SPACE CENTER, Houston - Two American astronauts landed safely on the moon Thursday night to begin an expedition that was temporarily threatened by a failure in the main engine of the Apollo 16 command ship, Casper.

Astronauts John W. Young and Charles M. Duke Jr. thus achieved man's fifth landing on the moon and began a three-day scientific exploration on a plateau high in the lunar mountains.

After a delay of almost six hours, Young and Duke guided their lunar lander in a long curving descent from orbit and brought it to rest among the Descartes Mountains.

They were the 9th and 10th Americans to make a lunar landing but the first to do so in a mountain region.

The third Apollo 16 astronaut, Thomas K. Mattingly II, remained in lunar orbit aboard the command ship.

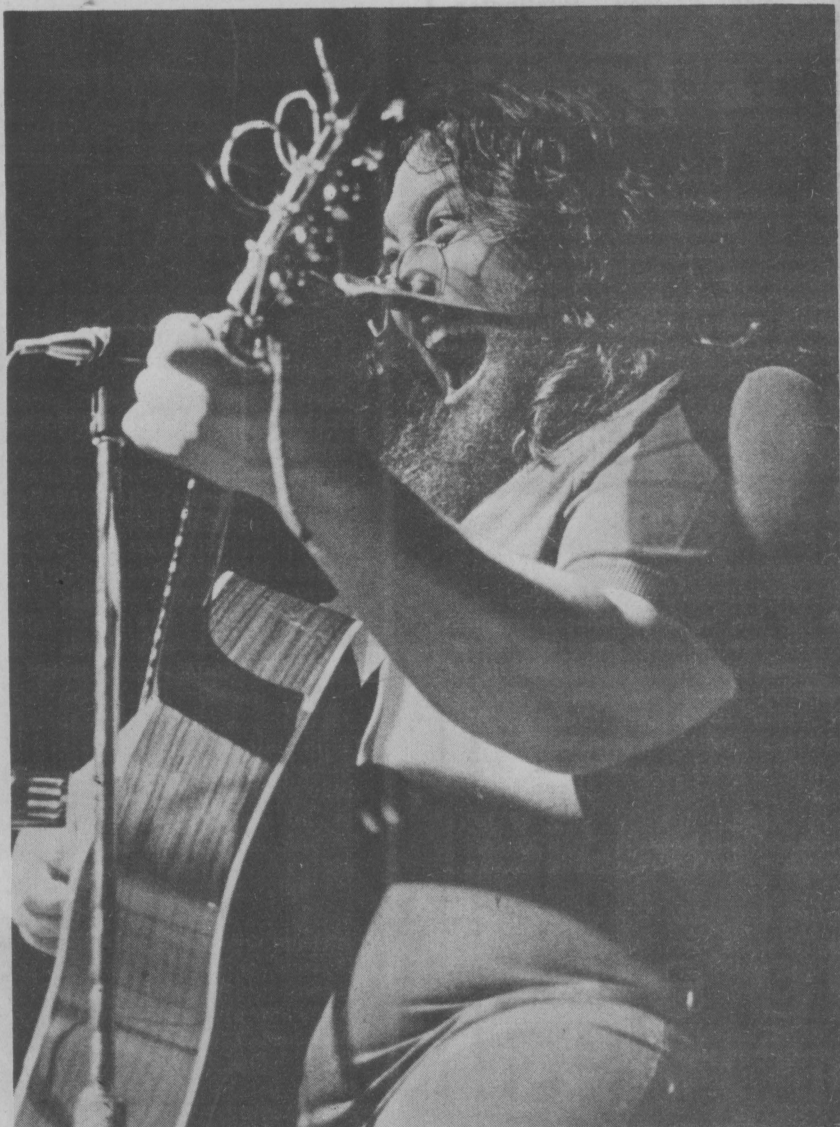

The main rocket engine problem in his ship had been isolated in a back-up steering motor, and Mission Control ordered the moon landing delayed while the problem could be studied.

SAIGON - North Vietnam's offensive pushed Vietnamese casualties last week to their highest level since the 1968 Tet offensive, while American losses were the highest in six months.

The allied commands reported 12 Americans, 1,002 South Vietnamese and 7,117 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed in action, plus 63 Americans and 2,656 South Vietnamese wounded. Another 10 Americans were missing, presumably in air crashes, while six Americans were reported dead from nonhostile causes.

This raised the total number of American, South Vietnamese and enemy troops reported killed since January 1961 past the million mark.

WASHINGTON - House Democrats voted tentatively today to condemn the U.S. Haiphong-Hanoi bombing as "a dangerous escalation of our role in the Indochina war" and took their strongest action yet to set a deadline for a U.S. pullout.

Hoffman to end Impact '72

Abbie Hoffman, political activist, author and member of the Chicago Seven, will speak at 8 p.m. tonight in Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center.

Hoffman, who is the concluding speaker for Impact '72, will narrate and comment on the film "The Chicago Conspiracy Trial," which will be shown during his talk.

The film has won the Society of Film

Long hair and entertainment told the story at Wednesday night's Impact program in the student center Multi-Purpose Room. Jonathon Round, left, gave the crowd his brand of the motown sound. 'Sympathy for the Devil' and 'The City's (Detroit) on Fire' made Round a hit while George Carlin, right went from lying flat on his back to playing with his navel to get a laugh. Carlin was late but the capacity crowd forgave him.

Earth Day, class boycott today aimed at student involvement

Proposed student boycott of classes and Earth Day are two events today aimed at student involvement.

The strike activities on MU's campus will coincide with a nation-wide student strike sponsored by the National Student Association, according to John Buurman, student coordinator for Southern Appalachian Center of Antioch College. The purpose of the strike is to protest the Vietnam war and resumption of bombing over North Vietnam.

An all-day teach-in will be held outside Memorial Student Center, according to Russ Karnap, unclassified Huntington student. Buurman said there will be discussions by students, faculty and visiting students from Antioch College and tapes of news broadcast about the Vietnam war from Australian and English stations.

As a substitute for classes, discussions are to be held in small groups, Karnap said.

Regents' head will speak at banquet

Dr. Prince Woodard, chancellor of higher education, will be the keynote speaker at the 35th annual alumni banquet at 6 p.m. Saturday in the Multi-Purpose Room of the student center.

Dr. Woodard will speak about the future of Marshall, according to Howard B. St.Clair, director of Alumni Affairs.

Bob Daniels, MU's new basketball coach, will be introduced at the banquet and speak briefly, St. Clair said.

Approximately 200 people are expected to attend the dinner, St. Clair said. Included among the guests of honor will be Dr. Hunter Hardman, chairman of the Department of Mathematics and his wife; Mrs. Louise Kirby, assistant professor of English; captain of the 1910 football team C.E. Myers and his wife; and Dr. Paul Collins, acting vice president of academic affairs, and his wife.

Following the dinner, the 1971 Alumni Service Award for outstanding service to the University will be presented to Curtis Baxter, professor of English.

'I'm coming' --Polo; Moses still unsure

By CHUCK LANDON
Sports editor

"I'm definitely coming to Marshall."

"I haven't decided anything definite."

The above quotes belong to Pete Polo, Riverdale, N.J. basketball recruit, and Danny Moses, Williamson basketball recruit, in that order.

A third Marshall recruit, Jerry Thruston, was unable to be reached.

Polo also commented that "Coach Bob Daniels called today (Wednesday) but I was out playing basketball. He's supposed to call me back tonight."

"I don't know anything about Coach Daniels," he added. "Coach (Bill) Robinette told me a little bit, but that's all I know."

Daniels, when reached Thursday at his office at Kentucky Wesleyan, said he had been in contact with all the recruits.

"I know for sure that Pete Polo is coming," he said. "We're in good shape with him. I also talked to Danny Moses last night (Wednesday). I'm going to talk to him again today and tomorrow (today) I'm going to be visiting with him and his family in Williamson."

"I talked to Jerry (Thruston) yesterday and I'm going to talk to him again today," Daniels continued. "I think the Thruston family is probably going to come to Marshall to look the campus over."

"I've been in contact with some junior college prospects, too," he added. "In fact, Coach Robinette is in Florida right now talking to a prospect."

Daniels said he was unsure of when he would assume his coaching duties "I feel I have an obligation to the students in the classes I teach at Kentucky Wesleyan," he explained. "That's why I'm unsure of when I can assume my full time duties. Our semester at Wesleyan is similar to your's at Marshall so we'll probably be having final week near the same time."

Moses, 6-11 West Virginia all-stater, said he is not sure on where he would play his college ball, or when he would make the final decision.

"I haven't set any definite date on which I'll decide where I'm going to play ball, but I won't wait too long," he said. "Coach Daniels is going to be down to talk to me Friday night, but I don't know...I don't think I'll wait too long to decide."

"The thing is, signing this inter-conference letter gets the other coaches off your back, but you've got to be sure before you sign it," he added. "Because, you're talking about at least one-fourth of your college career when you sign the letter."

When asked if the move to Wake Forest by former MU coach Carl Tacy had swayed his feeling toward Marshall, Moses said, "He was one of the main reasons I signed at Marshall, that's no secret. I wish he wouldn't have gone to Wake Forest, but he didn't really have any choice. They made too good a deal for him to turn down."

When asked if Wake Forest officials had contacted him, Moses replied, "I'd rather not say."

He did say he had spoken with Thruston once, however. "I've talked with him once, when we both were in Huntington for the weekend. But, I haven't talked to him since Coach Tacy went to Wake Forest."

He also said he had heard of Daniels before, but really didn't know much about him. "I knew he always had real good teams at Kentucky Wesleyan," he commented.

Moses said he would wait and see if other recruits signed at Marshall before he committed himself. Here's how he explained it: "I'm going to wait and see if the other recruits sign before I'm going to...you have to have someone to play with."

Charleston facility discussed

State of State address confusing

This is the last of a four-part in-depth study of the proposed Marshall medical school. This section relates some of the later arguments both for and against the facility.

By CHARLES FERGUSON
Special writer

A controversy developed over the governor's message in the State of the State address as to what type of school he was advocating for Huntington.

Gov. Moore explained his proposal further in a later news conference and said his plans revolved around "basic science courses" with clinical work coming elsewhere.

The governor compared the plan to what existed at Morgantown before the new complex was constructed and then reminded the public that the Morgantown school at one time was a two-year school with an agreement with the University of Virginia concerning the clinical experiences.

Gov. Moore also revealed an anonymous benefactor had willed $2 million toward a major clinical facility in the Charleston area.

In January, another plan was aired which brought still further confusion and controversy to the issue.

Sources in Charleston indicated the governor was thinking of moving the second two years of the medical school at Morgantown to Charleston. The new plan was viewed as a system to kill a proposed med school in Huntington, and it was further noted that some federal health officials have been receiving objections to any federal funding for a medical facility at Marshall University.

Charleston Memorial and General Hospitals were said to have been considered as possible clinical resources for the junior and senior classes of the Morgantown school.

According to sources who were said to have been close to the plan, this move would enable the facility at Morgantown to enlarge the first two years of classes by as much as 150 students compared to the present limit of 75 persons.

Classroom facilities for those attending clinical work in Charleston would cost an initial $5 million on an annual basis which would be added to the current operation budget. These facilities would be maintained in conjunction with the Kanawha Valley Graduate Center, a branch of West Virginia University, sources said.

Dr. Esposito explained he had heard of the proposed move of classes from Morgantown to Charleston. He viewed it "as a definite threat to establishment of a medical school here."

One thing which Dr. Esposito has contended throughout the entire debate of the issue, Huntington has an abundance of hospital beds which could be used for clinical work.

Over 3,000 beds are reported to be in operation in the Huntington area's hospitals which include the Barbourville and Huntington State Hospitals.

Dr. Esposito explained, "there is nowhere else in the state of West Virginia where this kind of bed capacity exists except in the Huntington area."

He also noted that Huntington is ahead of Charleston in the number of qualified specialists available to guide student physicians during their clinical work.

The issue of a medical school at Marshall is a complex and often misunderstood situation. Several arguments have been presented on both sides of the matter.

The controversy got its first real publicity in 1968 and then it got rolling in 1970. The nearly four-year-old issue now "may be resolved within a month," says Dr. Esposito, the medical school spearheader in Huntington.

Several local and area organizations have come out in support of the proposed med school in Huntington. The organizations have voiced their support for the move through resolutions, formal letters to legislators, personal appearances by delegates, and just offering help for the project in general.

The Huntington city Council, the Cabell County Court and the Wayne County Court are among the organizations which include many from Kentucky and Ohio.

Last film nixed

The last film of the Arts and Cinema Series has been cancelled, according to Michael Cornfield, director of the series. "We just don't have the finances to show the last film," he said. "The series is not a money-making project," he commented, "but we have to make enough money to break even." "In spite of the fact that we had to cancel the last film, the series would be considered a success," he added. "We fulfilled the needs of this area by showing films from all over the world with varied degrees of quality." Cornfield felt the attendance was good. "We presented 13 films with an attendance total of 1,908 people," he said.

After the banquet, awards will be given to chapter members who have attained a high level of achievement, both for the sorority and on campus, Miss Sabatino said.

Following this, there will be a tea and tour of the chapter house at 1429 Fifth Ave. for alumni and chapter members, Miss Sabatino said.

South 'rising'

Tom Nelson, St. Albans junior and president of Kappa Alpha Order, laughed as he said, "The South Shall Rise Again," Tuesday afternoon as the K. A.'s officially opened their Old South Week. The Old South Formal, consisting of the men dressed in southern uniforms and the women dressed as southern belles, will be held at Riverside Country Club Friday from 8-12 p.m. "Music will be provided by Pig Iron from Cleveland," said Mike Rowsey, Huntington sophomore.

According to Rowsey, the Old South Informal will be held Saturday, again at Riverside, and music will be provided by Genesis.

The Old South Picnic will be held Sunday at Lake Vesuvius, with food and beer being provided by the Daughters of the Crimson Rose, an affiliate of KA, said Rowsey.

The National Sociology Honor Society, Alpha Kappa Delta, West Virginia Alpha Chapter at Marshall, held its annual investiture ceremony Thursday, in the student center.

Nine students and two faculty members were initiated into the National Honor Society. Students initiated during the ceremony were: Sara Birch Dunlap; Charles W. Jarrett, III; Anita Sue Pauley; Anette

L. Boyan, Beckley sophomore; Steven Michael Dial, Huntington junior; Linda Hart, Huntington sophomore; Linda Robinson, Ridgeley sophomore; and Jennie Willis, Logan senior.

is a care for car

If you count on your car for lots of good times, why not give it the best care you can? One way is using Amoco gasolines.

Not only does Lead-Free Amoco help cut down on air pollution, but tests prove that Amoco can double the life of your muffler and tail pipe compared to fully leaded gasolines; spark plugs last longer, too.

And in college mileage rallies, and over a thousand mileage tests, Amoco Super-Premium got better mileage than other premiums.

When you've got a lot of money in your car, and you count on it for lots of good times, take good care of it... with Amoco gasolines.

You expect more from American and you get it.™

Alumni to play 'not so young Herd' Saturday

By ANDRE ARMSTRONG
Assistant sports editor

Marshall's Thundering Herd football squad goes on review at 8:15 Saturday at Fairfield Stadium, as Coach Jack Lengyel's second year squad goes against the former Marshall stars comprising the Alumni team.

Coaching the Alumni squad will be Claude Miller, head coach at Huntington High School and former captain of the 1948 Herd of Cam Henderson.

The Varsity will be seeking its sixth consecutive win having lost only the initial game in 1962, 13-12.

Along with receiving a preview of 1972's "not so young"

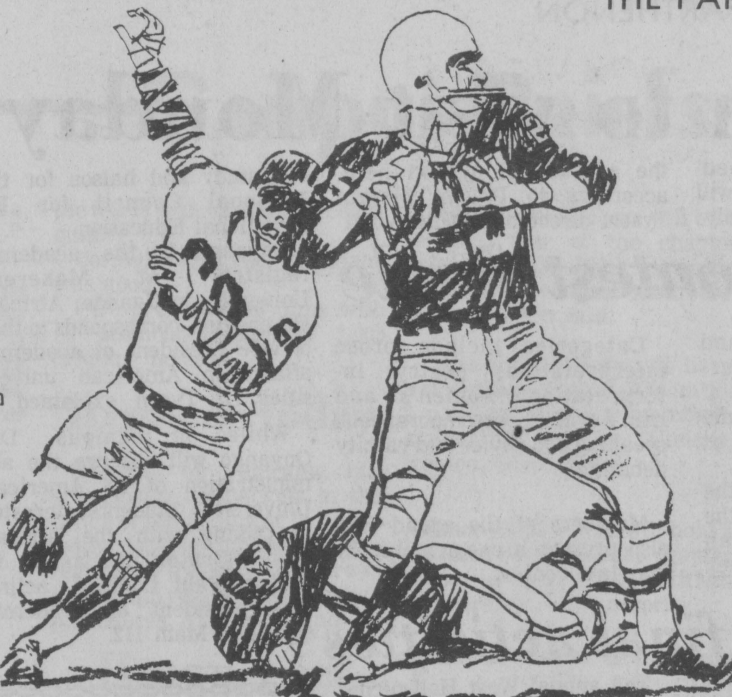

Thundering Herd, fans will also have their first opportunity to meet new Head Basketball Coach Bob Daniels.

Daniels will be introduced at the Alumni Banquet at 6 p.m. in Memorial Student Center's Multi-Purpose Room and will be introduced once again prior to the start of the game itself.

Most every player will be returning from last year's historic campaign following the Nov. 14 air crash.

Included among those returning to action are defensive standouts, Chuck Wright and Charles Henry.

On the offensive side, Reggie Oliver and Dave Walsh will probably share quarterbacking duties, with Oliver the probable starter.

Along with Oliver and Walsh in the backfield will be Terry Gardner and Ned Burks filling the tailback spots and John Johnstonbaugh at fullback.

For the Alumni, 45 grads are expected to suit up. Included among the former Herdmen are Larry Coyer, Massillon, Ohio; Todd Fugate, Zanesville, Ohio; Andy Socha, Lexington, Ky.; Bill Winter, Roanoke, Va., and John "Jabo" Williams, Bluefield.

Honorary captains for the squad are Joe Silverman and Herb Royer.

Thus far, approximately 2,000 advance tickets have been sold, which McMullen says is not enough.

Advance tickets will be sold in Gullickson Hall until 6 p.m. Saturday at $2 for adults and $1 for students. At the gate the cost will be $3 for adults and $2 for students.

SAE, Pikes, Sig Ep win softball games

Sigma Alpha Epsilon No. One intramural softball team exploded for 14 runs on 11 hits in the fifth inning in route to a 21-8 victory over Lambda Chi Alpha No. One Wednesday afternoon.

Ronnie Myers slammed two home runs and a double, Bill Bertalan hit a home run, Fred Stark, Mickey McDonald and Ralph Lauerman all connected for three hits for SAE. Richie Lambert added a triple and a single for the winners.

The SAEs collected 20 hits to the Lambda Chi's 10. Bill

Ireland hit a home run and a single for Lambda Chi.

In other intramural action, Pi Kappa Alpha No. One defeated the Forty Niners No. Ones 11-5.

Tom Davies and Steve Pauley each hit a home run for the Pikes in the 3 p.m. game.

Gary Orsini knocked in four runs including home run and a single for the 49ers.

Sigma Phi Epsilon No. Ones was out hit by Kappa Alpha No. One 9-6, but managed to defeat KA 4-2.

Baseball practice 'under water'

The Thundering Herd baseball team is one of the few baseball teams in the country that has to worry about drowning when sliding into a base.

The Herd plays its games and practices for them at Saint Cloud Commons at the west end of town. At the moment Saint Cloud is under water. It's been under water since Saturday and is usually under water during the rainy season this time of year.

"With Saint Cloud under water we have no place to practice and that's one of the reasons our hitting has been off lately," Baseball Coach Jack Cook said.

Athletic Director Joe McMullen says, "We have several problems. First we don't have much money. The legislature gave us $195,000 but we also have to build a track field. That money might pay for one of the fields but not both."

Herd to travel for OU game

Thundering Herd will travel to Athens today to take on Ohio University in a three-game series over the weekend. The Herd lost a double header Tuesday, to Miami of Ohio, 9-2, 3-1.

Coach Jack Cook said, "To beat OU we'll have to play a real good ball game. They always have a fine hitting ball club, good pitching and they play well in the field."

SAE's to host ball teams for Phi Alpha Weekend

The first annual Phi Alpha Spring Invitational Softball Tournament will be held Saturday as a part of West Virginia Alpha of Sigma Alpha Epsilon's Phi Alpha Weekend.

Eight teams will participate in the single-elimination tournament which will begin at 10:30 a.m. In addition to local chapter's teams No. 1 and No. 2, other province teams will include Bowling Green University, Kent State University, Miami University of Ohio, Ohio State and Ohio University.
