No. 32

THE HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT — Formerly a dress shop, this building at 314 West Fourteenth Street is in the process of being converted into an apartment by James Kinzer, Berwind sophomore.

Marshall Student Beats Local Housing Shortage

By DOUGLAS MAYNARD

James Kinzer, a married veteran and a sophomore in Teachers College, has found his own solution to the housing shortage. Kinzer, who had been paying 78 dollars per month plus utilities for his two rooms and bath apartment and one meal a day for himself and his wife, made an agreement with Lee Thompson, owner of a vacant dress shop. Kinzer was to remodel the shop at a maximum cost of 350 dollars to Thompson who was to assume the cost of materials. Kinzer, upon completion of the apartment, was to rent it for $40 per month, with all the utilities paid.

Kinzer has done most of the work in his spare time with occasional help from Mr. Thompson's father. The interior is now complete with three rooms and a bath. Mr. and Mrs. Kinzer have moved in and now have a very comfortable place in which to live. The total cost of the project was $450 but the extra $100 dollars was due to an enlargement of the plans, rather than miscalculations on the part of Kinzer.

Saturday Deadline For Chief Justice Individual Photos

Saturday, January 24, is the deadline for those who want to get their pictures in the Chief Justice, John Lair, circulation manager announced. No appointment is necessary, Lair said in urging all students to make arrangements to have their picture taken. Hendershot Studios, 419 Ninth Street, is taking the pictures for the year-book, Lair continued, and will accommodate any Marshall student without appointment.

Lair added that since a limited number of annuals will be printed, all students who want one should subscribe for it immediately.

TOOLE SPEAKS AT ROTARY LUNCHEON

Dr. H. Gresham Toole of the history department spoke at a Rotary luncheon Monday in the Hotel Pritchard. He discussed "Geographical Distribution of Presidents."

LOCHNER WARNS COMMIES THREAT

Louis P. Lochner, former European Associated Press correspondent, declared Communism a threat to all Europe in his Community Forum address Friday night and warned unless the United States steps up its "cold war" in Germany, it risks the loss of the continent as a bulwark against further Russian expansion.

The veteran journalist asserted that while Russia is forging a Communist state in the heart of Europe, the Western Powers are being forced into a battle of ideologies equipped with halfway measures.

In order to combat Russian totalitarianism the United States must step up its pace and make democracy attractive to the German people lest they turn elsewhere, Lochner said.

In an interview after the forum, Lochner commented on the state of the press in Germany. He said there are now 47 daily newspapers in the American zone, and freedom of the press is generally assured with the exception that no attacks against military government may be made. The small four sheet editions are not on the street every day, he added, but they do come out three or four times a week.

In comparison, Mr. Lochner noted that in the Russian zone, the one or two existing newspapers print what they are told to print, and editors are often intimidated by Russian officials.

Eleven Organize Music Educators

The Marshall Music Educators Club organized by 11 juniors and seniors from the music methods and materials class was the second chapter to be accepted by National Music Educators Association in the new program to form student organizations. Miss Miriam P. Gelvin, associate professor of music, is the sponsor. The club is to have monthly meetings next semester to discuss the problems of music education. The club hopes to send representatives to the National Convention in Detroit April 17-22, Miss Gelvin said.

Engineers Add Print Machine

An ozalid streamliner white print machine will be added next semester to the material available to prospective engineers in the engineering department, Dr. Edward S. Maclin announced.

This machine is the first of its kind to be used in any school or college in West Virginia, Dr. Maclin said. Controlled by industry in the past it has not been available for public use.

The efficiency and ability of the engineering department should greatly increase with this renovation, Dr. Maclin added.

William D. Scott, 1941 graduate, has been appointed manager of the new recreation center at West Virginia University by President Irvin Stewart. Scott received his master's degree at the University of Michigan last June.

Juniors, Seniors To Meet Tomorrow

The Junior-Senior Prom will be the main topic of discussion when the junior and senior classes meet in a joint session tomorrow at 10 A. M. in the auditorium, Charles Proctor, senior class president, said. In the past years, Proctor said, the prom was not held exclusively for the senior and junior classes, but was held for the general public. This practice detracted from the value of a prom as a class dance for the graduating seniors, and this year an effort will be made to exclude everyone except juniors and seniors if funds can be raised for the dance.

Bledsoe Asks Sophomores Register Now

A reminder has been issued by Registrar Luther E. Bledsoe that sophomores who wait until the last minute to complete advanced registration may not only run into difficulties because of the last-minute rush but may also find themselves subject to the payment of a late registration fee.

In view of the fact that Saturday, January 24, will be the deadline for sophomore registration, the registrar said, it would be wise for all sophomores to return registration books to their counselors not later than Thursday in order that they may clear the registrar's office before freshman registration gets under way.

Second semester registration fees are payable anytime before the office closes on February 4, Mr. Bledsoe added. Since registration is considered incomplete until such fees are paid, those sophomores who delay payment until February 5 or later will be required to pay a late registration fee in addition to the customary amount, he concluded.

S. A. C. Enforces Petition Ruling

A Student Activities Committee ruling that petitions must be turned in ten days before a social function takes place, was stressed this week by Dean Lester G. Brailey, chairman of the committee.

Dean Brailey said late petitions created extra work for the committee and in the future the organization would have to do the extra leg work a late petition entails and that extremely late petitions would be turned down.

New mail boxes have been installed just inside the door of the offices of the social deans for each recognized student organization on the campus. These new boxes are to be opened on February 1 and on that day student groups who have had boxes in the bookstore will be switched, the dean added.

Proctor emphasized the fact that it is a matter of prime importance that everyone in both classes attend the meeting tomorrow, since the projects undertaken by the senior class require the full cooperation of the entire class to succeed.

The senior class plans to present the school with a long-needed trophy case, the class president announced, and plans are nearly complete. The trophy case project, under the supervision of the class memorial committee is one of the topics for discussion at tomorrow's meeting, Proctor went on to say. Graduation announcements have already been selected by a committee which began working on their project early in the year.

Nursery School Helps Develop Young Pupils

By DOROTHY KESSEL

Any week day morning, one passing the large house on the corner of Elm Street and Fifth Avenue might see tiny children lifted out of a car, then run up the walk onto the porch, where they enter into a child's world—every thing cut down to their size. These are the youngest Marshall pupils, the two, three and four year olds who attend the Marshall College Nursery School.

The child learns in the Nursery School that other children have ideas too; that it is fun to share toys and take turns with other children. It is fun to be with children his age. If he needs help, there is an adult who will listen to him and help him. He learns to lace his shoes and tie them. He learns to pick up his toys and put them away, to hang up his towels and washcloth, and his wraps; to wash his own face and hands and even to like some foods he did not like before.

He is given opportunity to develop at his own rate. He is not pushed into doing anything he is not ready to do. The child is encouraged to do his best and is approved when he tries.

As We See It

Democracy is predicated upon an enlightened citizenry. Recognition of this has made democracy and education almost synonymous terms. Education may be viewed as the bulwark in perpetuating our democratic way of life. Certain trends in our own state exemplify basic trends elsewhere.

It is readily apparent that the old individualists, decentralized philosophy of the 19th century has shifted to the principle of a democratic education for all whose ultimate aim is the development of a democratic society so long desired. This has reflected itself in no uncertain terms in the "leveling process," results which have shown its inception in the so-called County Unit Plan, an integral part of our present day educational pattern. Commendable as this may be in its "leveling" aspects for some areas, taken as a whole, one may well wonder if local enthusiasm is not virtually blocked in setting up newer and higher goals.

The development of education in our state has been accomplished at great sacrifice and with many vicissitudes. The idea of its development has been that it be made available to all. In large measure this has been realized, however one cannot help wondering what unholy alliance has prompted the rising cost of tuition in these past twenty years. This goes contrary to the availability of benefits for all. We recognize adult education as being an accepted objective of the future, but can this ever become a reality if it is subjected to something like a "prohibitive tariff" on education?

The variety of elective courses which we have today is a worthy advance over rigid curricula. Again one cannot help conjecturing whether it frequently results in a lack of cohesion of a moral purpose devoid of fundamental values. Many students meander aimlessly through the academic world much as a rabbit nibbling in a cabbage patch. During the past quarter century a marked advance toward vocational courses has been made, largely through federal assistance. It is understandable of course, that one must be vitally concerned with the proposition of how to make a living, but let us hope that this trend will not be to the exclusion of "how to live," which is reflected in many of the age-old fundamental courses.

Think This Over

Why is it that everyone is continually criticizing the officials at Marshall's basketball games? Do they know the rules of the game? Do they stop and realize that the official sees things differently than the spectator because his interpretations are different? Do they think that an official would deliberately call a foul that he thought was wrong? These are some of the questions that each and every fan should ask himself or herself before even going to the game.

The reason most people "boo" or "razz" the officials is because they merely differ from his opinion on a particular called foul. Why do they do this? The very ones that make a practice of this are those who do not know the least about the rules of the game.

Do you stop and think that this practice also offends the reputation of the student body and the school's sportsmanship—and the students are guilty? From the student body this reputation is reflected in the minds of the visiting teams which are the guests of the Marshall basketball team. So why not try to treat the guests as guests should be treated by showing a little sportsmanship on the part of the student body.

Put yourself in the place of an official which is trying his best to make a clean ball game for you as a fan and for the basketball team. When you "boo" an official, you do not change his mind on the foul he calls or fouls that will be called.

So the next time you feel an impulse to criticize an official: Stop, Look, and Think This Over.

Kennedy Scores 32 Pts. To Lead Devils To Win

By OTIS RAMEY

The Scattered Herd, behind the accurate shooting of Evans and Wetzel, roared to a 42 to 22 win over the Tartans in the curtain raiser last Wednesday night. Evans was high scorer with 12 points for the winner, and Frecka was high with 8 points for the losers.

The PTA No. 3 over shadowed the SPE No. 2 by the score of 39 to 19, Beckett claiming honors for the winners with 14 points and Ketz with the same score for the SPE No. 2.

Army Supply Base No. 8 swamped the PKN No. 3 by the wide margin of 62 to 10. Sheets was high scorer for the Army Supply Base, with 22 markers and Martin high with 4 for the PKN No. 3.

The Bears smothered the All Stars by a 58 to 39 margin, with Cravens tallying 20 points for the Bears and Gatewood netting 13 for the All Stars.

The Big Sandy Boys shaded the Greenbrier outfit by the cool margin of 52 to 32, Chadwick walking off with 16 points for the Sandy Boys and Knighton with 12 for the losers.

In the closest contest of the evening, the Newman Club, on the comfortable end of a 42 to 32 score over the Lightnings, made this contest the thriller of the evening. Carroll chalked up 17 points for the winner and Thompson and Ellison chalking up 13 points each for the Lightnings.

In the opener of the Intramural Games, January 15, the Ceredo Bankers, banked 56 points to swamp the Highlanders by the score of 56 to 41. Liechenn with 20 points was high for the Bankers; however, Adkins, of the Highlanders was high point man with 23 points.

PHI TAU ALPHA No. 4 and the Tigers fought long and hard with each submerging with a small score, the Tigers taking the game by the scrappy score of 22 to 16. Perdue was high man for the Tigers, with 8 markers; for the Phi Taus it was Denny with 8.

The Greeks buried the Demons on the short end of a 54 to 31 score. Gunnen with 23 for the Greeks, was high man and Arnett with 15 points for the losers.

THE BOMBERS had a tough time when they tried to bomb the scrappy Deacons, but it was the Bombers all the way. The final score was 37 to 33, in favor of the Bombers. Cochran pushed through 13 points to take high honors for the Deacons and Shadburn netted 12 for the Bombers.

In Green Village everything seems greener, for they outfought the Youngmen for the better end of a 55 to 37 score. Howard and Combs both collected 17 points for the winners and Alexander got 16 for the Youngmen.

The high spirited Blue Devils showed the spark of their team as they almost doubled the score over the Aces 67-38. Kennedy of the Blue Devils had almost enough points to whip the Aces; he bagged 32 points and Griffis was high for the Aces.

TRI-SIGS TAKE DARTS TOURNEY

In a close game last Thursday the Tri Sigs outscored the Sportlettes 30-29 to become the winners in the aerial darts tournament. The score at the end of the half was tied at 15-15.

The Tri Sigs came into the finals by defeating the Delta Sigs 25-12, and were aided by a forfeit from the Pi Kaps. The Independent team defeated College Hall 27-24 but lost to the Sportlettes by a score of 36-39.

Mens Phys Ed Club Seeks Membership

The Men's Physical Education Association will start a membership campaign on January 27, 1948. All men majoring or minoring in Physical Education are urged to join the new club. The dues are set at 50 cents per semester. All men who are interested contact George Surgeon, president of the association.

Candy And Fruit Worry Librarian

According to the statistical records on circulation of library books kept by Miss Rosa Oliver, college librarian, the largest demand for books during the period of July through December has been in social studies with a total of 7,638 compared to the demand for books in the field of social studies, the demand for books in the educational field is very low, only 2,845. Miss Oliver said this is probably due to the fact that the majority of students are not preparing for the teaching field.

In speaking of the number of students using the library, Miss Oliver said the library has a seating capacity of one-third of the amount that it calls for according to the enrollment of Marshall.

Commenting on the conduct of the students using the library, Miss Oliver thinks the greatest annoy-

Minor Sports Draw Huge Mural Field

In the minor sports division of the giant intramural program the bridge tourney opened last week with a big field of contestants out for championship honors. Table tennis singles, pocket billiards, and a chess tourney will begin Thursday.

Handball singles has reached the quarter-finals with the following men still in the running: F. A. Fitch, Charlie Kautz, Jim Ward, Charlie Snyder, Lester Brailey, Weeks, Wellman, and Otto Gullickson. Wet weather has delayed the playoffs of the speedball finals with the Phi Tau Alphas set to face the winner of the KA-Phi Kappa Nu match in the finale go.

ance is not so much from talking or visiting, but from the individuals who insist on throwing their cigarettes on the library floor and those who come to the desk eating fruit, peanuts, and candy.

When asked concerning the attitude of service men, she said that on the whole they are very agreeable to deal with, because most of them have a definite goal in view and have come for the purpose of studying and are serious about their college work.

Toothman Stars For Big Green

Bill Toothman, Co-captain of Marshall's Big Green basketball team accounts for many of the reasons that the Big Green is now beginning to click after suffering six straight losses on a previous road trip. Bill, who stands 5 feet 10 inches, plays a beautiful floor game. Stealing the ball from the opponents like a hungry chicken going after corn, he inspires the Marshall team to stay out in front when they are on top and helps to grab many games out of the bag by his tricky shrewd, and incomparable ball handling.

Band Uniforms Due In March

The new band uniforms are expected within 60 days, Dr. Harry E. Mueller, head of the music department announced. The new green and white uniforms, cut on the Navy dress pattern, will replace the old, modified West Point style, Dr. Mueller said.

No. Carolina Kitties Arrive; All Defunct

Two dozen cats for us in the embryology classes of the zoology department arrived this week, Dr. N. Bayard Green, head of the department announced.

These felines are obtained from a supply house in North Carolina, in spite of the many rumors around Huntington that the zoology department sends its students through the alleys at night in search of lab material, Dr. Ralph M. Edeburn, associate professor of zoology, added. Incidentally, this seems to be quite a prosperous business in that these twenty-four members of the house pet family cost the college one hundred and sixty dollars—that is higher than a good T-bone steak this day and age.

Science Hall To Force Moving Of Trailers

Five Green Village families will be separated for five days when their trailers are moved January 30 to make way for the new science building Francis McPherson, mayor of the village, told The Parthenon this week. The five trailers will be moved to the area where the horse shoe pits are now located.

HISTORY 512 SET FOR SUMMER TERM

A continuation of History 512 will be given during the coming summer term, Dr. H. Gresham Toole, head of the history department announced. This course is devoted entirely to the reading of American biography, Dr. Toole said, and will require a survey of from eight to ten biographies by each student.

Roxy To Show Foreign Films

The Roxy Theatre is inaugurating a new program that promises to add materially to the opportunities open to Marshalites for first rate film entertainment. The Roxy will hereafter feature at frequent intervals the better pictures made in Great Britain and in other lands abroad. In fact the theatre's first offering is Noel Coward's "Brief Encounter," with a group of English actors taking the main parts. Comparable films produced at home and abroad are to follow. The program will offer Marshalites greater variety in their film menu than has heretofore been available and the chance to compare American pictures with those from other parts of the world, in addition to being interesting, will have the effect of education and enlightenment about the manners, morals and customs of our global neighbors. We hope that the experiment will be eminently successful, because we believe it ought to be.
