HERD TACKLES YOUNGSTOWN TONIGHT

Novel And Traditional Themes Add To Excitement Of Dances

By MARY JENKINS

THERE SEEMS to be no end to the formal dances that fill every weekend. Some have a traditional theme and others come forth with new ideas to add to the excitement and fun.

Theta Rho sorority will have its formal "Moonlight Dance" tonight in the Cabaret Room at Camden Park from 9 to 1 with Johnny McCoy and his orchestra. Their brother fraternity, Tau Kappa Epsilon, has been given an open bid. Helen Vinson is in charge of arrangements with Jean Gill, Barbara Shelton and Ruth Letsinger assisting. Chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. Otto Gullickson, Miss Ruth Flower and John Stender. Guests will be Miss Charlotte Barryman and Dr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Edeburn.

GAMER GAMMER, mock sorority, will have a formal dance tomorrow night in the Student Union from 9 to 12 with Johnny McCoy and his orchestra. This group was started in 1931 to further good will between Greek and non-Greek organizations on campus. Patricia Morris is in charge of all arrangements. Chaperones will be Philip Caplan, Dr. H. Gresham Toole and Joseph M. Lichtenstein. Guests will be Dean Lillian H. Buskirk, Mildred Heller and Dean Lester G. Brailey.

Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity will have its "Bowery Ball" tomorrow night at the 4-H Camp from 8 to 12 with Hap Price and his orchestra. This is an annual affair with a "Gay Nineties" theme and costumes. The fraternity pledge class is in charge of the floor show. The arrangements committee consists of Woody Withers, James Stamper and Alex Mickel. Chaperones will be Dr. Ralph M. Edeburn, Cecil R. Simms and N. Baynard Green.

PI KAPPA SIGMA sorority has been appointed as the Greek organization on campus to help with the March of Dimes drive during college activities.

Initiation ceremony for pledges of Kappa Omicron Phi, honorary home economics fraternity, was held Wednesday night in the Home Economics Club Room. New members are Adelaide Brooks, Sarah Clark, Gayle Dick, Clara Graham, Helen Green, Ruth Haskins, Mildred Holley, Ruth Mearns and Joan Price.

Fourth Estate, honorary journalism sorority, pledged three new members Wednesday in the College Hall lounge. They are Margaret Bryan, Ruth Napier and Shirley Lair.

AMERICAN LEGION TO SPONSOR MEMBERSHIP DRIVE NEXT WEEK

By JAMES KIRKPATRICK

The college, in connection with Huntington Post 16 of the American Legion, will sponsor an American Legion Week, January 17-22.

The purpose of the move, which has the approval of the college administration, is to boost American Legion membership, David G. Webb, Post 16 commander, said.

The planned membership drive will be sponsored next week in connection with District Commander Donald R. Wilson's appearance on the assembly program January 20.

JOHN ROTEN, former Marshall student, and Veterans Administration employee will be in the Student Union Thursday and Friday, January 20 and 21 from 11 A. M. to 2 P. M. to answer questions about the American Legion and its activities, Webb said.

"ACCORDING to registration figures, there are some 1,300 veterans in Marshall," Webb added, "and if we can get this young blood to become active we stand a much better chance of getting many of the things all veterans want."

Current activities of the Legion include work for a state bonus and a lowering of the pension age to 55.

"THE POPULARITY of our 'Blue Room' with those students who are current members is probably the one thing most responsible for our planning this drive," Webb added.

"We are also extending an invitation to the public to attend our regular meeting Friday, January 21," Webb said.

College representatives on the committee include: Chester E. Ball, instructor of journalism; Earl Kirker, student council president and James Kirkpatrick, news editor of The Parthenon.

Marshall C. of C. To Gather Data On Industry Here

The Marshall College Chamber of Commerce, in co-operation with the Huntington branch, is conducting the fifth annual survey of industry, finance, education, housing, and labor in the Huntington area, Prof. Lee A. Wolfard, business administration head announced.

The purpose of the survey is to aid the Chamber of Commerce in its contacts with prospective industrialists, business men, and families, seeking location in Huntington.

Prof. Wolfard, who is director of the survey, said that 113 volunteers have been working in gathering the data,

Penguins Seek To Avenge Defeat By Marshall Last Year

By JOHN HENRY SHADBURN

"Standing Room Only" signs are due for another hanging tonight at Radio Center when Marshall's Big Green plays host to the Penguins of Youngstown College. Starting time will be 8 P. M.

After tonight's game, Coach Cam Henderson's cagers will have little time in which to rest or make any necessary adjustments since another opponent, Murray State Teachers College of Murray, Ky., is scheduled to invade the Center on Monday night.

Paced by the sharp shooting of Sol Guappone, the Penguins are reported to be well fortified with lettermen. Guappone, a six-foot junior guard, was among the leading Youngstown scorers here last year when Marshall edged the Penguins, 78-77.

MRS. JAMES WYKER

Mrs. Wyker Will Address Life Group

Mrs. James D. Wyker, prominent church leader from Mount Vernon, Ohio delegate to the recent World Assembly of Churches at Amsterdam, Netherlands, has been secured as one of the five leaders for "Life Planning Week" February 13-18, James Reasor, vice-chairman of Marshall's University Christian Mission announced this week.

Mrs. Wyker is a graduate of Columbia University, attended the College of the Bible at Lexington, Kentucky, for one year, and is on the lecture staff in the Agricultural Extension Service of Ohio State University. She is a past president of the Ohio Council of Christian Women and is a member of the executive committee of the International Convention of the Disciples of Christ.

She is a lecturer for church groups and women's clubs, and has spoken often at colleges and seminaries.

AN ADDRESS by Mrs. Wyker concerning the Amsterdam assembly was printed in the "Christian Evangelist". In this address she characterizes herself as "a rural minister's wife" who represents "the grass roots of our people."

Mrs. Wyker and four other nationally-known speakers are being provided for "Life Planning Week" by the National University Christian Mission, an organization sponsored jointly by the Federal Council of Churches and the United Student Christian Council.

NEW BOOKS TO ARRIVE BEFORE SEMESTER END

All shipments of books will be received before the second semester begins and may be purchased after February 1, Percy Gallo-way, manager of the book store, announced Monday.

It was last year's Marshall-Youngstown encounter that was considered by many to be the most exciting basketball game staged at Radio Center in recent years. Throughout the course of the contest, the teams battled furiously with neither being able to gain more than a four-point advantage. Marshall did, however, manage to emerge with a one-point verdict and keep its undefeated home record for the season intact.

A different situation exists with respect to the Monday meeting of Marshall and Murray since it is the only scheduled game this season involving these high-ranking contenders for the Ohio Valley Conference championship.

The Thoroughbreds administered a 65-53 licking to the Big Green in the lone meeting of the two teams last season at Murray.

Following Monday's game with the Breds, Marshall will travel to Morehead, Ky., to meet the Flying Eagles of Morehead College. Next home appearance for the Big Green will be against the Dayton University Flyers Saturday, January 22, at Radio Center.

Debate Teams Will Oppose Ohio Colleges

Marshall's two debate teams will hit the road today in a debate conference which schedules them to compete with more than six Ohio colleges. First competition for the teams will be at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, tomorrow.

Walter Felty and William R. Smith, will uphold the negative on the Federal Aid to Education question, while the affirmative team will be chosen from among Richard Christopher, Ann Holland, and William Beckett, Ben W. Hope, director of debate, announced. Mr. Hope will accompany the students on the tour.

The itinerary of the group schedules the debaters for competition against Otterbein College, Kenyon College, Ohio State University, Denison University, Ohio University, Muskingum College, and other Ohio colleges.

Walter Felty and Richard Christopher presented the case of Federal Aid to Education at a meeting of the Marshall College faculty, Monday afternoon. Christopher took the affirmative while Felty argued against it.

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, Jan. 13. (AP)— Harry S. Truman may have the biggest presidential inauguration festival in American history. But he'll have to go some to beat one record set by a homely Republican predecessor.

That's in the matter of kissing.
The champ? Abraham Lincoln.
Honest Abe kissed no fewer than 34 girls at his first inauguration —one from each state.

Past inaugurations have tended to reflect the mood—stormy, sad or gay—through which the nation was passing. A number of the incidents and oddities are recalled by Jewell Casey in the current issue of "The Holy Name Journal."

GEORGE WASHINGTON was the only President inaugurated in two cities—New York and Philadelphia. At the first ceremony the "Father of His Country" sturdily asserted the economic independence of the newborn republic with a "Made in America" brown suit.
It was woven from the wool of American sheep.

Washington's second inaugural address was the shortest yet—134 words. Franklin D. Roosevelt returned to this pattern some years later. In his fourth inaugural address FDR used only 500 words.

John Adams was so called over the larger popularity of his successor, Thomas Jefferson, that he left Washington early in the morning to avoid seeing Jefferson sworn into office. This habit seemed to run in the Adams family, for, 28 years later John's son, President John Quincy Adams, got out of town fast, too, so he wouldn't have to watch Andy Jackson, his bitter rival, succeed him.

WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON
drew a huge crowd to his inaugural. A month later there came an even larger crowd—to his funeral.
The old hero, most elderly man ever elected to the White House, caught a cold at the first ceremony and wore himself out dancing at each of three inaugural balls that night.

ON A NUMBER of occasions it appears someone forgot to invite the weather forecaster. Bad weather hampered the ceremonies at inaugurals of James Madison,

William Henry Harrison, James K.
Polk (he was sworn into office under an umbrella), Benjamin Harrison, William H. Taft and Franklin D. Roosevelt, who took the oath bare-headed in the rain in 1937. By 1944, his fourth time up, wisecrackers were saying Roosevelt knew the oath backwards.

Two of the biggest inaugural eggs were laid by a chunky man who fought the south, with a cigar in his mouth—Gen. U. S. Grant.
Both ceremonies were mis-managed duds. The general was so mad at retiring President Andrew Johnson that he let Johnson know he couldn't even come along for the ride.

SEVERAL HUNDRED canaries helped turn the second grand inaugural ball into a $60,000 turkey.
It was so cold the birds refused to sing or fly around the ballroom, the food was too chilled to eat, and the canaries and the guests sat there in their feathers and furs—and glared at each other.

Another oddity: No American mother actually watched her son become President until James A.
Garfield's inaugural. Garfield's first act as the nation's leader was to kiss the woman who had borne him in a frontier log cabin 49 years before. But her pride did not outlive the year. An assassin struck down the president four months later.

BRANHAM REPLACES BRAKE

Robert E. Branham, Huntington senior, will replace Eugene Brake as Publicity Chairman of Life Planning Week, Lester G.
Brailey, dean of men, said Thursday. Brake, Winfield junior, has also resigned as Editor-in-Chief of the Chief Justice.

Unfair Practices

A sure-fire way for a person to make himself extremely unpopular with the easy-going element of the student body on any college campus is to suggest that measures be taken to stop the cheating which often takes place in varying degrees during examinations.

Final examinations are scheduled for the week of January 24.
We believe that the students, through their efforts not to cooperate with the unprepared few, can more effectively frustrate the possessors of wandering eyes than faculty members. This difficult, sometimes embarrassing, task requires the combined efforts of the students and the faculty if it is to be accomplished.

Adherents to this method of obtaining a college degree have developed their processes to a high degree of perfection. They know all the answers — when it comes to cheating. Their most devastating weapon, cultivated carefully through the years, is, of course, the widely accepted idea that it is not "sporting" to refuse to help them or to expose them.

Another old gag, perhaps the oldest of all, is the urgent plea of a "friend". They are friends indeed during examinations. Some cheaters appeal for information in the form of sympathy—any number of unfortunate things can happen to them on the night before examinations — forgetting about the test, ill and unable to study, overloaded with other studies, the professor is at fault, financial difficulties, domestic troubles, and so on. Flattery works to some extent—they tell the unsuspecting person how smart he is. The rest is easy—it is human nature to show off.

We have seen some "professionals" manipulate several sheets of paper, on which notes abound in profusion, with amazing facility. Others can write volumes with the benefit of only a few marks, written on handy surfaces ranging from a scrap of paper to a perspiring palm.

Fortunately, cheating is not a major problem at Marshall. Polite, yet firm, steps were taken last year to meet the minor problem that did exist. Those who cheat are equal in number to those who steal.

SHADBURN'S SIDELINES

AS IS the case with most resident students at Marshall, for more than a decade we've had the opportunity of witnessing the exploits of versed Big Green cagers performing under the guiding hand of Coach Cam Henderson.

Well do we remember being numbered among the seething masses of wriggling humanity that elbowed their way into Vanity Fair (as Radio Center was called in previous years) to see Henderson coached teams turn back the Blackbirds of Long Island University and the Golden Bears of the University of California.

These, of course, must be included among Henderson's major accomplishments, but we feel that an even greater accomplishment was evidenced during the past week.

With Gene James and Jim Bakalis declared ineligible and Bob Wright hobbling about on a sprained ankle, the Big Green appeared to be headed for a disastrous trouncing in the Indiana State fray. Yet, while sports writers and casters were giving up on the Marshall quintet and Indiana State personnel were growing more and more confident, Henderson was at work.

And how he did work. In the course of a few days he turned a couple of reserves, who earlier in the season had about as much chance of getting into the starting lineup as a celluloid rabbit in a forest fire, into a pair of first string stalwarts.

Needless to say, both of the aforementioned players, Norman Willey and Jimmy White by name, got a starting call for the first time in their collegiate cage careers, and so effective was Henderson's coaching magic that the former nabbed high point honors with 27 tallies while the latter played one of the finest floor games seen here in a long time.

Yes, we'll grant you it's quite astounding, but it's also quite true.

HATS OFF TO: Norman Willey—a fine fellow who was trying to give points away last season (remember "Wrong Way" Willey..") now seems to be doing all he can to collect tallies for Marshall. Judging from his 38-point total in the last two games, he's doing the Big Green quite a service.

Richard Rader, Charleston freshman and Hodges Hall resident, has withdrawn from school due to ill health, Mrs. Frances Burdette, dormitory hostess, announced Monday.

Four Teams BIG GREEN RECORD Dominate Mural Play

By LEONARD CAMPBELL

VM Cabelleros, Big Sandy Boys, Gentlemen and Boozers continued to roll merrily along in mural basketball. The Cabelleros and Gentlemen have won four straight games while the Sandy Boys and Boozers have suffered one setback each. The Boozers lost a 46-41 contest to the Gentlemen earlier in the season and Big Sandy Boys fell before the Boozers, 39-37.

VM Cabelleros defeated the dangerous Blue Devils 49-28. The game was anybody's until the third quarter when the Knights turned on the steam and opened up a wide margin. Rockwell tossed in 10 points to lead VM in scoring. Hackworth and Cravens netted eight markers each for the losers.

THE GENTLEMEN, looking ragged in spots, won over the Generals, 51-33. Rose and Blubaugh were the main cogs in the Gentlemen machine, chalking up 16 and 15 points respectively. Bess ripped the net with 12 counters for the Generals.

Hodges Hall Lions succumbed to the Boozers, 32-26. The Boozers, playing a rough and rugged game, were pressed to gain the victory. Evans was the big gun for the Boozy boys with 15 points. Casto was high for the Lions with eight counters.

Big Sandy Boys won a tight tilt from the Faculty, 52-48. McLynn poured in 18 points for the Sandymen. Wilcox with 17 points was high for Faculty.

THE PARTHENON BOMBERS extended their winning streak, they have now won two in fifty-two years, defeating Hodges Hall
