do take action if they have the evidence. In this instance, the individual who initiated the claim receives half of the levied fine upon the discretion of the court.

The Corps of Engineers issues permits to dump refuse if it does not violate federal, state, or local laws. Local citizens can present valid objection to the issue and this is taken into consideration.

Pianist-humorist performs today

Leonid Hambro, concert pianist and humorist, will perform today at 11 a.m. in Old Main Auditorium as part of the Convocation Series.

Hambro is known as "the most famous second banana" in the world since his association with Victor Borge began in 1961.

DRUG TREATMENT TO BE DISCUSSED

Establishment of a drug treatment center will be discussed tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Mental Health Center, according to Mary Louise Gallagher, associate dean of students for special programs.

All community members and students are invited to attend.

An Editorial

MU students talk forceful?

Students at Marshall have only three accepted ways to voice their opinion; Student Senate, The Parthenon, and various faculty-student committees which admittedly have, as often as not, been ineffective. Today they will serve as an effective voice, but will gain little if any action from the administration.

Later today, the Academic Planning and Standards Committee will meet and consider the extended "W" period and the four-day study weekend. Consider may not be the correct word to use because the committee, which is probably the most influential in school, is made up of 15 members, only one of whom is a student.

The committee's arguments against the extended "W" period are simple and faulty.

The idea that students who want a class will be prohibited from taking it when needed because it is full of students who will later drop is soundly based on questionable logic. This danger is faced in any withdrawal concept, be it the extended "W" or the antiquated

WF's, WP's or FIW's.

The feeling that a student should be punished with an "F" for his "subject inability" or his "lazy attitude" is pointless. This may be found in a college system with outdated requirements and catalogues, but at Marshall students pay their money to take requirements, which is often punishment enough.

The ability to stay in a class until just before finals encourages a student who is doing poorly to stay in and try until the last minute, not to drop before his midterms.

A version of the four day study weekend concept was tried last semester and was nearly a waste of time. Academic Planning and Standards did not institute the policy the way it was proposed.

The Academic Advisory Committee made up of students has endorsed the extended "W" plan. Student Senate has reendorsed both issues. The Parthenon commends both actions and can do no less than endorsing these actions ourselves.

Letters to the editor

TO THE EDITOR:

I have had it with people on this campus complaining about the activities which are available to them. I have listened to people complain about not having big name groups to play at concerts. I have heard complaints about not having outdoor festivals, art shows, more movies, coffeehouse programs and dances. People, where have you been all year. I'm not going to name the many programs which have been presented for you this year alone; THERE'S TOO MANY!

Student Government, the Artist Series, Student Center Program Board, the Campus Christian Center and many other organizations have tried to give you the best possible, but they can't do it without people to work. It takes a lot of time, energy and patience to put on ANY program. How many of you have come before any of the organizations and said to them "I want to HELP put on a program," instead of asking them to do it all for you?

How many times has a program been interrupted by drinking, fighting, smoking or stealing?

And as for the letter which appeared in the South Hall Advisor--I have yet to see Mr. Allen's name among any applications to serve on any working committee.

So to the people at Marshall I want to say--"If you are not willing to get out and work--then SHUT UP!"

Donna Gassaway
Moundsville junior

TO THE EDITOR:

For the past several years the Marshall Student Government has made health insurance available to students at very reasonable rates. However, none was available for the fall semester of 1970. I was personally interested in the insurance and had made several efforts to find out why it was not offered. "Well, we have been negotiating and trying to get more coverage for less money," was the answer I received. So we ended up with no coverage at all. But I was assured it would be available the second semester.

During semester break I asked about the health insurance. "It will be mailed to you." Today I called the Student Government office and was told that health insurance was not available and Mike Gant had left no word to pass on to interested students who called. Somehow the name Ed Patton was mentioned in connection with negotiations with the companies for health insurance.

What's the problem?

When you can't find a solution you can always set up a committee. So I suggest we do that, and give them about two years (sounds reasonable) to uncover the facts and make a report. I think the committee should be composed of Governor Moore, President Barker, Prince Woodard and the Board of Regents and both houses of our state legislature. I was thinking of asking Ralph Nader to be the chairman. In the meantime, if you need hospitalization, shame, shame.

Mid-Western new conference for MU?

By JIM REDDEN
Sports writer

Joseph McMullen, newly-appointed athletic director, has indicated one of the problems facing him at MU is that of finding a conference for the Herd to compete in.

Since Marshall's suspension from the Mid-American conference in 1969 the Herd has been competing without being a conference member. One of McMullen's goals is to find a conference for Marshall.

The newly-organized Mid-Western Conference is a possibility. The conference, in its first year, has five schools listed as members: Illinois State, Indiana State, Northern Illinois, Southern Illinois and Ball State. Illinois State has already been added to the Herd's football schedule.

At this time Marshall has not contacted any conference for membership. However, some of the conference members indicate Marshall would be favorably considered should it apply for admission. Gordon Chalmers, athletic director at Indiana State University, stated he could not speak for the other members but did say, "Marshall is a fine school and would make a fine addition."

The Mid-Western Conference is unique in that it is attempting a cooperation between athletics and academics between its members.

According to John Pruis, president of Ball State University and president of the Board of Governors of the conference, the conference has recently appointed an Executive Director of Academic Affairs and it will attempt to "develop cooperative programs academically as well as athletically."

He also stated that the conference had not considered any request for admission and that it was trying to get underway.

Clyde Walton, head of the council of the conference, elaborated by saying, "We are interested in getting the house in order before we expand. We want expansion academically as well as athletically."

Coach likes crowd

Crowd support at a swim meet is usually non-existent at most schools, but not at Marshall, according to swimming coach Robert Saunders.

"Our crowd Saturday was really great compared to most places I've been," said coach Saunders. "Some schools like Miami and Kent State always have a large turnout, but most just have a token attendance."

The attendance at Saturday's meet was estimated by coach Saunders to be between 150 and 175 persons. They were rewarded with a 75-30 victory over the Morris Harvey College squad.

"The fan support really helps the team to get keyed up," said coach Saunders. "I feel the fans made a great difference in the teams performance Saturday."

"More students would be interested in attending if they knew how exciting it is. The close competition of the races is as exciting as any sport around. It is not like a team sport where you have to follow a number of persons. Swimming is individual effort, one person against another."

Marshall students will have one more chance to see the swimmers in their last home meet of the season. The Herd will face Western Kentucky University at 2 p.m. Saturday in Gullickson Hall.

"We would like to see another good crowd this week," said coach Saunders. "Western has a fairly new program, but we'll still need the student support to win."

Sports in brief

Matmen now 3-8

Marshall's wrestling team will carry a 3-8 record into its last home match when Coach Mike Sager's grapplers host Alderson-Broadus Feb. 17.

Marshall traveled to Morehead State University Tuesday where the team suffered a 22-14 defeat.

In the 118-pound class, Bob Seaquist was feated 4-0, while David Bowman was pinned in the 126-pound class.

Morehead was awarded a forfeit in the 134-pound class before Bill Archer defeated his opponent 11-1 in the 142-pound class event.

Pat Riggs defeated his opponent 12-2 in the 150-pound class.

Greg Archer was victorious in the 158-pound contest, while Danny Thompson pinned his opponent in the 190-pound class. Chuck Wright was defeated 4-3 in the heavy weight contest.

Intramurals

Four games were played Tuesday night as the Road Runners, Red Eye, Molly McGuire's No. 2, and Zeta Beta Tau No. 2 all came home with victories under their belts.

In the Independent League, the Molly McGuire's No. 2 team downed the Threes 43-36, and Red Eye toppled the Vets 77-47.

One game was played in the Dorm League as the Road Runners ran past the Pirates in a low scoring contest 48-33.

In the only game scheduled in the fraternity League, Zeta Beta Tau No. 2, outscored Lambda Chi Alpha No. 2, 40-36.

Intramural Director, Buddy Rogers has announced that volunteers are needed for the basketball games and anyone interested can drop by his office at GH 104.

Indoor track team's first meet Saturday

By JERRY TIPTON
Sports writer

Marshall's indoor track team opens its season at the Eastern Michigan University Invitational Saturday with a squad of twelve athletes.

"We can't go into a meet hoping to win. We just don't have the athletes," said Coach Marvin Fink. "We have to look for the individual performances."

Coach Fink has not yet decided who will be entered in each event. "I'm going to try and give everyone some practice in their area of training," said Fink.

The squad can be divided into three groups: the sprinters, distance runners, and field men.

In the distance events Chuck Marshall, Ruffsedale, Penn., sophomore, will be MU's largest threat. "We might have Chuck run the three-mile, one-mile, or steeplechase," said Fink.

Other distance men are Bob Davis, New Kensington, Penn., sophomore; Frank Lewis, Charleston freshman; Tom Lozito, Bronx, N.Y., junior; and Larry Maxwell, Clarendon, Penn., sophomore. "At this time I don't know what events our distance men will run, but I'm sure they'll be ready," said Fink.

The sprint men will be entered in the 60 and 880-yard dashes, quarter-mile, high and low hurdles, two-mile relay, and the distance medley relay. "Weather and track conditions will determine what sprinters I'll use in each event," said Fink.

Coach Fink said the field men have been hampered by bad weather and a lack of facilities in training for the indoor season. "We won't use our vaulters because they simply haven't had any practice," said Fink. "Larry Guio, Weirton freshman, will throw the shot."

Counseling and Testing Center extends services to night hours

By JANET DOOLEY
Staff reporter

The Counseling and Testing Center is open 7 to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday in addition to regular hours. These hours have been established to accommodate students who are unable to go to the center during the day.

The evening counselor, Ken Blue, will offer the same services as those offered during the day. These include personal and academic counseling, vocational and career guidance, and testing.

Eligibility rule set

Assistant Dean of Teachers College William S. Deel announced Tuesday a new policy on probation and eligibility to go effective immediately.

"We are now suspending students at the end of each grading period. If a student is minus twenty or more quality points and does not raise them, he is ineligible to attend the University during the rest of the academic year," Deel said.

However, a student declared ineligible for readmission may attend summer sessions to improve his academic standing.

Personal counseling includes any problem a student might face on campus from roommates to unwanted pregnancy. Academic counseling concerns problems arising from classes. In this area there is "more counseling than advising," said Blue.

Vocational and career guidance is directed toward freshmen and incoming students to help them decide on a career field.

In addition to extending hours the Center is trying to offer students more extensive counseling by improving the testing program according to Blue. The current program offers personality and interest testing on an individual basis.

Plans are to start using group testing which would enable the center to administer timed tests more easily. It is also hoped that aptitude, battery and skills tests can be added later.

The Center's regular hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Three counselors, Blue, Willis Hayes and Steve Naymick will be available at that time.

WANTED:

College men and women for management positions in government. Must meet physical requirements. Financial aid available for in-college trainees, or applicants can enroll in special training course on graduation. Stateside and/or overseas travel guaranteed.

Here's a government position with a real future for both men and women. An officer's job in the Air Force. A management level job in anybody's book. Certainly, there's no better way to get the experience and training needed for executive responsibility.

If you have two years of college remaining, you could find yourself earning an Air Force commission while you learn, through the Air Force ROTC two-year program. Along with college credits and a commission, you'll receive $50 each month as a student. And upon graduation, that management position we promised will be waiting for you. If an advanced degree is in your plans, you'll be happy to learn that the Air Force has a number of outstanding programs to help you further your education.

If you're in your final year of college, you can get your commission through the Air Force Officer Training Program. It is open to all college grads, both men and women, who qualify.

Check it out. You'll find that the Air Force is one career that offers something for everyone. Nearly 430 different jobs, ranging from aeronautical engineering to zoology, with almost everything else, including flying, in between. But whatever your duties, you'll soon discover that the Air Force will let you move just as far and as fast as your talents can take you.

So look ahead and let your college years pay off for you with a managerial position in the U.S. Air Force. Just send in this coupon or write to USAF Military Personnel Center, Dept. A, Randolph AFB, Texas 78148, and get your postgraduate career off the ground.
