Maxime Vollmer To Give Lecture On Languages

A lecture entitled "Why Do You Talk the Way You Do?" will be presented in a special assembly tomorrow in the college auditorium at 10 A. M.

The speaker will be Maxime Berlitz Vollmer, granddaughter of Maximilian D. Berlitz founder of the internationally known School of Languages.

Mrs. Vollmer speaks four languages fluently and has a complete reading knowledge of seven. She has taught English to a series of people ranging from a Russian prince to a French prize-fighter. She is the author of text books and humorous verse, a literary critic and dramatic historian.

Spending her early childhood in Paris with her father, she returned to this country, graduated from Vassar at nineteen with a Phi Beta Kappa key, and took post-graduate work at Columbia.

Her talk will cover a thousand years of the English language from Beowulf to "Basic," the probable origins of language in general, and the life story of English in particular. She will also discuss the strange sources of current word and phrases, the influence upon language of climate, history and fashion, with a few speculations upon the effect of the war on the English of tomorrow.

COLLEGES OFFER TEN FELLOWSHIPS

Ten Southern Regional Fellowships are being offered under the Southern Regional Training Program by the universities of Alabama, Kentucky and Tennessee, it was announced this week by Dr. D. Banks Wilburn, dean of teachers college.

Eligibility requires that candidates should hold A. B. degrees from a recognized college or university, or anticipate their degrees not later than June. Dean Wilburn pointed out that these fellowships are open to arts and science and teachers college graduates alike, and added that further information and application forms were available in his office. The application deadline is March 1.

Candidates awarded the fellowships will begin their work in June 1949, in a public office of the Southern Region. They will continue their training and working during the next school year, staying for a quarter at each of the participating schools.

Those Fellows completing the work satisfactorily will receive at the end of the 12 months training period (June, 1950), a Certificate in Public Administration issued jointly by the three participating universities. The Fellows so choosing may continue their work toward their master's degrees at one of the three universities.

BULLETIN

Cam Henderson, currently serving in his 14th year as head football and basketball coach at Marshall, announced Monday that he had received a coaching offer from a West Coast institution and is giving the matter serious consideration.

MRS. MAXIME VOLLMER

Editor Of CJ Resigns Post

Gene Brake, Winfield junior, resigned as Editor-in-Chief of the Chief Justice at Monday's student council meeting.

Brake intends to leave school at the end of this semester to join Congressman Maurice G. Burnside's staff in Washington. In the capitol he hopes to attend George Washington University. The Chief Justice editor worked for Burnside in the pre-election campaign.

Applications for a new Chief Justice editor will be received this week in the Dean of Men's office. Applicants will be required to make personal appearances at next Monday's student council meeting in order to state qualifications.

Local Biologists Possess Rare Owl

By RAY GEOUGE

You may be a night owl, a member of the owls club, or just plain owly eyed, but don't fail to go see the great horned owl on display in the biology department—it's real; it's genuine; it's alive!

According to N. Bayard Green, associate professor of zoology, this bird is a rare one. Around here that is. He says that in the last 10 years he has heard of about 6 such owls being seen or caught this far south. It is one of the largest of owls.

The owl belongs to Mrs. Eugenia McClung of Milton. She teaches biology there and says that the bird was caught by a student.

The owl appears to be brooding on the UN, the Russian situation, and the dignity of man... What else could make him look so fierce? Ask some "night" owl.

He was quickly named Egbert by a student because he looks so solemn. The old boy just stares and stares. After all, he has never seen a college student before either. Everyone who has seen Egbert agrees that "He would taste one's finger if one would poke it in Egbert's cage." Step right up kiddies and get your wound stripes.

John Peters, Union sophomore, and member of Chi Beta Phi, honorary scientific fraternity, was appointed to the student council as representative replacing Summers Jarrett, Cabin Creek sophomore.

JAMES L. STONER SPEAKS HERE FRIDAY TO CAMPUS LEADERS

Dr. James L. Stoner, National Director of the University Christian Mission, will confer with student and faculty leaders of University Christian Mission Friday, concerning plans for "Life Planning Week," February 13-18.

Dr. Stoner was formerly director of the Student Christian Fellowship at Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio. In 1942 he was associate minister at the Church of Christ in Spring Glen, Hamden, Connecticut, and in 1943 became minister there. In 1944 he became Associate Secretary of the University of Texas Y. M. C. A. at Austin.

Dr. Stoner will be one of five nationally known speakers to participate in "Life Planning Week."

University Christian Missions were inaugurated by the Federal Council of Churches in 1938. The national University Christian Mission Committee consists of representatives from the United Student Christian Council and the department of Evangelism of the Federal Council of Churches.

Companies Have Senior Interviews

The following companies will conduct interviews for graduating seniors this week and next, as follows:

Proctor and Gamble for Cincinnati area—Thursday, January 6, W. L. Franz. Available positions: accounting, advertising, buying, internal auditing, office management, oil mill accounting and administration, sales.

FF. & R. Lazarus Co., Columbus, Ohio—Retailing positions — Tuesday, January 11, Ray Mathers.

Commonwealth Insurance Co., Huntington, W. Va. and Louisville, Ky. Thursday, January 13, Eugene Copeland — Sales and actuarial accounting positions.

Those seniors wanting interviews should make an appointment in M-110.

ARMY BAND TO SALUTE MARSHALL SATURDAY

Marshall College will be featured on the United States Army Band radio program, "Campus Salute," Saturday, January 8, from 1 to 1:30 P. M.

Marshall will be saluted for its participation in the wartime training program, in which the college trained 1600 cadets for the United States Air Forces, and its post-war expansion to care for G. I. Bill of Rights students. The Army band, led by Captain Hugh Curry, will play the school songs of the college, and the traditions and history of Marshall will be presented.

Sponsored by the Department of the Army, the program is a regular presentation of the Mutual Broadcasting Company. Each Saturday a college or university is selected for recognition. The broadcast will be carried by WPLH in Huntington and other Mutual stations throughout the state. A wire recording of the program will be rebroadcast at 7 P. M.

JAMES AND BAKALIS RULED INELIGIBLE BY CONFERENCE

Big Green Cagers Will Remain In The W. Va. Conference

By WALTER BROWDER

Harold (Gene) James and James Bakalis, Marshall basketball players, have been declared ineligible for the 1948-49 season by the West Virginia State Athletic Conference Eligibility Committee and the Marshall College Athletic Advisory Board for participation in an independent basketball tournament.

Dr. Stewart H. Smith, president of Marshall, in announcing the decision, said that the college has no intention of withdrawing from the West Virginia Conference while under fire or while there is any question of the college violating regulations to which it has subscribed.

PRESIDENT SMITH explained that he, Athletic Director Luther Poling and Prof. John L. Stender, representing the College Athletic Advisory Board, met in Clarksburg with the West Virginia State Athletic Conference Eligibility Committee and spent two hours presenting Marshall's position in answer to the eligibility protest.

He continued, "We explained that the protest, coming in an irregular manner directly to the conference two days before season opened without first notifying Marshall, was a shocking surprise to athletic authorities, depriving them of time to train suitable replacements."

ON DECEMBER 29 the West Virginia State Athletic Conference Eligibility Committee officially notified President Smith that James, a senior, and Bakalis, a junior, are ineligible. The official ruling, in part, reads:

"In view of the evidence submitted by Morris Harvey College and further in view of the admission by Marshall College, the committee finds Harold (Gene) James and James Bakalis guilty of violating Article II, Section 17 by playing in the St. Albans Tournament, March, 1948, and therefore are ineligible for the 1948-49 basketball season."

On December 30 the College Athletic Advisory Board met and voted unanimously to accept the ruling of the State Eligibility Committee and officially declared James and Bakalis ineligible for all games in the 1948-49 season.

MEMBERS OF the West Virginia Athletic Conference Eligibility Committee are Jasper H. Coplebank, athletic director of Fairmont State College, chairman; John W. Elliott, president of Alderson-Broadbent College; and Dr. S. O. Bond, president of Salem College, acting for O. S. Ikenberry of Shepherd College, a regular committee member who was unable to attend the hearing.

Members of the College Athletic Advisory Board are faculty members Dr. Herschel Heath, Associate Professor John L. Stender, Assistant Professor Carl B. Miller and Lyell Douthat, instructor; Harry Wolfe, alumni representative; Fred Smith, comptroller, Athletic Director Luther Poling; and Student President Earl Kirker, who was absent from the meeting.

BRAILEY REVISES RESIDENCE PLAN

A revised plan for freshmen residence in Hodges Hall, replacing the one previously used, has been announced by Lester G. Brailey, dean of men.

In a letter to the residents of the Hall, Dean Brailey said, "Present residents will be allowed to remain until they graduate or leave for some reason."

The previous plan called for an establishment of a criteria from which only 60 of the present residents would be chosen to remain.

This new plan gives the present residents first priority over other applicants with the second priority going to the new freshmen. Applications from present residents of the dormitory for 1949-50 will be accepted from April 1 to 14 and applications from the new freshmen will be accepted from April 15 to May 15.

After May 15 all applications will be accepted until he dorm is filled.

Folk Dance And Formal On Program

By MARGARET BRYAN

"My, how the time went by!" seems to be the predominant thought on the campus this week. For two weeks we thought of Santa Claus and Christmas carols instead of lessons and term papers. Wedding bells, as well as jingle bells, rang for several Marshall coeds. Now weekend dances and a folk-dancing class brighten the post-holiday social calendar.

Swing your partner! A series of folk-dancing classes, sponsored by The Greenhouse Association, will be given during January in The Greenhouse. The first of the classes taught by the Reverend Phil Jenkins, will be tomorrow night from 7 till 9 P. M. The Reverend Jenkins wants to train a team of 32 people to represent the college in folkdancing exhibitions, and anyone interested is asked to notify Miss Margaret Lennox as soon as possible.

Ineligibility

The decision of the Marshall College Athletic Advisory Board to abide by the ruling of the West Virginia State Athletic Conference Eligibility Committee, which declares Gene James and James Bakalis ineligible for the 1948-49 basketball season, and its unanimous vote to remain in the conference represent the most mature thinking with which we have come into contact concerning the whole affair.

Naturally, the fact that James and Bakalis will not participate in the remaining Marshall basketball games is depressing to the Big Green's fans. A closer inspection of the situation, however, reveals something infinitely better than the supposed calamity. This offers Marshall a splendid opportunity to show the country that she is reliable, that she will abide by the regulations to which she has subscribed.

President Stewart H. Smith said, concerning the decision, "We could not possibly have dropped out of this conference and gone into the Ohio Valley Conference with this cloud over our heads. They would have doubted our sincerity to live by the conference rules."

With such sound judgment on the part of President Smith and the Marshall College Athletic Advisory Board, this institution's athletic activities will ever progress to higher planes. We are proud of their actions—they made a silver lining to order for that dark cloud.

VETS MUST NOTIFY VA OF MORE DEPENDENTS

Veteran - students who acquire dependents or additional dependents while in training under the G. I. Bill should notify the Veterans Administration as soon as possible, the VA announced last month.

Subsistence payments will be increased as of the date legal evidence is received by the Veterans Administration, and will not be made retroactive to the date the veteran acquired the dependent.

In order to avoid overpayment the Veterans Administration should be notified immediately upon the loss of a dependent by death, divorce or any other means.

Lapsed National Service life insurance may still be reinstated by contacting the Veterans Administration.

Housing for several married veterans will be available at the end of the present semester, Dean of Men Lester G. Brailey announced yesterday.

Available units will have bath, kitchenette, and combination bedroom and living room. Rent is from $22.50 to $30 a month, according to the veteran's income. Minimum required furniture may be rented for $1 a month. Applications may be made at the Dean of Men's office now.

Watchmen Guard Campus Against Unwanted Guests

By DON MAYNE

The afternoon bell rings, classes are dismissed, and to all intents and purposes Marshall College has shut down for the day. But the job is not finished with the departure of the students. While the custodial staff manures the dirty halls, and sweeps down the littered class rooms, the Marshall militia keeps pace with the other members of the maintenance staff and posts guard about the campus.

Not many of us have to invade the college premises after the curfew hour, but if we have been obliged to do so, a probing flashlight and an authoritative, "What do you want?" bids fair to elicit either a quick reply or a quicker retreat.

Many are unaware of the night-watchman staff of three whose duty it is to guard the buildings and grounds after the daylight hours. Perhaps it is best, for many a distracted Romeo and fervent Juliet would seek refuge in other more remote garden spots.

An eerie feeling creeps over you as footsteps echo in vacant halls and the noises peculiar to an empty building bestir the otherwise quiet atmosphere. This is ample proof of the lonely vigil that the campus gendarmes, Charles France and Art Bowman, keep in the still of the night. For those who feel their hearts will not stand the suspense, it is recommended that they retire to the "guard room" with another member of the staff, Bill Bandy, who serves as alternate.

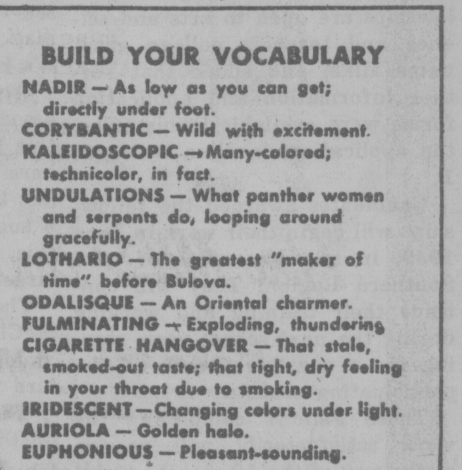

Supplied with uniforms by the college, these men, members of the maintenance staff, ply the course of a thankless and lonely existence that of watch dogs of the campus, making up for their aloneness by alert and vigilant service.

Marshall Cagers Home From Coast

Next Appearance Saturday, Jan. 8

By JOHN HENRY SHADBURN

Marshall's travel-weary basketballers were faced with textbooks and lengthy practice sessions this week after returning from an 8-game holiday jaunt to the West coast where they were unsuccessful in the defense of their Los Angeles national invitational basketball championship.

Ten squad members, accompanied by Coaches Cam Henderson and Herb Royer, arrived here Sunday via train from Cincinnati. The Marshall contingent flew to the Queen City from Los Angeles where they witnessed Saturday's Rose Bowl contest between the University of California and Northwestern University.

ALL BIG GREEN courtmen were in good physical shape with the exception of Bob Wright, high scoring junior guard from Elkhorn City, Ky., who suffered an ankle injury in Friday's game against Loyola of Los Angeles.

Though the extent of the injury did not seem great, Wright had to resort to crutches for motivation early this week and may be forced from Marshall's starting lineup for a short while.

While en route to the coast, the Green and White quintet captured 66-65 and 62-59 decisions from Indiana State and Hardin-Simmons respectively and suffered reversals at the hands of Louisville University, 73-64; Texas Tech, 65-54, and West Texas State, 66-47.

AFTER BEING eliminated from the tournament running at Los Angeles by Pepperdine College's sharp-shooting Wavees, 78-39, the Big Green rebounded to defeat Brigham Young University, 83-64, but bowed to Loyola of Los Angeles

'Bombers Break Fifty-Two Year Losing Streak

By LEONARD CAMPBELL

The Parthenon Bombers finally did the inevitable—they won a ball game. The Bombers defeated Phi Tau Alpha, 34-32. The Parthenon boys are legendary in intramural basketball history, but heretofore they had never won a single athletic contest.

The fraternity boys, playing with only four men, matched point for point with the winners but Shadburn's last minute goal gave the Bombers the victory. Shamburn tossed in 14 points and Shadburn and Kimler six each to lead their team to victory.

Hodges Hall Comets ran up the top score of the season, defeating Pi Kappa Alpha Second, 81-7. Adams was the big gun for the dormitory lads with 16 points.

The Ghouls romped to an easy 39-37 victory over the Shmoos. The tall Grave Robbers continued undefeated as Crouch poured in 15 markers. McCullough was high for the Shmoos with 14 counters.

Varsity M Studs won over the Jokers, 54-12. Hartley ripped the net with 15 points for the Studs. Elkins was high for the losers with eight.

Varsity M. Flutters scored a close 27-26 victory over the Raiders. Gibson was the standout for VM with nine points. Lamb tossed in 15 in a losing cause for his team.

The Bobcats trounced the Horrible Handful, 32-7. Lively was high for the Kittens with eight markers.

WAA PARTICIPATION HIGHEST IN HISTORY

Women are taking an ever increasing interest in intramural sports at Marshall, according to Miss Louise McDonough, associate professor of physical education. More teams are being entered in tournament play this year than ever before.

Miss McDonough says she prefers to use the round robin system in all tournaments. This way, competition for each team is not limited to a few games as in elimination play.

NEW DUCAT DISPENSING MEASURES ANNOUNCED

The Marshall Athletic Department has announced a new plan for the sale of general admission tickets to Marshall College basketball games.

Five hundred such tickets for each home game will be available first to students, then to the general public at the athletic office. If any are left, they will go on sale at 4 P. M. the day of the game at the Radio Center ticket offices.

This procedure will make it increasingly convenient for students who are desirous of securing general admission tickets for husbands or wives to secure same without having to battle a long line just before game time.

Hereafter, doors for all home games will be opened at 6:45 P.M.

Matrimonial Bid Postponed, Play Offer Unsuitable Says Collier After Trip To NYC

William E. Collier, who offered himself in matrimony for one hundred thousand dollars, answered a bid in New York during the holidays that has thus far not developed.

The lady, whose name he withheld, "was afraid of the publicity," he said. "But she said she would contact me here in person after the first of the year, so I am just waiting."

"The theatrical production did not turn out so good either," he said. "I tried out for the part but since rehearsals start January 15 I would not have had time to transfer to NYU, and besides they

Three members of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority were married over the holidays. Ruth Mullens, Huntington sophomore, and Doren Purdue were married on December 19. Nancy Lusk was married to Gus Perry on December 27, and Jerry Williams married Jack Farley.

Delta Sigma Epsilon's annual Winter Formal, with Howard Jennings' orchestra, will be Friday evening from 9 until 1 at the Huntington Women's Club. The decorations of the "Starlight Ball" will be in blue and silver, and chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown, Mrs. Veta Lee Smith, and Richard L. Beard. Elinor Skaggs is general chairman, and Mary Ann DeWitt and Jane Turner are in charge of decorations and refreshments.

The Independent Student Association will have a dance on Saturday evening from 10 till 12. The dance will be given in the Student Union, and chaperones will be Mrs. Lillian H. Buskirk, James McCubbin, and Lester G. Brailey.

Registrar Relates Registration Plans

Students who plan to enter graduate schools next year must register at the registrar's office for graduate record examinations not later than January 20, Luther E. Bledsoe, registrar, announced this week.

Advance registration for freshmen and graduates will begin on Monday, January 10 and continue through Friday, January 16. Material for registration may be picked up beginning at noon, Friday, January 7.

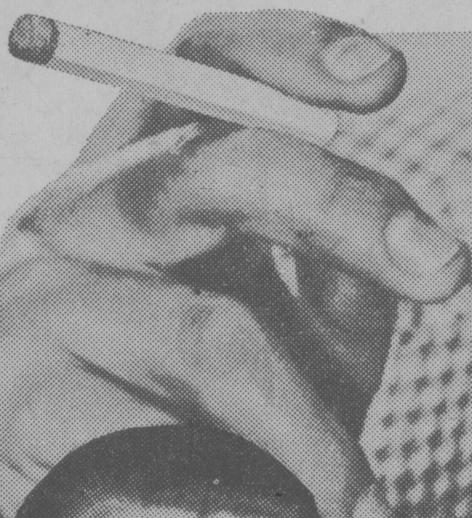

Thursday, January 6, is the deadline for turning in information for the second semester social calendar to the Dean of Men's office, according to Dean Lester G. Brailey.
