Ernie Salvatore, Greenwich, Conn. senior, was elected editor-in-chief of The Parthenon Tuesday to succeed Charles Connor, of Huntington who graduates this month.

COLLEGE THEATER BECKONS ACTORS--TALL, SHORT, ETC.

By BILL KEARNS

George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber, two of our leading dramatists, collaborated to produce "Stage Door," the next college theater production to be given March 21-22, a comedy concerning young actresses living in a theatrical boarding house, the "Footlight's Club." Through their play, Mr. Kaufman and Miss Ferber have attempted to show audiences what the stage means to these few, who in reality represent thousands of young hopefuls who enter New York every year.

Essentially a comedy, "Stage Door" has a serious motif. There are those who turn back and those who stay, braving starvation and denial. They live only on their love for the theater.

Mr. Philip Caplan, director, says, "The play concerns itself with a group bound together by common interests rather than emphasis on singular characterizations. The thirty-three characters range widely and there are representative types including a girl who plays Chopin's Nocturne in A Minor; a girl with a Boston accent; a Southern girl; a large girl; a small girl; a beautiful blonde, a languid beauty; a girl NOT of the ingenue type; a man with a cigar; and a guy who feels at home only in a turtle-neck sweater."

Tryouts have been scheduled for 4 P. M. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. The new College Theater Workshop is open to any student interested in learning to build sets or paint scenery.

Mr. Salvatore has served as sports editor of The Parthenon for the past two years and is finishing his fourth year with the paper. He will assume his new duties in February.

Elmer Todd, Grafton junior, was appointed assistant sports editor to replace Charles Oppenheimer, Huntington sophomore, who is transferring to the Art Institute of Pittsburgh. The sports editors position will remain open temporarily.

Todd is a former Big Green basketball star and is well acquainted with the athletic situation here. Salvatore will supervise the activities of the sports page along with his new assignment for an indefinite period.

Juniors-Seniors To Meet, Discuss Plans For Prom

The joint meeting of the junior and senior classes in the college auditorium January 22 at 10 A. M. will be held in order to discuss plans for the Junior-Senior Prom, graduation announcements, class memorial and the Chief Justice, Charles Proctor, senior class president announced.

Proctor said that an effort will be made to bring a big name band for the prom, but it will require the cooperation of the students of both classes. Proctor also said that graduation announcements have been selected by a senior committee. Plans for a trophy case for the college are being outlined by another senior committee, Proctor added. Announcements concerning the Chief Justice will be made at the meeting.

The rest rooms of the Shawkey Student Union are now in the process of being remodeled, Don Morris, manager of the union, announced.

Lochner, AP Foreign Correspondent To Discuss Germany Here Tonight

By FRANCIS SCMID

Louis P. Lochner, for fifteen years chief of the Berlin bureau of the Associated Press and Pulitzer prize winner in 1939, will discuss "German - democracy or Soviet State" on the fifth Community Forum tonight at 8:15, Professor Curtis Baxter, Forum manager, announced yesterday. He will replace Vincent Sheean, who was to have appeared Monday. Admission will be by activity cards.

LOCHNER COVERED events in Europe for twenty-three years before the war, and as head of the Associated Press's Berlin bureau, had frequent contacts and interviews with Nazi officials. Translator of four publications, his latest is Joseph Goebbels' private diary, 1948. After witnessing the growth of Hitler's storm troopers, he followed the German army into every European country conquered.

In 1914 and 1915, he was director of the Central West department of the American Peace Society, and served as secretary to Henry Ford on the Ford Peace Mission to Europe in 1915-16. He was one of former President Hoover's political advisers on Hoover's recent survey of Europe. Editor of the International Labor News Service during 1918-19, and editor of the Federated Press in 1920, he then became a free lance newspaper correspondent in Europe from 1921 to 1924, at which time he joined the Berlin staff of the Associated Press. He was interned with other American correspondents at Bad Nauheim for 5 months in 1942, and later was among the first to enter Berlin, where he has returned frequently to keep in touch with changing conditions.

Bledsoe Warns Late Registrants

Sophomores who wait until the last minute to complete their advanced registration may run into difficulties because of closed sections and a last-minute rush which is likely to develop, Luther E. Bledsoe, registrar, warned yesterday. The deadline is January 24, Mr. Bledsoe said.

"Only about one-fourth of the sophomores have completed their registration, Mr. Bledsoe said. Lists prepared by the registrar's office reveal that many sections are already closed and some courses are completely filled.

GRADUATING SENIORS CHECK DIPLOMA STATUS

Seniors who will have completed their work at the end of this semester must check the spelling of their names in the Office of the College Secretary and pay their diploma fee ($5.00 for undergraduate degrees) in the Treasurer's Office by January 24, Mrs. Veta Lee Smith, college secretary, said yesterday.

Deadline For Chief Justice Pix Extended

The deadline for individual pictures for the Chief Justice, originally set for January 18, has been extended one week, John Lair, managing editor said this week. Lair said the deadline was extended "because the over-all enthusiasm shown by the students in the last few days makes it impossible to photograph all the students who want their pictures in the Chief Justice."

Lair emphasized that all classes, freshmen, sophomore, junior, and senior, will have individual pictures in the yearbook. Those who wish to have their picture in the annual should make an appointment with Hendershot Studios, 419 Ninth Street as soon as possible, Lair said.

When the Chief Justice comes off the press in the late spring, "not later than May 15," Lair said, only those students subscribing for their copies will receive an annual. No more than is necessary to fill subscriber's orders will be published. The Chief Justice will cost $2.50 a copy, and may be purchased in the basement of College Hall any day except Sunday.

TEACHERS TAKE OVER

The Parthenon for Wednesday, January 21, will be edited by students in Journalism 326, a Teachers College journalism class, reviving a pre-war practice of the Journalism Department. Heading the staff for the issue are Editor-in-Chief Robert E. Crumbaugh, Jr., New Creek, junior, Managing Editor Harold Ellis, Henlawson junior, and Madge Gould, Huntington senior, society editor.

VA Office Must Okeh PL Skeds

All veterans who are carrying less than 12 hours this semester and are planning to register for 12 hours or more in the second semester must notify the campus office of the Veterans Administration or their subsistence pay will continue on a part-time basis, William J. Vinson, training officer announced this week.

Veterans training under Public Law 16 must have their second semester schedules approved by the veterans office, Mr. Vinson added.

Soccer Clinic Will Be Held January 27-28

By ELMER TODD

Bill Jeffrey, Penn State soccer coach, and President of the American Soccer Association, will be the main speaker at the first post-war soccer clinic held on the Marshall campus. The clinic, to be held on January 27 and 28, will demonstrate the art of soccer, mainly passing, dribbling, kicking and catching. Also on hand will be two of Penn State's present soccer All-Americans, as well as Dor Peden, Director of Athletics at Ohio University.

Mr. Jeffrey obtained through the efforts of Walt Hosterman, President of the Kiwanis Club and former All-American at Penn State, in cooperation with Dr. F. A. Fitch of the physical education department.

Mr. Jeffrey has been at Penn State since 1926 and has been turning out winning soccer teams for the Nittany Lions as Carter turns out his perennial pills. From 1926 to 1943, inclusive, his teams have lost only nine games, were undefeated 12 of 18 seasons, and went undefeated through nine successive seasons. This victory string stretched to 65.

His all-time record is one of the marvels of intercollegiate soccer. His teams have been winning four of every five games played for the last 19 years. During these years his teams lost only 13 of 134 games played.

Over this span, 30 of his players achieved All-American rating a total of 44 times. There has not been a year since 1926 that has not produced at least one All-American player.

Three of his more outstanding players won All-American ratings three years in a row. Nine others won this distinction two years in a row.

STUDENT MIX

The Student Council will sponsor a mix in The Greenhouse, Wednesday, January 21, from 7:45 till 10 P. M. The Bisonaires will play and admission charges will be 25 cents per person.

The appearance here today of two top-flight authorities on foreign relations, one an educator and the other a distinguished foreign correspondent, affords an excellent program for those interested in the commanding role which the United States plays in world affairs. Dr. Edgar J. Fisher, assistant-director of the Institute of International Education, will meet with students interested in studying in foreign countries at individual interviews and group conferences during the day, and Louis P. Lochner, formerly chief of the Associated Press bureau in Berlin, will discuss "Germany — Democracy or Soviet State" on a Community Forum program tonight at 8:15 in the auditorium...

Dr. Fisher's visit, it is hoped, will inspire those students who contemplate studying abroad, as never before has the need for understanding our world next-door neighbors been so vital to the welfare of our country. Mr. Lochner, one of America's outstanding authorities on Germany, will bring to listeners an up-to-the-minute picture of Germany based upon years of valuable background experience and recent visits to that nation. It is somewhat regrettable that Lochner must appear on a Friday night, but we have it on the word of Curtis Baxter, forum manager, that he is every bit as good a lecturer as he is a correspondent.

That settles it. We'll see you there.

A Chair For John

Up comes Dr. James E. Allen, president emeritus, with an idea which deserves respectful attention. In a letter to Mrs. Veta Lee Smith, college secretary, the grand old man who preceded Dr. John Williams and Dr. Stewart H. Smith, suggests that the college create a chair of John Marshall for the political science department. The good name of John Marshall has never been capitalized upon, Dr. Allen writes, something we've overlooked for years.

We still think it would be a great idea if we could get Man-of-the-year George C. Marshall to come down for a commencement address. Maybe the two ideas could be worked together.

Marshall Society

Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Alpha fraternity will hold its annual winter formal, "The Convivium Ball" tonight from 9 to 1 at Radio Center. Music will be by Guy McComas and his orchestra. The annual banquet for alumni and active members will precede the dance at the Hotel Frederick at 6 P. M. Dr. Arthur Beckett, pastor at the First Methodist Church, and Mr. Lindsey Yost will be guest speakers. Other guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Claude Winters, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ball and Mr. and Mrs. Kellam Prickett.

The Convivium is in memoriam of Robert E. Lee who helped organize the fraternity in 1865 at what was then Washington College but is now Washington and Lee University. This marks the 87th year of Kappa Alpha and the 21st year on the Marshall campus.

CARL DREWRY is in charge of arrangements.

Like A 'Monogrammed Goldfish'?-? Biologist Gives Away Secret Formula

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., (AP)—Professor Hubert B. Goodrich, Wesleyan University Biologist, told today how to graft initials on goldfish, but he isn't interested in going into the monogrammed fish business.

If anybody is, Goodrich's method can be had for the asking. In fact, he had no hesitancy in explaining it to newsmen but he emphasized that it was only a stunt he had done for a friend—not part of the scientific studies of tropical fish he has been conducting for years.

Goodrich says it's not at all difficult to place a set of initials on a goldfish, if you know how. All that's needed is a little chloretone—for anesthetic, a small pair of forceps and lots of patience.

So you knock the goldfish out with a small shot of chloretone—it won't hurt him—and with the forceps you pluck scales from the red part of the fish's body and transplant them into cavities from which you have plucked scales from the white part of the body. Then you have a red monogram on white fish flesh.

White scales cannot be transplanted into a field of red, however. For some reason the color runs.

Time Out!

with ERNIE SALVATORE

Basketball Illustrated's Special Olympic Issue, which hit the newstands this week, has given Marshall a handsome spread on its victory in the NAIB at Kansas City last March.

James R. McQueeney, publicity director of the tournament, begins his article by calling Marshall America's number one team "in passing and ball handling departments." Two pictures of the Big Green accompany the article, one of them an action shot of Dick Erickson, Bill Hall, and Merv Gutshall and the other a squad picture.

This type of publicity is priceless and does much to advance the reputation of an institution. However, in this case it was all nullified when the magazine editors came up with three errors concerning the Big Green in other parts of the issue.

In the caption of the aforementioned action shot, Hall is referred to as Dick Hall while in the squad picture caption Coach Cam Henderson is referred to as Sam Henderson. The worst is yet to come, however.

Jack Ryan, recognized as an alleged expert in basketball circles, is the author of the magazine's lead story titled "Uncle Sam Goes to London." In it he discusses various proposed methods for selection of the 1948 United States Olympic basketball squad. He messes up Marshall and Coach Cam Henderson horribly when he says, "A suggestion providing for a four man panel of coaches to vote on the Olympic team personnel is advanced by C. E. King, WHO GUIDED MARSHALL TO THE NATIONAL COLLEGIATE TITLE last spring before TRANSFERRING to Morris Harvey College of Charleston, W. Va."

Perhaps we should take these mistakes in stride and keep mum, figuring that inaccurate publicity is better than none at all. A stand like that, however, would be the same as building an army of men plagued with leprosy rather than not having an army at all.

Mr. Ryan should be notified of his mistakes by proper authorities as soon as possible.

Side Shots: Although we are scheduled to take over the editorship of this newspaper in February, "Time Out" will not move to the editorial page until the first or second week of March. Meanwhile, Elmer Todd, former Big Green cager, has been added to the sports staff and will handle the intramural beat. He will assume full responsibility for this page when "Time Out" moves over. . . Ed Little is now playing with Denver Nuggets of the American (AAU) Basketball League. . . A William Jennings Bryan withdrew from Marshall last September. . . Bob Hundley plans to enter the law school at George Washington University next month. . . Harold Schrieber is eyeing Boston University. . . John Roy Wolfe, former Parthenon business manager, has transferred to a Cleveland radio station. . . Jack "The Profile" Nolan's tremendous horde of fans will be on hand next Monday to see him play the role of Alfalfa Smoot in the College Theater one act production "The Importance of Being a Roughneck." Curtain time is 2 P. M. . . Guests on today's WHTN Sports Shop at 4:45 will be George Surgeon, Carolyn Gough, and Johnny Wellman. . .

Ryan And Lowe Lead Slick Chicks To Win In Intramural Hoop Play

Eagle-eye shooting by Ryan and great defensive play by Bill Lowe permitted the Flight "B" Slick Chicks to come from behind in the final minutes of play to down the Gremlins 32 to 24 Tuesday. The Gremlins took the floor to increase their victories to three but ended with two defeats on the ledger as the Slick Chicks won their initial game of the season in this upset.

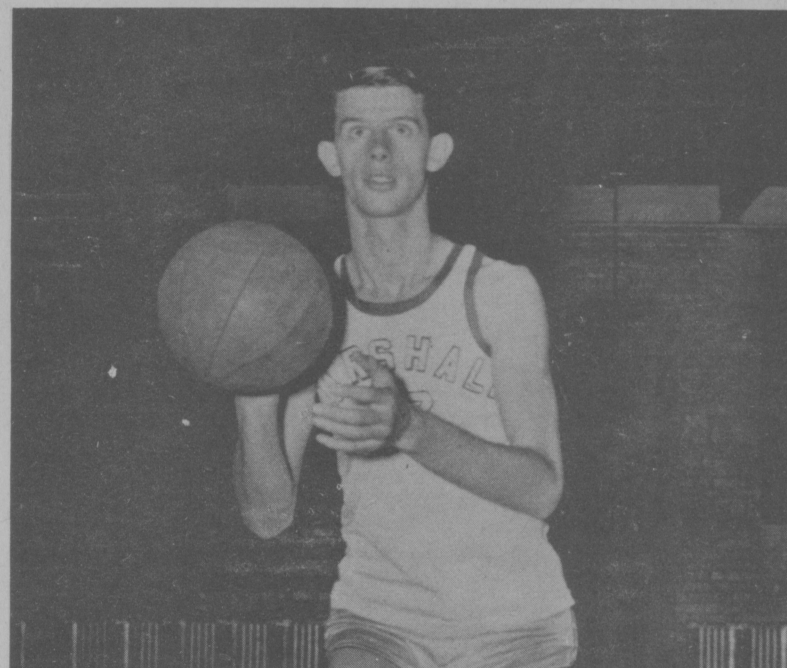

Other scores in intramural play were: Phi Tau Alpha Seconds 25, Phi Kappa Nu Seconds 18; Alpha Sigma Phi Seconds 21, Lions 60; Lambda Chi Alpha Seconds 21, Kappa Alpha Seconds 57; Wolfpack 42, Ravenswood 32.

Another Flight "B" team, Ravenswood, tried desperately to break into the win column but the Wolfpack, led by two sharpshooting guards in Hatfield and Maynard, scored 16 and 18 points respectively. This brought their team from behind in the third quarter and breezed in with a 42 to 32 triumph.

The Lions had no trouble at all in their 60 to 21 victory over Alpha Sigma Phi as Simms with 18 points and Hoskins with 17 points led the way out. Fioreletta was practically a one-man show for the losers as he tossed in 13 of their 21 counters.

Other Flight "B" action found Kappa Alpha Seconds getting their third victory in four starts as they outclassed the Lambda Chi Alpha Seconds, 57 to 21. Sheppe hit the bucket for 18 points and Alexander 11 for the victors while Smith was high point man for the losers with eight points.

The game between the Phi Tau Alpha Seconds and Phi Kappa Nu Seconds was a great defensive contest but the former squeezed out a 25 to 18 triumph, increasing their victories to four with no losses to lead the Flight "B" league. Payne of Phi Tau Alpha was high scorer for the contest with 10 points, while McCoy of the losers was second high with eight counters.
