Bring on the Herd

MU "Brought on the Herd" for victory number 13.

The 18-point victory over Miami again brought the cheering fieldhouse fans to their feet many times. Fan reaction to the game appeared as varied as the people attending.

The MU student above obviously shows his excitement, while on the right that last call just didn't seem to be right.

However, an ice throwing incident at a referee at the end of the first half brought Athletic Director Joe McMullen to the public address system.

McMullen commented on the incident, the injury to the official and the fans' sportsmanship. Thursday the athletic director said he had received more than 35 phone calls at the athletic office praising his half-time announcement. He said he had received no negative responses.

The official reportedly saw the ice coming and jerked his neck, pulling a muscle. He received medical attention from the team physician. McMullen said there was some question as to whether he would be able to return for the second half.

McMullen added, "Let's not make this issue more important than the fine play of both teams. This was a small incident we think we handled real well, and we want to thank the people for their wonderful response."

McMullen said he was interested in establishing a positive attitude without hurting enthusiasm.

"Let's be as proud of Marshall's actions off the floor as we are of the team on the floor," he said.

PARIS - AP - The United States rounded out three years of fruitless peace talks Thursday by challenging Hanoi to provide information about 14 American airmen. They are believed to have landed alive in North Vietnam in the years 1965 to 1969 but never have been listed as prisoners.

North Vietnam ignored the challenge. Acting U.S. delegate Heyward Isham put the list of the 14 missing men on the table at the 141st session of the talks, which opened in Paris Jan. 25, 1969.

WASHINGTON - AP - Sen. Robert C. Byrd urged the federal Economic Development Administration Thursday not to slight West Virginia projects as it transfers its regional offices from Huntington to Philadelphia.

The agency will retain a small staff in Huntington.

Also Thursday, the senator announced that President Nixon's proposed budget for 1973 will include $13 million for construction of the Mine Health and Safety Academy in Beckley.

West Virginia received more than $7 million under the program to be used in various community improvement projects.

WASHINGTON - AP - A definitive report on the 1970 Marshall University air tragedy will be completed by the National Transportation Safety Board within a few weeks.

Board chairman John H. Reed told Congressman Ken Hechler Thursday that an exhaustive account of the causes of the crash that took 75 lives will be submitted to the Federal Aviation Administration, Hechler's House Subcommittee on Aerospace Technology and the general public sometime next month.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. - AP - A resolution calling for the athletic directors of West Virginia and Marshall Universities to meet and discuss with the Board of Regents possible scheduling of future sporting events was introduced in the House of Delegates Thursday.

The resolution, which cited a "natural and vehement rivalry" between the two schools, was sponsored by Del. Walter Rollins, D-Wayne.

WASHINGTON - AP - The West Virginia University Medical Center will receive two grants totaling $1.53 million for use in its teaching programs, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced Thursday.

An $814,336 grant is directed for continued support of the center's operation for the last year of a three-year federal program now under way there.

The other grant, totaling $716,806 is for use in aiding continuation of the West Virginia regional medical plan.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. - Numbers of Kanawha River Valley residents were sickened Thursday by fumes from a chemical spill into the river that forced a temporary evacuation of some areas and posed a fire hazard. The spill was one of three shots of noxious chemicals the already polluted river got during a 12-hour period late Wednesday and early Thursday.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. - About a dozen Mercer County unemployed veterans showed up at the capitol Thursday protesting their inability to get jobs under the emergency employment program.

The group said they were protesting Gov. Arch Moore's failure to provide

Med school assured Esposito tells press

By JOE NIECHWIADOWICZ
News editor

There will be a medical school at Marshall.

That was the comment Thursday night of Dr. Albert C. Esposito, Huntington physician and leading proponent to establish a medical school here.

Dr. Esposito addressed area newsmen at a meeting of Ohio Valley-Kanawha Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society, at River Haven near Burlington, Ohio.

Dr. Esposito also said to expect a further announcement soon on the proposed MU medical school from West Virginia Governor Arch A. Moore Jr.

The physician, speaking of opposition in the Legislature since Governor Moore announced plans for the MU medical school last week in his "State of the State" address, said he had talked with the governor and that he told him members of the Legislature were not listening to him. He said the governor said they didn't get the full facts on the med school proposal and that's why they say they can't fund it.

Esposito said there is ample federal support to get the school started. He said for every student enrolled in a medical school here the first year that MU would get $10,000.

He also said Veterans Administration has given permission for use of one wing of the Huntington VA hospital for use as a teaching center. The speakersaid the VA will help fund it.

There is a ruling of the American Medical Association that by 1975 that if there is not a medical school in the teaching program of an area that area can no longer have internships.

In further support of the medical school, the physician said three out of state physicians came to evaluate West Virginia and all three said Huntington was the best place for a medical school. He said there are 2,500 beds in Huntington hospitals—more than any other area of the state.

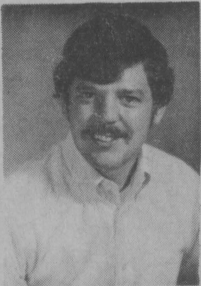

He said to start the school would have 20 to 30 students. "We would have to crawl before we walk," he said. This would mean starting with a two-year program of training on campus and then relying upon the hospitals for the rest.

Dr. Esposito said the old Shawkey Student Union on campus could be converted into a medical administration building.

Four-um is a column of comment written by the four The Parthenon news editors.

Libber, keep face

Far be it for me to knock Women's Liberation! Where would all the eligible bachelors be without liberated women?

Who am I to knock the banning of the bra or the discarding of the girdle? I believe these to be one of the greatest boons to "girl watching" since the creation of the mini-skirt.

What other "sport" is so widely accepted in all corners of the world and practiced by so many? There is none, and for this reason I would like to comment on the most relevant issue since Adam and Eve.

The role of the woman has changed during the centuries. Once upon a time women were treated as equals and worked along with the men, then we created labor laws to "protect" them and children from unfair treatment by employers.

Admittedly, times have changed and women once again wish to seek equal opportunity with men, along with equalsalary. This is good. Women should receive equal pay and the same right to advancement as the man for the same amount of work.

Women should have a lot of the same privileges as man for equal work, but they don't. And I empathize with them on discrimination as only a long-haired college student could. There are wrongs being done and I cheer them on to see these discriminations cast out of society.

But, Women Libbers, let us for but a moment escape into the world of reality where society is not always the way we would like it to be.

There is discrimination, women are treated according to their sex, and there is often discrimination against women, and for women? Yes girls, and for women. Who is to know the number of girls who have gotten jobs or maintained jobs through the winking of an eye or a short skirt? How many topless male dancers are there?

The topic of sexual discrimination for and against women are numerous and to go on would be an endless struggle against some of the most talkative people in the world.

Women Libbers, to you I say, some women don't want equality, they believe they have been far superior for such a long period that it would be hard for them to step down to mere equality.

We notice, without going into detail, that the women's rights group on Marshall's campus is planning a Women's Week from Jan. 24-29. Women, I advise you to take part in finding out the role of women in the future.

One of the topics to be discussed is divorce inequality, according to Ms. Rita Martorella, Huntington graduate student. Ms. Martorella, this is for you. I have witnessed several divorces and contacted various lawyers and I find the women usually come out with the best deal. Perhaps, if you doubt the words of a male, ask the second wife of the divorced man. She can far better tell you if divorce inequalities than I, a lawyer, or anyone else.

But, other than being a male chauvinist, (I once had a subscription to Playboy), I don't want to see women without their "faces on!"

So, here's three cheers for eyeliner, make-up, rouge, hair curlers, eye shadow and lipstick. Rah! Rah! Rah!

Three cheers for mini-skirts, see-through blouses, clinging satin and plunging necklines. Rah! Rah! Rah!

Women of the world, UNITE, save yourself, a specter is haunting you, the specter of Women's Liberation. Save yourselves, for some of us male chauvinist pigs who adore you the way you are.

Missionary-nurse relates 15 years service in India

By RALPH CAUDILL
Feature writer

In today's world it is difficult to find someone who is devoted to the church and the welfare of the people. Not only the people of the United States, but the people of other countries as well.

Wanda Burcham is this type of person. She has served as a missionary in India for three five-year terms and says, "I believe God led me there and as long as He keeps leading me there I will stay."

A Huntington native, Miss Burcham attended West Junior High School and graduated from Huntington High School. She later received a BS degree in chemistry from Bryan College in Dayton, Tenn., and then proceeded to take nurses training at the Kentucky Baptist Hospital, Louisville, Ky., where she graduated in 1953.

Miss Burcham says she first became interested in missionary work while in college. "I wasn't held down by anything here and felt free to go."

Miss Burcham served her first term as missionary from 1953 to 1958. During this term she learned the Indian language, Telugu. "It took me about two years to learn the language," she related.

She also did village dispensary work and touring during her first term as missionary.

The village dispensary work was mainly concerned with treating vitamin deficiencies. Touring consisted of moving around among the people and living in tents for between one and two weeks.

Miss Burcham's second term, 1960-65, was primarily concerned with teaching English and science in the Telugu language. "I helped primary middle school, grades 1-8, for Indian children at a boarding school mainly for Indian pastors' children."

However, the real challenge of Miss Burcham's missionary work came during her third term. During this term, 1966-71, her work was associated with a Leprosy clinic.

According to Miss Burcham, approximately one to two percent, 5-10 million, of India's population has leprosy (Hansens Disease).

"The area where I have been, Cherial Village, with a population of 10,000 and located near Hyderabad City, the capitol of Andhra Pradesh, has a quite high incidence of the disease," she said.

There are between two and three thousand leprosy patients in three centers, according to Miss Burcham.

"It is possible for patients to be cured by taking a Sulfone Drug called Dapsone. Large amounts of drugs are supplied by the state government. They get it through the World Health Organization," she added.

"Patients are of all ages and walks of life. Most of them live at home and do what work they are able to, depending upon how much damage they have received from the disease."

While in India Miss Burcham arranged for an Indian boy to take six months training for para-medical work. He is now running one of the clinics in her absence. She hopes to be able to train more of the same.

She was also able to have one villager trained to make special shoes which may be required by some of the leprosy patients.

Musical opens Artist Series

'Company' opens tonight

By LINDA GRIST CREWE
Special events editor

"Company," the multiple award-winning musical still running in New York, will open 8:30 p.m. tonight at the Keith-Albee Theater as the first Artists Series production of the semester.

The musical comedy which centers around the escapades of an eligible bachelor and his married friends comes to Huntington as part of its 70-city national tour. The play won the New York Drama Critics' Circle Award in 1970 for best musical and the 1971 Tony Award for best musical of the season.

Allen Case and Julie Wilson head the cast of 14. Case is the young, attractive bachelor, Robert, who is constantly pressured by his married friends to give up bachelorhood for marriage. Miss Wilson plays the thrice married sophisticate, Joanne, whose interest in Robert is not all platonic.

Case's theatrical career began almost accidentally while he was studying economics at Southern Methodist University and was singing on a Dallas TV station to pay for his studies.

Encouraged by his success there, he traveled to New York to appear on the Arthur Godfrey Talent Scouts program. He won easily and remained on the show for five weeks. Case sings in nightclubs as well as performing on stage and television.

Case's first major stage appearance as the romantic lead in the touring company of Harold Prince's musical hit, "Damn Yankees," was followed with a role in "Once Upon a Mattress" opposite Carol Burnett. He has also appeared in a revival of "South Pacific" at the New York City Center.

Case has appeared in two major TV series including long-running "The Deputy" co-starring Henry Fonda. He also co-starred as Frank James in "The Legend of Jesse James."

Students who have not obtained free tickets for "Company" may do so by presenting valid second semester activity cards between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. today at the Keith-Albee Theater inner box office. All seats are reserved and students must present ID cards with tickets at the door.

READERS' Viewpoint

Student appalled with AD's reprimand of Marshall fans

To the editor:

I want to express my embarrassment at the poor sportsmanship shown in the form of ice throwing at the Marshall-Miami game. I was one of the 5000 booing, but I was appalled when I learned of the incident. It certainly makes Marshall and Huntington look bad in the eyes of our opponents.

Something else that made Marshall and Huntington look bad was Athletic Director Joe McMullen's speech of apology and wrath. Mr. McMullen publicly scolded 6500 adults like they were children. He did it before a hushed and attentive audience of fans at the Field House, radio listeners all over the state and television watchers within the reaches of WMUL.

If, as Mr. McMullen said, there was only one person throwing ice, why was it necessary to lecture 6500 fans plus fans across West Virginia? Wouldn't it have been much better to have sought out the guilty party and had him arrested? Wouldn't it have been better to have warned the fans of their misconduct and to have left off the scolding? Instead, we were all treated to a sermon.

Why didn't Mr. McMullen make a statewide speech when Coach McGuire spouted out obscenities and insults in Milwaukee? Why is it that Mr. McMullen insists on making every incident at an athletic contest the responsibility of every citizen of the state, when the culprit is usually a drunk gone berserk?

I personally thought that Mr. McMullen was hired to be athletic director, not keeper of the moral code.

I have not noticed any improvement in conduct or lessening of violence at athletic contests since Mr. McMullen began his public apologies in The Parthenon, other newspapers and now on radio and television.

To summarize, I feel ashamed that certain incidents have occurred at Marshall athletic contests. But something that puzzles me is that if one student robs a store or if a citizen of Huntington is charged with the rape of an MU coed, one person is to blame. But when one person throws ice and hits an official at a ball game it is everyone's fault. Mr. McMullen, Marshall fans are conscious of the beserk nut in the stands and when they can they try to stop him. But some things are beyond prevention. Marshall has been on its knees before the Mid-American Conference so many times. Isn't it time we stopped punishing ourselves?

Why 696-6696 line?

Q. Why did they switch coverage for athletic events from WGNT to WKEE?

A. Joseph McMullen, athletic director, said the decision was mostly financial. After checking the coverage of the stations WKEE covers a larger geographical area and with WKEE they pay for their own traveling expenses.

Q. Why are towns people sitting in the student sections at basketball games?

A. McMullen noted that student tickets are saved until 1 p.m. on the day of the game. After that they are put on public sale for anyone. He also noted that 700 tickets were left for Wednesday's home game.

Q. Why did students have such awful seats at the Morris Harvey game? How are the seats for the Ohio University game?

A. McMullen was as displeased with his seat as any of the students and said when the contract with Morris Harvey comes up, they will put a stipulation about seats in it. He does not know about the seats for the Ohio game.

Q. We received a letter from a student who asked where the buffalo head that used to hang in the old student union is. He also asked, "Has 1947 been forgotten?"

A. The buffalo head was stolen from the old union while the personnel at the center were thinking of a place they could put it. The year 1947 has not been forgotten and there are hopes the head will be returned, according to W. Don Morris, Student Center director.

Q. What is going to happen to the old cafeteria?

A. Mr. Peters, vice president for business, said that the Old Cafeteria is part of the housing and dining bond indenture and can only be used for the purpose for which it was built. Wood and Tower are making their study and future plans are not available. It has been used for dances and a bookstore but these are only temporary arrangements for convenience not harmful to the building.

Q. What format will summer school be taking this summer?

A. Robert H. Eddins, registrar, said summer school will be run on the same format as last summer. The first five-week term will be June 12 to July 15. The second will be July 17 to Aug. 18. Maximum number of hours a student may take per semester summer term is six.

Q. When and how is it determined if first year faculty are rehired?

A. Dr. Donald N. Dedmon, vice president for academic affairs, said department chairman evaluate instructors and then make recommendations to their academic deans. Faculty are notified by March as whether or not they are to be rehired. Faculty are employed with the idea they are to continue at Marshall University unless they are hired specifically under a one year contract, he said.

Special reading course offered to aid students

A special, non-credit course will be offered for Marshall University students who wish to further develop their reading and study skills.

Associate Professor of Education and Director of the Reading program Dr. Taylor E. Turner said, "emphasis will be placed on reading comprehension, vocabulary, speed, and study skills."

Students may enroll for the course Monday through Thursday of next week with Miss Florence Davis in room B11 Lab School, or Miss Peggy Jarrett, 19B Old Main.

Seminar times, topics announced

Director of University Honors Program, Eric Thorn, has announced times and topics for Honors Seminars this semester. The Freshman, Interdisciplinary Honors Seminar will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays from 11-12:15 in the Honors Lounge, Northcott room 209.

The Upper Division Interdisciplinary Seminar will meet Wednesdays at 6:30 p.m. in the Honors Lounge.

According to Thorn, associate professor of English, the topic of discussion for the Freshman Seminar this semester will be "The 800th Life Time." This deals with the exploration and rate of change characteristic of contemporary world and implications of this on individual, group and society as a whole, both in the present and future. The Upper Division Honors Seminar will be coordinated by Dr. Maurice Sill of the Sociology Department. They will be concerned with the problem of cities, urbanism and city planning.

Both seminars expect to have off-campus speakers from among leading authorities on relevant areas, Thorn said.

Both students and faculty who are interested in the program are invited to attend meetings and participate, as long as room exists in the Honors Lounge, Thorn added.

Dr. Joseph LaCasca, chairman of the Department of Economics, has been included in the 1972 edition of "International Scholars Directory." He is presently on leave and teaching at the University of Vera Cruz, Mexico.

Officer initiation in February

Panhell outlines plans

By CANDY KEYSER
Staff reporter

Open bids, a rush workshop, and initiation of officers are the current plans of the Panhellenic Council.

Open bids are being given out this week and will continue to be given out next week. Informal rush is being planned for next week if necessary, according to Susan L. Martin, Panhellenic president and Bridgeport senior.

Panhellenic president-elect, Jane E. Renner, Parkersburg junior said she plans to have a rush workshop in February. Past national president of Kappa Delta Sorority, Mrs. Pat Merrill, Richmond, Va., area advisor for West Virginia, Virginia and North Carolina has been asked to attend and advise the workshop.

In November Miss Renner represented MU Panhellenic at the National Undergraduate Panhellenic Conference, Scottsdale, Ariz.

There she met national officers from every sorority on the MU campus and exchanged ideas with collegiate members across the country.

Panhellenic has been asked to sponsor a speaker for Greek Week in April, according to Miss Renner. Financial situations permitting, Panhellenic hopes to have John Putnam, national president of Alpha Tau Omega.

Panhellenic officers will be initiated Feb. 9 at the Delta Zeta house.

They are, president, Jane Renner, Parkersburg junior of Delta Zeta; vice president, Rosanne Wright, Huntington junior of Sigma Kappa; secretary, Susan Lilly, Beckley senior of Alpha Xi Delta; and treasurer, Debbie Koontz,

Offices are housed in renovated space

Once again Old Main has received a shot in the arm. This time it is in the form of a new Credit Office, Security Office and Faculty Mail Room.

The new additions have been moved from their other locations in Old Main to the basement area which once housed the MU Bookstore.

The mail room, which went into operation Dec. 28, is larger and more convenient than the previous area and contains new equipment. The equipment from the old room has been distributed among the various university departments.

On Jan. 10 the Security Department moved into its new headquarters. According to Capt. Paul K. Bloss, head of Campus police, the new location will enable the Security Staff to provide better service to the students. As a result of the move a larger staff may be employed.

The new additions were six weeks in construction and as of this time no cost figures have been released.

Senior portraits slated

Senior pictures will again be taken for the 1972 Chief Justice Feb. 7 to 11. Any senior is eligible to be photographed.

Appointments for portrait sittings must be made at the Chief Justice office BW31, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Jan. 24 through Jan. 28.

Due to complaints about last semester's portrait schedule,

Six elected by Sig Eps

Thursday's times have been altered as follows: Photos will be taken from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. These hours on Feb. 10 will be limited to seniors who are unable to be on campus during regular school hours.

On other days the sittings will run from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. A $2 sitting fee will be required at the time the portrait is taken.

Kenneth Lynn, Charleston senior and senior section editor, explained the purpose of the revised scheduling, saying,

"We are trying this year to have every senior's picture in the year book." Lynn went on to say that success will depend on the seniors themselves.

According to Connie Byrd, Charleston senior and business manager, "We had more seniors photographed first semester than in both the previous semesters. We're hoping to double last year's number, but it's up to the students."

Since appointments will be made on a first come, first served basis, seniors are advised to sign up early during the week of Jan. 24.

When you go to the movies you always see the "coming attractions" before the picture you came to see. Don't the "attractions" always look like they're going to be dynamite flicks, or is it just because the best scenes are shown to draw in customers when it does play?

Well, Wednesday's encounter with Miami University (Ohio) could very well be a "coming attraction" also. For everyday, Mid-American Conference membership looks a little closer for Marshall.

But the question is...was the win over Miami a "coming attraction" too? Will the Herd be able to consistently win in the MAC? Can MU win another championship in the MAC, like in the 1955-56 season?

The answer should be yes. If it's not, why should Marshall rejoin? Why be a member of a conference when you have no hopes of ever taking all the marbles? If this was the case MU should apply to the Big Ten and the Pacific Eight for membership.

However, it's extremely unlikely that this will be the case.

To bring things into focus, let's compare Marshall's basketball statistics to the MAC teams' and see where the Thundering Herd and the individual basketball players would rank in the conference statistics.

Marshall would be leading the conference with a perfect 3-0 record, having beaten Miami, Western Michigan and Ohio. Instead, Ohio is leading the conference with a 3-0 mark.

Marshall would also be leading the loop in scoring with an average of 95.5 points per contest. Toledo is the actual league leader with an average of 82.1 points per game. However, Marshall would be next to last in the standings in team defense.

Miami leads

The league leader, coincidentally is Miami of Ohio. Going into the loss to Marshall, the Redskins had been yielding only an average of 68.0 points per game. Next comes Toledo, then Kent State, then Western Michigan, and right ahead of the Herd would be Ohio yielding 77.3 points a game. Marshall would rank only ahead of Bowling Green's 86.2 points allowed per game, as the Herd is yielding 77.7 points a game.

However, the Big Green would lead the pack in field goal percentage. The Herd is hitting 45.9 per cent of its field goal attempts, which would place it ahead of Toledo's 45.5 shooting mark.

But, the Herd's inability to hit from the charity stripe is apparent when contrasted with the free throw percentages of the MAC teams.

In this category, the Herd would rank dead last in the conference with a free throw shooting mark of 66.4 per cent.

Kent State leads the conference in free throwing shooting with a 73.7 mark.

MU bounds

However, Marshall would far and away lead the MAC pack in rebounding with an average of 55.5 per game. Toledo is the actual leader with an average of 50.6 rebounds per game.

The Herd would also place several players in the individual categories.

Russell Lee would rank second in scoring with a 22.8 point average. The leader is Toledo center Tom Kozelko with 26.3 points per game. Mike D'Antoni would be fifth in scoring with a 18.1 point average. Randy Noll would rank sixth with 17.1 points per game, and Ty Collins would be 11th with an average of 14.3 points per game.

In field goal percentage, Collins would be third in the MAC with a 54.0 mark. Charlie Sidwell of Western Michigan leads in accuracy with a 56.8 mark.

D'Antoni would be seventh with a 48.9 mark, and Noll would rank ninth with a 48.0 mark.

Noll and Lee would be second and third in rebounding in the MAC with an average of 12.0 and 11.5 respectively. The leader would be Toledo's Kozelko with 12.9 rebounds per game.

D'Antoni would be fifth in the league in free throw shooting percentage with an 80.3 mark. Kent State's Ruben Vance leads the way with an 84.8 percentage.

Hmmmm...MU pulled three out of five firsts in team statistics, and two seconds and two thirds in individual statistics.

Wonder if the MAC teams would want MU back if they pondered over these statistics?

And just for the record...good-night Eastern and Central Michigan, where ever you are.

Lamar casting his own shadow

LAFAYETTE, La. - (AP) - The fact that he's college basketball's leading scorer comes as no great surprise to Dwight Lamar, although he was overshadowed by two teammates in high school.

Lamar's 34.9 average has been a key reason for Southwestern Louisiana jumping off to an 11-1 record and No. 12 ranking in the nation.

If he keeps it up, Lamar will become the first player to lead the nation in scoring in both the small college and major college ranks. He averaged 36 points last season before Southwestern moved up from the college division to university status in basketball.

But as a high school guard, the college scouts overlooked Lamar in droves. They came to see Eddie Ratliff, now a standout for Long Beach State, and Nick Connors, a star at Illinois. They just didn't pay much attention to Lamar.

"My size probably got everybody thinking against me as far as college basketball is concerned," said Lamar, who has grown from under 6 feet to 6-1.

Southwestern Coach Beryl Shipley, who can congratulate himself for the subconscious foresight to give Lamar a scholarship, admits he wasn't too impressed with the slim guard when he first saw him. Like everybody else, Shipley had visited East High School in Columbus, Ohio, to woo Ratliff and Connors. He says he gave Lamar a scholarship partially in hopes that would encourage the other two to come to Southwestern.

RUSSELL LEE moved into fifth place in the all-time Marshall scoring list but it wasn't easy. The Boston "hot shot" caught an elbow in the first half and after minor repairs continued his assault on the record books. Lee's 22 points (1,555 for career) moved him ahead of Charlie Slack. Penn wins

Calhoun has a ball

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press sports writer

"In 17 years of basketball coaching," said Penn's Chuck Daly, "I never gave a player a game ball."

Daly's streak ended Wednesday night.

He presented his first "game ball" to Corky Calhoun, one of the stars of 10th ranked Penn's 74-64 revenge victory over 15th-rated Villanova.

The 6-7, 210 pound Calhoun, one of the tallest backcourtmen in the nation, earned the ball by scoring 20 points on nine of 13 field goal attempts and two of four free throws. He also had four assists and four rebounds.

Penn, seeking to avenge last year's 90-47 humiliating setback to Villanova in the NCAA Eastern Regional Tournament, had worked the past week on trying to get the ball inside to Calhoun against the Wildcats' 1-2-2 zone defense. The practice paid off as Calhoun, often a reluctant shooter, played one of the best games of his three-year varsity career.

Actually, Phil Hankinson led the Quakers with 24 points, but Calhoun's scoring outburst and over-all play were the keys.

Penn fell behind by nine points early in the first half, but held the Wildcats to one field goal in the last 10 minutes of the half and pulled ahead for good 32-29 at intermission.

The emotion-packed triumph gave Penn a 10-2 record. Villanova fell to 11-3.

Meanwhile, second ranked Marquette remained unbeaten, trimming Chicago Loyola 80-70 for its 13th victory of the season and its 66th in a row at the Milwaukee Arena. Jim Chones led the Warriors with 20 points.

Despite the victory, Marquette Coach Al McGuire was unhappy. "We're going to have a long talk tomorrow (Thursday), he said. "We haven't had a meeting in about three years. They're not men yet, they don't show enough fear."

North Carolina, rated third, jumped to a 20-3 lead against Wake Forest and cruised to a 92-77 victory, its 12th in 13 games. Bob McAdoo topped the Tar Heels with 22 points.

Fifth-ranked South Carolina overcame a 17-point deficit for the second consecutive game and ended Niagara's 12-game winning streak with an 80-69 triumph over the Purple Eagles. The Gamecock's Kevin Joyce poured in 33 points, 26 in the second half, while 7-foot Danny Traylor grabbed 20 rebounds and blocked nine shots. Florida State, the No. 11 team, posted its ninth successive victory and 14th in 16 games, overwhelming South Alabama 105-72. Rowland Garrett scored a career high 24 points for the Seminoles.

Abilene Christian hiked its record to 12-2, defeating the Air Force 76-70 with five free throws, including three technicals, in the final minute. Toledo made it 11-2, riddling Bowling Green 76-53 in a Mid-American Conference clash.

Providence, with Marvin Barnes scoring 28 points and hauling in 22 rebounds, won its 10th game in 12 starts, beating Fairfield 87-75.

Elsewhere, it was: Dayton 76, Cincinnati 60; Duke 86, Canisius 58; Clemson 74, Furman 72; Ohio University 88, Virginia Tech 79; North Texas State 74, Wichita State 63; Penn State 83, Gettysburg 53; Pittsburgh 91, Bucknell 67; and The Citadel 86, Arkansas State 48.

Herd's 14th?

Falcons next foe

By CHUCK LANDON
Sports editor

Marshall will try to extend its winning ways and better its 16th ranking Saturday when it travels to Bowling Green, Ohio, to play the Falcons of Bowling Green State University.

The Herd will be seeking its 14th win against two losses, while Bowling Green sports a 2-9 record.

Bowling Green leads the series with 20 wins over the Herd against only 16 losses. Marshall hasn't defeated the Falcons at BG since Jan. 7, 1967, when MU won 79-74.

Coach Carl Tacy isn't taking BG lightly, however.

"Bowling Green's record isn't an indication of their skills," he commented. "Bowling Green has played well, but have faced a tough schedule as well."

The Falcons, who have been plagued with injuries and a lack of height, have beaten Ball

State, 104-89 and St. Bonaventure, 87-84. BG's losses have been to the likes of Dayton, Marquette, Cincinnati, Stanford, Niagara, Detroit, Ohio and Miami.

Top scorer for coach Pat Haley's outfit is sixth man Dalynn Badenhop. The 6-5 junior guard, forward and center is averaging 15.7 points per game while coming off the bench.

Also in double figures for BG are 6-2 junior guard Jeff Lessig, averaging 13.4 points per game; 6-5 junior forward Tom Scott, averaging 13.4 points, and 6-6 sophomore center Brian Scanlan, who average 10 points and 6.4 rebounds per game. Scott leads the Falcons rebounders with an average of 6.6 rebounds per game.

Other starters for Bowling Green are 6-6 junior forward Le Henson and 5-10 junior guard Al Russ.

Oglesby on critical list

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Larry Harris, a former forward for West Virginia University's basketball team who was capable of breaking open a game with long-range shots, was killed near here Wednesday when his car smashed into a bridge abutment on Interstate 79.

WVU forward Sam Oglesby, was critically injured in the crash and underwent more than five hours of surgery at University Hospital late Wednesday and early Thursday. Oglesby had been excused from practice Wednesday because of an injury he received in a Tuesday game.

Harris, 21, a native of Charleston, was killed instantly at about 4:15 p. m. Wednesday, a coroner said.

Oglesby, 22, suffered head and back injuries. The tragedy struck hard at the basketball team which has been beset by problems since Harris and guard Levi Phillips were declared academically ineligible two weeks ago. Since then the Mountaineers' record has fallen from 5-0 to 7-3.

Oglesby remained in serious condition Thursday following the surgery which took more than five hours.

Officials said Harris' body had been taken to the Preston Funeral Home in Charleston where funeral services are tentatively scheduled for next Monday.

Following a meeting today, Coach Sonny Moran said his team would play Saturday night at Davidson.

"All of us were shocked and saddened by the tragic death of Larry Harris," he said. "Those close to Larry knew he had more than his share of misfortune and sorrow in his short life."

"My deepest sympathy goes out to his parents and legal guardian. We pray that Sam Oglesby will have a complete recovery."

School officials said Harris and Oglesby were enroute to Clarksburg to have dinner with a friend or relative of Harris when the accident occurred.

Frosh fall below .500

By ANDRE ARMSTRONG

Jumping off to an early 10-4 lead by hitting its first five shots from the field, Morehead dropped the Marshall freshmen below the .500 per cent mark for the first time this season, winning 101-89 Wednesday night at Memorial Field House.

Boosting its record to 5-2, Morehead placed five players in double figures with Glen Turner and Arch Johnson scoring 24 and 23 points respectively.

Leading scorer for the little Herd was Chuck Jackson with 6. He also grabbed 19 rebounds in the losing effort.

Frank Austin also eclipsed the 20-point barrier for MU, garnering 22 total points while also nabbing 12 rebounds.

Falling behind by 20 points early in the game, the Marshall frosh came back strong toward the end of the first half, closing the gap to four at halftime with four of the Morehead starts on the bench.

Returning to action the second half, the Morehead five burned the nets at 57.6 per cent clip, enabling them to break the century mark.

Hitting a fine 52.6 per cent of its own, the little Herd equaled its season high of 89 points, which it recorded in a win over Rio Grande.

In the end, the difference occurred at the foul line as MU was out goaled by only one from the floor, but wound up 10 short at the charity line.

While coming up on the losing end in the final score, Marshall did manage to win the battle of the boards 50-42, but it couldn't cash in on the extra caroms.

Dropping its fourth game in a row, leaving it 3-4 on the year, the freshmen squad will attempt to break its losing skid Saturday at Bluefield against Bluefield State.
