Third time's the charm. Bring on the Herd!

'Herding East'

Loyal fans rallying today to 'send off the Herd'

DAVE BILLUPS

Staunch Marshall Basketball supporters will be "Herding" to New York's Madison Square Garden this weekend to welcome and "Bring on the Herd."

The Thundering Herd's departure will be highlighted by a unified pep rally at 5 p.m. today at Gullickson Hall as students and fans will band together to "Send Off the Herd."

Marshall has appeared twice before in the NIT, in 1967 and '68. Local fans and loyal students are flocking to New York City in hopes of seeing the old adage "The Third Time The Charm" come true for the Marshall Big Green.

MU will meet the (Conn.) University of Fairfield Stags at 3 p.m. Sunday. The Game will be televised by WSAZ-TV, Channel 3 in Huntington beginning at 3 p.m. and over WKEE radio beginning at 2:15 p.m. with "Coaches' Corner" for those fans who couldn't attend in person.

Herd has better statistics

Marshall's Thundering Herd will put its 20-6 regular season record in front of the nation Sunday, when it takes on Fairfield University in the first round of the National Invitational Tournament in New York City's Madison Square Garden at 3 p.m.

Fairfield brings a 17-8 record into the NIT. The Stags of Fairfield, Conn., will be in their first post-season in five years.

The big question for both the Herd and Stags may be whether the teams can return to regular season form after long layoffs. Marshall will have been idle for 17 days after closing its season on March 1 with a 77-64 win over Samford, while the Stags played last on March 5.

"If our team comes back and plays like it did the last part of the season, I'm real confident," said Bob Daniels, the first year Marshall coach who has now taken his team to a post-season event every year he has been a head coach.

"But," cautions the Herd coach, "at the same time I know if we do anything less, then we could lose to a lot of people. There are a lot of teams that could overpower us. We just hope to play like we are capable of playing."

Fairfield's lineup

Fairfield's compiled its record against a tough eastern schedule with teams like Detroit, St. Bonaventure, and South Carolina being a few of the feature attractions. The Stags are coached by Fred Barakat, now in this third year at the school.

Fairfield's probable line-up finds 6-2 George Groom and 6-1 John Ryan at guards, Ralph Rehn and Phil Rogers at forwards, and 6-9 Dave Bradley at the center slot. Groom is one of the two seniors on the team with Ryan and Bradley being juniors and Rehn and Rogers sophomores.

Groom, the Stags' all-time leading scorer, is their prime offensive threat with an 18.6 average. Rogers follows with a 12.7 mark and is the leading rebounder with a 7.7 average.

Rehn averages 8.0; Bradley 7.2 and Ryan 3.9. Ryan has 234 assists this year and is only nine shy of the New England season record. The top sub is 6-3 sophomore forward Ray Kelly with a 13.6 scoring average.

Fairfield, with a 7-5 record at midseason, ripped off six straight wins to send its tourney hopes soaring. The Stags ended their season by splitting their last four games.

Herd cagers

For the Herd, winners of the last eight including wins at Oral Roberts, Florida State, and Miami, will be the five that have started since the eight game of the year.

Daniel's team this season featured a well-balanced, high scoring attack with all five starters in double figures. Marshall scored 82.7 points per game to the opponent's 74.1.

Leading scorer and rebounder for the Huntington, W. Va., crew is 6-8 forward Randy Noll, a senior from Covington, Ky. Noll averages 19.5 points and 12.1 rebounds and is a 47 per cent shooter from the field.

The other forward is 6-4 senior Bill James of Scottsburg, Ind. James, shooting 52 per cent, takes a 15.4 average into the NIT.

Marshall's attack feature a pair of 6-3 guards in Ty Collins and Mike D'Antoni. Collins, an outstanding shooter (50.8 per cent) from Patterson, N.J., averages 14.8 D'Antoni of Mullens, W. Va., is the all-time assist leader for MU.

He has totaled 221 this season while averaging 13.9 points.

Wayne Smith, 6-7 junior from Milwaukee, starts in the pivot with a 10.1 average. He has made 55 per cent of his field goals.

The leading substitutes include Greg Imperi, a 6-3 guard, 6-0 freshman Joe Hickman, 6-3 sophomore Eric Bachelor, and 6-5 forward Frank Austin.

The back-up center is 6-8 freshman Kim Humphreys.

MU's second straight post-season tourney

For Marshall this will be the second straight year for a post-season tournament. The Thundering Herd, 23-4 last season, lost in the first round of the NCAA Midwest Regional Tournament to Southwestern Louisiana, 112-101.

Herd may meet Mountaineers

By JULIE MERCER
News editor

The possibility of the Thundering Herd basketball team meeting the Mountaineers of West Virginia University in the near future is changing from wishful thinking to reality.

At a special meeting Wednesday in Parkersburg, West Virginia University student body president Ben Borsay and newly elected MU student body president Steve Bloom signed a statement of intention to be released to the media.

Hoping for some positive feedback, the statement calls for either a pre-season or post-season exhibition basketball game between West Virginia University and Marshall to take place at the Charleston Civic Center during the '73-'74 season.

Proceeds, the new presidents decided, would go to charity.

Bloom and Borsay both expressed the need for unity between the two state universities, "especially in athletics," said Borsay.

"Hopefully the public will agree with our decision and plans will become a reality," Borsay added.

North Central to re-evaluate MU

By NANCY DYE
Staff reporter

The accreditation team of The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools will arrive on campus Sunday for a four day review of Marshall's facilities and programs.

Marshall hopes to be removed from private probation by the North Central Association after the team's report is submitted to the association's Commission on Institutions of Higher Education. The commission will review the report in a meeting in Chicago, July 17-18.

Marshall was placed on private probation following a 1969 visit by a North Central Association accreditation team.

Monday, before examining the campus, the team will meet with President John G. Barker and three vice presidents. At 4 p.m. Monday team members will meet with the Marshall Advisory Board. A dinner with staff members and faculty is scheduled at 5:30 p.m. in special dining room, of Memorial Student Center.

Tuesday at 10 a.m. Dr. Morton W. Weir, vice chancellor for academic affairs at the University of Illinois and chairman of the team, will participate in a press conference with Dr. Barker in the WMUL-TV studios.

Inspection of the campus will continue through Tuesday and Wednesday.

Members of the team will also meet with West Virginia Board of Regents, Chancellor Prince Woodard and Dr. F.L. Blair, regents president.

Also, team members will talk informally with students in such places as the student center according to Dr. William K. Easley, vice president for academic affairs.

Members of the team include Dr. Morton W. Weir, Dr. Donald B. Johnson, professor of political science at the University of Iowa;

Dr. Louis McBee, dean of students at the University of Georgia; and Dr. Jack Stillinger, professor of English at the University of Illinois. Other members are: Dr. Walter S. Guthman, chairman of the department of Chemistry at Roosevelt University; Dr. Warren Lovinger, president of Central Missouri State College; Dr. Paige Molohan, associate dean of the college of arts and sciences at Kansas State University; and Dr. Donald O. Rod, director of library services at the University of Northern Iowa.

Many obvious improvements have been made in Marshall's programs and facilities since the last accreditation on team was here in 1969.

These are discussed in the Self-Study report.

Improvements include increased library facilities, a continued rise in the Marshall budget, and the Wood and Tower plan for physical expansion.

Afro week begins Sunday

Marshall's third annual Afro-Culture Week begins Sunday, with events scheduled throughout the week.

Beginning at 3 p.m. Sunday in Smith Music Hall will be a performance by the Wooten Choral Ensemble of Chicago.

Headlining events Sunday evening will be Wali Muhammad, a Black Muslim speaker from Columbus, Ohio. Muhammad will speak in Memorial Student Center Multi-Purpose Room at 8 p.m.

On Monday Voices, Inc. of New York, revisits Marshall's campus to present "Martin and Malcolm," at 8 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room.

Called the "princess of black poetry," Nikki Giovanni will top the list of Thursday's activities, reading selections from her works at 8 p.m., also in the Multi-Purpose Room.

Afro-Culture Week events will continue Wednesday with the movie "Martin Luther King: From Montgomery to Memphis," beginning at 8 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room.

"How Black History Affects Our Thinking Today" will be the topic of a talk in the Multi-Purpose Room at 8 p.m. Thursday.

The current president of the Southern Political Association, Dr. Samuel Dubois Cook of Duke University, will be the guest lecturer Friday. Sponsored by the Department of Political Science, Dr. Cook will speak on "The Political Dimensions of Black Liberation" at 1 p.m. in Smith Hall Room 154. An informal question-and-answer period for those interested will follow in the faculty lounge on the eighth floor of Smith Hall.

Speaking again at 8 p.m. in Smith Hall Room 154, Dr. Cook's address will be titled "Oppressed Minorities in the American Political System and Social Order."

Black United Students will sponsor the Afro Ball on Saturday to wrap-up Afro-Culture Week events. The Ball will be at the A.D. Lewis Center from 10 p.m. until 2 a.m. and will feature music by the Black Light Experience from Bluefield.

'Blondie's' artist dies at 72

CLEARWATER, FLA. (AP) — Cartoonist Murat B. "Chic" Young, creator of the "Blondie" comic strip, has died at 72 of a pulmonary embolism.

The everyday problems of the humble, homespun Bumsteads - Blondie and Dagwood - are followed by an estimated 75 million readers daily. For some 40 years the strip has appeared in more than 1,600 newspapers worldwide and is syndicated in 60 foreign countries.

In New York, a spokesman for King Features said the comic strip will continue despite Young's death Wednesday, since he has had collaborators for a number of years. The spokesman said Jim Raymond has been drawing the strip for the past 25 years, while Young supplied the story line, and that Young's son, Dean, has been working with his father on the plot line for the past 10 years.

Nixon challenges Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon today challenged the Senate to a Supreme Court test over his refusal to allow his legal counsel, John W. Dean III, to testify at the confirmation hearing of L. Patrick Gray III to head the FBI.

Such a challenge could prove to be a major test of the doctrine of "executive privilege," which has been used by presidents throughout the nation's history to protect information considered privileged under the constitutional separation of the executive and other branches of government.

Nixon said he had heard speculation that the Senate might hold Gray as "hostage" until Dean testifies.

The President said he did not believe the reports that the committee would act this way.

Abortion bill in legislature

CHARLESTON (AP)

—The first abortion bill of the current session, introduced Wednesday, would prohibit discrimination against any woman who refuses an abortion.

The bill, by Sen. H. Darnell Darby, D-Wayne, would prohibit any state or federal agency including welfare departments from cutting off funds to a woman who refused an abortion. It also would apply to discrimination against a hospital or clinic refusing to perform abortions.

UK historian to speak

Dr. Holman Hamilton, distinguished historian, author and educator, will be the Marshall University History

DR. HOLMAN HAMILTON
History lecturer

Department's featured speaker March 30 in conjunction with the Haynes Bankers Life Lectureship Series.

The professor of history at the University of Kentucky will speak on campus at noon and again at an evening banquet, held annually by Phi Alpha Theta, history honorary. The noon lecture will be in Smith Hall Room 154 and will concern "Approaches To The Bicentennial: George Washington Reconsidered." The evening lecture at 7 p.m. at The Up Towner Inn will have as its subject, "Approaches To the Bicentennial: Monticello Revisited."

According to Robert F. Maddox, assistant professor of history and faculty advisor to Phi Alpha Theta, both events are open to the public. The noon lecture is free, and price of the banquet is $5.25, Maddox said. Reservations may be made through March 26 by contacting the Department of History.

In addition to Dr. Hamilton's presentation, the banquet will include awarding of the Hershel Heath Memorial Scholarship, established last year in tribute to the former professor and chairman of the Marshall Department of History.

Author, co-author or editor of seven books, Dr. Hamilton is a native of Fort Wayne, Ind. and has been a member of Kentucky's Department of History since 1954.

In 1966, he was named winner of the Alice Hallam Book Award, presented in recognition of the year's best historical work published by a University of Kentucky faculty member.

His books include "Zachary Taylor: Soldier of the Republic" (1941); "Zachary Taylor: Soldier in the White House" (1951); "White House Images and Realities" (1958); "The Democratic Experience" (1963); and "Three American Frontiers" (1969).

Barker endorses AASCU plan for student financial aid funds

President John G. Barker Thursday endorsed the student aid position of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU), formulated at a legislative conference in Washington, D.C., Feb. 27-28.

The AASCU resolution calls for immediate action by Congress on the student aid funds contained in the supplemental appropriations for fiscal year 1973. President

Barker said the resolution was adopted because "an emergency situation now exists and unless Congress acts rapidly many thousands of students throughout the nation will be denied an education next fall."

In addition to the action on supplemental funds so that students will know this spring what kind of aid will be available for next fall, state colleges and university presidents in the Washington meeting called for funding of student grants and loans at an authorized level.

Dr. Barker explained that although the association supports President Nixon's request for $622 million for the newly-enacted Basic Educational Opportunity Grants Program to help needy students, it is greatly concerned with the plight of lower and middle income students who have been receiving assistance through educational opportunity grants at a low cost loans.

"In the face of rising costs, it is urgent that, as the law requires, the grant and loan programs be funded at a minimum of $286 million in order to help the lower and middle income students continue their education," Dr. Barker said.

Workers sought by 'Touch Line'

"Touch Line," an organization of students established as a "referral service for any kind of personal or other problems," is taking applications from persons desiring to work with the group.

According to Nick Keller, Union, N.J. junior and founder of the Marshall organization, applications may be obtained in the Student Development Center at 1618 Fifth Avenue from 9:30 until 4:30 p.m.

Deadline for applications is 4 p.m. Thursday.

Keller said Touch Line will operate via telephone so students with personal problems may call in and seek help. The phones will be operated through an office on the Marshall campus and will be open from 7:30 p.m. until 1:30 a.m. daily except Sunday.

Student helpers will be trained to try and get the person seeking help to "open up" and discuss their problem. They will also be trained in the basic problems that a student may have and on some local referral agencies available in the event the Touch Line feels that it cannot help the student.

"We believe we can talk best on a student level with these people," Keller said, "and we will refer them to professional help if we can't do the job."

Keller emphasized that the service would be available for "any type of problem" but explained he expects Touch Line will be concerned mainly with problems of drugs, sex, loneliness and problems on this level.

When another referral service is recommended, several choices will be given to the student so he can make up his own mind, says Keller.

Tentatively, says Keller, Touch Line plans to operate on a limited basis, but if the response is great and volunteers are available, the line may be extended as long as 24 hours.

"Right now there are only 15 workers and we would like to get more people to help with the load," says Keller.

Yankee traders play new game

Throughout the history of Major League Baseball the New York Yankees have always led the way for other teams. Back in the early years of the American League, they developed a dynasty with the Babe (Ruth) and Lou Gehrig. It was a stronghold the Yankees would keep until the early '60's when they had DiMaggio, Ford, Maris and Mantle.

The boys from the Bronx had dropped off the "leader board" since the year 1963... that was until a few weeks ago when they became leaders in a new sort of division. Well, before you hear this one you had better sit back and take a nice deep breath. Ready?

Two Yankees, Mike Kekich and Fritz Peterson, played a new game... the art of wife (and family) swapping and I guess this means the New Yorkers have retained their status as league leaders, because they both made it past first base. Hummm.

This idea sounds good, huh? Wow, those guys sure are liberal dudes, aren't they? "Sounds like a super idea, can't wait 'til I get married so I can try it."

If you think this idea of Kekich and Peterson's is dynamite or really "cool" for kicks, maybe you had better hear the WHOLE story and re-assess your morals.

As it's told, the two couples, Mike and Susanne Kekich and Fritz and Marilyn Peterson were just "goofing around" at first. During the 1972 spring training season the foursome went out drinking after seeing a movie. After a few drinks the idea popped up in conversation and they all seemed to laugh about it as a joke. The laughter, however, began to change into serious conversation.

One night, after a party at the home of some friends, Fritz and Susanne left in one car and Mike and Marilyn in the other. Evidently it was an enjoyable experience because they went home with opposite partners the rest of the season.

A fter the 1972 season Peterson and Susanne Kekich moved into the Kekich home at Franklin Lakes, N.J., while Kekich and Marilyn Peterson moved into the Peterson home in the same town. Well, according to Kekich it was tremendous for a couple of months, "like a fantastic story book relationship." And, after going back to original partners to test themselves, they found out they wanted to change for good.

As of a few weeks ago, Peterson and Susanne Kekich were living with the Kekich children in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. They were happy and planned to get married as soon as planned divorces become final. Still sound like a great idea? Maybe so, but here's the big catch.

Although Mike Kekich and Marilyn Peterson thought at the outset their relationship would endure, things did not work and the future seems to lack any happiness for the two.

If it's not bad enough that one couple ended so miserably, the fiasco doesn't end there. You see, even though Fritz and Susanne are presumably happy and are now raising the Kekich children, the Peterson children are now left without a father. Peterson claims the fact his kids were to be without a father "eats me up." Yet he claims "I can't go back. I'll never go back."

I'm sure that when the kids grow up they will have fond memories of their father. You see, maybe the idea of wife swapping would tickle my fancy too, if it weren't for the fact that one couple is unhappy and the kids will be fatherless.

So, the Yankees have become leaders once again. However, maybe this is one time they should have settled for second place

Bachelor is JV star

Final statistics for the 1972-73 Marshall University junior varsity basketball team show Eric Bachelor as the team's dominant player.

Bachelor led the team with 24.6 points per game. He also had the junior varsity's high game of the year, which was 35 points against the Morehead State junior varsity. Other top team performances were by Bachelor were most field goals attempted - 26, most field goals made - 15, and Bachelor tied with Kim Humphreys for most free throws attempted - 12.

Little Herd was 7-6 for the year, which includes a 4-2 mark at home and a 3-4 record away. Joe Hickman was the only other team member to average in double figures as he scored at 16.9 points per game.

Lyle Monroe had the top rebounding average of 9.3, but he played in only three JV games. Bill Mannefield was the Little Herd's most consistent rebounder as he grabbed 113 rebounds in 13 games for a 8.7 average.

Kim Humphreys led junior varsity in field goal percentage as he made 38 of 65 shots for a percentage of 58.5. Behind Humphreys was Frank Austin with a 50 percent shooting performance. Then came Bachelor at 44.8 percent and Hickman with a 44.7 percent. Dave Mastropaolo led the JVs in free-throw percentage with a 69.2 mark. Next was Humphreys at 61.8 percent and Hickman at 60.9 percent.

Spring football practice in March

By TIM MATCHETT
Sports writer

Thunder in '73 will be the call of the Herd when it hits the turf March 26 for spring football practice, according to Head Coach Jack Lengyel.

Practice will be held at Fairfield Stadium each day from 3:35 to 5:30 p.m., with the bus leaving Gullickson Hall around 3 p.m., said Lengyel. "We will be concentrating on fundamentals, placement of personnel, refinement of offense and defense, and running," he said.

The coaching staff would like to do as much as possible this year to involve the players in making decisions," said Coach Lengyel. Emphasis will be placed on unity and cooperation, he said. "Everyone will work hard to make this the best year possible," he said.

"The Herd is now coming of age," said Lengyel. This year's team is junior-oriented, in the third year after the 1970 air crash. "The seniors are the nucleus of the team though," he said. This year's seniors are the ones who voted as freshmen to go on and play Ohio University in the season final after the crash.

The Herd will play its green-white game at Fairfield

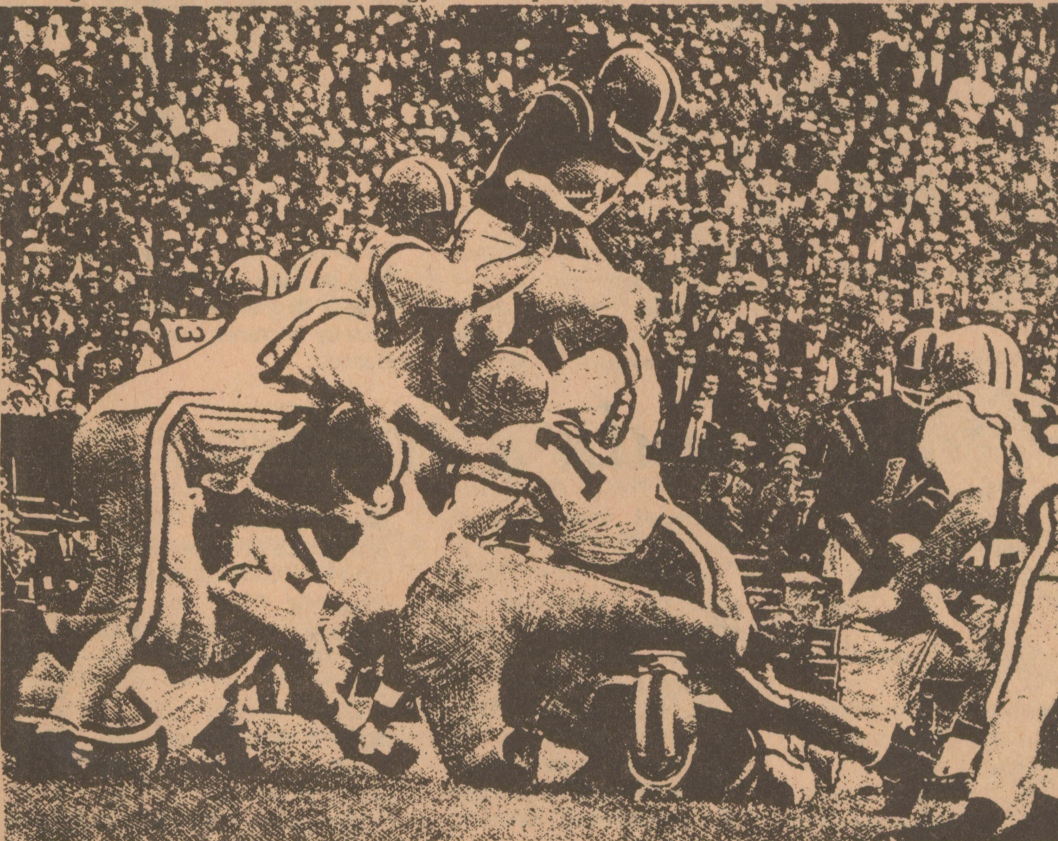

April 14 at 7:30 p.m., said Lengyel. A draft session for this game will be held April 19, with the coaching staff being divided into two equal groups, according to Coach Lengyel.

"These two groups of coaches will then draft the seniors," said Coach Lengyel. The remainder of each team will then be drafted by the seniors on that team, he said.

"This is being done to build a sense of respect among the players," said Lengyel. "Everyone will get a chance to play and participate in game decisions, he said.

A captain will be elected for the entire year, according to Lengyel. Two more captains will be appointed by the coaching staff each game, basing their decisions on past performances, he said. Each game will have different captains, but repeats are possible and almost assured, he said.

Alumni game will be played April 28, at 2 p.m., said Lengyel. The two home night games the Herd will play, one Sept. 15 with Morehead and the other Sept. 29 with Xavier, should be a boost to attendance, said Lengyel.

According to Joe Wortham, Marshall University ticket manager, 400 tickets remained on sale Thursday morning for the National Invitational Tournament. Late Wednesday night, 200 of the tickets were shipped to Marshall from the NIT. These extra tickets are priced in the $7.50 to $8.50 range, Wortham said. Wortham also said 200 student tickets remain and are selling for $2.50 each.

The tickets will be on sale from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the MU ticket office. Howard B. St. Clair, director of Alumni Affairs, said two chartered buses will be taking fans to New York. Each bus holds 39 passengers, St. Clair said, and three or four seats remain on one of the buses, as of Thursday morning.

Anyone interested in the seats should contact the Alumni Affairs Office. St. Clair said they would be sold on a "first come, first served basis." The buses are scheduled to leave Huntington at 7:30 p.m. Friday and will arrive in New York at 7:30 a.m. Saturday. The Marshall-Fairfield game will be in Madison Square Garden at 3 p.m. Sunday. The two buses will leave New York at 7:30 p.m. Sunday and arrive in Huntington Monday at 7:30 a.m.

Men's bowling tourney scheduled noon Sunday

Men's Bowling Tournament will be in the recreation area Sunday starting at noon, according to Tex Pertee, recreation supervisor.

The activity will be handled like a professional tournament, says Pertee, with everyone entered bowling three games and the top six bowlers will then be picked by their scores.

Top bowlers will then bowl against each other in head-tohead matches for points. The highest number of points will constitute the winner.

First and second place winners will receive gift certificates from Ted and Ed's Pro Bowl, according to Partee.

Entry fee of $3 will be charged to each person in the tournament. Any University-affiliated person is welcome to participate, said Partee.

Towers dance set

A spring dormitory formal will be sponsored by the Twin Towers West Legislative Board, with music provided by the Sensational Showmen.

The formal will be March 23 at the Holiday Inn, US 60, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

All Twin Towers West residents and their guests may attend. Admission will be by room key and ID.

A glass mug will be given as a favor. The cost will be $2.

Refreshments will be on sale at the formal.

Pat Clay, president of the Legislative Board and Lewisburg sophomore, said "I hope everyone will be satisfied with the arrangements. We worked pretty hard to satisfy everyone."

Film shows racism

"The Great White Hope" will be presented by Magic Theater at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Memorial Student Center Multipurpose Room.

James Earl Jones plays Jack Jefferson, a black heavyweight boxer who trains for the championship bout with a white opponent. The fight, held in Reno, is won by Jefferson resulting in "blatant racism" from the crowd.

The film features realistic fight scenes executed with "great cinematic skill" and follows a theme of "racial prejudice."

MU hosts Festival

Area high schools students will be on campus Saturday to compete in the Region 10 West Virginia High School Forensic and Drama Festival hosted by the Department of Speech, according to Dr. Beverly Cortes, associate professor of speech and tournament director.

Participating schools are Huntington, Huntington East, Duval, Barboursville and Ceredo-Kenova. Areas of competition include debate, listening, radio announcing, individual group discussion, oral interpretation, one-act plays, impromptu and public address, Dr. Cortes said.

TV's Bowen to talk

Bob Bowen, sports director for WSAZ-TV, will speak about sports directing for television 7:30 p.m. Monday in Communications Building Room 215, according to Broadcasters Club President Arnie Harrah.

All members are urged to attend and the public is invited.

Dorm requests due

Housing applications from present dormitory residents for the 1973-74 academic year must be submitted to the Housing Office by April 15 to receive room and dorm preference.

Students who want to be roommates should staple their applications together or put them in the same envelope, and all applications must be submitted with a $25 deposit.

All applications received after April 15, will be assigned on a first come, first served basis.

Students are reminded that all full time freshmen and sophomores, with the exception of married students, must live in a Marshall residence hall unless they live with their parents and commute to campus.

Jennings to speak

Dr. Louis B. Jennings, chairman of the Department of Bible and Religion will speak on "You Are You—And Somebody Else" at Interdenominational Protestant Worship Sunday.

The service will be held at the Campus Christian Center Chapel beginning at 7 p.m. It will be followed by an informal discussion.

CHIEF JUSTICE EDITOR Phil Samuelli and some members of his staff select photographs to be included in this year's issue which has caused some controversy. The yearbook has been accused of being "Anti-Greek" because fraternity and sorority pictures won't be included.

Group needs a leader

The Department of Engineering is still screening candidates for chairman of the Citizen's Committee for the Preservation of Engineering at MU.

Preference will be given to someone in the engineering profession. There are three or four persons under consideration and others have expressed interest in the position.

Thomas W. Olson, assistant professor of engineering said the committee cannot function without a chairman.

The department's rebuttal of the phase-out of engineering was sent to Prince Woodard, chancellor of the Board of Regents.

Woodard said the Regents and he will give the rebuttal careful consideration. Professor Olson said the Regents "should respond after they have looked over it."

Three weeks ago Student Senate began circulating a petition against the phase-out. Approximately 2,000 students have signed it.

MU gets spring cleaning

The MU campus will look neater March 18-23 as dormitory students organize a campus-wide clean up campaign.

"It's really simple, we want to do something beneficial for the community and the students," said Robert Drake, Ravenswood freshman and president of Interdormitory Council.

"IDC members will be painting trash cans and setting up posters around campus to build up enthusiasm among students to make clean-up day, March 24, a fun day to clean up campus," Drake said.

Dormitory committee chairmen were chosen to represent clean-up week. They are Jim Kmec, Pittsburgh, Pa., freshman,

Hodges Hall; Robert Drake, Ravenswood freshman, South Hall; Kat Bergeron, Gulf Port, Miss. senior, West Hall; Rick Collins, St. Albans sophomore, Twin Towers East; Martha Hill, Athens sophomore, Laidley Hall, and Janet Raine, Charleston sophomore, and Maureen Borger, Riverside, N.J., freshman, Twin Towers West.

These chairmen are organizing committees within their chosen dormitory to clean up assigned areas around campus.

Dormitory students have been assigned areas for clean-up day including South Hall - Campus Christian Center, South Hall, Memorial Student Center, and Northcott Hall. West

Hall students will clean Old Main, lab school, West Hall, and Central Intramural Field areas. Hodges Hall residents are assigned to Gullickson Hall and field, Old University Dining Hall, and Hodges Hall. Laidley Hall women will clean up Prichard Hall, Science Building, and Laidley Hall. Twin Towers East and West residents will combine to improve Smith Music Hall, James E. Morrow Library, and Twin Towers.

President John G. Barker has given his approval for use of the University trucks and other materials.

Students jump Sunday

Ever wonder what it would be like to fall through 3,000 feet of air with only a parachute on your back?

Barboursville sophomore Tony Sadler knows the feeling well, and he hopes to interest other Marshall students in sky diving. His plan, he explained, is to form a group at Marshall that will eventually compete nationally.

Little danger is involved for a person taking his first jump, according to Sadler. "There is no way the parachute won't open with a static line to pull open the ripcord," Sadler said.

Sadler explained that for $27.50 a student can take his first jump Sunday and be able to jump anywhere in the nation at designated centers for $6 a jump thereafter.

These three young men just made the discovery of a lifetime. The oldest is 34.

Remember when young people could get ahead in business simply by growing old? It was a good system for those with a little talent and a lot of patience, but today's technology moves too fast to wait for seniority.

At Kodak, our extensive involvement in basic research has made the need for fresh, young thinking more pressing than ever. So we hire the best new talent we possibly can. Then we do both of us a favor by turning them loose on real problems, and giving them the freedom and responsibility they need to solve them.

That's how three Kodak scientists in their early thirties just made a breakthrough in liquid lasers, developing an organic dye laser with a continuous beam. Their discovery means more than just a new kind of laser. It means a whole range of new laser applications, in fields from medicine to communications.

It was the kind of discovery most men and women work a lifetime for. Yet these young men still have most of their lifetimes ahead of them.

Why do we give young men and women so much freedom and responsibility? Because it's good business, and we're in business to make a profit. But in furthering our own business interests, we also further society's interests. And that's good.

After all, our business depends on society. So we care what happens to it.
