Mantovani Featured On Series

Mantovani and his "New Music" will be featured on the next Artist Series presentation Thursday, March 13, at 8:30 P.M., at the Keith-Albee Theatre, according to Curtis Baxter, manager of the Artist Series.

Tickets for the concert can be obtained until 4 P.M. today by presenting activity cards to Mrs. Will Mount in the hall of Old Main. The attraction is one of the six from which students may select two that they wish to attend.

Sales of the 21 available albums by Mantovani have, in America alone, passed the four million mark. A melodious line supported by his unique concept of orchestra arrangement have been given by critics as the reasons for the popularity of Mantovani and his "New Music."

Mantovani turned to music while studying engineering at Italy's University of Padua. By the time he was 18, he was directing his own salon orchestra. Later he became Composer-Playwright Noel Coward's musical director and conducted the orchestra for Coward's "Pacific 1860."

The conductor was the recipient last year of the Ivor Novello Award—the British radio's "Oscar"—as "musician of the year" for "outstanding personal services to British popular music." He is now on his third American tour.

WILL ACTIVATE SUNDAY

Pledge and activation ceremonies of Alpha Beta Alpha, library science honorary, will take place Sunday in the Honor Council Room at 1:30 P.M., according to Shirley Soto, president of the organization.

SCA Maps Plans For Rest Of Year

Student Christian Association plans for the remainder of the term have been released by the Rev. Lander Beal, student religious counselor. Topics for each month with the program and worship chairman for the programs are included in the list.

Program chairman for March is Sandra Spencer, Huntington sophomore, who will direct programs on the topics of Death, Your Hymn Hit Parade, and the "Meaning of Easter," with Paul Denise, representative of the World University Service.

Topics listed for the three meetings in April include Pursuit of Happiness, Ghosts of Dead Beliefs, and Alcohol. Dixie Stenger, Huntington freshman, is program chairman for April, and Lula Mays, Mullens sophomore, is worship chairman.

In May, Linda Little, Richwood sophomore, will serve as a program chairman for topics on Love and Communication, Inter-faith Marriage, and the Formal Dialogue of Marriage. During this three meeting session of marriage and love, the Reverend Beal will provide supplementary material and tests on compatibility of couples. Worship chairman for May is Bill Kemmon, Moundsville sophomore.

Ugly Men Invade Campus For Annual APO Contest

By DON FANNIN

Candidates are now being accepted for "The Ugly Man Contest," which is sponsored annually by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity. Each campus organization may enter the contest by presenting the name of the candidate and his picture to the office of the Dean of Men before twelve noon Saturday, March 8.

Voting for the "Ugly Man" will take place at the Alpha Phi Omega sponsored dance in the Student Union Wednesday, March 12. Admission is $.25 per person. The hours of the dance will be from 7:30 to 9:30 P.M. Voting will be allowed from 7:30 until 8:30. During that time, students may vote for their choice by dropping their ticket into a box labeled with that candidate's name.

Faculty Members Okey Entrance Suggestions

A report suggesting steps to be taken for higher college entrance requirements was approved by the faculty in a meeting Tuesday. The report will be sent to Charleston for consideration.

Registrar Luther E. Bledsoe read the report, which proposed the following:

That the 1958 requirements for college entrance not be changed.

That the 1959 requirements consist of graduation from high school, with persons having less than a "C" average being required to come to the college for an interview and to pass an admissions test. Persons failing the test would not be admitted.

That state high schools be required to adopt, within two years after the adoption of the admissions plan, certain specified new requirements for graduation, including four years of English; two years of social studies, including American history; two years of science, including biology, and either two years of mathematics, consisting of algebra and geometry, or two years of a foreign language, or both.

The faculty recommended that, under the third step, a revised school record form and personality record be required for high school use.

It is also recommended that the method of determining rank in the high school graduating class be that which has been approved by the Joint Committee of the National Association of Secondary School Principals and the American Association of College Registrars and Admissions Officers.

Pi Sigma Alpha Taking Pledges

Students interested in political science or pre-law, regardless of individual major, may become members of Pi Sigma Alpha, the political science honorary, providing they can meet requirements for membership. To qualify for membership students must possess the following prerequisites:

(a) At least 10 hours of study in political science, with one 300 or 400 course.

(b) A "B" average in all political science courses and an overall average of 2.8.

Students may apply by leaving their name, address and telephone number with any member of the political science department or by placing them in the Pi Sigma Alpha box in the Dean of Men's office.

Kappa Delta Chi Meets Tomorrow

Kappa Delta Chi, religious organization, will meet tomorrow at 8 P.M. in the Honor Council room.

The Reverend Vernon Fisher

Music for the dance will be furnished by the Continentals, an organization composed of students.

The results of the voting will be announced at 9:00 P.M. The organization which sponsors the winning candidate will receive an "Ugly Man Cup." The "Ugly Man" himself will be awarded an "Ugly Man Key."

The profits from the "Ugly Man" contest and dance will be used by the Alpha Phi Omega to provide a scholarship for a worthy freshman who has a background in the Boy Scouts of America. Alpha Phi Omega will submit application forms to various high schools who will in turn select members from their student bodies to receive the applications.

When all applications have been returned to the fraternity, the faculty advisor and the officers of the fraternity will select the student who is to receive the scholarship.

Two of the past scholarships were awarded to students who are presently enrolled here. They are: Walter Chambers, Huntington sophomore, and Thomas Cloer, Coney Island freshman.

The Parthenon department has been subject to attacks from many different sources, but never has such an attack threatened to undermine the entire department as the one which occurred Wednesday, March 5, at 10:30 A.M.

Don Dewey, Logan senior and business manager, was the first to sight the attackers, and the alarm went out—Termites!

"Get the photographer up here!" shouted Department Head

"The termites' colony still exists. The small army of termites which came out of the door facing today were probably only a small fraction of the colony that yet exists."

Everything has returned to normal, momentarily. But if the student publication does not appear on the new stands someday, you will know it has "gone to the termites."

"Photographer, nothing!" exclaimed Miss Virginia Lee, assistant professor of journalism. "Get the building and grounds department. This is an emergency!"

As the alarm went out, the black-winged invaders marched military fashion across the tile floor in columns of one and two from their nest somewhere under the door facing by the entrance to the journalism lab.

Within minutes the photographer had arrived and was taking pictures of the little army, followed seconds later by Vernon Barry of the building and grounds department.

The area was thoroughly sprayed with an insect exterminator, and the invasion was over.

"However, there is a good possibility that another such incident will take place soon," according to the operator of a local termite control company.

Miss Parthenon Reborn

It appears that someone felt our "Miss Parthenon" venture of last December was not a completely bad thing. Here's what they felt about it:

Dear Editor:

Last semester another strand was severed in the ties between The Parthenon and the student body by the bold front page proclamation of a "Miss Parthenon" contest. The student body, upon seeing these headlines, was anxious to see the details of the contest, and it certainly looked as if The Parthenon had taken a giant step in increasing student interest in their paper.

However, when the readers scanned the details of the story they found that the interest of The Parthenon was not in really having a contest but in pulling an April fool joke, too late for 1957 and too early for 1958. I do not think that this joke was laughed at by the student body—it was frowned upon as poor taste.

Editor and staff of The Parthenon, it is not too late to make another attempt. Your "Miss Parthenon" contest missile misfired, but that shouldn't stop you from launching a legitimate contest that will set up a good relationship between the students and your publication orbiting about the campus.

A contest always arouses interest, especially when a "Miss Someone" is to be named. You had a good idea last semester and if you revive it now with the moral flavor befitting it, it may turn out to be the best Parthenon feature of this or recent years.

Yours sincerely,

HAROLD FRYE

Just thought we'd put it in for your consideration, readers.

Students Lukewarm On Convos

By BETTY FRAME MORRIS

Do you go to convocations? Why or why not? These questions are being asked on campus because of the lag in attendance at the convocations.

The majority of those interviewed feel that there are too many activities on campus and that there is not enough time to study. Therefore, when they get a break they have other things to do.

Lou Johnson, Charlton Heights sophomore, sums it up, "Attendance lags because so many students have schedules of class, work and study that already overtax their energy. When convocation would consume their only break in a long day, they choose the break."

Only three students said they were not interested and all the others agreed that the programs are good and more students should attend.

Kenny Thompson, Huntington sophomore, said, "They just don't interest me. Some are okay but others are not so good."

"I enjoyed the convocations while I attended as a freshman," said Art Keyser, Huntington senior, "but now as a senior I'm too busy loafing."

Ray Wilson, Huntington junior, says, "The speakers seldom talk about a subject that interests me. I go to a few, but a very few, because I figure I could use that hour studying rather than listening to someone talk about something I'm not interested in."

On the other hand, Tom Tweel, Huntington sophomore, thinks that everyone should be required to attend convocation so many times a semester. He said, "The programs are very constructive to education as well as enjoyable. It is very unloyal to the college to have such low attendance."

Bob Miles, New Smyrna Beach, Fla., freshman, says that it is a great thing and everyone should attend, but it is up to the individual.

Many suggestions were given for improving the attendance lag. A large number of the students feel that more publicity is needed. "I believe the teachers should announce and emphasize the programs more in class," John Thurman, Huntington sophomore, said, "because I never seem to know when we are having a convocation until it is over."

Jennie Doll, Huntington senior, thinks the various campus organizations should emphasize attendance.

Several students were in favor of compulsory attendance. Carol Compton, Huntington senior, thinks that disciplinary action should be taken on the part of the college authorities, and Sharon Williams, Rupert freshman, suggested compulsory attendance by the different classes.

Janie Wilson, Charleston sophomore, said, "Freshmen should be required to attend a certain number of convocations," while Mary Curry, Logan freshman, thinks that the English classes should be compelled to attend a certain number per semester.

"I enjoy the programs when I go," said Alfred Carrol, Huntington senior. (Continued on Page Four)

An Editorial

A standing thought among those connected with West Virginia University and Marshall is to hold up to ridicule each other's school. This is done for many reasons, and many times for no reasons, depending upon the attitude of the individuals involved.

It's time for all of us to face facts. WVU has focused national attention upon the state through its basketball prominence this year. Are we as individuals so prone to criticism that we as members of the state forget our "good manners" so as not to have pride in the accomplishments of our fellow citizens? Being a number one team in the nation is great... face it.

WE HEARTILY ENDORSE THIS ACCLAIM FOR "OUR" UNIVERSITY and share in their students' enthusiasm.

Our point goes beyond athletic prowess. The University is a university in all respects. Marshall College is a university, but without the name.

West Virginia University, and particularly the students aren't to blame, because of our woes. If you are in the mood to place blame, look to the state legislators.

Neither WVU or Marshall supporters like to praise the other because of many years of backbiting, with charges of unfairness, helped by sportswriters in Huntington, Charleston, and other state cities. But, should we carry on being Democrats or Republicans because our fathers were of these parties. Should we hold vendettas because of actions of others?

We don't believe any Marshall student would hold to these theories.

Wouldn't it favor both schools and add immeasurably to the popularity of both to praise rather than scorn each other? This should start at home, for we of Marshall are as guilty of scorn as anyone.

After the recent Florida State game, a representative of the southern school was over heard to say, "... the WVU squad has the highest respect for the Marshall team possible. They warned us about your team, and we found out."

Let's develop the same respect for WVU. We can do no harm by supporting the big "U." If we refer to them, do it with a sense of equal relationship, not as a "second rate university" or that "other school on the hill."

Good manners will achieve better results than rudeness.

For many years, Michigan State was a college (as we are), because of bitterness between the school and the University of Michigan. Once the proper attitude was developed within the state, MSC became MSU. Of course, we aren't so gullible to think "hearts and flowers" will come overnight, nor that Marshall will become a university in name, overnight.

BUT OUR OWN HOUSE MUST BE CLEANED FIRST.

Look at the standing MSU now has in the nation, not only in athletics, but as an educational institution.

LET'S FACE FACTS! Our tax money goes to WVU as well as coming here.

LET'S FACE FACTS! Both schools are institutions of higher learning with national recognition on the threshold.

LET'S FACE FACTS! A poor attitude exists and progress is not being made.

We can start in our own backyard and maybe some day soon people will recognize the state of West Virginia as the home of West Virginia University AND Marshall State University.

INTRAMURAL RESULTS . . .

By STRAT DOUTHAT

Defending champs, Rinky Dinks, opened the intramural basketball tourney with a thrilling 50-46 win over the Vet No. 2 team.

Larry Tyree and Jerry Jones hit for 13 and 12 points respectively to lead last year's champs. Bob Ellis was high for the losing Vets with 15 points.

The PKA's who entered four teams have run into some rough sledding as three of the four teams have been defeated.

Ron Tickle hit for 24 points to spark his Pike No. 1 team to a 49-41 win over the Rascals Monday night, but the Sig Eps knocked off the firm of Tickle and Co. the following evening, 50 to 36. Dick Mattox and Alex Lawrence bombarded the nets for 15 and 12 points while Tickle and teammate Harold Vealey hit for 16 and 10 in the losing cause.

Tau Kappa Epsilon's high scoring squad ran wild over the Pike No. 3 team with a stunning 67-33 victory.

The finals will be held tonight.

Greer, Byrd Honorable Mention All-American

By Associated Press)

Negroes for the first time dominated the All-America basketball team selected for the Associated Press by 316 sports writers and sports broadcasters representing all sections of the nation.

There are four on the first team announced Wednesday — Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas, Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, Elgin Baylor of Seattle, and Guy Rodgers of Temple.

The fifth man is Don Hannon, Pitt's 5-8½ star.

Negroes have made the first team in the past but never more than two. The rise of Negroes to prominence in college basketball follows similar stardom in baseball, boxing, football, and track.

Chamberlain, a junior named to the A-A for the second straight year, led the voting with 1,592 points and 297 first team votes on the basis of five for a first team and two for a second team placing.

Robertson, a sophomore who put Cincinnati back on the basketball map, was second with 1,330 and 256 firsts. Baylor was third with 1,327 and 249 firsts. Rodgers had 975 and 172 firsts and Hannon 717 and 109 firsts. No one else came near getting 100 firsts.

Bob Boozer, Kansas State's Negro star, was named on a second team along with Archie Dees of Indiana, Bailey Howell of Mississippi State, Lloyd Sharrar of West Virginia and Pete Brennan of North Carolina.

Jerry West, West Virginia sophomore; Tommy Kearns of North Carolina; Mike Farmer of San Francisco; Johnny Green of Michigan State, and Tom Hawkins of Notre Dame comprise a third team.

The top 15 players each will receive a certificate from the Associated Press.

Twenty-one other players received honorable mention. They include Dom Flora of Washington & Lee, and Leo Byrd and Hal Greer of Marshall.

Oddly, three of the first team are native Pennsylvanians. Chamberlain and Rodgers are from Philadelphia while Hannon hails from Wampum, Pa., a suburb of Pittsburgh. Rodgers is the only senior on the first five.

Hal, Leo Lead Green In Final Team Statistics

By WALT LEONHART

Leo Byrd and Hal Greer, the one-two scoring punch for the Big Green during the past season, came out on top in most of the individual department on the team, according to final statistics compiled by the Athletic Department.

Tops in the scoring department was the junior flash, Leo Byrd. Leo, who became the second highest point maker during the course of one season, averaged 25.0 points in producing 599 markers to rank second behind Walt Walowac's 1952-53 season of 698.

The other half of the scoring punch, Greer, hit the third highest point total over one season. Hal, in averaging 23.6 points per contest, collected 567 tallies.

For the third straight year Greer led Marshall in field goal percentage. Hal, hitting on 236 of 423 attempts, compiled a .546 average. And for the second straight season Hal led the team in rebounding. This season Greer picked them off the boards for a 11.7 percentage.

As a team Marshall had a shooting percentage of .469 to rank among the top five in the nation. The Big Green's free throw mark of .790 is tops in the country.

At the present Marshall is leading the nation in scoring with an 88.0 average in racking up a 17-7 slate. But, it will have to wait until tournament play is completed before the final tabulations can be added since the teams that are in second and third place in the scoring race, Cincinnati and West Virginia, still have tourney play left.

A sharpshooting sophomore by the name of John Milhoan led the Green at the foul line. John, who has connected on 63 of 69 attempts, has a sparkling .913 percentage. Despite Milhoan's fine mark he is still not among the top in the foul shooting department because the national statistic considers 65 hits as the minimum in its tabulations.

In Mid-American Conference play five different men captured season honors in conference competition and all-game play.

Miami's big Wayne (Goose) Embry walked off with the top position in three of the categories. The 6-8 senior repeated as the leading scorer in conference play with 288 points. But Byrd gave the Redskin star a good run before bowing out in second position with 280. Embry finished with a 24.0 average and Byrd ended the season with a 23.3 mark.

However, Byrd came through in fine style in all-games played. Leo hit for 599 and a 24.9 average. Embry wasn't far behind as he bucketed 589.

As was the story last year Embry led the league and also games played outside the MAC in rebounding. Chuck McCampbell of Bowling Green finished second and Hal Greer and Western Michigan's Ed Blair were neck-and-neck for the second spot in all games.

Greer, who won the league field goal markmanship last year, had to relinquish that honor to teammate Jack Freeman by .003. The pair have staged a battle all year for this honor. Greer, however, did capture the all-games honor with a fine .546 mark. Freeman had to take the second spot at .482 with Bowling Green's Jim Darrow in a close third at .480.

At the charity line Milhoan continued his near perfection in league play, missing only three times in 49 attempts.

Wrestlers In MAC Playoffs

An eight-man Big Green wrestling squad will represent the Green and White at the annual Mid-American Conference wrestling championships today and tomorrow at Bowling Green.

There will be six teams in the tournament and the only conference team not entered is Western Michigan. The Broncoes only started wrestling last year and are still very weak in that sport. They plan to enter next year's tournament. Kent State, favorite to cop this year's tourney, is the defending champion.

Last year's Big Green team, under the coaching of Dr. Sam Clagg, finished in a last place tie after showing promises of finishing in the top three.

This year's squad, coached by Ed Prelaz, is not expected to do much in the tourney because of its poor 2-10 record and its 0-5 mark against MAC competition.

The Big Green did come close to winning its match against Miami before losing 16-14 and Coach Prelaz says that his squad has a good chance of picking up some points in the tourney.

The tourney will be an individual elimination affair with drawing scheduled to be made the first thing today. Prelaz said he didn't expect any of the Big Green wrestlers to be seeded.

Making the trip for the Big Green will be Earl Rine, 123 pounds; Bob Stover, 130 pounds; Captain Ken Adkins, 137 pounds; Bob Lester, 147 pounds; Granville Zopp, 157 pounds; Bill Gillespie, 167 pounds; Robert Wilson, 177 pounds, and Rudy Colombo, unlimited.

SCIENCE MADE SIMPLE: NO. 2

Though this column is intended solely as a vehicle for well-tempered drollery, the makers of Marlboro have agreed to let me use this space from time to time for a short lesson in science. They are the most decent and obliging of men, the makers of Marlboro, as anyone can tell from sampling their product. Only from bounteous hearts could come such a lot to like—such filter, such flavor, such flip-top box. The filter works; the flavor pleases; the box protects. Who can resist such a winning combination? Surely not I.

Today let us take up the science of medicine, which was invented in 1066 by a Greek named Hippocrates. He soon gathered around him a group of devoted disciples whom he called "doctors." The reason he called them "doctors" was that they spent all their time sitting around the dock and shooting the breeze. In truth, there was little else for them to do because disease was not invented until 1477.

After that, doctors became very busy, but it must be admitted that their knowledge of medicine was lamentably meagre. They knew only one treatment—a change of climate. For example, a French doctor would send all his patients to Switzerland. A Swiss doctor, on the other hand, would send all his patients to France. By 1789 the entire population of France was living in Switzerland, and vice versa. This later became known as the Black Tom Explosion.

Not until 1924 did medicine, as we know it, come into being. In that year in the little Bavarian village of Pago-Pago an elderly physician named Winko Sigafos discovered the hot water bottle. He was, of course, burned as a witch, but his son Lydia, disguised as a linotype, made his way to America where he invented the Mayo Brothers.

Medicine, as it is taught at your very own college, can be divided roughly into two classifications. There is internal medicine, which is the treatment of interns, and external medicine, which is the treatment of externs.

Diseases also fall into two broad categories—chronic and acute. Chronic disease is, of course, inflammation of the chron, which can be mighty painful, believe you me! Last summer my cousin Haskell was stricken with a chron attack while he was out picking up tinfoil, and it was months before the wretched boy could straighten up. In fact, even after he was cured, Haskell continued to walk around bent over double. This went on for several years before Dr. Caligari, the lovable old country practitioner who treats Haskell, discovered that Haskell had his trousers buttoned to his vest.

Two years ago Haskell had Addison's disease. (Addison, curiously enough, had Haskell's.) Poor Haskell catches everything that comes along. Lovable old Dr. Caligari once said to him, "Son, I guess you are what they call a natural born catcher."

"The joke is on you, Doc," replied Haskell. "I am a third basemen." He thereupon fell into such a fit of giggling that the doctor had to put him under sedation, where he is to this day.

But I digress. We were discussing medicine. I have now told you all I can; the rest is up to you. Go over to your med school and poke around. Bring popcorn and watch an operation. X-ray each other. Contribute to the bone bank . . . And remember, medicine can be fun!

The makers of Marlboro cigarettes bring you filter, flavor, flip-top box, and ON CAMPUS WITH MAX SHULMAN throughout the school year.

Senate Ups Dance Tickets To $3

By LADONNA CROCKETT

The price of admission to the Spring Dance sponsored by the Student Government was set at $3 a couple at the meeting of the Student Senate Wednesday, February 26.

The motion by Senator Alex Lawrence, Huntington senior, was carried by a 17-4 vote. President Dave Kirk, Huntington senior, stated that he was vetoing the $2.50 as a price for the tickets and recommended that the price be $3. Fred R. Smith, comptroller, would not approve the $2.50 because it would not meet expenses. The price of the field house to seat 1,000 will be $432.

Jim Simpson, Huntington graduate, was elected graduate senator on the third ballot. Don Ferguson was accepted as a member of the Student Court. Nominations were accepted for Student Chaplain but election was postponed until next meeting.

Reports were heard from four committees. Senator Alex Lawrence gave the Social and Entertainment report saying that the Crew Cuts had accepted the offer to appear at the Spring Dance. The Honors and Resolutions Report presented by Senator Gloria Brothers, Huntington sophomore, stated that all senators had an over-all 2.0 average and were eligible to remain in the Senate.

Senator Betty Harbert, Madison junior, gave the Honors and Visitation Report that indicated that the high school visitation program would be carried on March 15 to March 30. The West Virginia Pageant Report stated that a reply from the Jay Cee's in Charleston indicated that the registration fee for entry is $35. Senator Alan Earls presented the report but the discussion was tabled.

A committee of the whole discussed the convocation attendance problem; Senator Betty Morris, Birchfield senior, stated that the convocation committee was going to make further study. Petitions accepted included: Alpha Phi Omega petition for an Ugly Man Contest; Alpha Beta Alpha Library Fraternity petition for a Book Fair to display books in the Student Union, March 16-22; Alpha Chi Omega Pledge Class for a bake sale; and 4-H Club petition to sell hot dogs in Laidley and Hodges Halls.

Money was appropriated for the Spring Dance.

ington junior, "but I never seem to have time to attend. I believe some form of compulsory attendance would get the people back in the mood of attending. You must remember that most people in West Virginia must have culture forced upon them before they will accept it."

However, Bob Bledsoe, Webster Springs freshman, thinks "Convocations should not be compulsory because students who have to attend would not make a favorable audience.

A few students said they would be able to attend more if the programs were held at night.

All in all, there are many explanations for low attendance and many suggestions for improving it.

And as one student said, "Marshall has one of the best culture programs in the field.
